An appearance of the similitude of God, which was brought to Ierusalem by the Spirit. The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel. 1 And in the first pee, in the first moneth, and in the fifth day of the moneth, as I sat in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sat before mee, the hande of the Lord God fell there vpon me. 2 Then I behelde, and loe, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of fire to looker, from his loynes downeward, and from his loynes upward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto auiber. 3 And hee stretched out the likenesse of an hande, & tooke me by an haire locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift mee by be- twene the earth, & the heauen, & brought mee to a vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner gate that lieth towards the north, where remained the idole of indignation, which prouoked indignation. 4 And behelde, the glorie of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I sawe in the fildes, i For God will not be where idoles are.

k Which were forbidden in the Law, Levit. 11. 4.

l Thus they that should have kept althert in the feare & true service of God, were the ringleaders to all abomination, and by their example pulled others from God. m It was in such abundance. n For besides their common idolatry, they had particular service, which they had in secret chambers. o The Iewes write that this was a prophet of the idoles, who after his death was once a yeere mourned for in the night.

5 Then said he unto me, Some of man, lift up thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift up mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entre.

6 He said furthermore unto me, Some of man, feele thou not what they doe? even the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause mee to despayre from my Sanctuary: but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he unto me, Some of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he sayde unto me, See in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and laye, and behold, there was euery similitude of creeping things and abominable beasts and all the idoles of the house of Israel panned upon the wall round about.

11 And there stood before them sennetie men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stood Jaazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censur in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went by like a cloude.

12 Then said he unto me, Some of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel do in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his inagerie? for they say, The Loyde seeth vs not, the Loyd hath forsaken the earth.

13 Again he said also unto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And hee caused me to enter into the entre of the gate of the Loyses house, which was toward the North: and behold there were women mourning for Tammuz.

15 Then said he unto me, Hast thou seene this, O some of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Loyses house, and behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Loyd, betwene the porch and the altar were about fife and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Loyd, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.

17 Then he said unto me, Hast thou seene this, O some of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with cruelty, and haue returned to provoke mee: and loe, they haue cast out s sinke before their noses.

18 Therefore will I also excrete my wrath: mine eyes shall not spare them, neither will I haue pittie, and though they cry in mine eares with a loude voyce, yet will I not heare them.

a The destruction of the citie. 4 They that shal be saved, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

He cried also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the citie shall be uere, and euery man shall haue a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

2 And behold, fire came by the way of the he gate, which lieth toward the North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a pikehome by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brazen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was gone up from the Cherub, whereupon hee was, and stood on the poynt of the house, and hee called to the man clothed with linen, which had the pikes pikehome by his side.

4 And the Loyde sayde unto him, Goe through the middes of the citie, even through the middes of Ierusalem: and see a marke vpon the foreheads of them that mourne, and cry for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof.

5 And to the other he sayd, that I might heare, Goe pee after him through the citie, and saye: let your eyes spare none, neither haue pittie.

6 Destroy utterly the olde, and the pong, and the mapdes, and the children, and the women, but touch no man, vpon whom is the e marke, and beginne at my Sanctuaries. Then they began at the e Ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And hee sayde unto them, Defile the house, and all the courtes with the flanie, then go forth: and they went out, and floued them in the citie.

8 Now when they had flaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cried, saying, Oh Loyd God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powling out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then sayde he unto me, The iniquity of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full of blood, and the citie full of cruelty: iudgement: for they say, The Loyd hath forsaken the earth, and the Loyd seeth vs not.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pittie, but will recompense their wages vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linen which had the pikehome by his side, made report, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

a Which in the first chap. vers. 5. he called the four beasts.

b This signified that the citie should be burnt.

c Meaning, that the glorie of God should depart from the Temple.

d Reade Chap. i. 24.

And as I looked, behold, in the firmament that was above the heads of the Cherubims, there appeared upon them like unto the similitude of a chione, as is written a sapphire stone.

2 And hee spake unto the man clothed with liuen, and saide, Go in betweene the wheeles, even vnder the Cherub, & sit thine handes with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer the citie. And he went in my sight.

3 Nowe the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court.

4 Then the glorie of the Lord went vpon from the Cherub, and stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloude, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glorie.

5 And the sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the utter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God, when he spake.

6 And when hee had commanded the man clothed with liuen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went and stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with liuen: who rooke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hande vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a chione.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned wher they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went.

12 And their whole bodie, and their wings, and their hands, and their wheels, and the wheeles were full of eyes rounde about, even in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the cherub cryed to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, Go wheele.

14 And enery beate had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a leon, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: this is the beate that I sawe at the river Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went vnder them, and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vpon the earth, the same wheeles also were lifted from beside the wheeles.

17 And when the Cherubims stood, the wheeles also stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselves vp also: for the spirit of the Lord was in them.

18 Then the glorie of the Lord departed from above the doore of the house, & stood vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vpon from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were beside them, and every one stood at the entrie of the gate of the Lords house at the East side, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

20 This is the beate that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the river Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims.

21 Enery one had foure faces, and enery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans handes was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I saw by the river Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, and they went enery one straight forward.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 2 Against these be prophesies, shewing them how they shalbe dispersed abroad. 3 The renewing of the heart commeth of God. 4 Hee threatneth them that leaue vnto their owne counsels.

Whereover, the Spirit lift mee vp, and brought mee into the East gate of the Lords house, which is in the Eastward, and behold, at the entrie of the gate were five and twentie men: among whome I sawe Jaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Delaiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then said he vnto me, Some of man, these are the men that imagine mischief, and desire wicked counsell in this time.

3 For they say, It is not neere, let vs build houses: this citie is the Caldion, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophesie against them, some of man, prophesie.

8 Ye haue feared the sword, and I wil bring a sword vpon you, sayth the Lord God.

9 And I wil bring you out of the middes thereof, and deliuer you into the handes of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you.

10 Ye shal fall by the sword, and I wil iudge you in the border of Israel, and pee shall knowe that I am the Lord.

14 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

17 Therefore say, Thus sapeyth the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreys where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

22 And then did ^h Cherebims lift by their wings, and the wheelles besides them, and the glory of the God of Israel was upon them on his.

23 And the glory of the Lord went by from the middes of the citie, & stood upon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke me by, and brought me in a vision by ^h Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had scene, writ by from me.

1 The parable of the captiuitie, 18 Another parable whereby the distress of hunger & thirst is signified. The worde of the Lord also came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, thou dwellest in the middes of a rebellious house; which haue eyes to see, and see: nor they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou some of man, & prepare thy selfe to go into captiuitie, and go forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy selfe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at euery in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and carpe out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it upon thy shoulder, & carpe it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a ^h signe unto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my selfe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hande, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it upon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

9 Some of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, saide unto thee, What doest thou?

10 But say thou unto them, Thus sapeyth the Lord God, This is burden concerneth the chiefe in Jerusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done unto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare upon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge through the wall, to carpe out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 Thy net also will I spread upon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter towardes euerie winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countries.

16 But I will leaue a little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen: where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

17 Moreover, the worde of the Lord came unto me, saying,

18 Some of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble and with carefulnesse.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voyde, and the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Some of man, what is that prouerbe that pou haue in the land of Israel, saying, The daies are prolonged and all visions faile?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus sayeth the Lord God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more ble it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The daies are at hand & the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall bee any more in baine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, & that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your daies, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Some of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for many daies to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, All my words shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The words of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, prophetic against the prophets of Israel, that prophetic and say thou vnto them, that prophetic out of their owne hearts. Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like foxes in the waste places.

5 ¶ Ye haue not risen vp in the gappes, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanity, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophetic.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? ¶ ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanity, and haue seene lyes, therefore beholde, I am against you, saith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall be vpon the prophets that see vanity, and diuine lyes:

they shall not be in þ assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceived my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a wall, and beholde, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great howle, and I will send hailestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a storme winde shall breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be layde vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a storme winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great howle shall bee in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the middest thereof, and ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof.

16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophetic vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou some of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophetic out of their owne heart: and prophetic thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sow pillows vnder all armeholes, and make bailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will ye hunt the soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handiwork of bawle, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that shoulde not dye, and to giue life to the soules that shoulde not liue, in lying to my people, that feare your lyes?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to do w your pillows, wherewith ye hunt the soules to make them to fie, and I will reare them frō your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules, that ye hunt to make them to fie.

21 Your bailes also will I reare, & deliuer my people out of your hand, & they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies ye haue made the heart of the righteous sad, whome I cause one according as they prophetic. That is, to cause them to perish, and that they shoulde depart from the body. n By threatning them that were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

e That is, in the booke of life, wherein the true Israelites are written. f Reade Iere.

g 6. 14. g Whereas the true Prophets prophetic the destruction of the citie to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet sayde, (which is here called the building of the wall) another false prophet would affirme, though he had neither occasion nor good ground to beare him, h Whereby is meant whatsoever man of himselfe stretch forth vnder the authoritie of Gods worde.

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophetic and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillows to leane vpon, and kerchiefs to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

k Will ye make my worde to serue your bellies?

l These force-repers made the people beleue that they could be preserved life or destroy it, and that it shoulde come to euery one according as they prophetic. m That is, to cause them to perish, and that they shoulde depart from the body. n By threatning them that were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

f Because they did not immediately see the prophecies accomplished, they contemned them as though they should neuer be fulfilled. || Or, take none effect.

g That is, it shall not come to passe in our daies, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods patience and benignitie.

Then came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and saide before me.

2 And the woide of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Some of man, these men haue set by their idoles in their heart, & put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Every man of the house of Israel that setteth by his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude of his idoles:

5 That I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I returne, and withdraue your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from mee, and setteth by his idoles in his heart, & putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for mee, I the Lord will answere him for my selfe,

8 And I will set my face against him, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the middes of my people, and pee shall knowe that I am the Lord.

9 And if the prophet be deceived, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue decreed that prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the middes of my people of Israel.

10 And then shall beate their punishment: the punishment of the prophet shall be euen as the punishment of him that asketh.

11 That the house of Israel may goe no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 ¶ The woide of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

As the unprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shall be burnt.

And the woide of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe as my worke? or will men take a pinne of it to hang any vessel thereon?

16 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I live, saith the Lord God, they shall haue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shall be deliuered, but the land shall be waste.

18 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I live, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall be deliuered themselves.

20 And though Noah, Daniel and Job were in the middes of it, As I live, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousness.

21 For thus saith the Lord God, How much more when I sende my fource foue iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen sword, and famine, and the noysome beast & pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 ¶ Behold, therein shall be left a remnant of them that shall be caried away both sonnes and daughters: beholde, they shall come forth vnto you, and pee shall see their way, and their enterpises: and pee shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when pee see their way and their enterpises: and pee shall knowe, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefices of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their unkindnesse. 46 He iustifieth the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the finnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercie is promised to the repentant.

Came, the word of the Lord came vnto A me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation & thy kinred is of the land of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, & thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy naturitie when thou wast borne, thy name was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to fosen thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadled in cloutes.

5 None eue pitied thee to doe any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpo thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I sawe thee polluted in thine owne blood, and I said vnto thee, whe thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiplie, as a budde of the field, and thou hast increased: and waren great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breastes are facioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy mine was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirtes ouer thee, and covered thy filthinesse: yea, I swore vnto thee, & entered into a couenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, & I anointed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broyded worke, and God thee with badgers skaine: and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I couered thee with silke.

g I sanctified thee with mine holy spirit.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and eareings in thine eares, & a beautifull crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linnen, and silke, and broyded worke: thou diddest eate fine flour, and honny and oyle, & thou wast very beautiful, and thou diddest grow vp into a kingdom.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfect through my beautie which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Nowe thou diddest trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowne, and hast powred out thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine hie places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my gold and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them.

18 And tookest thy broyded garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set in mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My incense also, which I gaue thee, as fine flour, oyle and honny, wherewith I fedde thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweet saour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Forouer thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, & deliuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou hast not remembered the bapes of thy yowth, when thou wast naked, and bare, & wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse, (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God.)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery streete.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery corner of the wap, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy fete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast encreased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

27 Beholde, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, & will diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the wild of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistines, which are allied of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played thy whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast multiplied thy fornication from the lande of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weakie is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, even the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery wap, & makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not bene as an harlot that despieth a rewarde,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue gifts to all other whorers, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they map come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrarye is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall bee after thee: for in that thou giuest a rewarde, and no rewarde is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrarye.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy shame was powled out, and thy filchinesse discovered through the fornications with thy louers, and with all the doles of thy abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou biddest offer vnto them,

37 Beholde, therefore I will gather all thy louers, with whome thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loved, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euery gather them rounde about against thee, and will discover thy filchinesse vnto them, that they map see all thy filchinesse.

38 And I will iudge thee after the manner of them that are harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.

39 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine hie place, and shall breake downe thine hie places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring by a companie against thee, and they shall done thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swordes.

41 And they shall burne vp thine houses with fire, & errecte iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no rewarde any more.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked mee with all these thinges, beholde, therefore I also haue brought thy way vpon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that be prouerbes, shall be this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a verie little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I tyme, saith the Lord God, Sodome thy sister hath not done, neither the nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodome, Pride, fulnes of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needie.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed halfe of thy finnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy finnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodome, & her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the mids of them.

54 That thou maiest beare thine owne shame, and maiest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodome & her daughters shall retorne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall retorne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall retorne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodome was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride, 57 Before thy wickednes was discovered, as in that same time of the reproche of the daughters of Avram, and of all daughters of the Philistines round about her, which despieth thee on all sides.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

A And the word of the Lord came vnto Aime, saying,

2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great eagle with great wings, & long wings, and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the best branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the toppe of his twigge, and caried it into the land of marchants, and set it in a citie of merchants.

5 He tooke also of the feede of the land, and planted it in a fruitful ground: he placed it by great waters, and let it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, & was like a spreading vine of lowe stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, & shot forth buds.

7 There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that shee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruite, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? Shall it be not pulled by the rootes thereof, and destitute the fruite thereof, and canst thou to die? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to pluck it by the rootes thereof.

10 Beholde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried by, and wither?

ther? When the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Wherefore, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say now to this rebellious house, know ye not, what these things mean? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel.

13 And hath taken one of the kings seed, and made a covenant with him, and hath taken an othe of him: hee hath also taken the princes of the land.

14 That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their covenant, and stand to it.

15 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper? shall he escape, that doth such things? or shall he breake the covenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I live, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose othe he despised, and whose covenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they haue cast by mounts, and builded ramparts to destitute many persons.

18 For he hath despised the othe, & broken the covenant (yet soe, he had giuen his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As I live, I will surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my covenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 * And I will spread my nette vpon him, and he shall be taken in my nette, and I will bring him to Babel, and wil enter into iudgement with him there for his trespass: that he hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shall be scattered toward all the windes: and ye shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the toppe of this hie cedar, and wil set it, and cut off the toppe of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the hie mountaine of Israel wil I plant it: it shall bring forth boughs and beare fruite, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all byrds, and euery one shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the trees of the felde shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the lowe tree: that I haue dried up the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

17 Neither hath withdrawen his hande from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, hee shal not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shal surely live.

18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed

sed and spoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say pee, wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? hee d cause the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shal surely live.

20 * The same soule that sinneth, shal die: the sonne shal not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousness of the righteous shalbe vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shalbe vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his finnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shal surely live, and shal not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shal not bee * mentioned vnto him, but in his * righteousness that he hath done, he shal live.

23 ¶ Yane I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God: ¶ or shall hee not live, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to al the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall hee live? all his * righteousness that hee hath eternall counsell done, shal not bee mentioned: but in his appointed the transgression that hee hath committed, and death and dam- in his iniquitie that hee hath sinned, in them shal he die.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal: heare now, & house of Israel. Is not my way equal? or are not your wayes unequal?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, hee shall euen die for the same, he shal euen die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

27 Again, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednesse that hee hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shal save his soule alive.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shal surely live and shal not die.

29 Yet saith ¶ house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equal. & house of Israel, are not my wayes equal? or are not your wayes unequal?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, & house of Israel, eery one according to his wayes saith the Lord God: returne therefore & cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shal not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, wherewith pee haue transgressed, and make: you a newe heart & a newe spirit: for why wil pee die, & house of Israel?

32 For I desire not ¶ death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and live ye.

Thou also, take vp a lamentation for the princes of Irael,

3 And she brought vp one of her whelpes and it became a lyon, and it learned to catch the pray, and it deuoured men.

4 The nations also heard of him, & he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

5 Now when the law, that he had wasited and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her whelpes, and made him a lion.

6 Which went among the lions, and became a lion, and learned to catch the pray, and he deuoured men.

7 And he knewe their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the lande was wasted, and all that was therein by the nople of his roaring.

8 Then the nations set against him on euery side of the countries, and laide their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

9 And they put him in prison and in chaines and brought him to the King of Babel, and they put him in holbes, that his hope should be no more be heard vpon the monnraunes of Irael.

10 Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: she brought forth fruit and branches by the abundant waters, 12 But shee was plucked by in wrath: she was cast downe to the ground, and the Eastwinde dried vp her fruite: her branches were broken, and withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.

13 And now shee is planted in the wilderness in a drie and thirle ground.

14 And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruite, so that she hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation and shal bee for a lamentation.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that hee will answere them when they pray, because of their unkindnes. 33 He promisieth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 40 By the foresight shal Ioue be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

Ad in the seventhy pere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth came certaine of the Elders of Irael to enquire of the Lord, and late before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Some of man, speake vnto the Elders of Irael, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Here pe come to enquire of me.

15 I have bin with the Lord God, when I shal speake vnto him. I will not answere you.

16 Thou indige them, sonne of man?

will thou iudge them? cause the to understand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Irael, and lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iakob, & made my selfe knowne vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayde, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hande vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and honie, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, and desile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: the I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon the, and to accomplysh my wrath against them in the middes of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my Name, that it shoulde not bee polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowne vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, & brought the into the wilderness.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, & declared my iudgements vnto them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them.

12 Moreover I gaue the also my Sabbaths to be a signe betwene me and them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Irael rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, & my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them in the wilderness to consume them.

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it shoulde not be polluted before the heathen, then, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuerthelesse, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleasant aboue all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for they heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuerthelesse mine eye spared the, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wilderness, Walke ye not in the ordinance of b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them. c I sware that I would be their God, which manner of othe was observed from antiquitie, where they tied to lift vp their hands toward the heauen, acknowledging God to bee the author of truth, and the defender thereof, and also the iudge of hearts, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be true.

d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles, Exod. 23. 13. psal. 164.

e Which thing declareth the wickednes of mans heart which iudge Gods seruice by their eyes and outward senses.

f God had euer this respect to his glorie, that he would not haue his name euill spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserved, in confidence whereof the godly euer prayed, as Exod. 32. 12. Nomb. 14. 13.

and doe them,

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to do them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to poure out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.
22 Nevertheless I withheld mine hand, and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.
23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countries, 24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.
25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherem they should not liue.
26 And I polluted them in their owne giftes, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them to the ende that they might knowe that I am the Lord.
27 Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, & say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Per in this your fathers haue blasphemed mee, though they had before grievously transgressed against me.
28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they sawe eu-ery hie hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prostitution:
there also they made their sweete savour, & poured out there their drinke offerings.
29 Then I said vnto them, What is the hie place wheremuto ye go? And the name thereof was called Baniath vnto this day.
30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?
31 For when you offer your gifts, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your felices with all your idols vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will not an-swere you when I am asked.

Neither shall that be done that commeth into your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countries, and serue wood, and a stone.
33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath poured out, 34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countries, wherem ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme and in my wrath poured out.
35 And I will bring you into the wildernes of the people, & there will I pleade with you face to face.
36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the lande of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.
37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the covenant.
38 And I will chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against mee: I will bring them out of the lande where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the lande of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.
39 As for you, O house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Go ye, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts & with your idoles.
40 For in mine holy mountaine, even in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land, serue me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your of-frings, and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.
41 I will accept your sweete savour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countries, wherem ye haue bin scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.
42 And ye shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.
43 And there shall ye remember your wages, and all your workes, wherem ye haue bene defiled, and ye shall iudge your felices worthe to be cut off, for all your wages, that ye haue committed.

CHAP. XXI.

1 He threatneth the sworde, and destruction to Ierusalem. 25 He sheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. 28 He commaunded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to destroy Nebuchad-nazzar.

The worde of the Lorde came to me as game, laping,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, and droppe thy worde toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will draw my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous & wicked, therefore shall my sword goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North,

5 That all flesh may knowe that I the Lorde haue drawn my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And it they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answer, Because of the bruite: for it cometh, and euery heart shall melt, and all hands shall be weak, and all mindes shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: behold, it cometh, and shall be done, saith the Lord God.

8 I sawe, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sword, a sword both sharpe, and fourbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a foye slaughter, and it is fourbished that it may glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it containeth the rodde of my sinne, as all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is fourbished, that he may giue it into the hand of the slayer.

12 Cry, and howle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the Princes of Israel: the terrors of the sword shall be vpon my people: smite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a trial, and what shall this be, if the sword containe euen the rodde? It shall be no more, saith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and smite hand to hand, and let the sword be doubled: let the sword that hath killed, reurne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entring into their priue chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates, to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their finnes. Whi is made bright, and it is dyed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee alone: go to the right hand, or get thy selfe to the left hand, whither thou wilt: turne thy face thither.

17 I will also smite mine handes together, and wil caule my wrath to reale, I the Lord haue said it.

18 The worde of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the sword of the King of Babel may come: both rwayne shall come out of one land, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the cite.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbar of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong cite.

21 And the King of Babel stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by divination, and made his arrowes bright: hee consulted with idoles, and looked in the liver.

22 At his right hand was the divination for Ierusalem to appoint capitaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shouting, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortresse.

23 And it shall be vnto them as a false divination in their sight for the othes made vnto them: but hee will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to be remembered, in discovering your rebellion, that in all your workes your finnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with your hand.

25 And thou prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an ende, 26 Thus sayeth the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the crowne: this shall be no more the same: I will eate the humble, and will abate him that is high.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, & it shall be no more vntill he come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 And thou, sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The twoorde, the sword is drawn forth, and fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they see a banitie vnto thee, hie, and able to resist the Babylonians. x Some refferre this to the priestes satire: for Ichozadek the priest went into captiuitie with the King. y That is, vnto the coming of the Messiah: for though the Iewes had some signe of gouernment afterward vnder the Persians, Greeks, and Romanes, yet this restitution was not till Christes coming, and at length should be accomplished, as was promised, Genes. 49. 10. z Though the Iewes and Ammonites would not beleue, that thou, to wit, the sworde, shouldst come vpon them, and said that the Prophets, which threatned, spake lyes, yet thou shalt as surely come, as though thou werst already vpon their neckes.

n Provide for thy selfe: for thou shalt see Gods plague of all parts on this country.

o This was spoken because that when Nebuchad-nazzar came against Iudah, his purpose was also to goe against the Ammonites: but doubting in the way, which enterprise to undertake first, he consulted with his soothsayers, and so went against Iudah.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which are vile in of name and foie in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel enter one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vered the fatherlesse and the widowe.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carrie tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the middes of thee they commit abomination.

10 In thee haue they discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vered her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one hath committed a homination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his bawghter in lawe, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, even his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, sayth the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue smitten mine handes vpon thy countenancesse, that thou hast shed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the dares that I shall haue to do with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know, that I am the Lord.

17 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Some of man, The house of Israel is vnto me as drosse: all they are drosse, and tyme, and prou, and lead in the middes of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, Because ye are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the middes of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and drosse, and prou, and lead, and tyme into the middes of the fornace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, & you shall be melted in the middes thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the middes of the fornace, so shall ye be melted in the mids thereof, and ye shall know, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Some of man, say vnto her, Thou art the laide, that is vncleane, and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie of her prophets in the middes thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the middes thereof.

26 Her priests haue broken my lawe, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betwene the holy and prophane, neyther discerned betwene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in the middes thereof are like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her prophets haue dabbled them with vntempered mortar, seeing vntures, and diminishing lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord be had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spooping and robbing, and haue vered the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two woemen, the daughters of one mother.

3 And they committed fornication ^b in Egypt, they committed fornication in their pouth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruiſed the teates of their virginitee.

4 And the names of them were Aholah, the elder, and Aholibah her ſiſter: they were mine, and they bare ſonnes & daughters: thus were their names. Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot & when I ſee was mine, and ſhee was ſet on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Aſſyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blew ſilke, both captaynes and princes: they were all pleaſant young men, and horſemen riding vpon horſes.

7 Thus he committed her whooredome with them, euen with all them that were the choſen men of Aſſhur, and with all on whome ſhee doted, and deſiled her ſelfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left ſhee her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her pouth they lap with her, and they bruiſed the breasts of her virginitee, and powdered their whooredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Aſſyrians, vpon whom the doted.

10 Theſe diſcouered her ſhame: they tooke away her ſonnes and her daughters, and ſlew her with the ſword, and ſhe had an euill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her ſiſter Aholibah ſawe this, ſhee married her ſelfe with inordinate loue, more then ſhe, & with her fornications more then her ſiſter with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, both captaynes and princes clothed with diuers ſutes, horſemen riding vpon horſes: they were all pleaſant young men.

13 Then I ſawe that ſhe was deſiled, & that they were both after one ſort.

14 And that they encreaſed her fornications: for when the law men painted vpon the wall, the images of the Chaldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, & with diademes vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Chaldea, the lande of their natiuitie.)

after whom they luſt.

16 Alſoone, I ſay, as ſhe ſawe them, ſhe doted vpon them, and ſent meſſengers vnto them in to Chaldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they deſiled her with their fornication, and ſhe was polluted with them, and her luſt departed from them.

18 So ſhee diſcouered her fornication, and diſcloſed her ſhame: then mine heart forſooke her, like as mine heart had forſaken her ſiſter.

19 Yet ſhee encreaſed her whooredome more, and called to remembrance the daies of her pouth, wherein ſhee had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For ſhe doted vpon their ſeruantes, whoſe members are as the members of aſſes, & whoſe iſſue is like the iſſue of horſes.

21 Thou calledſt to remembrance the wickedneſſe of thy pouth, when thy teares were bruiſed by the Egyptians: therefore the pappes of thy pouth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, I will raiſe vp thy louers againſt thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them againſt thee on euery ſide.

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Chaldeans, ^h Peked, and Shoah, and Moa, and all the Aſſyrians with them: they were all pleaſant young men, captaynes and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horſes.

24 Euen theſe ſhall come againſt thee, with charrets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which ſhall ſet againſt thee, buckler and ſhield, and helmet round about: and I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they ſhall iudge thee according to their iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee: and they ſhall deale cruelly with thee: they ſhall cut off thy noſe and thine eares, and thy remnant ſhall fall by the ſword: they ſhall carue away thy ſonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue ſhall be denoured by the fire.

26 They ſhall alſo ſtrippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus wil I make thy wickedneſſe to ceaſe from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: ſo that thou ſhalt not liſt by thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hande of them, whom thou hateſt: euen into the handes of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they ſhall handle thee deſpitefully, & ſhall take away all thy labour, & ſhall leaue thee naked & bare, and the ſhame of thy fornications ſhall be diſcouered, both thy wickedneſſe, and thy whooredome.

30 I will doe theſe things vnto thee, becauſe thou haſt gone a whooring after the heathen, and becauſe thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou haſt walked in the way of thy ſiſter: therefore wil I giue her a cup into thine hand, ^h Theſe were the names of certaine Princes and captaynes vnder Nebuchad-nezzar.

ⁱ Ebr. I will giue iudgement before them.

^j Or, lawes.

ⁱ They ſhall deſtroy thy princes and priests with the reſt of thy people.

^k All thy treasures and riches which thou haſt gotten by labour.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt bee laughed to scorn and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt bee filled with drunkenness and sorrowe, even with the cup of destruction, and delolation, with the cuppe of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wyng it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the heards thereof, and teare thine owne breastes: for I haue spoken it, sayeth the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast me behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord saith moreover vnto me; Some of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah, & Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue plaid the whoredome, and blood is in their handes, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sounes, whome they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meate.

38 Moreover thus haue they done vnto mee: they haue defiled my sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For wher they had slaine their childre to their idoles, they came the same day in to my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the middes of mine house.

40 And howe much more is it that they sent for men to come from farre, vnto whonia messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whome thou diddest walke thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thy with ornaments,

41 And latest vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, wherupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make þ company great were brought men of Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their handes, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her that was elde in adulteries, How shall she and her sounations come to an ende.

44 And they went in vnto her as they go to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them, after the manner of harlots, and after the manner of murderers: for they are harlots, & blood is in their handes.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, & will giue them vnto the sword, & to the spoile.

47 And the multitude that stone the with stones, and cut them with their swordes: they shall slap their sounes, and their daughters, and burne by their houses with fire.

48 Thus wil I cause wickednes to cease out of the land, that all women may bee taught, not to doe after your wickednesse;

49 And they shall lay your wickednesse vpon you, and pee shall beare the finnes of your idoles, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

¶ He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

¶ Came in the xth ninth yeere, in the tenth Amoneth, in the tenth day of the month came the wordes of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, write ther the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, euen enter good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seethe the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloodie cite, euen to the pot, whose skomme is therein, and whose skomme is not gone out of it: bring it out a piece by piece: let no lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: shee set it vpon an high rocke, and polluted it not vpon ground to coner it with dust.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be conered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, * Woe to the bloodie cite, for I will make it the burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then let it emprise vpon the coales thereof, that the hyale of it may be hotte, and may burne, & that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skomme of it may be consumed.

12 Shee hath wearied her selfe with lyes, and her great skomme went not out of her: therefore her skomme shalbe consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse & wickednesse: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I wil not goe backe, neither wil I spare, neither wil I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shall they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, & put on thy shooes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, and eate & not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people sayde vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou doest to?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will pollute my Sanctuary, euen the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whome ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shall not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire shalbe vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that yee hath done, ye shall doe: and when this cometh, ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, 27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, and be no more dumme, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, let thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saidst, Ya, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make Rabbah an dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a shepercote, and yett shall knowe that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the handes, and stampt with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the lande of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will root thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the ciues of his ciues, I will lay in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Berh-jethumoth, Baal-meon, and Kirjathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, & reuenged himselfe vpon them,

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teiman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hande of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall knowe my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the olde hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

f I will make thee so bare that thou shalt haue nothing to couer thee.

g The gouernors and rulers of other countreys that dwell by the sea shall be come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their signefith that her destruction should be so horrible, that all the world should heare thereof and be affraide.

And in the eleventh pere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, because that Tyus hath laid against Ierusalem, that the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished,

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyus, and I will bring by many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyus and breake downe her towres: I will also scape her dust from her, and make her like the toppe of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the middes of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spote to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field, shall bee flame by the sword, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring vpon Tyus Nebuchad nezar King of Babel, a King of Kings, from the North, with hoies and with charrets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 Hee shall lay with the sword thy daughters in the fildes, and hee shall make a foite against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his hoies shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheelles, and of the charrets, when hee shall enter into thy gates, as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoones of his hoies shall he treade downe all thy streets: he shall slap thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, & they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water.

13 Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, & the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyus, Shall not the ples tremble at the sounde of thy fall? and at the crie of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murdered in the middes of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their biopied garments, and shall clothe themselves with assestment: they shall sit vpon the grounde and bee assestment at every mount, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, Howe art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renowned citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to bee on all that haunt therein?

18 Nowe shall the ples be assestment in the day of thy fall: pea, the ples that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, when I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people of olde time, and shall set thee in the lowe parts of the earth, like the old runnes, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not bee inhabited, and I shall helpe my glorie in the lande of the living,

21 I will bring thee to nothing, & thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be founde againe, saith the Lord God.

11 The men of Arvad with thine armie were upon thy walles rounde about, and the ^e Cananiads were in thy towres: they hanged their shields upon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beautie perfite.

12 They of Tarshish were thy marchants for the multitude of all riches, for silver, pyon, tinne, and lead, which they brought to thy faires.

13 They of Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy marchants, concerning the lues of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy merchandise.

14 They of the house of Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy marchants: and the merchandise of many ples were in thine hands: they brought thee for a present: honyes, teeth, and peacocks.

16 They of Aram were thy marchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy faires with iemerandes, purple, and dyed woike, and fine linnen, and corall, and pearle.

17 They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy marchants: they brought for thy merchandise wheate of ^k Aminich, and Damag, and honie and ople, and balme.

18 They of Damascus were thy marchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: pyon woike, cassia and calamus were among thy merchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy marchants in picious clothes for the charers.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Redar ^y occupied with thee, in laines, and rainnes and goates: in these were they thy marchants.

22 The marchants of Sheba, and Raas mah were thy marchants: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with all picious stones and gold.

23 They of Haran and Carmel and Eden, the marchants of Sheba, Ashur and Chilmad were thy marchants.

24 These were thy marchants in all sortes of things, in rayment of blewes like, and of dyed woike, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with cordes: charmes also were among thy merchandise.

25 The shippes of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished, and made very glorious in the middes of the sea.

26 Thy ^y robbers haue brought thee in to great waters: the East wind hath broken thee in the middes of the sea.

29 And all that handle the oxe, the mariners and all the pilots of the sea shall come downe from their shippes, and shall stand upon the land,

30 And shall cause their voyce to bee heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust upon their heades, and wallowe themselves in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee and girde them with a sackcloth, and they shall weepe for thee, with sorrowe of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning they shall take by a lamentation for thee, saying, What cite is like Tyus, so destroyed in the middes of the sea!

33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people and thou biddest enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt bee broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the middes of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the ples shall be astonied at thee, and al their kings shall be fore afraide and troubled in their countenance.

36 The marchants among the people shall hiss at thee: thou shalt bee a terror, and neuer shalt bee any more.

2 The word of God against the King of Tyrus for his pride. 31 The worde of the Lorde against Zidon. 35 The Lorde promifeth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

The word of the Lord came againe unto me, saying,

2 Soime of man, say unto the Prince of Tyus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is raised, and thou hast sayde, I am a god, I sit in the seate of God in the middes of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and I though thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God,

3 Beholde, thou art wiser then ^b Daniel: there is no secrete, that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom and thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and silver into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisdom and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God,

7 Beholde, therefore I will bring strangers upon thee, even the terrible nations: and they shall drawe their swords against against the beautie of thy wisdom, and they shall desire thy brightnesse.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that 9 Wilt thou say then before him, that slapeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no God, in the handes of him that slapeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the vn-circumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 I will pouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Some of man, take by a lamentation vpon the King of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of wis-dome and perfect in beautie.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze, and the diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the ias-per, the saphir, jasper, and the carbuncle and golde: the workmanship of thy time-bels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour:
thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God:
thou hast walked in the muddes of the stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, til iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy marchandise, they haue filled the mids of thee with crueltye, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountain of God: and I will destroy thee, O covering Cherub, from the muddes of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, & by the iniquity of thy marchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 I againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Some of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it.

22 And say, thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Zidon, &
I will be glorified in the mids of thee: & they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, & blood into her streetes, & the flame shall fall in the mids of her: the enimie shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a picking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any griuous thorne of al that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, when I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and haue sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the lande, that I haue giuen to thy seruant Jaakob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, & shall build houses, and plant vineyards: for they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

He prophesieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13
The Lord promiset that he will restore Egypt after fourty yeeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour which hee took against Tyrus.

1 In the tenth peere, and in the tenth mo-neth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, Pharaoh King of Egypt, the great dragon, that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath sayde, The river is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put hooks in thy chawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will drawe thee out of the muddes of the riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leane thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open felde: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meate to the beastes of the felde, and to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall knowe that I am the Lord, because they haue bene a staffe of reede to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leane vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to stand vpright.

8 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because hee hath sayd, The river is mine, and I haue made it.

and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the 17 ¶ In the seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth came the woide of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Some of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his arme to serue a great service against Tyrys: enery head was made halfe, and enery shoulder was made bare: per had he no wages, nor his arme for Tyrys, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and hee shall take her multitude, and spoile her spoile, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages for his arme.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labor, & he serued I against it, because they wrought I for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the home of the house of Israel to growe, & I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof. The woide of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, prophete, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Howle and crie, Woe be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, & it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall bee in Ethiopia, when the flame shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, & when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 Ethiopia, and Phur, and Lub, and al the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towne of Seneneth shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers go forth from mee in shippes, to make the careless shooes afraid, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall drave their swordes against Egypt, and fill the lande with the flame.

12 And I will make the riuers drie, and sell the land into the handes of the wicked, and I will make the lande waste, and all that therein is, by the handes of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of Egypt, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in 5 land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in 6o.

15 And I will pollue my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of 7o.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorowe, & 8o shall be destroyed, and 9o shall haue sorowes dayly.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the woide of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

CHAP. XXXI.

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He prophesieth a like destruction to them both.

As in the eleventh pere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, speake unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, & to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatness?

3 Behold, Althurs was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot up very hie, & his top was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe created him on his with her rivers running round about his plantes, and sent out her little rivers unto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was created above all the trees of the field, & his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the fowles of the heauen made their nestes in his boughs, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the feld bring forth their young, and vnder his shadowe dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatness, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was nere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the cheffennut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him fayre by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because I see his life by on high, & hath God by his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height.

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue said him alway for his wickednesse.

12 And strangers haue destroyed him, even the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaynes, and in all the balles his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the rivers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadowe, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the fowles of the heauen reuiue, and all the beastes of the feld shall be vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall be created by their height, neyther shall shoote by their top among the thicke boughes, neyther shall their leaues stand by in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether partes of the earth in the middes of the children of men among them that goe downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hel, I caused them to mourne, & I covered the deepe for him, and I did restraime the floods thereof, & the great waters were staied: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the feld fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hel, with them that descended vnto the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether partes of the earth.

17 They also will come downe to hel with him vnto them that be slaine by the sword, and his arme, and they that dwell vnder his shadowe in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom yet thou thus like in glory and in greatness among the trees of Eden: yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the uncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh king of Egypt. 12 He prophesieth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

As in the twelfth pere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, take by a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a lion of the nations, and art as a dragon in the sea: thou hast distroyed thy rivers, and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in their rivers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore spread my nette ouer thee vnto a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I lead thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open feld, and I will cause all the fowles of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill

5 And I will lap the fish upon y^e monutaines, & fill the valleys with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherem thou comminest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: I will couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lightes of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring a darkenesse vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countries which thou hast not known.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, & their kings shall be astonied with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, & they shall be afraide at euery woman: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon
thee.

12 By the swordes of the mightie wil I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, & all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I wil destroy also all the beastes ther-of from the great water sides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be layde waste: when I shall smite all them, which dwell therein, then shall they knowe, that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 I In the twelfth yeere, also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the woide of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, & call them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether partes of the earth, with them that go downe into the pit.

19 Whom dost thou passe in beautie:
go downe a sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the muddes of them that are slaine by the sword: there is deli-uered to the sword: drawe her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The most mightie and strong shall weake to him out of the mids of hel with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that bee slaine by the sword.

22 What is there and all his companion:
their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword.

23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing.

24 There is a clamor all his multitude round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether partes of y^e earth, which caused them selues to bee feared in the lande of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the flame with all his multitude: their grauies are round about him: all these vnc-circumcised are slaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the lande of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that go downe to the pit:
they are laid in the muddes of them that be slaine.

26 There is a speech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graues are round as-bout them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with y^e valiant of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue laped their swordes vnder their heades, but their van-quie shall be vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mightie in the land of the liuing.

28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the mids of the vncircumcised, & lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, & all his princes, which with their strength are laide by them that were slaine by the sword:
they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be all y^e princes of the north, with all the Zidonians, which are gone downe with the flame, with their feare:
they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that bee slaine by the sword, and beare their shame
with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall be comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I haue caused my feare to bee in the land of the liuing: and hee shall be laide in the muddes of the vncircumcised with them, that are slaine by the sword, euen Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

which pretend

kednesse, and yet declare not them selues such by their suites, that is, in obey-ing Gods com-mandements and by godly life.

I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man y from among them, and make them their watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, & warne
the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of y trumpet, and would not bee admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hande.

7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto y house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my commaundment, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou dost not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Nevertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou shalt deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus see I saye and say, For our transgressions & our sinnes be vpon vs, & we are consumed because of them, how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will be to the children of the people, The righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that hee receiueth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousness in the day that hee dieth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall liue, if hee trust to his owne righteousness, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesses shall be no more respected, but for his iniquitie that hee hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Again when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if hee turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawfull and right,

15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, & giue againe that he had robbed, & walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sins that he hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that, which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue.

17 Per the children of the people say,
* The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is unequal.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall enie die thereby.

19 But if the wicked turne from his wickednesse, and do that which is lawfull, and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Per ye say, the way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of our cap-tinitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and saide, The citie is shurten.

22 Nowe the hands of the Lord had bene vpon me in the evening afore hee that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth, until he came to me in y morning:
and when he had opened my mouth, I was no more dumb.

23 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Some of man, these that dwell in y desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shall be giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Pee eate with the blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shed blood: should ye then possesse
the land?

26 Pe leane vpon your swordes: pee worke abomination, & ye desire euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then pos-seste the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured:
and they that bee in the fortres and in the carnes, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue layde the land desolate and waste, because of all their abominations, that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of the people that I talke of thee by the walles and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is y word y cometh from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vnto come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not do them: for with their mouthes they make y iestes, and their heart goeth after their concupiscences.

32 And loe, thou art vnto them, as a iesting song of one y hath a pleasant voice, & can sing well: for they heare thy wordes,

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepheards that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord saith that he will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promyseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

And the worde of the Lord came vnto Aime, saying,

2 Some of man, prophetic against the shepheards of Israel, prophetic & say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Who be vnto the shepheards of Israel, that feede themselves: shoulde not the shepheards feede the flockes?

3 Pe eate the fatte, and pee clothe you with the wooll: pe hit them that are fed, but pe feede not the sheepe.

4 The weakke haue pee not strengthened: the sicke haue pee not healed, neyther haue pee bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was broken away, neyther haue pee sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue pe ruled them.

5 And they were scattered vnto a shepheard: and when they were dispersed, they were deuoured of al the beasts of the field.

6 App sheepe wandred throug all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: pea, my flocke was scattered throug all the earth, & none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore pe shepheards, heare the worde of the Lord.

8 As I liue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fed themselves, and fed not my sheepe.

9 Therefore, heare pe the worde of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will requite my sheepe at their handes, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feede themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, & seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bin among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreies, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, & vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall they folde be: there shall they lie in a good solde, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feed my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was broken away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weakke, but I will destroy the fatte and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I iudge betwene sheepe, and sheepe, betwene the rannines and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten by the good pasture, but pee must trade downe with your fete the residue of your pasture: and to haue drunk of the deepe waters, but pee must trouble the residue with your fete?

19 And my sheepe eate that which pee haue troden with your fete, and drinke that which pee haue troubled with your fete.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, even I will iudge betwene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because pee haue thrust with side and with shoulde, and pusht all the weakke with your hornes, till pee haue scattered the abroade.

22 Therefore wil I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoyled, & I will iudge betwene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shall feede them, even my seruant David, he shall feede them, and hee shall be their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant David shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause the euil beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I wil set them, as a blessing, euery round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall be raine of blessing.

27 And the tree of the field shall yeeld her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, & deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely and none shall make them afraide.

29 And I will raise vp for them a plant of renouew, & they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstande, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, even the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And pee my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

g Meaning, such as lift vp them selves aboue their brethrena, and thinke they haue no neede to be gouerned by me.

That is, by being difference betweene the good & the bad, and to giue to eyther as they deserue. i By good pasture and deepe waters, is meant the pure worde of God, and the administration of iustice, which they did not distribute to the poore till they had corrupt it.

k Meaning, Christ, of whom David was a figure, Iere. 30.9. hose. 3.5.

l This declareth ynder Christ the flocke should be truly deliuered from sinne, & hel, and to be safely preferred in the Church where they should neuer perish. m The fruits of Gods graces shall appeare in great abundance in his Church.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

Moreover the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesy against it,

3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I mount Seir, I come against thee, & I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamities, when their iniquity had an end,

6 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou hate blood, even blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate, and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountings with his (stone) men: in thine hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy rivers shall they fall, that are at one with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not return, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countries shall be mine, and we will possess them (seeing the Lord was there)

11 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will enquire according to thy wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast used in thine hatred against thee: and I will make my self known among them when I have indged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord have heard all the blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountings of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are given us to be devoured.

13 Thus with your mouths ye have boasted against me, and have multiplied your words against me: I have heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world rejoice, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou diddest rejoice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, I mount Seir, and all Idumea whole, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promises to deliver Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefits done unto the Jews, are to be ascribed to the mercy of God, and not unto their desertings. 26 God reneweth our hearts, that we may walk in his commandments.

Also thou some of man, prophesy unto the mountings of Israel, and say, Ye mountings of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the enemy hath said against you, Behold, even the places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesy, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they have made you desolate, & swallowed you up on every side, that ye might be a possession unto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come unto the lippes and tongues of men, and unto the reproch of the people,

4 Therefore see mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation have I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which have taken up lands for their possession, in the top of all their heart, and with despiseful minds to cast it out for a yrap.

6 Prophesy therefore upon the land of Israel, and say unto the mountaines, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I have spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye have suffered the shame of the heathen,

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I have lifted up mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall bear their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall be shoores for your branches, & bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come unto you, and I will turne unto you, and ye shall be riden and sown.

10 And I will multiply the men upon you, even all the house of Israel whole, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply upon you man and beast, and they shall increase and bring forth fruit, and I will cause you to dwell after your old estate, and I will bestow benefits upon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke upon you, even my people Israel, and they shall possess you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth despise them of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say unto you, Thou art land devoured of men, and hast bene a waste of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt denoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God, 15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy people to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

a That is, the Idumean.

b That is, Jerusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefest of all the world.

c Ye are made a matter of talk and derision to all the world.

d They appointed with themselves to have it, and therefore came with Nebuchad-nezzar against Jerusalem for this purpose.

e Because you have bene a laughing stocke unto them.

f By making a solemn othe, read Chap. 20.5.

g God declareth his mercies and goodnesse towards his Church, who still preferreth his, even when he destroyeth his enemies.

h Which was accomplished under Christ, to whom all these temporall delivrance did direct them.

i That is, upon the mountaines of Jerusalem.

Or, thee.

k This the enemies imputed as the reproch of the land, which God did for the finnes of the people according to his iudgements.

a Where the Idumeans dwell.

b Whē by their punishment I called them from their iniquity.

c Except thou repent thy former cruelty.

d To wit, to their former estate.

e Meaning, Israel and Idumea.

f And so by fighting against God's people, they should goe about to put him out of his owne possession.

g As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.

h Showing, that when God punisheth the enemies, the godly ought to consider that he hath a care over them and so praise his Name: and also that the wicked rage as though there were no God, till they see his hand to their destruction.

16 ¶ Moreover the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

17 Some of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, & by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthynesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I polluted my wrath byson them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were disperced through the countreis: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 ¶ And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lorde, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I favoured mine holy Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lorde God, I do not thinke for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine: I holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whome you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lorde, saith the Lorde God, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, & gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I poure cleane water vpon you, and ye shall be cleane: yea, from all your filthynesse, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 ¶ A new heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit will I put within you, & I will take away the stonie heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my Spirit within you, & cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, & ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also cleanse you from all your filthynesse, & I will call for come, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the felde, that ye shall beare no more the reproche of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthy to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 As it is known vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lorde God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lorde God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you fro all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, & the desolate places shall be builded, 34 And the desolate lande shall be tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they sayd, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, & these waste and desolate & ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lorde build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lorde haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lorde God, I will per forme it for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as a flocke of Jerusalem in their iolenne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know, that I am the Lorde.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophesieth the bringing againe of the people being in captiuitie. 16 He sheweth the union of the ten tribes with the two.

The hand of the Lorde was vpon me, and carried me out in the spirit of the Lorde, and set me downe in the mids of the flde, which was full of bones.

2 And he led me round about by them, and beholde, there were very many in the open felde, and lo, they were verie drye.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lorde God, thou knowest.

4 Again he sayde vnto me, Prophecye vpon these bones and say vnto them, O ye drie bones, heare the word of the Lorde.

5 Thus saith the Lorde God vnto these bones, Beholde, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh grow vpon you, and coner you with skin, & put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye shall know that I am the Lorde.

7 So I prophesied, as I was commanded: & as I prophesied, there was a noise, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I behelde, lo, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and abone, the skin couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he vnto me, Prophecye vnto the wind: prophecye, sonne of man, and say to the wind, Thus saith the Lorde God, Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe vpon these same, that they may liue.

10 So I prophesied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Beholde, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecye, & say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will open your graues, and cause you

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shewe vs what thou meanest by these?

24 And David my * seruant shall be king ouer them, and they all shall haue one they heard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

25 And they shall dwell in the land, that I haue giuen vnto Iacob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, euen they, & their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for ever, and my seruant David shall be their prince for ever.

shall be my people.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 He prophesieth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God.

21 Their destruction.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, let thy face against ^a Gog and against the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesie against him,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, & put hooks in thy chawes, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine hoste both horses, and horses men, all clothed with all sortes of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers, and shields, all handling swords.

8 After many dayes thou shalt be visited: for in the latter peeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bin destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long ben wast: yet they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascende and come by like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloude to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke I euill thoughts.

11 And thou shalt say, I wil go by to the land that hath no walles towne: I will go to them that are at rest, & dwell in safety, which dwell all without walles, & haue neither barres nor gates, 14 Therefore sonne of man, prophetic, and say unto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwell safely, shalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and many people with thee: all shall ride upon hories, even a great multitude and a mighty armie.

16 And thou shalt come up against my people of Israel, as a cloude to cover the land: thou shalt be in the latter dayes, and I will bring thee upon my lande that the heathen may knowe mee, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou hee, of whome I have spoken in olde time, by the hande of my servants the Prophets of Israel which prophesied in those dayes and peeres, that I would bring thee upon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath have I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the felds and all that mooue and creepe upon the earth, and all the men that are upon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be overthrowen, and the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him: throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will please against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine upon him and upon his bandes, and upon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and hailestones, fire, and burnings.

23 Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The granes of Gog and his hosts. 17 They shall be deuoured of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

Therefore, thou sonne of man, prophetic against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee and leane but the skirt part of thee, and will cause thee to come by from the North parts, and will bring thee upon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hande, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall upon the mountaines of Israel, and all the bandes, and the people, that is with thee: for I will give thee vnto the birds and to euery feathered foule and beast of the felds to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall upon the open felds: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on spagag, and among them that dwell safely in the ples, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holp shame known in the mids of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holp shame any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, the holp one of Israel.

8 Beholde, it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I have spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall goe forth, and shall burne and let fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, upon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staves in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire inen peeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the felds, neither cut downe any out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I give buriall to Gog: a place there for buriall in Israel, even the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the Sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their noses, and there shall they burie Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-gog.

12 And seven moneths long shall the house of Israel bee burying of them; that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall bury them, & they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the land with them that trauaile, to burie those that remaine vpon the ground, and cleanse it: they shall search to the ende of seven moneths.

15 And the traualers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set by a signe by it, till the burners haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the cite shall be Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beasts of the felds, Assemble your selues, and come: gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I do sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eat flesh and drinke blood.

18 Ye shall eat the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambs, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fat beasts of Bashan.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glorie among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layde vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall knowe, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against mee: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their uncleannesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, & hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iacob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be zealous for mine holy Name.

26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

28 Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to bee ledde into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne lands, and haue left none of them any more there.

29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

I In the five and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was shurten, in the selfe same day, the hande of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought mee thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by a dunnie vision, and set me vpon a very high mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

3 And hee brought me thither, and beholde, there was a man, whose countenance was to looke to, like brasse, with a linen thread in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man layd vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shewe thee: for to the intent that they might see shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And beholde, I sawe a wall on the outside of the house rounde about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went by the staires thereof, and measured the poole of the gate, which was one reede broad, and the other poole of the gate, which was one reede broad.

7 And every chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betweene the chambers were five cubites: and the poole of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured hee the poole of the gate of eight cubites, and the postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: the porch thereof was of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on his side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side, & sixe cubites on that side.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the roote of a chamber to the toppe of the gate: the breadth was five and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 He made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within in the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went round as house within: & vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 I Then brought he me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court rounde about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pavement.

18 And the pavement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the South, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof

22 And their windowes, & their arches by their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going up unto it had seven steppes, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court floode over against the gate towards the North, and towards the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fine and twentieth cubites.

26 And there were seven steps to goe up to it, & the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side upon the post thereof.

27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate towards the South an hundred cubites.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures; and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long and fine and twentieth cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were fine and twentieth cubites long, and fine cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were towards the bitter court, and palme trees were upon the postes thereof, and the going up to it had eight steppes.

32 And againe he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, & the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fine and twentieth cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the bitter court, and palme trees were upon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

35 After, he brought me to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fine and twentieth cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were towards the bitter court, and palme trees were upon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

38 And every chamber, and the curie thereof was under the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate floode two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, upon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the lime offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate floode two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side by the side of the gate, even eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the four tables were of heben stone for the burnt offering of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and a halfe broad, and one cubite high: whereupon also they layd the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hande broad, fastened round about, and upon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate, were the chambers of the fingers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was towards the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, having the prospect toward the North.

45 And he said unto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the priests that have charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is towards the North, is for the Priests that have the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Levi which may come heere to the Lord to minister unto him.

47 So hee measured the court, an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad even four square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And hee brought me to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, five cubites on this side, and five cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentieth cubites, and the breadth eleven cubites, and he brought me by the steppes wherby they went up to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and an another on that side.

CHAP. XLII.

The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

Afterward, he brought me to the Temple, and measured the postes, five cubites broad on the one side, and five cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentieth cubites.

3 Then went he in, and measured the postes

poſtes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie ſix cubites, and the breadth of the entrie ſeven cubites.

4 So hee meaſured the length thereof twenty cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites before the Temple. And he ſaid unto me, This is the moſt holy place.

5 After, he meaſured the wall of the houſe, ſix cubites, and the breadth of every chamber four cubites round about the houſe on every ſide.

6 And the chambers were chamber upon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, & they entered into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the houſe, that the poſtes might be faſtened therein, and not be faſtened in the wall of the houſe.

7 And it was large, twenty round mountings upward to the chambers: for the ſtaire of the houſe was mounting upward, round about the houſe: therefore the houſe was larger upward: ſo they went up from the loweſt chamber to the higheſt by the ſtaires.

8 I ſaw alſo the houſe hie round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of the great cubites.

9 The thickneſſe of the wall which was for the chamber without, was five cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betwene the chambers was the wideſſe of twenty cubites round about the Houſe on every ſide.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was before the ſeparate place toward the Weſt corner, was ſeventie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was five cubites thicke, round about, and the length ſixtie cubites.

13 So he meaſured the houſe an hundred cubites long, and the ſeparate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundred cubites long.

14 Alſo the breadth of the forefront of the houſe and of the ſeparate place toward the Eaſt, was an hundred cubites.

15 And he meaſured the length of the building, over againſt the ſeparate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one ſide and on the other ſide an hundred cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The poſtes and the narrowe windows, and the chambers round about, on theſe ſides over againſt the poſtes, ſieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground up to the windows, and the windows were ſieled.

17 And from above the doore unto the inner houſe without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was ſieled according to the meaſure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, ſo that a palme tree was betwene a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one ſide, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other ſide: thus was it made through all the houſe round about.

20 From the ground unto above the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The poſtes of the Temple were ſquare red, and thus was looke unto was the ſimilitude and ſoyne of the Sanctuary.

22 The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the ſides thereof were of wood. And he ſaid unto mee, This is the table that ſhall be before the Lord.

23 And the temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, even two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And upon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made upon the walles, and there were thicke plaukes upon the ſoyes front of the porch without.

26 And there were narrowe windows and palme trees on the one ſide, and on the other ſide, by the ſides of the porch, and upon the ſides of the houſe, and thicke plaukes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

Then brought he me into the utter court by the way toward the North, and he brought mee into the chamber that was over againſt the ſeparate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubites, was the North doore, and it was ſixtie cubites broad.

3 Over againſt the twenty cubites which were for the inner court, and over againſt the panement, which was for the utter court, was chamber againſt chamber in three rows.

4 And before the chambers was a gallery of nine cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Nowe the chambers above were narrower: for thoſe chambers ſeemed to eate up theſe, to wit, the lower, and thoſe that were in the middes of the building.

6 For they were in three rows, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemoſt, even from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without over againſt the chambers, toward the utter court on the forefront of the chambers, was ſixtie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court, was ſixtie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundred cubites.

9 And under these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court toward the East, one against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directip before the wall toward the East, as one entreteth.

13 Then sayde he vnto mee, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they bee holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach vnto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the treipasse offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the hter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people.

15 Nowe when he had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, & measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rod, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured also the North side, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

18 And he measured the South side five hundred reedes with the measuring reede.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured five hundred reedes with the measuring reede.

20 He measured it by the four sides: it had a wall round about, five hundred reedes long, & five hundred bypode to make a separation betwene the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 Hee seeth the glorie of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7. He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 Hee is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

Afterward hee brought me to the gate, each the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voice was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glorie.

3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, even as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

4 And the glorie of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me by & brought mee into the inner court, and beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which said vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for ever, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeles of their Kings in their hie places.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their pases by my postes (for there was but a wall betwene mee and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Nowe therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeles of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 If Thou sonne of man, shewe this house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednesse, and let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they bee ashamed of all that they haue done, shewe them the forme of the house, and the paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole faction thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and al the figures thereof, and al the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole faction thereof, and al the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the description of the house, It shall be vpon the toppe of the mount: all the limites thereof round about shall bee most holy. Beholde, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, and an hand breadth, euen the bottome shall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof, round about shall be a spaine: and this shall be the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubites, and the breadth one cubite, and from the litle piece to the great piece shall be four cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shall be four cubites, and from the altar vpward shall be four homes.

16 And the altar shall be twelve cubites long, and twelve broad, and four square in the four corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall be fourteene cubites long, and fourteene broad in the four square corners thereof, and the border about it shall be halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shall be a cubite about, and the steps thereof shall be turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And hee sayde vnto mee, Some of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt giue to the Priests, and to the Levites, that be of the seed of Zadok, which appoach vnto mee, to minister vnto mee, saith the Lord God, a pong bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hoines of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the boyder round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou shalt make an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a pong bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them befoze the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto the Lord.

25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare euer day an hee goat for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a pong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seven dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and it shall be consecrated.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eyght day & so forth, the Priests shall make pour burnt offerings vpon the altar, and pour peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAPTER XLIII.

He reprooueth the people for their offense. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

¶ Then he brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then saide the Lord vnto mee, This gate shall be shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It apperaineth to the prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate breade befoze the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought he me toward the South gate befoze the House: and when I looked, beholde, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, & I fell vpon my face.

5 And the Lord said vnto mee, Some of man, & marke well, and beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the House of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entering in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, pee haue pnnough of all pour abominations,

7 Seeing, that ye haue brought into my Sanctuary Strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to bee in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine House, when pee offer my bread, euen fat, & blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all pour abominations.

8 For ye haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you pour selues haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel,

10 Neither yet the Levites that are gone backe from mee, when Israel went astray, which went astray from mee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the house, and minister in the House: they shall also the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stande befoze them to serue them.

12 Because they serued befoze their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come nere vnto me to doe the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come nere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for al the seruice thereof, for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priestesses of the Levites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from mee, they shall come nere to me to serue me, and they shall stand befoze me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 Then shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come nere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, and no wool shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linnen boners vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loines: they shall not gird themselues in the wearing places.

19 But when they go forth into the better court, euen to the better court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie

31 The Priests shall not eate of any thing that is dead, or rogne, whether it be foule or beast.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there separate four portions, of which the first is giue to the Priests and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

MOREouer when ye shall deuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an holy portion of the land, five & twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holp in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuarie five hundredth in length with five hundredth in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubites round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twentie thousand and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuarie, & the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall bee the priests, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which came neere to serue the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in the five and twentie thousand of length, & the ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie, five thousand broad, and five and twentie thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euery before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppress my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it be sufficient vnto the princes of Israel: leave off cruelty and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.

10 Ye shall haue iust ballances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall bee equall: a Bath shall contene the tenth part of an Homer, & an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shall bee after the Homer.

12 * And the shekel shall bee twentie gerahs, and twentie shekels, and a fine and twentie shekels and fiftene shekels shall be your Maneh.

13 This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheat, and ye shall giue the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oile, euery of the Bath of orle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Oyle (tenne Baths are an Homer: for tenne Baths fill an Homer)

15 And one Lambe of two hundredth sheepe out of the fatte pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meate offerings, and drinke offerings in the solempne feastes and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the iust feastes of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offering, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the new moones. 8 Thorow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall bee shut the five woorking dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the newe moone it shall be opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stande by the poste of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and hee shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall goe forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbath, and in the newe moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer unto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be five lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meate offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambes: a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the newe moone it shall be a pong bullocke without blemish, and five lambes and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offering, euen as Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambs: according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the soleinne feastes, he that entereth in by the way of the north gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: & he that entereth by the way of the South gate, shall go forth by the way of the north gate: hee shall not reuerne by the way of the gate wherby hee came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall go in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feastes, and in the solemnities the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offering of peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate that turneth toward the East, and hee shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings as hee did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the first part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall be his to the peere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for euer.

18 Whosoener the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

19 After, hee brought me through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the priests, which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the west side of them.

20 Then sayde he vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shall seeke the trespass offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they shoulde not beare them into the utter court, to sanctifie the people.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courtes ioynd of fourty cubites long, and thurte broader: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, even about these foure, and kitchens were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then sayde he vnto mee, This is the kitchen where þe ministers of the house shall see the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters, that came out of the Temple. 13 The coastes of the land of promise, & the diuision thereof by tribes.

Afterwarde hee brought mee vnto the doore of the house: and beholde, waters issued out from vnder the thresholde of the house Eastwarde: for the forefront of the house stode toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the Northgate, and led mee about by the way without vnto the utter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and hee brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe hee measured a thousand, and brought mee through: the waters were to the topnes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, & it was a river that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a river that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, halt thou seme this? Then he brought me, and caused mee to returne to the brinke of the river.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the river were very many trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then saide he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, & shall go me to one sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the waters shall be wholesome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, wheresoener the rivers shall come, shall liue, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the river cometh.

10 And then the fishers shall stand by the side, & from En-gedi euen vnto En-eglon, they shall spread out their nettes: for their fish shall be according to their kindes, as þe fish of the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But the vnripe places thereof, and the marishes thereof shall not bee wholesome: they shall be made salt pias.

12 And by this river vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all fruitfull trees, whose lease shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth newe fruite according to his moneths, because their waters run out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be meate, and the lease thereof shall be for medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border, whereby þe shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes of Israel: Joseph shall haue two portions.

14 And þe shall inherite it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shall bee the border of the land toward the Northside, from þe maine sea toward Bethio as men go to Zebadab:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibbaim, which is betwene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazer, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shall be Hazer, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall be the North part.

18 But the East side shall bee measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the lande of Israel by Jordan, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the Southside shall be toward Teman from Cairar to the waters of Epherboth in Kadesh, and the river to the maine sea: so shall be the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, til a man come ouer against Hamath: this shall be the West part.

21 So shall þee diuide this lande vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel: they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall þe giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part even unto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter unto the West quarter, a portion for Judah.

8 And by the border of Judah, from the East part unto the West part shall be the offering which they shall offer of fine and twentie thousande reedes broad, and of length as one of the other parties, from the East side, unto the West side, and the Sanctuary shall be in the middes of it.

9 The oblation that yee shall offer unto the Lord, shall be of fine and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, even for the Priests shall be this holy oblation, toward the North side five and twentie thousand long, and toward the West ten thousand broad, and toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South five and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuary of the Lord shall be in the middes thereof.

11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the houses of Zadok, which have kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the lande that is offered, shall bee theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And over against the border of the Priests, the Levites shall have fine and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fine and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neyther change it, nor abanerate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy unto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth over against the fine and twentie thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the middes thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part five hundred and foure thousand, and the South part five hundred and foure thousand, and the East part five hundred and foure thousand, and the West part five hundred and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the citie shall be toward the North two hundred and fiftie, and toward the South two hundred and fiftie, and toward the East two hundred and fiftie, and toward the West two hundred and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length over against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward: and it shall be over against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food unto them that serve in the citie.

19 And they that serve in the citie, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serve therein.

20 All the oblation shall be fine and twentie thousand with a fine and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the citie.

21 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the citie, over against the fine and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward over against the fine and twentie thousand toward the West border, over against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the middes thereof.

22 Moreover, from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the middes shall be the princes: betweene the border of Judah, and betweene the border of Benjamin shall be the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part unto the West part, Benjamin shall be a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side unto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part unto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar from the East side unto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part unto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward the East, the border shall be even from the Tamar unto the waters of Peribath in Rabbeth, and to the river, that runneth into the maine sea.

29 This is the land, which yee shall distribute unto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side five hundred, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, and one gate of Levi.

32 And at the East side five hundred and foure thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Joseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, five hundred and foure thousand measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side five hundred and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was rounde about eighteen thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day shall be, The Lord is there.

d Every way it shall be five and twentie thousand.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most liuely heere set forth, who neuer leaueh his destitute, but nowe in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueh them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whome he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most special reuelations of such thinges as should come to the Church, euermore from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last ende of the worlde, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and empires of al the worlde, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians and Romans. Also of the certaine number of the times euermore vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euermore lasting life. And as from the beginning God euermore exercised his people vnder the crosse, so hee teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, 4 The king chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his luyce. 5 They haue the kings ordinary appointed. 8 But they abstaine from it.

In the third yere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Ierubabab-neszar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem, and besieged it.

2 And the Lorde gaue Iehoiakim, King of Iudah vnto his hande, with part of the vessels of the House of God, which hee caried into the lande of Shinar, to the house of his God, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasure.

3 And the King spake vnto eunuchez, the master of his eunuchez, that hee should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the Kings seede, and of the princes.

4 Children in whome was no blemish, but well fauoured, and instructed in all wisedome, and well scine in knowledge, & able to utter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whome they might teache the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And a King appointed them poyson, euery day of a poyson of the kings meate, and of the wine which hee dranke, so mou-ishing them three yere, that at the ende thereof, they might stand before the King.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

7 Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuchez gaue other names: for he called Daniel, Belshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Sadrach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he woulde not defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore he required a chiefe of the Eunuchez that he might not defile himselfe.

9 ¶ Now God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuchez.

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuchez said vnto Daniel, I feare vnto the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if hee see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the King.

11 Then said Daniel to Mishael, whome the chiefe of the Eunuchez had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, 12 Vpon the seruants: I beseech thee, resist ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulse to eat, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of drinke (for as did eate) but because the King shoulde not enuise him by this sweete poyson, to forget his religion and accustomed sobriety, and that in his meate and drinke hee might dayly remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shewe how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit; and at length called him to be a Prophet. ¶ Hee supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he representeth them which are of no religion: for neither he woulde condemne theirs nor maintaine his owne. ¶ Meaning, that within this space hee might haue the triall, and that no man shoulde be able to discern it: and thus he spake, being moued by the Spirit of God. ¶ Not that it was a thing abominable to eate delectable meates and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they shoulde haue hereby becme wonne to the King and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke

i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the manners of the Chaldeans, and also their tongue, k As well to serue at the table, as in other offices.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euermore put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great temptation and a signe of seruitude which they were not able to c Who was as master of the wardes, d He calleth them Eunuchez whome the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countreys afterward.

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shewe himselfe victorious, and also by their good intreacie and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and so to be able to serue him as gouernours in their lande: moreover by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men. f The King required three thinges, that they shoulde be of noble birth, that they shoulde be wittie and learned, and that they shoulde be of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better seruice: this hee did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberality: yet in this hee is worthy praise, that hee esteemed learning, and knew that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion and countrey facions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet is it not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all pointes he refused the abuse of thinges and superstition, in so much that he woulde not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall thinges. h That by their good entertainment they might learne to forget the mediocrity of their owne people,

This bare feeling and that also of Moses, when he fledde from the court of Egypt, declareth that wee must liue in such sobriety as God doeth call vs vnto, seeing he will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all deities: for his blessing onely sufficeth.

14 So he contented to them in this matter, and prouided them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of tenne dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, & in better liking then all the childrens, which did cate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Belshazzar tooke alway the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and understanding in all learning: and wisdom: also hee gaue Daniel understanding of all visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

¶ But if pee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, pee shall receiue of me giftes and rewardes, and great honour: therefore shewe me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

¶ They answered againe, and saide, Let the king thew y^e his seruantes the dreame, and wee will declare the interpretation thereof.

¶ Then the king answered, and saide, I knowe certainly that pee & woulde gaue the time, because pee see the thing is gone from me.

¶ But if pee will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for pee haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may knowe, if pee can declare me the interpretation thereof.

¶ Then the king answered before the king, and saide, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither king, nor prince, nor lord that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian of Caldean.

¶ For it is a rare thing that the king requiereth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

¶ For this cause the king was angry & in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: & they sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

¶ Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the kings chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

¶ Yea, he answered and saide vnto Arioch the kings captain, Why is sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

¶ So Daniel went and desired the king that he woulde giue him leasure, and that he woulde shewe the king the interpretation thereof.

¶ Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions,

¶ That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

¶ Then was the secreete reucaled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel prayed the God of heauen.

N Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as verse 13. and therest at Daniels offer were preferred on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equite, because the king proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not considering, if their science were lawfull or no.

24 Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and said thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring mee before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king and saide vnto Daniel, whose name was Belshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and saide, The secreete which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Belshazzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy mind, what thou shouldst come to passe hereafter, and he that receiveth secrets, telleth thee, what shall come.

30 As for me, this secret is not shewed me for any wisdom that I haue, more then any other living, but onely to shewe the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and beheld, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine gold, his breast and his armes of silver, his bellie and his thighs of bras, and his legs of iron, and his feet of clay.

33 His legges of piron, and his feete were part of piron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without handes, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of piron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was piron, the clay, the bras, the silver and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the summer flowers, and the wind carried them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and wee will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 I O King, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the field, and the fowles of the heauen hath hee giuen into their handes, and hath made the ruler over them all: thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdom, inferior to thee, of silver, and another, third kingdom shall bee of bras, which shall beare rule over all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdom shall bee strong as piron: for as piron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as piron bruise all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruise all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feete and toes, part of porters clay, and part of piron: the kingdom shall be divided, but there shall bee in it of the strength of the piron, as thou sawest the piron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feete were part of piron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdom be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest piron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselves with the seede of men: but they shall not be one with another, as piron can not be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdom, which shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdom shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the stone was cutte of the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in pieces the piron, the bras, the clay, the silver and the might be the more apt to receiue his mysteries, should be reueiled.

P Because hee had sayde that God onely must reueile the signification of this dreame, the King might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it, and therefore he sheweth, that hee was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him: to set forth his glory.

Q By golde, silver, bras, and piron, are meant the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian and Romane kingdomes, which should successiually rule all the world till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: this was to assure the Iewes, that their affliction should not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the coming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth Monarchie.

x They shall haue ciuill warres, & continual discords among themselves.

y They shall by mariages, and affinities thinke to make themselves strong: yet that they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpose is to shew, that all the kingdomes of the world are transitorie, and that the kingdom of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

A Meaning, Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdom at the beginning should bee small and without beautie to mans iudgement, but shoulde at length growe and fill the whole earth, which he callecth a great mountaine, as verse 35. And this kingdom which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, shall be eternall: for the spirit that is in them, is life eternall, Rom. 8. 10.

b Though this humbling of the king seemed to the king seemed to defende commendation, yet because he joynd Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reprov'd, and Daniel herein cried it he suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it. c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was alfin Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27, 28, but his heart was not golde: so the great God hath shewed the king, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell upon his face, and bowed himselfe unto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer incense offerings, and sweete odours unto him.

47 Also the king answered unto Daniel, and sayde, I knowe of a tructh, that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many and great gifts. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 ¶ Then Daniel made request to the king, and he let Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: But Daniel sate in the gate of the king.

Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren which were grievously oppressed in this their captiuitie, and also he receyued them, least hee should offende in this cruell king, which willingly gaue them. c He did not this for their private profite, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some releafe and ease, by this benefite. f Meaning, that eyther he was a iudge, or that hee had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. IIL

1 The king setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandment, and are put into a burning oven.

25 By belife in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

Nebuchad-nezzar the king made an image of golde, whose height was three score cubits, and the breadth thereof six cubites: he set it vp in the plaines of Shinar, in the prouince of Babel.

2 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiueurs, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiueurs, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp. 3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiueurs, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp. b Showing that the idole is not knownen for an idole so long as hee is with the workeman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god. c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approue their religion, if the Kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods worde did permit.

iudges, the receiueurs, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 ¶ Then an heralde cried aloude, See it knowne to you, O people, O nations, and languages,

5 That when pee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoever falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same howe bee cast into the middes of an hote fierie foyraine.

7 Therefore as soon as all the people heard the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whercof at that same time came men of the Chaldeans, and grieuously accused the Jewes.

9 For they spake and sayde to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, lue for euer.

10 ¶ Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, 11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the middes of an hote fierie foyraine.

12 There are certaine Jewes whome thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandment, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger & wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so to these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worshippe the golden image, that I haue set vp?

15 ¶ Now therefore are pee readie when pee heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made: for if pee worship it not, ye shall be cast immediately into the middes of an hote fierie foyraine: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and sayde to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, wee are not carefull to answer thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serue, is able

d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan victeth to fight against the Children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the crueltie of punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consented to the wickednes, astonished them: and here the king required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Jewes might, by little and little learneto forget their true religion.

e It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings fauour, thinking if these three had bene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declared that this policie of erecting this image, was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Jewes, whome they accused of rebellion and ingratitude. f Signifying, that he would receiue them to grace, if they would nowe at the length obey his decree. g For they should haue done iniurie to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolved to die for Gods cause.

a Vnder pretence of religion and holines, in making an image to his idoll Bel, he sought his owne ambition and vaine glory: and this declareth, that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are ouercome by the greatness of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eightene yeeres after the Idume, and as may appeare, the King feared least the Jewes by their religion should haue altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse, then Gods glory.

b Showing that the idole is not knownen for an idole so long as hee is with the workeman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god. c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approue their religion, if the Kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods worde did permit.

h They ground on two points, first on y power and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the refusing of his true religion with their blood, & so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatrie.

i This declareth that the more y tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselves in immenting strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience and constancie to abide the crueltie of their punishment: for either hee deliuereth them from death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God because of their excellencie: therefore the king called this Angel, whome God sent to comfort his in these great ornaments, the sonne of God.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this furnace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him forth.

m He was moued by the greatnesse of the miracle to prayse God, but his heart was not troubled, And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but this doctrine must chiefly be adioyned, without the which there can be no faith.

h able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, & King.

18 But if not, be it knownen to thee, O King, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the foume of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commaunded that they should breake the furnace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged y most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fierie fornace.

22 Therefore, because the kings commaundement was straite, that the furnace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied & rose vp in haste, and spake, & sayde vnto his counsellers, Did not we cast these men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered, and sayde vnto the King, It is true, O King.

25 And he answered, and sayde, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the foume of the fourth is like the sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came nere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace, & spake and sayd, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the seruants of the high God, goe forth and come hither: for Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came forth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake & sayde, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angell, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, & haue changed the Kings commaundement, and peeled their bodies rather then they would serue any other God, save their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be drawn in pieces, and their houses shall be made a lake, because there is no God that can deliuer after this sort.

30 ¶ Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare y signes and wonders, that the High God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders: y his kingdome is an euerming kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

CHAP. xiiii.

2 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth, 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proude King hee should become as a beast, 31 After, he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Sawe a dreame, which made me as fraide, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare vnto mee the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the mechanicks, y astrologians, the Chaldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but they could not shewe me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was Belshazzar, according to the name of my God, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Belshazzar, a chiefe of the mechanicks, because I knowe, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And behold, I sawe a tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the eides of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadowe vnder y tree for the beasts of the fildes, and the then they spare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which this Nebuchad-nezzar did, to make him forget the true religion of God, e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be abused among the forerriers, and men whose prauises were wicke and contrarie to Gods worde, f By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a King, whome God ordaineth to be a defence for all kinde of men and whose state is profitable for mankind.

g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepe, but is euer ready to doe Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is euer holy: & in that that hee commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knowe it should not be cut downe by man, but by God.

h Hereby hee meaneth y Nebuchad-nezzar should not only for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast.

i God hath decreed his judgement, & y whole armie of heauen have as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselves against God.

k He was troubled for y great iudgement of God which he sawe ordeined against the king: and so the Prophets vied on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon mā, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitié.

l Wherof he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeres. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth hee meant of yeres.

foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fedde of it.

10 I sawe the visions of mine head, upon my bed, and behold, a watchman, & an holp one came downe from heauen,

11 And cryed aloud, & said thus, Hewe downe the tree, and beake all his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruit, that the beasts may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Nevertheless leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a bande of pyon and bryasse binde it among the grasse of the feld, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts among the grasse of the feld.

13 Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, & let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the woode of the holp ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that iuning men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dream, that y King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirite of the holp gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) helde his peace by the space of one houre, & his thoughts troubled him, and the king spake and sayde, Belteshazzar, let neither the dream, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof throught all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the feld dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnes is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the king saw a watchman, and an holp one, that came downe from heauen, and sayde, Hewe downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, & with a bande of pyon & bryasse binde it among the grasse of the feld, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the feld, I tell seuen times passe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O king, & it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the king,

22 That they shall dye thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, & they shall weete thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowe, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will.

23 Whereas they sayde, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable vnto thee, & beake off thy times by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercie towards the poore: loe, let there be an healing of thine error.

25 All these things shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the toppall pallace of Babel, 27 And the king spake and sayde, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the woode was in the kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee,

29 And they shall dye thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the feld: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoever he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was daunced from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haire was growen as eagles feathers, & his nayles like birds claws.

31 And at the end of these dayes y Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine understanding was restored vnto me, & I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him that lieth for euer, whose power is an everlasting power, & his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: & according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor lap vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine understanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glorie and my beautie was restored vnto mee, and my counsellors & my princes fought vnto me, and my power was established in my kingdome, and my glorie was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar stand content therewith and giue him the glory, & seemeth that he had bene put from his kingdome before.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but y he was either stricken mad, and so auoyded mans company, or was cast out for his tyrannie, and so wandered among the beasts, and ate herbes and grasse.

n Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him.

o Ceale from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy finnes, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou shew by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.

p Suffer the errors of thy former life to be redressed.

q After that Daniel had declared this vision & this his pride declared that it is not in man to conuert to God except his Spirit moue him, seeing that these terrible threatenings could not moue him to repent.

r When y terme of these leuen yeres was accomplished.

a He doeth not onely praise God for his deliuerance, but also confesseeth his fault, that God may onely haue the glorie and man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hand writt on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the king, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and drank wine before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar while he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and silver vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Jerusalem, that the King and his princes, his wives, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lordes house at Jerusalem, and the King and his princes, his wives, and his concubines drank in them.

4 They dranke wine and payed the gods of golde, and of silver, of brasse, of pyron, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wall of the kings palace, and the king sawe the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, & his thoughts troubled him, so that the topknots of his lockes were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the King cryed loude, that they shoulde bring the Astrologians, the Chaldeans & the soothsayers. And the king spake, and sayde to the wise men of Babel, Whosoener can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the Kings wise men, but they coude neither reade the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 Nowe the Queene by reason of the talke of the King and his Princes, came in to the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and sayd, O King, liue for ever: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the daies of thy father, light & vnderstanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whome the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the king, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Chaldeans, and soothsayers.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for he did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubtes) were found in him, even in Daniel, whome the king named Belshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake, and said vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whome thy father the King brought out of Iewrie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Nowe therefore, wise men, and astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they shoulde reade this writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof: but they coude not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doubtes: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the King, Keepe thy rewardes to thy selfe, and giue thy giftes to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the King, and shewe him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou. The most High God gave vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie and honour and glorie.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations & languages trembled, and feared before him: hee put to death whome hee woulde: hee smote whome hee woulde: whome hee woulde hee set by, and whome hee woulde hee put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed by, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was diuyn from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, till hee knewe that the most High God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that hee appoynted ouer it, whome hee pleased.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things,

Read Chap 4. 6. and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he did not vie these vile practises, because hee was not among them when all were called.

For the idolaters thought, that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophesie, and vnderstanding came of them.

Before he read the writing, he declareth to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who coulde not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth, that he doeth not the sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

a Daniel reciteth this historie of king Belshazzar. Euilmerodachs sonne, that shewe Gods iudgements against the wicked for the deliuerance of his Church, and how the prophesie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuentie yeeres.

b The kings of the East parts then vied to sit alone commonly, and did dayed that any should sit in their company: and now to shewe his power, and how little he set by his enemies, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemne banquet, and vied excessiue in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most disolute and negligent when their destruction is at hand.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

d In contempt

of the true God they praised their idols, not that they thought that the gold or silver were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue and power in them to doe them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters. e That it might be better seene. f So he that before contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements. g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many means, who drawe them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions. h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when he heard of these strange newes.

23 But hast lift thy selfe by against the Lords of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wines and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of silver and golde, of brasse, piron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor understand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy waies, humbly thou not glorified.

24 Then was the name of the hande sent from him, & hath written this writing.
 25 and this is the writing that he hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the rhym, MENE, God hath nombred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art waped in the balance, and art founde || too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is deuised, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commaundement of Belshazzar, they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeere olde.

 ently waited for ment.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours.
 2 An assaignt Daniel. 16 He is put into a den of Lyons by the commaundement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the Lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifyeth the God of Daniel.

¶ Pleased Darius to set ouer the kings domes a hundred and twentie gouer-nours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred as boue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirite was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and gouer-nours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they coulde finde none occasion nor fault: for hee was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then sayde these men, Wee shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the lawe of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouer-nours went together to the King, and no better remedy

 then to walke

sayde thus vnto him, King Darius, liue foreuer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers & gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King, & to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O
 King, he shall be cast into the denne of Lyons.

8 Now, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Nowe when Daniel vnderstoode that he had sealed the writing, hee went into the house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any god or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of Lyons? The King answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayde vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the King heard these wordes, hee was sore displeased with him selfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and hee laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and said vnto the King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth, may be altered.

16 ¶ Then the King commaunded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of Lyons: nowe the King spake, and sayde vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layde vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of Lyons.

20 And when hee came to the denne, he cried with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel:

d Herein is condemned the wickednesse of the king, who would be let vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approved for the maintenance of the same.

e Because he would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, hee set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when he prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people when they should pray toward that Temple, and also that others might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor deed for those fewe dayes to any thing that was glory.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

h My iust cause and vprightnesse in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approved of God. i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandment to obey God, and so did no iniurie to the king, who ought to command nothing, whereby God should be dishonoured.

k Because he commited himself wholly vnto God whose cause he did defend, he was assured, that nothing but good coule come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Heb. 11. 33.

l This is a terrible example against all such wicked, which doe against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes howe to punish such, when their wickednesse is come to light: though not in euery poynt, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them. m This proueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or else was conuerted: for then he would haue destroyed all superstition & idolatrie, and not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue let him vp, & caused him to be honoured according to his worde: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. n Which hath not onely life in him selfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The tenne hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnes after these fewen yeeres, as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shal not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore encouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vetered and reuiled, by whom they should haue a spiriual deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they shoulde haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome, and the king spake, and sayde to Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whome thou alway serueth) is able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then saide Daniel vnto the king, O King, line for euer.

22 App God hath sent his Angel & hath spirt the lions mouthes, that they haue not hurt me: for by his iustice was founde out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they shoulde take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no manner of hurt was found vpon him, because he ^cbelieued in his God.

24 And by the commandment of the king these men which had accused Daniel, were bought, and were cast into the denne of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the maiestie of them, and brake all their bones a peeces, or euer they came at the grounde of the denne.

25 Afterwarde King Darius wrote, vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare ^e before the God of Daniel: for he is the liuing God, & remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perishe, and his dominion shall be euerlasting.

27 Ye reserue and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes and wonders in heaue and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and saide, I saue in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure winges of the heauen stroue vpon ^b the great sea:

3 And foure great beasts came by from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a ^c lion, & had eagles wings: I behelde, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted by from the earth, & set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And beholde, another beast which was the seconde, was like a ^d beare and stode vpon the one side: and he had three ribs in his mouth betweene his teeth, & and they spake thus vnto him, Wile and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a ^e leopard, which had vpon his backe foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and ^f dominion was giuen him.

7 After this I saw in ^g visions by night, and beholde, the fourth beast was fearefull, and terrible, and very strong. It had great wings vpon it: it deuoured, & brake in peeces and stamped ^h the residue vnder his fete: and it was unlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had ⁱ tenne hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little ^j home, before whome there were ^k three of the first hornes pluckt away: and beholde, and cruell, ^l they were small in the beginning, and were shutte vp in the mountaines and had no bruite. ^m That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable. ⁿ To wit, the Angels by Gods commandment, who by this meanes punished the ingratitude of the worlde. ^o Meaning, Alexander the King of Macedonie. ^p That is, his foure chiefe captaynes, which had the Empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander and after him Antipater was King of Macedonie, and Ptolemeus had Egypt. ^q It was not of himselfe nor of his owne power that hee gate all these countreys: for his armie contained but thirtie thousand men, and hee ouercame in one battell Darius, which had tenne hundred thousand, when he was so heauie with sleepe that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. ^r That is, the Romane Empire which was as a monster and could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. ^s Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes. ^t That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countreys, they would giue it to other Kings and Rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete.

^u That is, sundrie and diuers prouinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a king. ^v Which is meant of Iulius Caesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as kings in effect, but because they coule not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a liue home. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them. And also in this prophetic the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist, ^w Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was plucked away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of choosing the deputies to sende into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernement of certaine countreys to himselfe.

These Romans Emperours at the first vsed a certaine humanicie and gentle-nesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls and Senate should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue the profiite, & therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselves
according as did other Senators:
yet against their enemies & those that would resist them, they were ferocious and cruel, which is here meant by the proude mouth.

in this house were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the thrones were set up, and the v^{er}ballicient of dapes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wololl: his throne was like the fire flame, & his wheelles as burning fire.

10 A fierie flame issued, and came forth from before him: thousande thousands ministed vnto him, and came thousande thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, & because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake: I behelde, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and gi-uen to the burning fire.

12 As concerning the other beastes, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 I behelde in visions by night, beholde, one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of dapes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages should serue him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 I Daniel was troubled in my spi-rite, in the middes of my bodie, and the visions of mine head made mee as fraide.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so hee tolde mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure kings, which shall arise out of the earth,

That is, an infinite number of Angels; which were ready to execute his commandment. x This is meant of the first coming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly reueiled by his Gos-pell. y Meaning, that he was astonished, when hee sawe these Emperours in such dignitie, and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to men at other nations. z As the three former Monarchies had an ende of the time that GOD appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enioy the promises. a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of David according to the flesh, as hee was afterwarde: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes:
that is, being separate from the common sorte of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie. b To wit, when hee ascended into the heauens, and his diuine maiestie appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that hee was our Mediatour. c This is meant of the beginning of Christes kingdom when GOD the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that hee should gouerne here his Church in earth continually till the time that he brought them to eternall life. d Through the strangenesse of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

18 And they shall take the kingdom of the Saints of the most High, & possesse the kingdome for ever, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this, I would know truly of the fourth beast, which was so unlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of iron, and his nailes of brasse: which denoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feete.

20 Wist I to knowe of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom they sel, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose lookes was more stout then his fellows.

21 I beheld, and the same horne made battell against the Samis, peo, and preua-led against them,

22 Until the Ancient of dapes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdom.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdom in the earth, which shall be unlike to all the kingdoms, and shall denoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and brake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings that shall rise: another shall rise after them, and hee shall be unlike to the first, and hee shall subdue three kings,

25 And shall speake words against the most High, and shall consume the Saintes of the most High, and thinke that hee may change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand, vntill a time, and times, and the deuiding of time.

26 But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the ende.

27 And the kingdom, and dominion, yeerely, and the other Monarchies retained them for terme of life:

also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselves. i Reade verse 7. k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other. l Meaning, the Roman Emperours, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes & of the Gentiles. m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospell gaue vnto his some rest, and so obtained a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdom of God. n Reade the exposition hereof, verse 8. o That is, shall make wicked decrees and proclamations, against Gods worde, and send throughout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe
it. p These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octavian, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c. q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times. but at length hee will affwage their troubles and shorten the times for his elects sake. Math. 24. 29.
which is here meant by the deuiding of time. r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this last horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe. s Hee sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospell enioy that beginning thereof, which is meant by these words, under the beastes and therefore hee here speaketh of the beginning of Christes kingdome in this world, which kingdom the faithful haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

t That is, some of euery sort that beare rule.
u Though he had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet he was content with that which God reuelled, and kepe it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most high, whose kingdome is an enuerlasting kingdome, and all powers shall serue and obey him.
28 ¶ Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate. 20 The understanding of the vision.

I ¶ After the third peere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto me Daniel, after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

2 ¶ And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the pynne of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Blai.

3 ¶ Then I looked by and saw, and beholds, there stood before the riuer a ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was 4 tier higher than the other, and the hiest came vp last.

4 ¶ I sawe the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beasts might stand before him, nor coulde deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 ¶ And as I considered, beholds, a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 ¶ And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whome I had seene standing by the riuer, and ramme vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 ¶ I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that coulde deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 ¶ Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when hee was at the strongest, his great horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that appeared toward the foure winde of the heauen.

9 ¶ And out of one of the came forth a litle strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne. h Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundry battels, and so had the two kingdomes of the Medes & Persians. i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome at the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so died by the way. k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fiftene yere there were fiftene diuers successors before this monarchie was deuised to these foure, wherof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, and Ptolemeus Egypt. l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a feeble and flattering nature, and also there were others betwene him & the kingdome, & therefore is here called the litle horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obtaine this kingdome.

horne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, & toward the pleasant land.

10 ¶ Plea, it grew by vnto the hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trod vpon them.

11 ¶ And trobled him selfe against the opinion of the hoste from whome the dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuarie was cast downe.

12 ¶ And a time shall bee giuen him ouer the dayly sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 ¶ Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the dayly sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to tread both the Sanctuarie and theyr armie vnder foote?

14 ¶ And hee answered mee, vnto the evening, and the morning, two thousande and three hundredeth: then shall the Sanctuarie be cleansed.

15 ¶ I Aske when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholds, there stood before mee like the similitude of a man.

16 ¶ And I heard a mans voice betweene the bankes of Blai, which called and spake, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 ¶ So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, & fell vpon my face: but he sayd vnto me, vnderstand, & sonne of man: for in the last time shalbe the vision.

18 ¶ Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being a sleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, & set me vp in my place.

19 ¶ And he said, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last watch: for in the end of the time appoynted it shall come.

20 ¶ The ramme which thou sawest having two hornes, are the kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 ¶ And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betwene his eyes, is the first King.

22 ¶ And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand by of that nation, but not s in his strength.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon.

5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard.

21 Gabriel the Angell expoundeth vnto him the vision of the seuen weeks. 24 The anoynting of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem.

26 The death of Christ.

1 In the first peece of Darins the sonne of Ahasuerus, of the seede of the egiptes, which was made king ouer the realme of the Caldeans,

2 Euen in the first peece of his reigne, I Daniel understood by books the number of the peeres whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremias the Prophet, that he would accomplish seauentie peeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and I sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth & ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, O Lord God, which art great and fearfull, and keepest covenant and mercie towards them which loue thee, and towards them that keepe thy commandments,

5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For we would not obey thy seruantes the Prophets, which spake in thy name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, righteousness belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs: open haire, as appeareck this day vnto every man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both nere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driven them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiveness is in the Lord our God, albeit wee haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which he had laide before vs by the ministerie of his seruantes the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is poured vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the lawe of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the lawe of Moses: yet made wee not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord made readdy the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the lande of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee reuolunt, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy righte-ousnesse, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath bee turned away from thy cite Ierusalem thine holp mountaine:
for because of our finnes, and for the ini-quities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruante, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare, and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the cite wherupon thy name is called: for wee doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousnesse, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord, heare, O Lord forgive, O Lord consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy name is called vpon thy cite, and vpon thy people.

20 And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, I did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for Hee doeth not authoritie, but

Chap. 8. 16.

p He alleudeth to Ieremiahs prophecies, who prophesied hat their captiuitie should be seuen yeeres: but now Gods mercy should exceede his iudgement, which should be some hundred & ninetie yeeres, euen to the coming of Christ, and so then it should continue for euer.

q Meaning, Daniels nation, o uer whom hee was carefull. r To shew mercie and to put sinne out of remembrance. s That is, from the time that Cyrus gauethem leave to depart. t These weekes make 49. yeeres, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and 3. to the laying of the foundation.

u Counting from the sixt yeere of Darius who gaue the second commandment for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 434. yeeres, which comprehende the time from the building of the Temple, vnto the Baptisme of Christ. s Ebr. In streights of time. x In this last weeke of the seuentie shall Christ come and prech and suffer death. y He shall seme to haue no beauty, not to be of any estimation, as Isa 53. 2. z Meaning, Titus, Vespasian sonne, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people without all hope of recouerie. a By the preaching of the Gospell he confirmed his promise, first to the Iewes, and after to the Gentiles, b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection, c Meaning that Ierusalem and the sanctuary should be utterly destroyed for their rebellion against God & their idolatrie: or as some reade, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall all be afonied at them.

a He noteth this third yeere, because at this time the building of the Temple began to be hindered by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great leaue to Daniel, b Which is to declare that the godly should not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promise.

the holy Mountaine of my God,

21 Pea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel, whom I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And hee inſourined mee, and talked with mee, and gaue, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderſtanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came forth, and I am come to ſhew thee, for thou art greatly beloved: therefore vnderſtand the matter and conſider the viſion.

24 Seuentie & weekes are determined vpon thy people, and vpon thine holy citie, to finiſh the wickedneſſe, and to ſeale vp the ſinnes, & to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlaſting righteouſneſſe, and to ſeal vp the viſion and prophecie, and to anoint the moſt holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderſtand, that ſcain ſh' going forth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to build Ieruſalem, vnto ſeuentie the prince, ſhall be ſcain & weekes, and & therefore and two weekes, and the ſtreete ſhall be built againe; and the wall euen in a & troublous time.

26 And after theſe ſcain & two & weekes, ſhall ſeuentie be ſcain, and ſhal' haue no thing, and the people of & the prince that ſhall come, ſhall deſtroy the citie and the Sanctuary, and the ende thereof ſhall be with a flood: and vnto the ende of the baſes tell it ſhall be deſtroyed by deſolations.

27 And he ſhall & confirme the covenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the weeke he ſhall cauſe the ſacrifice & the oblation to & ceaſe, & and for the overſpreading of the abominations, hee ſhall make it deſolate, euen vntill the conſummation be terminated ſhalbe powred vpon the deſolate.

THESE APPARETH VNTO DANIEL A MAN CLOTHED IN LINNEN. 1 VVhich ſheweth him wherefore he is ſent. In the third yeere of Cyrus king of Perſia, a thing was reucaled vnto Daniel (whoſe name was called Belſheſazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was & long, and he vnderſtood the thing, and had vnderſtanding of the viſion.

CHAP. X.

1 These appeared vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, 1 VVhich sheweth him wherefore he is sent. In the third yeere of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was reucaled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belſheſazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was & long, and he vnderſtood the thing, and had vnderſtanding of the viſion.

2 At the ſame time, I Daniel was in heauenneſſe for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleaſant bread, neither came fleſh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my ſelfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentie day of the & fiſt moneth, as I & was by the ſide of that great river, euen Euphrate,

5 And I liſt vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man & clothed in linnen, whoſe loynes were girded with ſine golde of & Baphas.

6 His body alſo was like the Chryſolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightening, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to poliſhed baſe, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone ſawe the viſion: for the men that were with me, ſaw not the viſion: but a great feare fell vpon them, ſo that they ſeb away and hid themſelues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, & ſaw this great viſion, and there remained no ſtrength in me: for my & ſtrength was turned into corruption, and I remained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I ſlept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand & touched mee, which ſet me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine handes, 11 And he ſaid vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, vnderſtand the wordes that I ſpeake vnto thee, and ſtand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now ſent. And when he had ſaid this worde vnto me, I ſood trembling.

12 Then ſaid he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the fiſt day that thou diddeſt ſet thine heart to vnderſtand, and to humble thy ſelfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

13 But the & prince of the kingdome of Perſia withſtoode mee one and twentie dayes: but loe, & Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the kings of Perſia.

14 Now I am come to ſhew thee what ſhall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for per the & viſion is for many dayes.

15 And when he ſpake theſe wordes vnto me, I ſet my face towarde the grounde, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, one like the ſimilitude of the ſonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, and ſpake, and ſayd vnto him that ſtood before me, O my Lord, & by the & viſion my ſtrengthes are returned vpon me, and I haue retained no ſtrength.

17 For ſo ſhall the ſeruant of this thy Lord ſpeake with my Lord being ſuch one: for as for mee, ſtraightway there remained no ſtrength in mee, neither is there breath left in mee.

comming of Chriſt for the comfort of his Church. 1 This was the ſame Angell that ſpake with him before in the ſimilitude of a man. m I was overcome with feare and ſorrowe when I ſawe the viſion.

c Called Abih, which coinceth part of March, & part of April. d Being called by the ſpirit of prophecie to haue the ſight of this ruer Tygris. e This was the Angel of God, which was ſent to aſſure Daniel in this prophecie that ſolloweth. fere. 10. 9. The word alſo ſignifieth comelines, or beauty, ſo that for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie. g Which declareth that when we are ſtricken downe with the maieſtie of God, we cannot riſe, except hee alſo liſt vs vp with his hand, which is his power. h Meaning, Cambyses, who reigned in his fathers abſence, and did not come ly for this ſpace hinder the building of the Temple, but would haue farther ragged, if God had not ſent me to reſiſt him, and therefore haue I ſtayed for the profite of the Church. i Though God could by one Angell deſtroy all the world: yet to aſſure his children of his loue, he ſendeth forth double power, euen Michael, that is, Chriſt Ieſus the head of Angels. k For though the Prophet Daniel ſhould end and ceaſe, yet his doctrine ſhould continue till the 15 He declareth hereby that God would be merciful vnto the people of Israel.

16 Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doeth not immediatly lift them vp at once (for now the Angel, had touched him twise) but by little and little.

17 Meaning, that he would not onely himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyfes, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the king of Macedonia.

18 For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

19 The Angell as- sureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius, when hee ouercame the Caldeans.

20 Whereof Cambyfes that now reigned, was the first, the second, Smerdes, the third Darius the Sonne of Hytaspis, and the fourth Xerxes, whichall were enemies to the people of God, and stood against them.

21 For he raised vp all the East countreyes to fight against the Grecians: and albeit he had in his armie nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure batells he was discomfited and fled away with shame, d That is, Alexander the great. e For when his estate was most flourishing, he ouercame himselfe with drinke, & so fell into a disease: or as some wric, was poisoned by Cassander. f For his twelue chiefe princes first deuided his kingdom among themselves. g After this his Monarchie was deuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdom of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus Egypt. h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and cruelty in causing his posteritie to be murdered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another. i None of these foure shall be able to bee compared to the power of Alexander. k That is, his posteritie hauing no part thereof. l To wit, Ptolemeus king of Egypt. m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall bee more mightie: for he should haue both Asia and Syria. n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemeus Philadelphus shall bee giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinity that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me.

19 And sayde, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: a peace be vnto thee: be strong & of good courage. And when hee had spoken vnto me, O I was strengthened, and sayde, Let my lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will helpe thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: & there is none that holpeth with mee in these things, but Michael your prince.

22 And now will I shew thee the truth. Beholde, there shall stande by pet b three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall bee farre richer then they all: & by his strength, and by his riches hee shall thirre vp c all against the realme of Grecia.

23 But a d mightie king shall stande by, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

24 And when hee shall stande by, e his kingdom shall be broken, f and shall be diuided toward the s foure vmbes of heauen: & not to his g posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdom shall be plucked by, euen to be for others beside h thole.

25 And the i King of the South shall bee mightie, & one of his princes, and shall presse aile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

26 And in the ende of peeres they shall be ioyned together: for the kings n daughters

ter of the South shall come to the king of the North to make an agreement, but the shall not retaine the power of the o arme, neither shall p he continue, nor his q arme: but thee shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he r that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

27 But out of the budde of her r rootes shall one stande by in his steade, t which shall come with an arme, and shall enter into the fortresse of the king of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall presse vnto the.

28 And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of silver and of golde, and he shall continue u moe peeres then the king of the North.

29 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdom, and shall retaine vnto his owne land.

30 Wherefore his s sounes shall be stirred by, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one v shall come, and ouerflowe, and passe through: then shall z he returne, and be stirred by at his fortresse.

31 And the king of the South shall bee angrie, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: for hee shall set forth a great a multitude, and the multitude shall bee giuen vnto his hande.

32 Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall bee lifted by: for hee shall call downe thousand: but hee shall not fill preuaile.

33 For the king of the North b shall retorne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine peeres) with a mightie arme, and great riches.

34 And at the same time there shall c many stande by against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of the d people shall erake themselves to establish the vison, but they shall fall.

35 So the king of the North shall come, and cast by a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armies of the South t shall not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there bee any strength to withstand.

36 But he that shall come, shall bee vnto him as hee list, and none shall stande as o That force shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her young sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

p Neither Ptolemeus nor Antiochus.

q Some reade, seed, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.

r Some reade, the that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this marriage, were destroyed.

s Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes, after the death of his father Philadelphus, should succede in the kingdom, being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.

u For this Ptolemeus reigned sixe and fourtie yeeres, x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the sonnes of Calinicus shall make warre against Ptolemeus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus. y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine while the warres were preparing. z That is, Philopater when hee shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to invade Egypt. a For Antiochus had sixe thousand horsemen and threecore thousand footmen. b After the death of Ptolemeus Philopater, who left Ptolemeus Epiphanes his heire. c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philippe King of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them. d For vnder Onias which falsly alledge that place of Isa. 19. 19. certaine of the Iewes retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophetic: also the Angell sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the providence and counsell of God. e The Egyptians were not able to resist Stropas Antiochus capitaine.

to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Atrilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to fright and caused his shame to turne on his owne head. n By his wicked life and obeying of foolish counsell. o For feare of the Romanes hee shall feete his holdes. p For when as vnder the pretence of pouertie he would haue rebbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countrey men slewe him. q That is, Seleucus shall succede his father Antiochus. r Not by foraine enemies, or battell, but by treason. s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people. t He sheweth that great foraine powers shall come to helpe the young sonne of Seleucus against his vnkle Antiochus, and yet shall bee ouerthrowen. u Meaning, Ptolomeus Philometor Philopatens sonne, who was this childes cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the covenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct. x
For after the battell Philometor and his vnkle Antiochus made a league.
y For he came vpon him at vnwares, and when he suspected his vnkle Antiochus nothing. z Meaning, in Egypt. a Hee will content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefe. b Hee shall be ouercome with reason.

against him: & he shall stand in the pleasant land, which by his hand shalbe consumed.
17 Again he shall set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, & his confederates with him: thus shall hee doe, and he shall giue him the daughter of women, to despoile her: but this shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.
18 After this shall he turne his face into the pleasures, & shall take many, but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe.
19 For he shall turne his face toward the fortes of his owne land: but he shalbe ouerthrowen & fall, and be no more found.
20 Then shall stand by in his place in p glory of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes: but after fewe dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battell.
21 And in his place shall stand by a vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, and obtrape the kingdome by flatteries.
22 And the armies shalbe ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shalbe broken:
and also the prince of the covenant.
23 And after league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for hee shall come by, and overcome with a small people.
24 He shall enter into the quiet & plentifull prouince, and he shall do that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall deuide among them the pray and the spoile, and the substance, yea, and he shall forsaek his deuices against the strong holdes, euen for a time.
25 Also he shall stirre by his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great armie, and the king of the South shall bee stirred by to battell with a verie great and mightie armie: but he shall not stand: for they shall forsaek and praye tile against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall despoile him: and his armie shall ouerflowe: and many shall fall, and be name.
27 And both these kings hearts shall bee to do mischief, and they shall talke of deceite at one table: but it shall not auail: for yet the ende shall be at the time appointed.
28 Then shall hee returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shalbe against the holy covenant: so shall hee doe and returne to his owne land.
29 At the time appointed hee shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.
30 For the ships of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be sore and returne, and feare against the holy covenant: so shall hee doe, he shall euen returne and haue intelligence with them that forsaek the holy covenant.
31 And armies shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set by the abominable desolation.
32 And such as wickedly beake the covenant, shall bee cause to sinne by flatter-ie: but the people that doe knowe their God, shall preuaile and prosper.
33 And they that understand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by people many dayes.
34 Nowe when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them & faile by.
35 And some of them of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

manes name, to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage hee came against the people of God the second time. i With the Iewes which shall forsake the covenant of the Lorde: for first hee was called against the Iewes by Iason the high Priest, and this seconde time by Menelaus. k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall holde with Antiochus.
l So called, because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupit-er Olympius, and so beganne to corrupt the pure seruice of God.
m Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were no thing Iesse: for they solde their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine. n They that remaine constant among the people, shall teach others by their example, and edifie manie in the true religion. o Whereby he exhortheth the godly to constancie, although they should perishe a thousande times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long. p As God will not leaue his Church destitute, yet will hee not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as he did in the time of the Maccabees, whereof he here prophesie. q That is, there shall be euen of this small number many hypocrites. r To writte, of them that feare God and will lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also, that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appoynted the time: therefore wee must obey.

Because the Angels purpose is to ſhew the whole courſe of the perſecutions of the Iewes vnto the coming of Chriſt, he now ſpeaketh of the monarchie of the Romans, which he noteth by the name of a King, who were without all religion and contemned the true God. ſo long the tyrants ſhall prevaile as God hath appointed to puniſh his people: but he ſheweth that it is but for a time. u The Romans ſhall obſcure no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but ſhall change their gods at their pleaſures, yet content themſelves and preferre themſelves to their gods. x Signifying, that they ſhould be without all humane: for the loue of women is taken for ſingular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26. y That is, the god of power and riches: they ſhall eſteeme their own power aboue all their gods, and worſhip it. z Under pretence of worſhipping the gods, they ſhall enrich their cite with the moſt precious iewels of all the worlde, becauſe that hereby all men ſhould haue them in admiration for their power and riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods & worſhipped them in their temples, leaſt they ſhould haue bene deſpised as Atheiſts: but this was to increaſe their fame and riches: and when they gate any country, they ſo made others the rulers thereof, that the profit euer came to the Romans. b That is, both the Egyptians and Syrians ſhall at length fight againſt the Romans, but they ſhall be overcome. c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes, that when they ſhould ſee the Romans invade them, & that the wicked ſhould eſcape their hands, that then they ſhould not thinke but that all this was done by Gods providence, for as much as he warned them of it ſo long afore, and therefore he would ſtill preferre them. d Hearing that Crefſus was ſlaine and Antonius diſcomfited. e For Auguſtus overcame the Parthians, and recovered that which Antonius had loſt. f The Romans after this reigned quietly through all countreyes, and from ſea to ſea, and in Iudea: but at length for their crueltie God ſhall deſtroy them.

36 And the King ſhall do what him liſt: he ſhall exalt himſelfe, and magnifie himſelfe againſt al, that is God, and ſhall ſpeake many vniuersall things againſt the God of gods, & ſhall prosper till his wrath be accompliſhed: for the determination is made.

37 Neither ſhall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the beſtes of women, nor care for any god: for he ſhall magnifie himſelfe aboue all.

38 But in his place ſhall he honour the god of ſpaſſum, and the god whome his fathers knewe not, ſhall hee honour with golde and with ſiluer, and with precious ſtones, and with pleaſant things.

39 Thus ſhall hee doe in the holdes of ſpaſſum with a ſtrange god whome he ſhall acknowledge: he ſhall increaſe his glory, and ſhall cauſe them to rule ouer many, and ſhall deuſe the land for gaue.

40 And at the end of time ſhall the king of the South riſe at him, and the king of the North ſhall come againſt him like a whirlwinde with charers, and with hoſtes men, and with many ſhippes, and he ſhall enter into the countries, and ſhall overflowe and paſſe through.

41 He ſhall enter alſo into the pleaſant lande, and many countreys ſhall be ouerthrowen: but theſe ſhall eſcape out of his hand, even Egipt and Arabia, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He ſhall ſtretch forth his hands alſo vpon the countries, and the land of Egypt ſhall not eſcape.

43 But hee ſhall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and ſiluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libians, and of the blacke ſpozes where he ſhall paſſe.

44 But the ſpydings out of the Eaſt and the North ſhall trouble him: therefore ſhall hee goe forth with great wrath to deſtroy and roote out many.

45 And he ſhall plant the tabernacles of his palace betwene the ſeas in the glorious and holie mountaine, yet he ſhall come to his ende, and none ſhall helpe him.

And at that time ſhall Michael ſtande vpon the great pynce, which ſtanderth for the children of thy people, and there ſhall be a time of trouble, ſuch as neuer was ſince there began to be a nation vnto that ſame time: and at that time the people ſhall be deliuered, euerie one that ſhall be found written in the booke.

2 And many of them ſhall ſleepe in the diſt of the earth, ſhall awake, ſome to euertlaſting life, ſome to ſhaue & perpetual contempt.

3 And they that be wiſe, ſhall ſhine, as the brightnes of the firmament: and they that be turne many to righteouſneſſe, ſhall ſhine as the ſtarres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, ſhut vp the words, and ſeale the booke: til the end of the time: many ſhall come to and fro, & knowledge ſhall be increaſed.

5 Then I Daniel looked, and beholde, there ſtoode other two, the one on this ſide of the bank of the river, and the other on that ſide of the bank of the river.

6 And one ſaid vnto the man clothed in linne, which was vpon the waters of the river, when he held by his right hand, & his left hand vnto heauen, and ſware by him that liueth for euer, þat it ſhall tary for a time, two times & an halfe: and when he ſhall haue accompliſhed to ſcatter the powder of the hoſie people, all theſe things ſhall be finiſhed.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderſtoode it not: then ſaide I, O my lord, what ſhall be the end of theſe things?

9 And he ſaid, See thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are cloſed vp, and ſealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many ſhall be purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked that doe wickedly, and none of the wicked ſhall haue vnderſtanding: but the wiſe ſhall vnderſtand.

11 And from the time that the daily ſacrifice ſhall be taken away, & the abominable deſolation ſet vp, there ſhall be a thouſand, two hundred and ninetie daies.

12 Bleſſed is he that waiteth and cometh to the thouſand, three hundred and ſixty and ſixty daies.

13 But goe: thou thy way till the ende bee: for thou ſhalt reſt and ſtand vp in thy lot, at the end of the daies.

14 And I ſaw ſeuen ſmall ſcales, which ſignified the full reuelation of theſe things: & then many ſhall runne to and fro to ſearch the knowledge of theſe myſteries, which things they obtaine now by the light of the Goſpel.

15 Which was Tygris, h Which was as it were a double oath, & did the more confirme the thing. i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a ſhort time: ſignifying that their troubles ſhould haue an end. k When the Church ſhall be ſcattered and diminiſhed in ſuch ſort as it ſhall ſeeme to haue no power.

1 From the time that Chriſt by his ſacrifice ſhall take away the ſacrifice & ceremonies of the Law. m Signifying that the time ſhall be long of Chriſts ſecond coming, & yet the children of God ought not to be diſcouraged, though it be deferred. n In this number he addeth a moneth & a halfe to ſome number, ſignifying y it is not in mā to appointe y time of Chriſts coming, but y they are bleſſed that patiently abide his appearing. o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till y time appointed come, ſignifying y he ſhoulde depart this life, & riſe againe with y ſame, when God had ſufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

The Angell here noteth two things: firſt that the Church ſhall be in great affliction and trouble at Chriſtes coming, and next y God will fend his Angell to deliuerie, whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Chriſt, which is publiſhed by the preaching of the Goſpel.

b Meaning, all ſhall riſe at the generall reſurrection, which thing he here nameth, becauſe the faithfull ſhould haue euer their reſpect to that: for in the earth there ſhall be no ſure comfort.

c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion.

d Hee chiefly meaneth the miniſters of Gods word, and next, all the faithfull which inſtruct the ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God.

e Though y moſt part deſpiſe this prophetic, yet keepe thou it ſure & eſteeme it as a treaſure.

Hosea.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the tenne tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtil counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commaunded by his word, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance; but they grew euer worse and worse, & still abused Gods benefites. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioath, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Iahai and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude; and whereas they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, & giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seauente yeeres, though they remayned still in their vices and wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetnesse of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principal partes of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whome onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, he vseth threatnings & menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, eyther by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law containe these two poynts, yet the Prophets moreover note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements, and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 3 The calling of the Gentiles. 4 Christ is the head of all people.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper, was depozed from his kingdome.

b So that it may be gathered by the reignes of these foure Kings, that he preached about three score yeere.

c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect; but he saue this in a vision, or else was commaunded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.

d Gomor signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figges, declaring, that they were all corrupt like rotten figges.

e Meaning, that they should be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of tenne tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shed so much blood, 2 King. 10. 8, 11.

f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the ende declared: for he built vp that idolatrie, which he had destroyed.

g When the measure of their iniquitie is full, and they shall take vengeance, and destroy all their policie and force.

He woide of the Lorde that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the daies of Oziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioath king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing fro the Lorde.

3 So he went, and tooke d Gomor, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name e Izreel: for yet a litle, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the balley of Izreel.

6 Shee conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name h Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pittie vpon the house of Israel: but I will bitterly take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and will saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bowe, nor by sworde, nor by battell, by horses, nor by holmen.

8 Now when she had weined Lo-ruhamah, the conceived, and bare a sonne.

9 Then said God, Call his name i Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the m children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured, nor tolde: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the living God.

cept he had preferred them, he declareth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes and the Gentiles, Rom 9. n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should bee the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles. o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 2 He sheweth their idolatrie & threatneth the except they repent.

Say vnto you a heathen, Kumi, and to a seeing that I spour sifters Kumi, have promised

2 Pleade with your b mother: pleade you deliuerance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercie b God sheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forsooke them, Isa. 50. 1.

e. Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16. 25. d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparel and downie and certaine signes of his fauour, but if they continued still, he would vterly destroy them. c When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16. 4. f That is, bastards and begotten in adulterie. g Meaning, the idoles which they serued and by whome they thought they had wealth and abundance, h I will punish thee that then thou mayest trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such straightnes, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton. i This he speaketh of the faithfull which are truly conuerted, and also sheweth the vie and profite of Gods rods. k This declar-eth that idolaters defraud God of his honour, when they attribute his benefites when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them. m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies, and inuentions whereby she worshipped her idoles. n I will punish her for her idolatrie. o By shewing howe harlots trimme themselves to please others, he declareth howe the superstitious idolaters fee a great part of their religion in decking themselves on their holy dayes. p By my benefites in offering her grace and mercie, euē in that place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort. q Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderness, as Ioshua 7. 26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life. r Shee shall then prayse God as she did when shee was deliuered out of Egypt.

with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries: from betweene her breasts, 3 d Least I strip her naked, and let her as in the day that she was a boyne, & make her as a wilderness, and leaue her like a dy land, and slay her for this. 4 And I will haue no pittie vpon her children: for they be the childre of fornications, 5 For their mother hath played the harlot: she that conceived them, hath done thames filth: for she said, I will goe after my seru-ers: & giue me my bread & my water, my wooll & my flaxe, mine oyle & my drinke, 6 Therefore beholde, I will stoppe the way with thornes, & make an hedge, that she shall not find her pathys. 7 Though she followe after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though she seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall she say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now. 8 Howe she did not know that I gaue her come, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her silver and golde, which they bestowed vpon Baal. 9 Therefore will I returne, and take away my come in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lene, to couer her shame. 10 And now will I discouer her lewdnes in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand. 11 I will also cause al her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feastes. 12 And I will destroy her vines and her fig trees, whereof she hath saide, These are my rewardes that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beastes shall eate them. 13 And I will visite vpon her the dayes of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: & she decked her selfe with her earrings and her iuwels, and she followed her louers, and forgaue me, sayeth the Lord. 14 Therefore behold, I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, & speake friendship vnto her. 15 And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, & the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and she shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt. 16 And at that day, sayeth the Lord, thou shalt call me Ishi, and shalt call mee no more Baal. 17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembered by their names. 18 And in that day will I make a coven- nant for them, with the wilde beastes, and with the foules of the heauen, & with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the woode and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely. 19 And I will marrie thee vnto me for euer: pea, I will marrie thee vnto mee in righteousness, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion. 20 I will euen marrie thee vnto mee in faithfulness, & thou shalt know the Lord. 21 And in that day I will heare, sayeth the Lord, I will euen heare the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, 22 And the earth shall heare the come, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Israel. 23 And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, & I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pittied, & I will lay vnto the which were not my people, Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God. C H A P. III. 1 The Iewes shall be cast off for their idolatrie. 2 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord. 3 Then sayeth the Lord to me, Go pet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: pet they looked to other gods, and ioued the wine bottels. 4 So: I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of silver, & for an homer of barley and an halfe homer of barley. 5 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt bee to none other man, and I will be to vnto thee. 6 For the children of Israel shall remaine many dayes without a King, and without a prince, & without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim. 7 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and David their King, & shall feare the Lords, and his goodnes in the latter dayes. for her least the perceiving the greatnesse of my loue, should haue abused mee and not bene vnder duetie: for fifteene pieces of silver were but halfe the price of a slave, Exod. 21. 32. d I will triethree along time as in thy widowhoode whether thou wilt bee mine or no. e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ. f That is, they should neither haue policie nor religion, and their idoles also where in they put their confidence, should be destroyed. g This is meant of Christs kingdome, which was promised vnto David to bee eternal, Psal. 72. 17.

f That is, mine husband, knows ing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuolable couenant. e This is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles. u No idolatrie shall once come into their mouth, but they shall serue mee purely according to my worde. x Meaning, that hee will blesse them, that all creatures shall fauour them. y With a covenant that neuer shall be broken. z Then shall the heauen desire raine for the earth which shall bring forth for the vie of man, Rom. 9. 25. 1. pet. 2. 10. a Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before he called her, and did not withdrawe the same when she gaue her selfe to idoles. b That is, gaue themselves wholly to pleasures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkenness. c Yet I loued her, and payde a small portion for her least the perceiving the greatnesse of my loue, should haue abused mee and not bene vnder duetie: for fifteene pieces of silver were but halfe the price of a slave, Exod. 21. 32. d I will triethree along time as in thy widowhoode whether thou wilt bee mine or no. e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ. f That is, they should neither haue policie nor religion, and their idoles also where in they put their confidence, should be destroyed. g This is meant of Christs kingdome, which was promised vnto David to bee eternal, Psal. 72. 17.

C H A P. IIII
A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Israel.

a Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he ceterch them before the iudgement seate of God, against whom they chiefly offended, Isa. 7. 13. Mica. 6. 1. 2. Zech. 12. 10.

b In euery place appeareth a libertie to most heinous vices, so y one followeth in the necke of another.

c As though he would say, that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speake against the Prophets and Priests whose office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

d Ye shall perish all together: the one, because he would not obey, & the other, because he would not admonish.

e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boastest.

f That is, the Priests shall be cast off, because that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others, Deut. 33. 3. Mala. 2. 7.

g Meaning, the whole body of y people, which were weary with hearing the worde of God. h The more I was beneficiall vnto them. i To wit, the Priests seeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter them in their sinnes. k Signifying, that as they have sinned together, so shall they be punished together. l Shewing, that their wickednes shall be punished on all sortes: for though they thinke by the multitude of wives to haue many children, yet they shall be deceyued of their hope. m In giuing themselves to pleasures, they become like brute beasts. n Thus he speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which now for their sinnes they were not: for they sought helpe of Stockes and Sticks. o They are caried away with a rage. p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore hee will giue them vp to their lusts, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies, Rom. 1. 28. q I wil not correct your shame to bring you to amendment, but let you run headlong to your owne damnation.

Hear the worde of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truerh, nor mercie nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoying, they breake out and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and elery one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beastes of the fieelde, and with the foules of the heauen, & also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away.

4 Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the 4 day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because I thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they sinned against mee: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They eate vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their mides in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall bee like people, like a priest: for I will visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them by their deedes.

10 For they shall eate, & not haue enough: they shall commit adulterie, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heede to the Lord.

11 Whoso come, and wine, and netue wine, take away their heart.

12 My people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoying from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, & burne incense vpon hills vnder the oaks, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not visite your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselves are separate with harlots, & sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not understand shall fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, and yet let not Judah sinne: come not ye vnto Egipt, neither goe ye vp to Beth-auen, nor swear, The Lord lieth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an untamed heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is turned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennes sinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to lay, with shame, & bring pe.

19 The vnde hath bound them by in her wings, and they shall bee ashamed of their sacrifices.

people should reort thither. t He calleth Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, when God is not purely worshipped. u God will to disperse them that they shall not remaine in any certaine place. x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will commaund men to bring them vnto them. y To cary them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

O Pee Priests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue ye eare, O house of the king: for iudgement is toward you, because ye haue bene a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabos.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, & Israel is not hid from mee: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the mides of them, and they haue not knowne the Lord.

5 And the pride of Israel doeth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel & Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Judah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall go with their sheepe, & with their bullockes to seeke the Lord: but they shall not find him: for he hath withdrawn himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue forgotten I strange children: now shall a siner denounce them with their portions.

8 Blow ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shaine in Ramah: cry out at Beth-auen, after ther, Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to know the ruerh.

10 The princes of Iudah will like them remove the bound: therefore will I powze out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and Benjamin

there is no hope in them. g Their destruction is not faire off. h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place, till they were destroyed. i By the successe they shall knowe that I haue surely determined this. k They haue turned vpside downe all political order, and all maner of religion.

God complaneth y Iudah infected, and willett them to learne by their example to returne in time, f For albeith the Lord had honoured this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, he would not y his presence, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, when God is not purely worshipped. u God will to disperse them that they shall not remaine in any certaine place. x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will commaund men to bring them vnto them. y To cary them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 The Priests and princes catthed the poore people in their snares as y fowls.

2 Now withstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holines, and to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempe.

c Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.

d They boasted themselves not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Iero boam came of y tribe.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to y^e Lord, that he might call backe his plagues.

b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You seeine to have a certaine holines & repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, & as a morning floude.

d I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were, framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my worde was not meate to feede them but a sword to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.

f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.

g That is, like light and weake persons.

indgement, because hee willingly walked after the¹ commandement.

12 Therefore wil I be vnto Ephraim as a moorth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim sawe his sicknesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto ^a Alhur, and sent vnto king ^a Jazreb: pet could hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I wil be vnto Ephraim as a lions, and as a lions whelp to the house of Iudah: I, euen I wil spoile, and goe away: I wil take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I wil go, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke mee: in their affliction they will seeke mee diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God, 2 The wickednesse of the Preests.

Come, and let vs ^a returne to the Lord: for hee hath wroyled, and hee will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs by.

2 After two dayes wil ^b hee reuiue vs, and in the third day he wil raise vs by, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, & in deuour our selues to knowe the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shal I do vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I entreate thee? for your goodnesse is as a morning dewe it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I ^d cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slayne them by the wordes of my mouth, & thy indignements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired ^e mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings.

7 But they like ^e men haue transgressed the covenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 Gilad is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as thieues waite for a man, so the company of Priestes murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief.

10 I haue seene villenie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath let a ⁱ plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnes of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

When I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsely: and the these commeth in, and the robber spoyleth withouth.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the ^b king glad with their wickednes, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a leproy: ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising by, & from kneading the dough vntill it be leavened.

5 This is the ^d day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his had to scorners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hore as an ouen, and haue denoured their indges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath ^e hurt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue denoured his strength, & he knoweth it not: yea, & grasp hairens are here: & there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a doue deceived, without ^e heart: they call to Egypt: they goe to Alhur.

12 But when they shall goe, I wil spread my net vpon them, and drawe them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I wil chastise them as their ⁱ congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled as wap from me: destruction shalbe vnto the, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue^k redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cryed vnto mee in their hearts, when they howled vpon their beds: ^m they assemble themselves for coyne and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound, & strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against me.

g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleaue only to God, or to seeke the helpe of man. i According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel. k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death. l When they were in affliction and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe. m They onely seeke their owne commodity and wealth, and passe not whay their God. n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not whay they speake against me and my seruants, Psal. 73. 9.

a Meaning, that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open. b They esteeme their wicked King Ieroboam asoue God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him. c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leavened and rased. d They vsed all riot and excess in their feasts and solemnities, whereby their king was overcome with surfeit, and brought into diseases, and deliued in flatteries. e By their occasion God hath depriued them of all good rulers. f That is, he counterfaitheth the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and rawe on the other: that is, neyther thorough hot nor through cold, but partly a fewe, & partly a Gentile.

2 Israel shall cry vnto mee, my God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy hath put him.

4 They haue set vp a King, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knowe it not: of their silver and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria: hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without innocencie!

6 For it came euen from Israel: the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwinder: it hath no stalk: the bud shall bring forth no increas: so be it bring forth. the strangers shall deuoure it.

9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired loners.

10 Per though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall loose a life, for the burden of the King, and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my law: but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but they accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples: a Judah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

1 Reioyce not, O Israel for top, as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued a reward vpon every come floore.

2 The floore, and the winnecresse shall not feede them, & the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Iords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof, shall be polluted: for their mead: for their soules shall not come vnto the house of the Lord.

5 What wil ye doe then in the solenne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For lo, they are gone from s destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettles shall possesse the pleasant places of their silver, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall knowe it: the prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is made, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim should be with my God: but a prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wapes, and hated in the house of his God.

9 They are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like grapes in the wilderness: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the fig tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselves vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to their loners.

11 Ephraim, their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth, and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring by their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim as I sawe, is as a tree in Cyprus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murder.

14 O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a barren wombe and drie breast.

15 All their wickednesse is in Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their intentions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will lone them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and consume them by litle and litle. o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus to preferre them from the cold ayre of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now I will giue him to the slaughter. p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God towards Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children. q The chiefe cause of their destruction is that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

VVhen Israel was a childe, then I lost him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

3 I ledde Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knewe not that I healed them.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being nowe punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obdurate. Secondly he threatneth greater plagues, because they grewe daily to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart because they had grievously offended God. And so doing, hee promisseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his cōuenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life, and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A Prophecie against the Iewes. 2 Hee exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting, for the miserie that was at hand.

The worde of the Loyde that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O Elders, and hearken pee all inhabitants of the lande, wherher such a thing hath bene in your dapes, or yet in the dapes of your fathers.

3 Tell pon your children of it, and let your children shewe to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worine, hath the greashopper eaten, and the residue of the greashopper hath the canker worine eaten, and the residue of the canker worine hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake pee drunkards, and weepe, and howle al pe drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Pea, a nation comineth vpon my land, mightie, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the sawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilletteth off the bark of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and calteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Agourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the husband of her yowth.

9 The meate offering, and the drinke of fring is cut off from the house of the Loyde: the Priestes the Loyds ministers mourne.

10 The felde is wasted: the land mourneth: for the come is destroyed: s the newe wine is dryed byp, and the oyle is decaped.

11 Bee pee affaied, O husbandmen: howle, O pee vine dressers for the wheate, and for the barlie, because the harvest of the felde is perished.

12 The vine is dried byp, and the figg tree is decaped: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the iop is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 Girded your selues and lament, pee Priestes: howle pee ministers of the altar: come, and lye all night in sackcloth, pee ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solenne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Loyd your God, and cry vnto the Loyd.

15 Alas: for the day, for the day of the Loyd is at hand, and it comineth as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and iop, and gladnesse from the House of our God?

17 The seede is rotten under their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the come is withered.

18 Youe did the bestes mourne: the herdes of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Loyd, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flaine hath burnt vp all the trees of the felde.

20 The beasts of the field drie vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried up, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness.

CHAP. II.

Hee prophecieth of the coming and crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to mouue them to conuers. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

Blowe a trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holp mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Loyd is come: for it is at hand.

2 A day of darknesse, and of blacknesse, a day of clouides, and obscuritie, as the morning spied vpon the mountaines, so is there a great people, and a mightie: for there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall bee any more after it, vnto the petres of many generations.

h He sheweth that the onely meanes to auoyd Gods wrath, and to haue all things restored is vnfeined repentance,

Zero. 30. 7. amos 5. 18. 1. 1. 15.

i Mortifie your affections and serue God with purenesse of heart, & not with ceremonies.

k He speaketh this to stirre vp their sloughfullnesse, and not that he doubteth of Gods mercies, if they did repent. How God repenteth, reade Iere. 18. 8.

l That as all haue sinned, so all may shewe forth signes of their repentance, that men seeing the children, which are not free from Gods wrath, might be the more liuely touched with the consideration of their own sinnes.

Psal. 79. 10. m If they repent, he sheweth that God will preferre and defende them with a most ardent affection. n That is, the Assyrians your enemies.

3 And fire denoureth before him, and besinde him a flame burneth vp: the lande is as the garden of Eden before him, and besinde him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of holiness, & like the holiness, so that they run.

5 Like the people of chariots in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the people of a flame of fire that denoureth the stubble, and as a nightie people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blackenesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and every man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not slay in their paths.

8 Neither shall one thrust another, but every one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall runne to and fro in the citie: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the thiefe.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shall be darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lord shall better his voyce before his host: for his host is very great: for he is strong that doeth his woode: * for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now the Lord sauyth, Turne you vnto mee with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, 13 And I rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindeesse, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth, if he will returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, euen a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blowe the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assemblee.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the hydegrome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her hyde chamber.

17 Let the priests, the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch & the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproche that the heathen should rule over them. * Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be zealous ouer his land and spare his people.

19 Hea, the Lord will answer & say vnto his people, Beholde, I will send you come, and wine, and oyle, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen.

20 But I will remouee farre off from you the Assyrian army, & I will drine him into a lande, barren and desolate with his face toward the East sea, and his ende to the utmost sea, and his thinke that come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to doe this.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of wilderness are greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figtree and the vine doe giue their foage.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for ye have giuen you the name of a righteous one, and he will cause to come downe for you the raine, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

24 And the barnes shall be full of wheate, & the presses shall abound with wine & oyle.

25 And I will render you heres that the grasshopper hath eaten, the canker worme, and the caterpillar & the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

26 So you that eate and be satisfied, and make the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marvellously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Ye shall also knowe, that I am in the middes of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward will I poure out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophesie: your olde men shall dreame dreames, and your pong men shall see visions, 29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maides in those dayes will I poure out my Spirit.

30 And I will shewe wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The sunne shall be turned into darke-nesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord, shall be saued: for in mount Zion, and in Jerusalem shall be deliuerance, as the Lord hath sayd, and in the remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

Behold, in those dayes and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Jerusalem, b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victorie of Iehoshaphat, when as God without mans helpe destroyed the enemies, 2. Chron. 20. 26. also he hath respect to this word Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.

THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their awickednesse and idolatrie, hee stirred vp Amos, who was an headman or shepherd of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and constancie to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not y other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfeined repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Messiah, by whome they shoulde haue perfit deliuerance and saluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the Prophecies of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord against Damasus, 6 The Philistines, Tyrs, Idumea and Ammon.

THE words of Amos, who was among the headmen: at Tes-sara, which he saue vpon Je-rael, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of Jeroboam the sonne of Ioath King of Israel, two yeere before the earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and utter his voyce from Jerusalem, and the dwelling places of the theys heards shall perish, and the toppes of Carmel shall wither.

3 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damasus, and for foure,
I will not turne to it, because they haue threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of iron.

4 Therefore will I sende a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ben-hadad.

meant by three and foure which make seuen, because the Israelites shoulde the more deeply consider Gods iudgements toward them, if the Syrians shall not be spared for committing this crueltie against one citie, it is not possible that Israel shoulde escape punishment, which hath committed so many and grievous sinnes against God and man. g The antiquitie of their buildings shall not auoid

5 I will breake also the barres of Basmakus, & cut off the inhabitant of Bikesath-ayen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-edom, and the people of Atram, that goe into captiuitie vnto Kir, saith the Lorde.

6 Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Mhodo, and him that holdeth the scepter from Mhkelon, and turne mine hande to Ekron, and the remnant of the Idumeans shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembered the brotherly covenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because hee did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast off all pittie, and his anger spoiled him eternally, and his wrath watched him alway.

12 Therefore will I sende a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue rapt vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlewinde.

15 And their king shall goe into capti-uitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lorde.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Judah, and Israel.

Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burne the bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, & Moab shall die with tumult, with showing, and with a sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the ridge out of the innes thereof, and will flap all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lorde.

4 Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Judah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lorde, and haue not kept his commandments, and their lies a For the Moabites were so cruell against the King of Edom, that they burne his bones after that he was dead:

which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselves of the dead.
b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape;

caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Jerusalem.

6 Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for silver, and the poore for shoes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wapes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mappe to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lye downe vpon clothes layde to pledge: by euery altar: and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the Amojite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oke:
notwithstanding, I destroyed his fruite from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thro-row the wilderness, to possesse the land of the Amojite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your young men for Sazarites. Is it not even thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But ye gaue the Sazarites wine to drinke, & commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Behold, I am pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the sight shall perish from the swift, & the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

15 For he that handleth the bow, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And he that is of mightie courage as among the strong men, shall see away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

He reprooueth the house of Israel, of ingratitude, for the which God will punish them.

Here is this word that the Lord monouneth against you, O children of Israel, even against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You shall haue I knowne of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

he hath no pray? or will a lions whelp cry prophets, except there be some great occasion?

ing, and being

f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraid?

g Doeth any adulterie come without Gods appointment?

h God dealeth not with the Israelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.

i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spite moued them to speake as they did.

k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistines and Egyptians to be witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their crueltie and oppression.

l The fruit of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses.

m When the Lion hath faciate his hunger, the shepherd findeth a legge or a tippie of an eare, to shew that the sheepe hath bene worried.

o Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefices, forgate God, and therefore collect them by the name of beasts and not of men.

p They encourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to powle them so that they may haue profit by it.

q Healludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes and thornes.

5 Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will hee take vpon the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Shall a trumpet be blowen in the cite, and the people be not afraid? or shall there be cull in a cite, and the Lord haue not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God wil do nothing, but hee will reuencely his secret vnto his seruantes the Prophets.

8 The Lion hath roared: who will not be afraid? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but prophesie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the lande of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so besolde the great tumults in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the middes thereof.

10 For they know not to do right, saith the Lord: they shallose by violence, and tobblerie in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersarie shall come euen round about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled.

12 Thus saith the Lord, As the they heard taken out of the mouth of the lion two legges, or a peece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bedde, and in Dammascus, as in a couche.

13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Isaac, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I wil also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the houses of the altar shall bee broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I wil suite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of priuie shall perish, and the great houses shall bee consumed, saith the Lord.

1 The fruit of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses. m When the Lion hath faciate his hunger, the shepherd findeth a legge or a tippie of an eare, to shew that the sheepe hath bene worried. n Where they thought to haue a sure hold, and to haue bene in safetie.

CHAP. III.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

1 Heare this worde, ye kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresseth the poore, and destroyeth the needie: & they say to their masters, Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sowne by his huskinesse, that loe the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee will take you away with c thornes, and will posteritie with filthie hookes.

3 And ye shal goe out at the breaches euery kowe forward: and pee shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to Beth-el, and transgresse to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, & bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your riches after three pereres.

5 And offer a thanksgiving of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for this is iniquity vpon you, & pee children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three moneths to the harvest, & I caused it to raine vpon one cite, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another cite: one peece was rained vpon, and the peece wherupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandered vnto one cite to drinke water, but they were not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting and mildew: your great gardens & your vines, pards, and your figgetrees, and your olive trees did the palmer womine deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

10 Penitence haue I sent among you, after the maner of Egypt: your pong men haue I flame with the wood, and haue taken away your houses: and I haue made theinke of your tentes to come by euen into your nostrils: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

11 I haue overthrowen you, as God overthrowed Sodome and Gomorah: and pe were as a fine brand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore, thus wil I do vnto thee, O Israel: and because I wil do this vnto thee, prepare to meete thy God, O Israel.

13 For loe, he that foyneth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declarerth vnto man what is his thought: which makerth the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

1 Heare ye this word, which I lift vp by Zion, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: she is left vpon her laide, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The cite which went out by a thousande, shall leaue an hundred: and that which went forth by an hundred, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and pe shall liue.

5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and pe shall liue, least ye be brought into captiuitie: therefore he saith, that these shal not haue them, d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to these places, thinking that their great deuotion & good intention had bin sufficient to haue bound God vnto them.

d In stead of iudgement and equity they exercise cruelty and oppression. e He describeth the power of God, Job. 9. 9. f They hate the Prophets, which reprove them in the open assemblies. g Ye take both his money and also his food where with he should live. h God will so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly ones to open their mouths to admonish them of their faults. i So that all degrees shall have matter of lamentation for the great plagues. k Thus he speaketh because the wicked & hypocrites said: they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Ier. 30. 7. Joel. 2. 2. 11. zeph. 1. 15. l Because ye haue corrupt my true service and remaine obstinate in your vices, Isa. 1. 11. ier. 6. 10. m For your dutie to God & to your neighbour, & so ye shall fee his grace plentifully, if you shew your abundant affections according to Gods worde. n That idole which you esteeme as your King, and caried about as you did Chion, in the which images you thought that there was certaine diuinitie, breaken like fire in the house of Ioseph, & deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el. 7 They turne iudgement to wormwood, and leaue off righteousness in the earth. 8 He maketh Pirades, and Dion, and hee turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, and pouereth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name. 9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortress. 10 They haue hated him, & that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh waightly. 11 Forasmuch then as you treade is vpon the poore, & ye take from him burdens of wheate, ye haue built houses of bewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyardes, but ye shall not drinke wine of them. 12 For I knowe your manifold transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate. 13 Therefore the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time. 14 Seeke good and not euil, that ye may live: and the Lord God of hostes shall bee with you, as you haue spoken. 15 Hate the euill and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph. 16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord saith thus, Spurning that be in all streetes: and they shall lap in all the waues, alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can moune, to mourning. 17 And in all the vines shalbe lamentation: for I will passe through thee, saith the Lord. 18 Wo vnto you, that desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darkenesse and not light. 19 As if a man bid flee from a lion, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him. 20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darknesse, and not light? euen darkenesse and no light in it? 21 I hate & abhorre your feast dayes, & I will not meet in your solemne assemblies. 22 Though ye offer me burnt offerings and meate offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts. 23 Take thou away from me the mirth of the day of the Lord: for I will not heare the melody of the viols. 24 And let iudgement runne do bene as waters, & righteousness as a mighty river. 25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices & offerings in the wilderness fourne peeres, O house of Israel? 26 But you haue sayde: Siccith your king, & Chion your images, & the stars of your gods, which ye made to your selues. 27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captiuitie beyonde Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes. CHAP. VI. Against the princes of Israel living in pleasures, W D to them that are at ease in Zion and trust in the mountaine of Sion maria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them. 2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hainath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistines: be they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border, 3 Be that put farre after the euill day, and appoynte to the seate of iniquitie? 4 They lie vpon beds of pnuie, & stretch themselves vpon their beds, and cate the lambes of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall. 5 They sing to the founde of the viole: they inuent to themselves instruments of musike like Dauid. 6 They drinke wine in bowles, & anoint themselves with the chiefe oynments, but no man is sorrow for the affliction of Ioseph. 7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and the sorrow of them that stretched themselves, is at hand. 8 The Lord God hath sworn by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre: the excellencie of Iacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein. 9 And if there remaine some men in one house, they shall die. 10 And his vicie shall take him by and burne him to carie out the bones out of the house, and shall lap vnto him that is by the sides of the house. Is there per any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, Hold thy tongue: for we may not remember the name of the Lord. 11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, & he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts. 12 Shall heyes runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oren? for ye haue turned iudgement into gall, and the to indignement by fire, & it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

5 Then saide I, O Lorde God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Jaakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lorde repented for this, This also shall not be, saith the Lorde God.

7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lorde stood vpon a wall made by line, with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lorde saide vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I saide, A line. Then saide the Lorde, Beholde, I will set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Bethel shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ Then Amaziah the Priest of Bethel sent to Jeroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his wordes.

11 For thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also Amaziah saide vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, go, flee thy way into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophecie there.

13 But prophecie no more at Beth-el:
for it is the kings chappell, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, & sayd to Amaziah, I was no Prophet, neither was I a Prophers sonne, but I was an herds-man, and a gatherer of wilde figs.

15 And the Lorde tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lorde sayd vnto me, So, prophecie vnto my people Israel.
16 Nowe therefore heare thou the word of the Lorde. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Bethel.
17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Thy wife shall be an harlot in the cite, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy lande shall be deuoyd by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely goe into captiue for ever of his land.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lorde swareth. 11 The famine of the worde of God.

Thus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, & behold, a basket of sommer fruite.

2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou?
And I saide, A basket of sommer fruite.
Then sayd the Lorde vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lorde God:
many dead bodies shall bee in euery place:
they shall cast them forth with silence.

4 Heare this, O yee that swallowe by the poore, that yee may make the needie of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the new moneth bee gone, that wee may sell come? and the Sabbath, that wee may sell forth wheate, and make the Ephraim smal, and the Bethel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may bre the poore for siluer, and the needie for shooes: pea, and sell the refuse of the wheate.

7 The Lorde hath sworn by the excellen-cie of Jaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shall not the lande tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise by wholly as a flood, and it shall be calt out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, saith the Lorde God, I will euert the sunne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all lynes and baldnes vpon euery head:
and I will make it as the mourning of an only sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day.

11 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lorde.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, from the North euen vnto the East, they shall runne to and fro to seeke the word of the Lorde, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgins and they shall not onely perish in bodie, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word which is the foode thereof.

For the idolaters did vse to swear by their idols: which here he calleth their sinne, as the Papists yet doe by theirs. k That is, the common maner of worshipping, and the seruice or religion there vied.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings against the Temple. 2 And against Israel. 3 The restoring of the Church.

1 Said the Lord standing vpon the altar, and he said, Smite the funnel of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: & he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they digge into the hell, thence shall mine hand take them: though they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hidde from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will I command the serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euil, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein, shall mourne, and it shall rlie vpon wholly like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his spheres in the heauen, & hath laid the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians vnto me, yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefites.

Children of Israel, sayeth the Lord: haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt: and the Philistines from Gath: and Aram from Kir?

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the small kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheless I will not utterly destroy the house of Iacob, saith the Lord.

9 For loe, I will command, and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as come is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

11 In that day will I raise vp the tabernacle of David, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I will raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of olde.

12 That they may possesse the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, saith the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall touch the mower, and the reeder of grapes vnto that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall drop sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall builde the waste cities, and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, and drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more be pulled vp againe out of their land, which I haue giuen them, saith the Lord thy God.

Obadiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Idumeans, which came of Esau, were mortal enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iacob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kindes of crueltie, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, so far as much as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so fore vexeth them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

The vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, Wee haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassage is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art utterly despit.

3 Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

3 The pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rockes, whose habitation is high, that sayest in his heart, who shall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

5 Come thoues to thee of robbers by the world. d God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though theeues when they come, take but till they haue ynough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behinde them, Iere. 49. 9.

e Which despiseth all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet art but an handfull in comparison of others, and art shute vp among the hilles, as separate from the rest of the might? How wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stolen, till they had mough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leave some grapes?

6 How are the things of Elau sought by, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie haue driven thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceived thee, and pretended against thee: they that ease thy bread, haue layde a wounde under thee: there is none understanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wile men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Elau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraide, because euery one of the mount of Elau shall be cut off by laughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy brother Iakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entered into his gates, and cast lottes vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholpen the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entered into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layde handes on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stood in vnder Christ, when as the faithfull are made heires and lordes of all things by him which is their head. p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine. q Meaning, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome, 15 For the day of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as yee haue drunken vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallowe vp, and they shall bee as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shall be deliuerance, and it shall be holy, and the house of Iakob shall possesse their possessions,

18 And the house of Iakob shall bee a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Elau as stubble, and they shall kinde in them and deuoure them: and there shall bee no remnant of the house of Elau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the Southside of the mount of Elau, and the plaine of the Philistines: and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Benjamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they that shall saue, shall come by to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Elau, and the kingdome shall be the Lords.

Ionah.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Ionah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe, and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because he had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see howe horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets, and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Iosiah, and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah bedde when hee was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth, and hee is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

¶ The word of the Lord came also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to Nineueh, that great citie, and crye against it: for as authors write, it contained in circuit about eight and fourtie mile, and had a thousand and fye hundred towres, and at this time there were an hundred and twentie thousand children therein, Chap. 4. 11. d Whereby hee declareth his weakenesse, that would not promptly followe the Lords calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that hee should nothing at all profite there, seeing hee had done so small good among his owne people, Chap. 4. 2. e Which was the hauen and port to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

k When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to destroy thee.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shall be utterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will reuerse my Church and restore it.

n God attributeth this power to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to himselfe, as Isa. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. hebr. 12. 29.

o He describeth how the Church shall be enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished under Christ, when as the faithfull are made heires and lordes of all things by him which is their head. p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine. q Meaning, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome, had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be astonished, considering that for his sinne the angel of God hanged over all creatures.

F He willed, that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercie. g For partly by the threatening of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his own conscience, hee doubted whether God would shewe them mercie. h That is, the fruites of their repentance, which did proceed of faith which God had planted by the ministerie of his Prophet. i Reade Ieremie 18, 8.

cloth, and cry mightily vnto God: yea, let every man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands. g Altho can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perishe not?

10 And God sawe their woorkes that they turned fro their euill wayes: and God repented of the euill that hee had sayde that he would doe vnto them, and hee did it not.

CHAP. III.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased ^a Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And hee prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey: therefore I prevented it to flee vnto ^b Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore nowe, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from mee: for it is better for me to die, then to liue.

4 Then sayde the Lord, Doeſt thou well to be ^c angry?

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God which he preached should be blasphemed. b Reade Chap. 1. 3. c Thus hee prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forgiveness might be blasphemed, as though he sent his prophets forth to denounce his iudgements in vaine. d Wilt thou bee iudge when I doe things for my glorie, and when I doe not?

5 So Jonah went out of the citie and sat on the East side of the citie, and there made him a boothie, and sat vnder it in the shadowe: till he might see what should bee done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Jonah, that it might bee a shadowe ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day: and it smote the gourd, that it withered.

8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent Eastwinde: and the sunne beat vpon the head of Jonah, that hee fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and sayde, It is better for mee to die, then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Jonah, Doeſt thou wel to be angry for the gourd? And he sayd, I doe wel to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then sayde the Lord, Thou hast had pittie on the gourd for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And shouldest thou not I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are five score thousand persons, that I cannot discern between their right hand, and their left hand, and also much cattell?

prooueth him which would pittie himselfe and this gourd, and yet would reſtraine God to shewe his compassion to so many thousand people. i Meaning, that they were children and infants.

e For he doubted as yet whether God would shewe them mercie or no: and therefore after fourte dayes he departed out of the citie, looking what issue God would send. f Which was a further meanes, to couer him from the heat of the sunne, as he remained in his boothie.

g This declarereth the great inconueniences whereinto Gods seruants doe fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and do not in al things willingly submit themselves to God. h Thus God mercifully re-

Micah.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah serued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Israel, at the least thirtie yeres: at what time Iſaiah prophesied, He declarereth the destruction, first of the one kingdome, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednesse, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this ende hee noteth the wickednesse of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the false prophets, and the delighting in them. Then hee setteth forth the coming of Christ, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab, and all his false prophets, as 1. King 22. 8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatrie.

Mye worde of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the ^a Berzabite in the dayes of Iorabam, Ahab, and Iezekiah Kings of Iudah, which hee saue concerning Samaria and Ierusalem.

2 Heare, all yee people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnesse against you, euen the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord cometh out of his place, and will come downe, and treade vpon the hye places of the earth.

a Some in Mesreshah a citie of Iudah. b Because of the malice and obstinacie of the people whom hee had so oft exhorted to repentance, hee summoneth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures, and God himselfe to witnesse, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abused, shal be reuenged. c Meaning hereby that God will come to iudgement against the strong citie and holder.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleaue) as ware before the fire, & as the waters that are poured downward.

5 For the wickednes of Iacob is al this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iacob? Is not ^a Samaria? and which are the hye places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem.

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the fildes, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will caule the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discover the foundations thereof.

7 And al the grauen images thereof shall be broken, and all the gifts thereof shall be g The gaine that came by their idols, ſhalbe conſumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, ſo are they vilely and ſpeedily ſpent.

h Left the Philiftins our enemies reioyce at our deſtruction.

i Which was a citie neere to Ieruſalem, Iſa. 18, 23, there called Ophrah, and ſignifieth duſt: therefore he willecth them to mourne, & roule themſelves in the duſt, for their duſtie citie.

k Theſe were citieſies whereby the enemy ſhould paſſe as he came to Iudah.

l He ſhall not depart before he hath overcome you, and ſo you ſhall pay for his taryng.

m For Rabhakeh had ſhutte vp Ieruſalem, that they coulde not ſend to ſuccour them. n To flee away: for Sancherib laid ſiege firſt to that citie, and remained therein when he ſent his captaines, and armie againſt Ieruſalem. o Thou firſt receuſt the idolatrie of Ieroboam, and ſo diſdeſt infect Ieruſalem. p Thou ſhalt bribe the Philiftins thy neighbours, but they ſhall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ieruſalem. q Hee prophecieth againſt his owne citie, and becauſe it ſignified an heritage, he ſayth that God would ſende an heire to poſſeſſe it. r For ſo they thought them ſelues for the ſtrength of their citie.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the oſtriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ieruſalem.

10 Declare pee it not at ^b Gath, neyther weep ye: for the houſe of ^c Ophrah roule thy ſelfe in the duſt.

11 Thou that dwelleſt at ^d Shaphir, goe together naked with ſhame: ſhe that dwelleth at Zaanan, ſhall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemy ſhall receive of you for his ſtanding.

12 For the inhabitant of ^e Sparoth wayped for good, but euill came from the Lorde vnto the gate of Ieruſalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachyſh, binde the charer to the beaſtes ^f of price: the beginning of the ſinne to the daughter of Zion: for the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael were found in thee.

14 Therefore ſhalt thou giue preſentes to Doiebeth ^g Gath: the houſes of Achizib ſhalbe as a ſie to the kings of Iſrael.

15 Yet will I bring an ^h heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Sparothay, hee ſhall come vnto ⁱ Abulaim, the glory of Iſrael.

16 Make thee balde: and ſhane thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldneſſe as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

5 Therefore thou ſhalt haue none that ſhall caſt a corbe by lot in the Congregation of the Lord.

6 They that prophecieth, Prophecie pe not. They ſhall not prophecie to them, neyther ſhall they take ſhame.

7 O thou that art named the houſe of ^a Iacob, is the Spirit of the Lorde departed? Are theſe thy woordes? are not my Propheſies that woordes good vnto him that walketh by them no more?

8 But he that was ^b yesterdai my people, is riſen vp on the other ſide, as againſt abide their enemies: they ſpoyle the beautiful garment from them, that paſſe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue pe caſt out from their pleaſant houſes, and from their children haue ye taken away ^c my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your reſt: becauſe it is polluted, ſhall deſtroy you, euen with a ſole deſtruction.

11 If a man ^d walke in the Spirit, and would be falſe, ſaying, I will prophecie vnto thee of wine, and of ſtrong drinke, he ſhall euen be the prophet of this people.

12 I will ſurely gather thee ^e whom Iacob: I will ſurely gather the remnant of Iſrael: I will put them together as the ſhepe of Bozrah, euen as the ſheke in the middes of their folde: the citie ſhall be full of hynte of the men.

13 The breaker by ſhall come by heſoye them: they ſhall breake out, and paſſe by the gate, & goe out by it, and their king ſhall goe before them, and the Lorde ſhall be vpon their heads.

as it were, part of his glory. 1 Ieruſalem ſhall not be your ſafeguard: but the cauſe of your deſtruction. m That is, ſhewe himſelfe to be a Prophet. n He ſheweth what prophets they delite in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleaſant tales, and ſpeake of their commodities. o To deſtroy thee. p The enemy ſhall breake their gates and walles, and leade them into Caldea. q To drue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Againſt the tyranny of princes & falſe prophets.

Ad I ſaid, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iacob, and ye princes of the houſe of Iſrael: ſhould ye not knowe ^a iudgements?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their ſkinnes from them, and their fleſh from their bones.

3 And they eat alſo the fleſh of my people, and flay off their ſkin from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the potte, and as fleſh with in the caldron.

4 Then ſhal they cry vnto the Lorde, but he wil not heare them: he wil euen hide his face from them at that time, becauſe they haue done wickedly in their workes.

and moſt cruel beaſtes. c That is, when I ſhall viſite their wickedneſſe: for though I heare the godly before they crye, Iſa. 65, 24; yet I wil not heare theſe though they crye, Iſa. 1, 15, ezeckiel 8, 12. James 2, 13, 1. pet. 3, 11, 12.

They deuoure their substance, and then flatter them, promising that all shall go well: but if one straine from her bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischief.

As you have loved to walke in darkenesse, & to prophetic lies, so God shall rewarde you with grosse blindness, and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, ye shall as blinde men grope as in the night.

When God shall discover them to the world, they shall be afraide to speake: for all shall knowe that they were but false prophets, and did belie the worde of God.

The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing how God both gaue him giftes, habilitie and knowledge to discern between good and euill, and also constancie to reprove the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They build them houses by bribery, which he calleth blood and iniquitie. i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his name, as a pretence to cloke their hypocritie. k Reade Ieremiah 26. 18.

Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that decree my people, and bite them with their teeth, and crye peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him.

Therefore might shall be vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shall be vnto you for a dinnation, and the sonne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shall be darkened ouer them.

Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all cower like their lippes, for they haue none answer of God.

Yet notwithstanding I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iacob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

Hearkenis, I pray you, peeheads of the house of Iacob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and perieret all equite.

They build vp Zion with blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Puestes thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof prophetic for money: yet will they leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

Therefore shall Zion for your sake be plowed as a feld, and Ierusalem shall bee an heape, and the mountaine of the House, as the hie places of the forest.

The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing how God both gaue him giftes, habilitie and knowledge to discern between good and euill, and also constancie to reprove the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They build them houses by bribery, which he calleth blood and iniquitie. i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his name, as a pretence to cloke their hypocritie. k Reade Ieremiah 26. 18.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the kingdom of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

In the last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the toppe of the mountaines, and it shall be exalted as boue the hills, & people shall flow vnto it.

Yea, many nations shall come & say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Iacob, and he will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: for the Law shall goe forth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalem.

And he shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mightie nations a farre off, and they shall breake their bowes into mattocks, & their speares into scythes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afraide: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

For all people will walke: euery one in the name of his God, and we will walke in the name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that hather, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue assercted.

And I will make her that halted, a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in Spount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

And thou, O towne of the stocke, the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

Nowe why dost thou crye out with lamentation: is there no king in thee? is thy counsell perished? for so lowe hath raken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

So lowe and inuaine, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for nowe shalt thou goe forth of the citie, and dwell in the feld, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou bee deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

Nowe also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall bee condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

But they knowe not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barn.

Arise, and thresh, O daughter Zion: for I will make thine home prou, and thou wilt make thine houses blasphemie, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

king nor counsell. m Hee sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the bragges & threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance. n God giueth his Church this victorie, so oft as he ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shall be at the last coming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-leem.

Now assemble thy garrisons, O daughter of garrisons: hee hath layde siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rodde vpon the cheeke.

And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah these comforts, art little to bee among the thousandes of shewing that Iudah, yet out of thee shall bee come forasmuch as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garrisons to trouble others, the Lord would now cause other garrisons to vex her, and that her Rulers should be smitten on the face most contemptuously. b For so the Iewes deuided their country, that for euery thousande there was a chiefe captaine: and because Beth-leem was not able to make a thousand, be calleth it little, but yet God will raise vp his captaine and gouernour therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefite, as Matt. 26.

Israel:

a When Christ shall come, and the Temple shall be destroyed. b Reade Isa. 2. 2. c He sheweth that there is no true Church, but whereas the people are taught by Gods pure word. d By his corrections and threatnings he will bring the people into subiection which are in the remotest corners of the world. e They shall abstaine from all euill doing, and exercise themselves in godlines & in well doing to others. f Reade Isa. 2. 4.

h Heweth in the name of his God, and we will walke in the name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer. i Meaning, Ierusalem, where the Lords stocke was gathered. k The flourishing state of the kingdom, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the coming of Christ. l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations, when they saw themselves neyther to haue

c He sheweth that the coming of Christ and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie.

d He compareth the Iewes to women with child, who for a time should haue great sorowes, but at length they should haue a comfortable deliuerance, Iohn. 16. 21.

e That is, Christs kingdome shall be stable and euermore lasting, and his people, as well the Gentiles as the Iewes shall dwell in safetie, f This Messiah shall be a sufficient safegard for vs, & though y enemy inuade vs for a time, yet shall God stirre vp many which shall be able to deliuer vs, g These whome

God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time, h By these gouernours will God deliuer vs when the enemy commeth into our land, i This remnant or Church which God shall deliuer, shall onely depend on Gods power & defence, as doeth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man, k I will destroy all things wherein thou puttst thy confidence, as thy vainglorious confidence and idolatrie, and so will helpe thee, l It shall be so terrible that the like hath not bene heard of,

Israel: whose goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euermore.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, untill the time that they which I shall beare, shall reuenge: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall stand, and feede in the strength of the Lord, & in the maiestie of the name of the Lord his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall he bee magnified vnto the endes of the world.

5 And he shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our land: when hee shall treade in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seven shepherdes, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy Asshur with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swordes: thus shall he deliuer vs from Asshur, when he commeth into our land, and when he shall treade within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Iacob shall be among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the holynes vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the finnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iacob shall be among the Gentiles, in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beasts of the forest, and as the lions whelpes among the flocks of sheepe, who when he goeth thoro, treadeth downe and teareth in peeces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine hoies out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy cities.

11 And I will cut off cities of thy land, and ouertrowe all thy strong holdes.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanter out of thine hande: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the mids of thee: and thou shalt no more worshippe the worke of thine handes.

14 And I will plucke by thy grones out of the mids of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will erecte a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon heathen, which they haue not heard.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lordes quarrell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrell against his people, and he will pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee: or wherein haue I grieved thee: tellst thou against me,

4 Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had denied, & what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may know the right conscience of the Lord.

6 Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bowe my selfe before the high God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calves of a pere olde?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of raimes, or with ten thousand reuers of oyle? shall I giue my first borne for my transgression, euen the fruite of my bow for the sinne of my soule?

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercie, and to humble my selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lordes hope creepeth vnto the cristie, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name: Heare the roddes, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bagge of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lyes, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in limiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate & not be satisfied, and thy calling downe shall be in the middes of thee, and thou shalt take hoide, but shalt not deliuer: & that which thou desirest, will I giue vp to the woodde.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt treade the olives, but shalt not anoint thee with oyle, & make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the statutes of Omri are kept, scribed them to doe this, h Meaning, that when God speaketh to anie Citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maiestie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatening, but God that sendeth it, i That is, of Ierusalem, k Thou shalt be consumed with inward griefe and euilles, l Meaning, that the citie should goe about to saue her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would preserve, m You haue receiued all the corruption and idolatrie, wherewith the tenne tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the kings authority by his statutes, and also wisdom and policie in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment: but as I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 12. 47.

b I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefites vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefites from the beginning how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, & also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, til I brought you into the lande promised.

d That is, the truth of his promise and his manifold benefites towards you.

e Thus the people by hypocritie aske how to please God, and are content to offer sacrifice, but will not change their liues.

f There is nothing so deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoyde his anger: but they will neuer bee brought to mortifie their owne affections and to giue themselves willingly to serue God as he commandeth.

g The Prophet in few words callecth them to the obseruation of the second table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath pre-vineage: there is no cluster to eat: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: 3 they all lie in waite for blood: every man hunteth his brother with a net.

THE ARGUMENT.

As they of Nineuch shewed themselves prompt and ready to receiue the worde of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselves to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherin they had begunne, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vo-caine, and prouoked Gods iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their ciue Nineuch was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enjoyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophced about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

He burden of Nineuech, ^bThe booke of the vision of Nahum the ^cElkehisite.

² God is ^delous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord ^eof anger, the Lord he will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and hee reuerneth wrath for his enemies.

⁴ He rebuketh the sea, and dieth it, and he dieth by all the riuers: Bathan was fled and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

⁵ The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

⁶ ^gWho can stande before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is poured out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

⁷ The Lord is good^h and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.

⁸ But passing ouer as with a flood, hee will utterly despoyle the place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

⁹ What doe wee ⁱ imagine against the Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: a fiction shall not rise by the second time.

¹¹ There ^mcommeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour.

¹³ For now I will breake his pike from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

¹⁴ And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of them that his mercies appertene vnto them, and that hee hath care ouer them. ⁱ Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineuech, and the Assyrians, in such sort, as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe. ^k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore he woulde so destroy them at once, that hee shoulde not neede to returne the second time. ^l Though the Assyrians thinke themselves like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will fer fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stande against any force, so they shall bee nothing able to resist him. ^m Which may bee vnderstand either of Saneherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineuech. ⁿ Though they thinke themselves in most safetie, and of great strength, yet when God shall passe by, hee will destroy them: notwithstanding he comforteth his Church, and promiset to make an ende of punishing them by the Assyrians.

the Iewes shoulde enioy by the death of Saneherib.

CHAP. II.

Hee describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

The ^sdespoyle is come before thy face: ^tkeepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy toures strong: increace thy strength mightily.

² For the Lord hath ^uturned away the glory of Iacob, as the glory of Israel: for the empriers haue emptied them out, and ^vmarred their vine branches.

³ The shield of his mighty men is made redde: ^wthe valiant men are in scarlet: the charrets shall bee as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and ^xthe fire trees shall tremble.

⁴ The charrets shall rage in the streets: they shall runne to and fro in the hie waies: they shall seme like lampes: they shall shoot like the lightning.

⁵ ^yHee shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the fence shall be prepared.

⁶ The gates of the riuers shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

⁷ And ^zYuzzab the Queene shall be led as a waip captiue, and her maidens shall leade her as with the voyce of doves, smiting vpon their breasts.

⁸ But ^{aa}Nineuech is ^zof olde like a poole of water: per they shall see away. Stand, stande, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe.

⁹ ^{bb}Spoyle ye the siluer, spoyle the gold: for there is none ende of the store, and glorie of all the pleasant vessels.

¹⁰ ^{cc}She is emptie and voyd, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorrow is in all lynes, and the faces ^{dd}of them all gather blackenesse.

¹² The lyon did teare in pieces manfully for his whirpes, and woied for his lionesse, and filled his holcs with pray, & his demies with spoyle.

that Nineuech is so ancient that it can neuer perishe, and is as a fish-pool, whose waters they that walke on the banks cannot touch, but they shall bee scattered, and shall not looke backe though men woulde call them. ^h God commandeth the enemies to spoyle Nineuech, and promiset them in finiter riches and treasure. ⁱ That is, Nineuech and the men thereof shalbe after this sort. ^k Reade Ioe 2.6. ^l Meaning, Nineuech, whose inhabitants were cruell like the Lyons, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to prouide for their wines and children.

1 Of the fall of Nineuech. 2 No power can escape the hand of God.

3 Blasphemie, it is all full of lies, and cobberie: the pray departeth nor:

4 The noise of a whir, and the noise of the mouing of the wheeles, and the beasting of the horses, and the leaping of the charrets.

5 The horsemen in lifteth vp both a bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is flame, and the dead bodies are mas-up: there is none ende of their copples: they stumble vpon their copples,

6 Because of the multitude of the for-nications of the harlot that is beautifull, and is a multitude of witchcraft, and selleth the people through her whoresome, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

7 Beholde, I come vpon thee, saith the Lord of hostes, and will discover thy skirts vpon thy face, I will shew the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.

8 And I will cut filth vpon thee, I make thee vile, and wildest thee as a galling stocke.

9 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineuech is destroyed, who will haue pitye vpon her? where shall I seeke comfort ers for thee?

10 Art thou better then a flo, which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it: whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

Habakkuk.

THE ARGVMENT.

The Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure al kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none ende. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans shoulde come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none ende of their troubles as yet, because of their stubburnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And least the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth them by this that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shall be at height: wherefore he exhortheth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselves.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

He burden, which Habakkuk
the Prophet did see.

2 Lord, how long shall I crie, and thou wilt not heare!
euen crye out vnto thee: for violence, and thou wilt not help!

3 Why dost thou shew me iniquitie, and cause me to beholde sorowe? for sporing, and violence are before mee: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.

4 Therefore the lawe is disolued, and iudgement doth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth compassie about the righteous:

therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Beholde among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and maraile: for I will woike a woike in pour dayes: ye will not beleue it, though it be told you.

6 For loe, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the land to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

past you woulde not beleue Gods word, so shall ye not now beleue the strange plagues which are at hand.

b To suppress cause.

c Because the iudges which should redresse this excee, are as enill as the rest.

d As in times

e They themselves shall be your judges in this cause, and none shall have authority over them to controul them.

f For the Jewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruites.

g They shall be so many in number.

h They shall cast vp mounes against it.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithfull: God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victory & become proud and insolent, attributing the praise hereof to their idoles.

k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemy can do no more then God hath appointed, and also that their sinnes required such a sharpe rod. l So that the great deuoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world. m Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselves, and glory in their owne force, power, and wit.

n Meaning, that they should not.

CHAP. II.

2 A vision, s against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

a I will renounce mine own iudgement, & only depend on God to be instructed what I shall answer them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.

b Write in great letters, that he that runneth, may reade it.

c Which contained the destruction of the enemy, & the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hasty affections, yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appointed.

d To trust in himselfe or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quier for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by faith. Rom. 1. 17. gal. 3. 1. heb. 10. 38.

e He compareth the proud and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish & make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: their indgement and their dignitie shall preceede of themselves.

8 Their hoyses also are swifter then the leopards, & are more fierce then y woules in the evening: & their hoysenmen are manyp: & their hoysenmen shall come from farre: they shall die as the eagle halting to meate.

9 They come all to Ispole: before their faces shalbe an! East winde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, as the e land.

10 And they shall mocke the kings, and the princes shall bee a scoyne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing thus their power vnto their god.

12 Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine holp one: I shall not die: O Lord, y hast ordeined the for indgement, & O God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art full of pure eyes, & canst not see euill: y canst not behold wickednesse: wherefore dost thou looke vpon y transgressors, & holdest thy tongue, when y wicked denouerteth the man, y is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them.

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their parrie, whereof they reioyce and are glab.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their net, & burne incense vnto their parrie, because by them their portion is sat, and their meate plentious.

17 Shal they therefore stretch out their net & not spare continually to slay y nations?

that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, & cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapereth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take by a parable against him, & a taunting yowbe against him, and say, Ho, hee that increaseth that which is not his? how long? and hee that ladderh humiliate with yicke clay?

7 Shall they not rise up suddenly, that shall bite thee: and awake, that shall sturre thee: and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast Ispoled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall Ispole thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the cite, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that couertly an euill couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on fire, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou hast consulted shame to thine owne house by destroying many people, & hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the stone shall cry out of the wall, and the beamie out of the timber shall answer it.

12 Wo vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a cite by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the Lord of hosts that the people shall labour in the very fire: the people shall euen weare themselves for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Wo vnto him that quencheth his neighbours drinke: thou openest thine heare, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their ynnities.

16 Thou art filled with shame: y gloyp: drinke thou alled, and be made naked: the cuppe of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and thamefull spuming shall be for thy gloyp.

17 For the crueltie of Lebanon shall coner thee: so shall the people of the beastes which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the cite, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumme idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that sepech to the wood, Awake, and to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: behold, it is lapde all the world.

m He reprocheth thus the King of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetousnesse & crueltie, so he prouoked others to the same, & inflamed them by his rage, and so in the end brought them to shame.

n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy name. o Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beastes therein, he sheweth that the like crueltie shall be executed against them.

p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auale them: for they were but blockes and stones, reade Ierem. 10. 8. q If thou wilt consider what it is, and howe that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

f Signifying, that all the world that will the destruction of tyrants, and thereby their oppression and couetousnesse, they heape but vpon themselves more heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

g That is, the Medes & Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians & h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house, whereas he thinketh to enrich it by crueltie and oppression.

i The stones of the house shall cry, and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answer and say the same of it selfe.

k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labours, as though they were consumed with fire.

l In the destruction of the Babylonians hys people shall appeare through all the world.

m He reprocheth thus the King of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetousnesse & crueltie, so he prouoked others to the same, & inflamed them by his rage, and so in the end brought them to shame.

3 God counteth from d Teman, and his gloie couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his mapie.

4 And his brightnessse was as the light:
he had hornes coming out of his handes, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, & burning coales went forth before his feere.

6 He stooode and measured the earth: he beheld and dissolved the nations, and the eternall mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bowe: his waues

7 g For his iniquitie I sawe the tents of dian disreemble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the r ners? or was thine anger against h floods?
or was thy wath against the sea, that thou diddest ride vpon thine hoxles: thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy bolue was manifestly reuiled, and the othes of h tribes were a sure word,

Selah. Thou diddest cleane the earth with rivers.

10 The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on hir.

11 The sunne and moone stooode still in their habitation: at the light of thine ar-rowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest down the land in anger,
& diddest thyre the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest soothly for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine hand: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and disconered the foundations vnto the necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest strike thoww with his owne flanes the heades of his villages:
they came out as a whirlwind to scatter mee: their reioyng was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea vpon

nesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in bour of the olive shall faile, and the feldes

THE ARGUMENT.

S Being the great rebellion of the people, and that there was nowe no hope of amendement, he de-S nounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their cuntry should be veterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to find mercie by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the ende they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolastrie.

De worde of the Lorde which came unto Iephantah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of Iosiah, the sonne of Amon king of Iudah.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, sayth the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the fowles of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, sayth the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hande vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the Priests,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, & sweare by Baalcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not fought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 We still at the presence of the Lorde God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his gheestes.

8 And it shalbe in the day of the Lordes sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that daunce vpon the thresholde so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceite.

10 And in that day, sayeth the Lorde, there shall bee a noyse, and cry from the fish gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hills.

11 Howle yee inhabitants of the lowe place: for the company of the marchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with lightes, and visite the men that are frosen in their dreges, and lay in their hearts. The Lorde will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shalbe spoiled, and their houses waste: they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lorde: the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

15 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heaumes, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obsecrute & darknesse, a day of cloudes and blacknesse,

16 A day of the trumpet and alarime against the strong cities, and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blinde men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shalbe powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 Neither their siluer nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the whole land shall be deuoured by the fire of his relousie: for hee shall make euen a speedy ridgance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

He mooueth to returne to God, 5 Prophecying destruction against the Philistims, Moabites, and others.

Gather not your selues, euen gather you, & nation not woorthe to be deloued.

2 Before the degree come forth, and ye be as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lorde come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousnes, seeke lowlinesse, if so be that yee may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For Azrah shalbe forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall drine out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shalbe rooted vp.

5 Come into the inhabitants of the sea coast: the nations of Cherethims, the worde of the Lord is against you: I Canaan, the land of the Philistims, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the sea coast shalbe dwellings, and cottages for shepherdes, and shepefolds.

7 And the coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Iudah to feede there: vpon in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lorde their God shal visite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vphayed my people, and magnified themselves against their borders.

9 Therefore as I liue, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, surely Moab

12 Ye Moabians also shalbe slaine by my sword with them.

13 And hee will stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Asshur, and will make Sineuch desolate, and waste like a wilderness.

8 Therefore I waite ye vpon me, sayth the Lorde, vntill the day that I rise vp to the praye: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdome to powrie vpon them mine indignation, even all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shalbe deuoured with the fire of my ielousie.

12 Then will I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and then that haue the remor for it.

19 Beholde, at that time I will haile all that afflict thee, and I will saue her that halseth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praye and fame in all the lands of their shame.

Haggai.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the seuentie yeres captiuitie prophesied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declared that that plague of famine, which God sent among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that he hath begunne, and send Christ whom hee had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfect ioy and glorie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 2 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yeere of King Darius, in the first moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai,) vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, saying, this people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lordes house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for you to dwell in your heile houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Nowe therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 Ye haue sowne much, and bring in little: ye eate, but ye haue not y enough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and I will be favourable in it, and I will be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little: and when ye thought it home, I did blowe vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine house that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruite.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lord their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lordes messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred by the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

He sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, in the second yeere of King Darius,

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Spake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that saw this house in her first glory, and howe doe you see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it, as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you saith the Lord of hostes.

6 According to the word that I covenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shall remaine among you, saith the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, Yet a little while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land:

k This declared that God was the author of doctrine, and that he was but the minister, as Exo. 14.31, Iudg. 7. 20. Act. 15.28.

l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers before God reforme their hearts and giue them new spirits, Iohn 6.44.

a For the people, according as Isa. 32.11, and Ezek. 41.1. had prophesied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets ment the spirituall Temple, the Church of Christ.

b That is, goe forward in building the Temple. c He exhorted them to patience though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ by whom all things should be renewed.

d Meaning Christ, whom all ought to look for and desire: or by desire, he may signifie all precious things, as riches and such like.

e Therefore when his time cometh, he can make all the treasures of the world to serue his purpose: but the glorie of this second Temple doth not stand in materiall things, neither can bee built.

f Meaning, all spiritual blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil. 4. 7. g That is, the flesh of the sacrifices: whereby he signifieth that that thing, which of it selfe is good, can not make another thing so: and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselves by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary, bee that is vnclane and not pure of heart, doth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God, which els are good and godly. h Consider howe God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

8 And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glorie, sayth the Lord of hostes.

9 The silver is mine, and the golde is mine, sayth the Lord of hostes.

10 The glorie of this last house shall be greater then the first, sayeth the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue peace, sayth the Lord of hostes.

11 In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, and the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Law, I say,

13 If one beare a holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shall it be holy? and the Priests answered, and sayd, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vnclane? And the Priests answered, and said, It shall be vnclane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, sayth the Lord: and so are all the works of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vnclane.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this day, and afore, euen afore a stone was layd vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentieth measures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine presse for to drabe out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I moue you with blasting, and with midew, and with haile, in all the labours of your handes: yet you turned not to mee, sayth the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lordes Temple was layde: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the seed yet in the barnes: as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.

21 And againe the worde of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the feure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I will shake the heauens and the earth.

23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, and I wil destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charers, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euerie one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, Zerubbabel my seruant the sonne of Shealtiel, sayth the Lord, and will make thee as a signer: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lord of hostes.

Should bee most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ, i That is, before the building was begunne. k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promisieth that God woulde blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plenty.

l He exhorted them to patience and to abide till the harvest came, and then they should see Gods blessings.

m I will make a change and renew all things in Christ of whome Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby hee sheweth that there shall be no let or hindrance when God will make this wonderful restitution of his Church, o Signifying that his dignitie Zechariah.

THE ARGUMENT.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begunne to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore hee putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfeignedly, & not abuse this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from sinne and death by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse, and coldnesse to set forth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes bee prepared to receiue Christ, in whome all should be sanctified to the Lord.

C H A P. I.

2 He exhorted the people to returne to the Lord, and to shew the wickednes of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem & the Temple.

IN the eighth moneth of the second yeere of Darius came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene sore displeased with your fathers.

9 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commaunded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of your fathers? and as they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne waies, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs.

7 Upon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Shebat, in the seconde yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Idob the Prophet, saying,

8 I saw by night, and beheld a man riding vpon a red horse, & he stood among the myrthe trees, that were in a bottom, and behinde him were there redde horses speckled and white.

9 Then saide I, O my Lord, What are these? and the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me, I will shewe thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrthe trees, answered and sayde, These are they whome the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the myrthe trees, and said, We haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the Angel of the Lord answered red and said, O Lord of hostes, howe long wilt thou be vnnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threelcore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable wordes.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, saide vnto me, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I am a zealous ouer Ierusalem & Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angry but a litle, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall be builded in it, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and a line shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet be broken with plentie: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdom.

As he shewed mee Jehoshua the high Priest, standing before the Angell of the Lord, and Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord repproue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Jerusalem, repproue thee. Is not this a band taken out of the fire?

3 Now Jehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angell.

4 And he answered & spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him he saide, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I said, Let them set a faire diadem vpon his head. So they set a faire diadem vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angell of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angell of the Lord testified vnto Jehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also iudge mine house, & shalt also keepe my courts: & I will giue thee place among these that stand by. And now Satan sought to assault and trouble him when he was doing his office. e In respect of the glorious garments, and precious stones that the priests did wear before the captiuitie: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings shoulde bee made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church. f Hee sheweth of what apparell hee speaketh, which is when our filthy sinnes are taken away, and we are cladde with Gods mercies, which is meane of the spiritual restitution. g The Prophet prayeth, that besides the raiment, the Priest might also haue tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthoode might bee perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and heere all such are condemned that can content themselves with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obtayneth it. h That is, haue rule and government in my Church as thy predecessours haue had. i Whereby he meaneth, to haue the whole charge and ministrie of the Church.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlesticke, and the exposition thereof.

As the Angell that talked with mee, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,

2 And said vnto me, What seest thou? and I saide, I haue looked, and beholde, a candlelike all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seven lampes therein, and seven pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two olue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angell that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angell that talked with me, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then hee answered & spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

7 Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt bee a plaine, and hee shall bring forth the head stone of man. e Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to al the Church who are his body & members. d He sheweth that Gods power only is sufficient to preferue his Church, though he vie not mans helpe thereunto. e He compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Tewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies daily labour to let in building of his spiritual Temple, but al in vaine. f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the hieft stone thereof, & bring it to perfection, so yal the godly shall reioyce, & pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple thereof.

g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my father for the building, and preservation of my spirituall Temple.

h Signifying, that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple.

i Whereby he signifieth the plummert & line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented

Christ should goe forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, a Because the Iewes had provoked Gods plagues by condemning his word and casting off al iudgement and equitie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them, and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

9 The hands of Zerubbabel haue laide the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finishe it, & thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the final things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of time in the hande of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two olue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What be these two olue branches, which though the two golden pipes emptye themselves into the golde?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two olue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

i The vision of the flying booke, signifying the vnto of theemes, and such as abusi the name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and beholde, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then saide hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth fourth ouer þ whole earth: for euery one that sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that: and euery one that sweareth shall be cut off as well on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, went forth and said vnto mee, Lift vp nowe thine eyes, and see, what is this that goeth fourth.

6 And I saide, What is it? And he said, This is an Ephay that goeth fourth. Ye said moreouer, This is the sight of them, through all the earth.

7 And beholde, there was lift vp a tasle of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephay.

8 And he said, This is wickednes, and he cast it into the mids of the Ephay, and he cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came out two women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a stork) and they lift vp the Ephay betwene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with mee, Whither doe these beare the Ephay?

11 And he saide vnto mee, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charrets he describeth the foure monarchies.

Again, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure charrets out from betwene two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of byasse.

2 In the first charret were red horses, and in the second charret blacke horses.

3 And in the third charret white horses, and in the fourth charret horses of diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and saide vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and said vnto me, These are the foure spirites of the heauen, which goe fourth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went fourth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went fourth toward the South countrey.

7 And the reddish went out, and requiered to goe, & passe through the world, And he said, Goe passe through the world, so they went thorowout the world.

8 Then cried he vpon mee, & spake vnto me, saying, Behold these that goe toward Christ, of whome Ioshua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus. o That is, of himselfe, without the help of man. p Which declareth that none could build this temple, wherof Hag-gai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spiritual, and not materiall, Hag-gai 2. 10. q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadowe. r The two offices of the kingdome and priesthood that was to be ioyned together, that they shall be no more disscured. s Who was also called Heldai. t He also was called Ioshiah. u That they may acknowledge their infirmities, which looked that all things should haue bene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens, Acts 1. 6. x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospell shall helpe toward the building of this spiritual Temple. y If yee will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people in the cause of their affliction.

As in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the woide of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in Chislen,

2 For he had sent vnto the house of God Sharezer, and Regeim-melech, and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lord of hostes, and to the prophets, saying, Should I weepe in the fifth moneth, and separate my selfe as I haue done these so many yeeres?

4 Then came the woide of the Lord of a Which con-tained part of Nouember and part of Decceber. b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feastes were consented vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other, when Gedaliah was slaine, Ier. 41. 1. c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting. d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast. e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed,

5 Speake vnto al the people of the land, & to the Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fifth and seventh moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me: and so I approoue it.

6 And when ye did eate, & when ye did drinke, did ye not eate & for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should ye not heare the wordes, which the Lord hath cried by the ministry of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the woide of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercie and compassion, euery man to his brother,

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, & pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their heartes as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Lawe and the wordes which the Lord of hostes sent in his spirit by the ministry of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they crept, and I would not heare, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whome they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they laid the pleasant land to waste.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercie of God toward them. 16 Of good workers. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

Came the woide of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the middes of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a citie of truth, and the mountaine of the f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching this con-troverisie, besides them which as yet remayned in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as of one of the chiefe pointes of their religion. g For they thought they had deserved towards God, because of this fast, which they inuented of themselves: and though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seru-ice toward God, and trusted there-in, it is here reprooued. h Did ye not eate and drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie, and so likewise ye did abstaine according to your owne fantasies, and not after the prescript of my Lawe.

I Hereby he com-mendeth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded. k Hee sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for an hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Mat. 23. 23. l And would not carry the Lordes burden, which was sweete and easie, but would beare their owne, which was heauie and grievous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of Oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehem. 9. 29. m Which declareth that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them. n That is, after they were carried captiue. o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger. a I loved my ci-tie with a singu-lar loue, so that I could not abide that any should do her any injury. b Because she shall be faithful & loyal toward me her husband.

c Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserve them so long as nature would suffer them to live, and encrease their children in great abundance.
d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to believe that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Gen. 18. 14.
e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shall be sure and stable.
f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which incourage you thereunto.
g For God cursed your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profite of their labours.

Lord of hostes, the holy mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, There shall yet old men and old women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, layeth the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus layeth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the middes of Ierusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God in truth and in rightcoulesse.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, let your hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these wordes by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the House of the Lord of hostes was layde, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for a man nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not increate the residue of this people as aforetime, layeth the Lord of hostes.

12 For the feede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruit, and the grounde shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as yee were a curse among the heathen, I should of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and yee shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus layeth the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers prouoked me unto wrath, layeth the Lord of hostes, and repented not.

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes: yet doe well unto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall doe. Speake yee euery man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and vprightly in your gates.

17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth shall bee to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous be their feastes: therefore loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another, saying, My brother is gone and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Pea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall tenne men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, We will goe with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

1 The threatening of the Gentiles. 2 The coming of Christ.

THE burden of the word of the Lord in the land of Nabrach: and Damascus shall be his rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border there: by: Tyus also and Sidon, though they bee very wise.

3 For Tyus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp silver as the dust, and golde as the myre of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoyle her, and hee will smite her: I power in the Sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut of the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but hee that remaineth, euen hee shall be for our God, and he shall be as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be as a Jebusite.

8 And I will campe about mine house against the armie, against him that persecuteth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them in the name of Wile-dome. f Though they of Tyus thinke themselves inuincible by reason of the Sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements. g Meaning, that all shoulde bee destroyed save a very fewe, that shoulde remaine as strangers. h Hee promisseth to deliuer the Iewes when hee shall take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them. i As the Iebusites had bene destroyed, so shoulde Ekron and all the Philistines. k Hee sheweth that Gods power onely shall bee sufficient to defend his Church against all adueraries, be they neuer so cruel, or assemble their power neuer so often.

r Meaning, Ierusalem or the Church which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the covenante of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great. t That is, into the holy land, where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you. u Meaning, the faithfull, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie. x That is, double benefices, and prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers inioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie. y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which hee here meaneth by the Grecians. z Hee promisseth that the Jewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and excess of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: which things are not to moue them to intemperance, but to sobriety, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberality. a The faithfull shall be preferred, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall bee compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great, when hee mette Iadi the hie Priest.

a Because the Lewes thought themselves so strong by reason of this mountaine, that no enimie could come to hurt them the Prophet sheweth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shall shew it selfe ready to receive them, b Shewing, that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist. c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to holde out. d That is, the renoume of Iudah and Irael should perish. e Which being now deflinate to be flaine, were deliuered as out of the Lions mouth. f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doe euill. g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the name of God in their mouths, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoyle of their brethren. h I will cause one to destroy another. i Their gouernours shall execute crueltie ouer them. k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought wortheie to shew mercie vnto. l God sheweth his great benefites toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither bee ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernment, neither continue in the bands of brotherly vnite, and therefore hee breaketh both the one and the other. Somereade, for Bands destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed. m Whereby he sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue. n Meking the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefites of God, o. Hee sheweth that the least part euer profit by Gods iudgements. p Besides their ingratitude God accuteth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not only forget his benefites, but esteemed them as things of nought. q Shewing that it was too litle to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a few tiles for to cower the Temple,

Open thy doores, d Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars, 2 Houle, b fire trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: houle yee, e Dokes of Bashan, for the defended forest is cut downe, 3 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepheards: for their d glory is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of Lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed. 4 Thus saith the Lord my God, feede the sheepe of the slaughter. 5 They that possesse them, slay them, and fine not: and they that sell them, say, e Blessed be the Lord: for I am riche, and their owne shepheards spare them not. 6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land saith the Lord: but loe, b I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hande, and into the hand of his King: and they shall smite the lande, and out of their hands i will not deliuer them, 7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euery the k poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me l two ftaues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I feede the sheepe. 8 m Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule loathed a them, and their soule abhorred me. 9 Then said I, I will not feede you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant ease, euery one the fleshy of his neighbour. 10 And I tooke my staffe, euery Beauty, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people. 11 And it was broken in that day: and so the p poore of the sheepe that trusted vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord. 12 And I layd vnto them, If yee thinke it good, giue mee p my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirte peices of silver. 13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it into the q potters: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirte peices of silver, and cast them to the potters in the house of the Lord. 14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euery the Bands, that I might defolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Irael. 15 And the Lord layd vnto me, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepheard. 16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the lande, which shall not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth by: but hee shall eat the fleshy of the fat, and teare their clawes in peices. 17 Idole shephearde that leaureth the flocke: the sword shall bee vpon his arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall bee cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall bee utterly darkened, and sound. t By the arme bee signified strength, as be doth wisdom and iudgement by the eye, that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

Of the destruction & building againe of Ierusalem.

The burden of the worde of the Lord vpon Irael, saith the Lord, which I wead the heauens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him. 2 Beholde, I will make Ierusalem a b cup of poyson vnto all the people rounde about: and also with Iudah will be, in the siege against Ierusalem. 3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem as a heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be toyme, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it. 4 In that day, saith the Lord, I will smite euery horse with blindness, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindness. 5 And the princes of Iudah shall lay in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hosts their God. 6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like colles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrande in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people rounde about on the right hand and on the left: and Ierusalem shall bee inhabited againe in her owne place, euery in Ierusalem. 7 The Lord also shall reuerse the tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glory of the house of David shall not be lost, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah. 8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and bee that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as David: and the house of David shall bee as Gods house, and as the Angell of the Lord before them. 9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem. 10 And I will put me vpon the house of

i In that day shall there bee a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

2 And in that day, sayeth the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will call the prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet prophesse, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not lue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, shall thrust him through, when hee propheseth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets be ashamed euery one of his vision, when hee hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deecie.

8 Of the doctrine that shall proceede out of the Church, and of the restauration thereof.

Behold, the day of the Lord cometh. And thy people shall bee diuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoiled, and the women desiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then shall the Lord go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feete shall stande in that day vpon the mount of olives, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of olives shall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East and toward the West ther shall bee a very great valley, and halfe of the mountaine shall remooue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And ye shall flee vnto the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Azal: yea, ye shall flee like as ye fled from the earthquake in the dayes of Uziah king of Iudah: and the Lord my God shall come, and all the sanits with thee.

6 And in that day shall there be no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there shall be a day (it is knowne to the world they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this hee meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church. e He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountaines. f Reade Amos 1. 1. g Because they did not credit the Prophets words, he turneth to God, and comforteth himselfe in that that hee knewe that these things should come, and sayth, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.

8 And in that day shall there waters of life goe out from Ierusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the bittermost sea, and shalbe both in sommer and winter.
9 And the Lord shalbe King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one Lord, and his Name shall be one.
10 All the land shall be turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, & it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towne of Hamanai, vnto the Kings wine presses.
11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Ierusalem shalbe safely inhabited.
12 And this shall be the plague, where-with the Lord will visite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.
13 But in that day, a great tumult of the Lord shalbe among them, and euery one shall take the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.
14 And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shalbe gathered round about, with golde and silver, and great abundance of apparel.

15 Yet this shalbe the plague of the holie, of the Gule, of the Camell, and of the alle, and of all the beastes that be in these tents as this plague.
16 But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all y nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe by from yeere to yeere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, & to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.
17 And who so will not come vp by all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euery one them shall come no raine.
18 And if the familie of Egypt goe not by, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shalbe the plague where-with the Lord will visite all the heathen, that come not by to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.
19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not by to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.
20 In that day shall there be written vpon the bydes of the holies, The holiness vnto the Lord, and the pots in the Lodes house shalbe like the holies before y altar.
21 Pea, euery pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and seeke therein: and in that day there shalbe no more the Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hostes.

The enemies are rich, and therefore shall not come for a pray, but to destroy and shed blood.

t But all shall be pure and cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, or any that shall corrupt the true seruice of God.

Malachi.

THE ARGVMENT.

His Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more seruent desires looke for the coming of Messias. He confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly he reprocueth the Priests for their couetousnesse, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to y precept of his word. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings against God, impatiencie, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whome the couenant should be accomplished, whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, & bring all consolation & ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel and chiefly the priests.
BE burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by the ministration of Malachi.
2 I haue loued you, saith the Lord: yet yee say, Wherein haue thou loued vs? Was not Elau Iacob brother, saith the Lord: yet I loued Iacob.
3 And I hated Elau, and made his younger brother of whom they came, and left Elau the elder.
c For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared euery when hee was made seruant vnto his younger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterwarde in that hee was put from his birthright, yet euery now before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that that his countrey lyeth waste, and he shall neuer returne to inhabit it, whereas yee my people, whom the enemy hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you deliuered, reade Rom. 9. 13.

a Reade Isai. 13. 1.
b Which declarereth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was so euident in that hee chose Abraham from out of all the worlde, and next chose Iacob the younger brother of whom they came, and left Elau the elder.

mountaines waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.
4 Though Edom say, We are unpouersished, but we will returne, and build the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hostes, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for euer.
5 And your eyes shall see it, and yee shall say, The Lord wil be magnified vpon the border of Israel.
6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? And if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hostes vnto you, & yee despise my Name: and yee say, Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

d Besides the rest of the people he condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should haue reprocured others for their hypocritie, and obstinacie against God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.
e Hee noteth howe they despise their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faults, but most impudently couered them, and so were blinde guides.

f Ye receive all manner offerings for your owne griefednesse, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Lawe or no.

g Not that they sayd thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse.

h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie, and so come not to that purenesse of religion, which he requirith, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so serued.

i He derideth the Priests who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and shewed that they were the occasion, that these evils came vpon the people.

k Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so couetous and wicked? l Because the Levites who kept the doores, did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God wilheth that they would rather shute the doores, then to receive such as were not perfect. m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true seruice, shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe, framed his wordes to the capacite of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, which should be vnder the Gospell; when an ende shall be made to all these legal ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice. n Both the Priests, and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fatte: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God which hee required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and countenanced. o The Priests and people were both wearie with seruing God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice & seruice they gaue to God, for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lorde. p That is, hath abilitie to serue the Lorde according to his worde, and yet will serue him accordig to his couetous minde.

7 Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lorde is not to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not cuill: and if yee offer the lame and sicke, it is not cuill: offer it now vnto thy Prince: will hee be content with thee, or accept thy perion, sayeth the Lorde of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, pray before God, that hee may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will hee regard your persons, sayeth the Lorde of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, that would shute the doores, and kinde not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the Sunne vnto the going downe of the lame, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place uncleane shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the Heathen, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

12 But yee haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lorde is polluted, and the fruite thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye sayd also, Beholde, it is a wearinesse, and ye haue trusted at it, saith the Lorde of hostes, and yee offered that which was corne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, sayeth the Lorde?

14 But cursed bee the Deceiuer, which hath in his flocke p a male, and boweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lorde a corrupt thing: for I am a great king, saith the Lorde of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

A 2d now, O yee Priests, this commandment is for you.

2 If yee will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory vnto my Name, saith the Lorde of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse your blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because yee doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Beholde, I will corrupt your seede, and cast downe vpon your faces, euen the doing of your iolenne feastes, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And ye shall knowe, that I haue sent this commandment vnto you, that my covenant which I made with Levi, might stand, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

5 My covenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and hee feared mee, and was afraide before my Name.

6 The lawe of truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lippes: hee walked with mee in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests lips should preserve knowledge, and they should seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for hee is the messenger of the Lorde of hostes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the covenant of Levi, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Lawe.

10 Haue wee not all one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe wee transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the covenant of our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem, for Iudah hath defiled the holines of the Lorde, which he loued, and hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lorde will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iacob and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lorde of hostes.

13 And this haue yee done againe, and covered the altar of the Lorde with teares, with weeping and with mourning:

h I prescribed Levi a certaine Law to serue me, I serued me & set forth my glory with all humilitie and submission. k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct others in the wordes of the Lorde. l He is as the treasure house of Gods word and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessitie, & not to refuse it for himselfe. m Shewing, that whosoener doeth not declare Gods wil, is not his messenger, and Priest. n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren. o Whereby they had bound themselves to God to bee an holy people. p They haue ioynted themselves in marriage with them that are of another religion. q That is, the Priests, r Ye cause the people to lament, because that God doth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.

a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he contemneth the people also.

b To serue me according to my worde.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefices.

d Your feede fowen that come to no profice.

e You boast of your holines, sacrifices & feasts, but they shall turne to your shame, and be as vile as dung.

f The Priests objected against the Prophet that hee could not reprove them, but hee must speake against the priesthood, & the office established of God by promise, but hee sheweth, that the office is nothing slandered, when these villaines and doing are called by their owne names.

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the covenant made with the tribe of Leui: on Gods part, that hee would giue them long life & felicitie, and on their part, that they shoulde faithfully serue him according to his worde.

h I serued me & set forth my glory with all humilitie and submission.

k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct others in the wordes of the Lorde.

l He is as the treasure house of Gods word and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessitie, & not to refuse it for himselfe.

m Shewing, that whosoener doeth not declare Gods wil, is not his messenger, and Priest.

n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.

o Whereby they had bound themselves to God to bee an holy people.

p They haue ioynted themselves in marriage with them that are of another religion.

15 And did not he make one? yet had he y abundance of spirit: and wherfore one? because he sought a godly seede: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and let none trespass against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, but put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet see couereth the inuirtue under his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue wearied the Lord with your wordes: yet ye say, Wherein haue wee wearied him? When ye say, Every one that doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them. Where is the God of iudgement?

Such as should be borne in lawful and moderate marriage wherein is no excess of lusts. a Containe your selues within your boundes, and be sober in minde, and bridle your affections. b Not that he doth allow diuorcement, but of the two faults he sheweth, which is the lesse. c He thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit he take others, and so as it were couereth his fault. d Ye murmured against God, because hee heard not you as those as ye called. e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him. f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord John Baptist, and of Christs office.

Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord whom ye seeke, shall suddenly come to his Temple: euen the messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: behold, he shall come, saith the Lord of hostes.

2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And he shall sit downe to trie and fine the silver: hee shall euen fine the sonnes of Leui, and purifie them as gold and silver, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousness.

4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time, and in the yeres afore.

5 And I will come nere to you to iudgement, and will bee a swift witness against the slothfayers, and against the adulterers, an against false swearers, & against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vex the widow and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iacob are not consumed. He beginneth at the Priests that they might be lightes & shine vnto others. f They murmured against God, because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: & therefore he accuseth the of ingratitude & sheweth that in that they are not dayly consumed, it is a token y he doeth still defend them, and so his mercie toward them neuer changeth.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: & returne vntome, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but ye sayde, Wherein shall we returne?

8 Will a man spolie his gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoyled me, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may bee meate in mine house, and procure mee now here with, saith the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and poure ye out a blessing without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the deuourer for your sakes, and ye shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine bee barren in the field, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

13 Your wordes haue bene stout against me, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Ye haue said, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profite is it that wee haue kept his commandement, and that wee walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore wee count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are deliuered.

16 Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shalbe to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that day that I shal doe this, for a flocke, and I will spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and the wicked, betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

only preferred to honour, but also deliuered from dangers. o After these admonitions of the Prophet some were liuely touched, and encouraged others to feare God. p Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies, to all penitent sinners. q When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, they shalbe as mine owne proper goods. r That is, forgive their sinnes, and gouerne them with my spirit.

The day of the Lords, before the which Eliash should come.

Behold, the day commeth, that shall burne as an oven, and all the proud, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shalbe stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, saith the Lord of hostes, and shall leave them neither roote nor branch.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

THese bookes that followe in order after the Prophets vnto the newe Testament, are called A P O C R Y P H A, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common consent to be read and expounded publickly in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any poynt of Christian religion, save in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonically to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and lest them not vterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesseth that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

CHAP. I.

3 Iosias appointeth Priests, & keepeth the Passover. 7 Offerings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Levites. 23 The upright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachim appointed king. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

AND Iosias kept the * Passover to his lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passover in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appoynted the Priestes according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Levites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord, to set the holy Ark of the Lord in the house, which Salomon the sonne of King Dauid had built,

4 And saide, Ye shall no more beare the Ark upon your shoulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, and according to the maner of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passover, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passover after the Lordes commandement given to Moses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirte thousand lambes and kids with thre thousand calves.

8 These were given of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gaue Heliias and Zacharias and Spelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the priests for the Passover two thousand five hundred sheepe, and thre hundred calves.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias and Nathanael his brother, and Sabias, and Chielus, and Joiam captaines gaue to the Levites for the Passover five thousand sheepe, and seven hundred calves.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Levites stood in order, hauing unleavened bread according to the tribes.

11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the books of Moses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Passover with fire as appertained, & they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons & pots, Exod. 12.8.

13 And let it be before all them that were of the people, and afterwarde they prepared for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the evening, & the Levites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appoynted ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and Eddimus, which was of the kings appointment. || Or. Iedusban.

16 And the porters were at every gate, so that it was not lawfull, that any should passe his ordinarie watch: for their brethren the Levites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passover.

18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passover, and the feast of unleavened bread seven daies.

20 And there was not such a Passover kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passover, as did Iosias, and the Priests, and the Levites, and the Jewes, and all Israel, which were founde to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passover kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were bright before before his Lord is a heart full of godliness.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned & did wickedly against the Lord, about every nation and kingdome, and grieved him with sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood up against Israel.

25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Josias, it came to passe þ' whē Pharaos king of Egypt came to moue war at Carchamus vppō Euphrates, Josias went out against him.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my war is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with me, and the Lord hasteneth mee forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Josias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet, by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he set himselfe in battell arap against him in the fildes of Megiddo, and the Princes came downe to King Josias.

30 And the king said vnto his seruants, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gate vpon the second chariot, & being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, & was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Josias bewailed, pea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Josias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeyned in all the kindred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of þ' histories of the kings of Iudea, & euery one of þ' acts þ' Josias did, & his glory, & his knowledge in the law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now rehearsed are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Joachas the sonne of Josias, & made him king in stead of his father Josias, when he was three and twentie peere olde.

35 And he reigned in Iudea & in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He reared also the people of an hundred talents of silver, & one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Joacim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And hee bound Joachas and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zarcas his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fure peere old was Joacim, when he reigned in Iudea & Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaîne of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, & caried the away, and let them in his Temple at Babylon.

42 But all his acts, and his prophaneation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Joacim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king, he was eightene peeres olde.

44 And hee reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a peere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when he was one & twentie peere olde, and he reigned eleuen peeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that he was swoyne to king Nabuchodonosor, he sware himselfe by the name of the Lord, and fel away, & hardened his necke and his heart, & transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also þ' gouernours of þ' people, & the Priests committed many things against the lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Nevertheless the God of their fathers sent his messenger to cal them back, because he spared them, and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that he, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes commanded the kings of the Caldeans to invade them.

53 These killed their pong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare pong man, nor maiden, neither olde man, nor childe among them.

54 But he deliuered them all into their handes, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great & small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and carped as way the kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, & brought them to naught, and those that were left by the sword, he carped away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Ieremias, 58 And that the lande might enioy her Sabbath all the time, that it was desolate, till seuentie peeres were accomplished.

2 The Lord rapted by the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, and hee made proclamation throughout al his kingdom, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus King of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lord, hath made me King ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath comāded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea,

5 If there be any therefore of pou of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, & let him goe vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about those, I say, he are in his place, let them helpe him with golde and silver,

7 With giftes, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought, according to the vowes, into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, & of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priests and Leuites, & all whose minde the Lord had moued to goe vp, and builde an house to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with silver & golde, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose mindes were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out h helpfulls of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had carried out of Ierusalem, & had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus King of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Spithidates his treasurer, 12 Whome they were giuen to of Nabassar the gouernour of Iudea.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand silver cups, basins of silver for the sacrifices, nine and twentie vials, of golde thirtie, and of silver two thousand foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and silver, which they carped away, were five thousand, foure hundred, threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerxes King of the Persians ¶ Belenus, and Spithidates, and Cabellinus and Rathumus, and Beelsethminus, and Semellinus the secretarie, and others which were iopned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here folowing against them that dwell in Iudea and Ierusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD,

17 Thy seruants Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, & Semellinus the secretarie, and the rest of their counsell, and the Iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice,

18 Be it now therefore knotwen to our lord the king, that the Jewes which came by from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious And wicked citie, and build the market places, and make by the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the walles be finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, go forward, wee thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwayes rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And the Jewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the king, wee declare it, that if this citie be built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice,

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beelsethminus, & to Semellinus the secretarie, and to the rest of those that were iopned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that folowe.

26 I haue read the epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I comādet, that it should be sought out, and it was founde, that this citie hath alwayes sacrificed against kings,

27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and howe that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it be taken heed that no more be done,

29 And that those wicked things which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellinus the Secretarie & the rest, which were iopned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speede to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray,

31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius King of the Persians.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences. Nowe when Darius reigned, hee made a great feast to all his subiects, and to all those of his owne house, & to all the Princes of Meda and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernours and capitaines, & lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept, till he wakened againe.

the garde, keepers of the kings bobie, laide one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shal ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king that gaue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare purple, and to dunke in golde, and to sleepe in golde, and a chariot with bydes of golde, an head tye of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he that sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shalbe called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of King Darius,

9 And said, when þ king rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king and the thre Princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victorie be giuen, as it was appoynted.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but truly ouercometh all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and he read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of egiptia, and the gouernours and the capitaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls,

15 And laide him downe in the Councill, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the pong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first beganne, which had spoken of the strength of wine,

18 And said on this maner, O pee men, howe strong is wine ! it deceureth all men that dunke it.

19 It maketh the mind of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bond man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into top and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorow, nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernor, and causeth to speake at things by talents.

22 When men haue dunke, they haue no mind to loue either friends or brethren, and a litle after they draw out swordes, 23 But when they are from the wine, they do not remeber what they haue done.

24 O pee men, is not wine strongest, which compellereth to do such things ? and he held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a king. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of truth, which sentence is approued. 47 And his petition granted.

Then the second which had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O pee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them ?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth

all things, and is lord of them, so that they do all things that he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them: make war one against another, they doe it: if he sende them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines and walles & towres.

5 They kill & are killed, and do not passe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, aswell the spoiles as all other things,

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowed it againe, they reape it, & bring it to the king, and compel one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if hee bid, kill, they kill: if he say, spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, smite, they smite: if hee bid them, spake desolate, they make desolate: if hee bid, build, they build.

9 If hee bid, cut off, they cut off: if hee bid, plant, they plant.

10 So al his people, and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drunketh, & sleepech.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one go and do his owne busines, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O pee men, howe should not the king be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed ! So he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the thirde which had spoken of women and of the truth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O pee men, neither the mightie king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them of hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue bozned the king, & all the people which beare rule by sea & by land.

16 Euen of them they were borne, and they nourished them which planted the vines of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments and make men honourable, neither can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and silver, or any goodly thing, do they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Do they not leaue all those things and giue themselves wholly vnto her, & gaze, & gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then gold or silver, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, & his owne countrey, and is iopned with his wife.

21 And for the woman hee ioparbeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother nor countrey.

22 Therefore by this ye may knowe that the women beare rule ouer you: doe ye not labour and trauaile, and giue and bring all to the woman?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kill & to sleale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon rivers, 24 And hee seeth a lion & goeth in darkenesse, & when hee hath stolen, rauished and spoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea,

for, pounds.

26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruantes for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women,

28 Now therefore doe pou not beleue me: is not the King great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saue him and I name, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Baccus, sitting on the right hand of the King,

30 And she tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and stroke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if shee laughed at him he laughed: and if shee were angry with him, he did flatter her, that he might be reconciled with her.

32 Now then, O pee men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King and the Princes looked one vpon another, and he began to speake of the truely.

34 O pee men, are not women stronger: great is the earth, and the heauen is high, and the sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not he great that maketh these things: therefore the truely is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for truely, and the heauen blesteth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no truely in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But truely doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and ener.

39 With her there is no receiving of persons nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and absteineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, & she is the strength and the kings doine and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of truely.

41 So he ceased to speake, & then all the people cried and said, Truely is great and strongest.

42 Then the King said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and we will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue liberty to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he said to the King, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest thy kingdom,

44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vowe to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And now, O lord the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I re- quire therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 ¶ Then King Darius rising vp, killed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, & all that were with him, which went by to build Ierusalem.

48 And hee wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria, and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Jewes, which went by out of the kingdom vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no prince nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Jewes which they held,

51 And that euery peece there should bee giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents untill it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings by on the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuentene) other ten talents to uery peece.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges, and the Priests garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Levites their charges untill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And hee sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, & whatsoever Cyrus had commaunded to doe, he also commanded to do it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, hee lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen, 59 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, & of thee is wisdom, and of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed bee thou which hast giuen mee wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So heeooke the letters, & went out and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedom and libertie.

63 To goe by and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his name is renowned, and they reioiced with instruments of musike and ioi seuen daies.

46 And the Priestes and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Ierusalem and in the countrey, and the holy fingers and the porters, and all Israel in their villages.

47 ¶ But * when the seventh moneth was neere, & when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedec and his brethren the Priestes, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren rising vp, made ready the altar of the God of Israel.

49 To offer burnt offerings upon it according as it is written in the booke of Moses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they blessed the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and hated them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and evening.

Leuit. 23.34.

51 They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is * ordeined in the Lawe, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requisite.

52 And afterwarde, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths and of the newe moneths and of all holy feastes.

53 ¶ And all * they which had made any bowe to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seventh moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meate and drinke with gladnesse.

55 And charets to the Sidonians & to those of Tyrus to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which shoulde be brought by flotes to the haven of Ioppe, according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

56 And in the second peere and seconde moneth came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, and their brethren, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all they that came out of the captiuitie into Ierusalem.

57 And * layd the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second peere, after their returne into Iudea and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie peere olde ouer the workes of the Lord, and Iesus and his sonne, and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of || Shasbiabon with the sonnes of Ioda, the sonne of || Eliadun, with their sonnes and brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priestes stood clothed with their long garments with muscull instruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of || Asaph with cymbals, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sing with loude voyce songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glory is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with loude voyce, praying the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priestes and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients, which had seene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, & many with trumpets and ioy cryed with loude voyce,

65 So that the people coulde not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda, and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noyse of trumpets it was,

67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they coming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families, saide vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord, as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of || Asbassar, king of the || Assyrians, which brought vs higher.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Iesus, & the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them. It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to builde an house to the Lord our God.

in Judea and Jerusalem diligently, as it is commanded in the Lawe of the Lord,

14 And carpe the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Jerusalem, which I and my friends have vowed: also all the golde and silver, which shall be found in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Jerusalem,

15 With that which is given of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Jerusalem, as well silver as golde, for bullockes, and rammes, and lambes, and things therunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord upon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jerusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will doe with the golde or silver, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are given thee for the use of the Temple of thy God, which is in Jerusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Jerusalem.

19 And what other things soever thou shalt remember for the use of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt give it out of the Kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes have commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoever Esdras, the Priest and reasder of the Lawe of the highest God, shall send for, they shoulde give it him with all speede, even to the summe of an hundred talents of silver,

21 And likewise unto an hundred coxes of corne, and an hundred pieces of wine and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the highest God, according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not upon the kingdome of the King and of his finnes.

23 Also to pou it is commaunded, that of none of the Priests or Levites, or holy singers or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe be taken, nor that any have power to take them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wis-dome of God, ordaine iudges and governours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Lawe of God and the King, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the Scribe saide, Blessed be the onely Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glori-fie his house which is in Jerusalem.

27 And hath honoured me before the King, and the counsellors, and all his friends and governours.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe with me.

gard against our enemies,

51 Because we had said to the king, that the power of our Lord should be with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore wee prayed our Lord againe, according to these things, whom wee found favourable.

¶ Or, Serabias.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, Elechias and Adanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the silver and the golde, and the holy vessels of the House of our Lord, which the King and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, six hundredth and fiftie talents of silver, and silver vessels of an hundredth talents, and an hundredth talents of golde.

56 And twentie golden basins, & twelue vessels of bras, of fine bras shyning like golde.

57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the silver is a vowe to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch and keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the silver and the golde, and the vessels, and carried them to Jerusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Ther, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Jerusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our journey from all enemies. So wee came to Jerusalem.

61 And three daies bring past there, in the fourth day the silver that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the house of our Lord to Sharnoth the Priest, the sonne of Ioue.

¶ Or, Maris, moeth the sonne of Ioue.
¶ Or, Noedia, sonnes sonne of Bannus.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Josabad the sonne of Jethu, and Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes fourescore and thirtie.

65 Lambs thescofe and twelue, twelue goats for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelopia and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

Exa. 9. 1.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priests, and the Leuites haue not separated fro them the strange people of the land, 68 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, and Cherites, and Pherezites, and Ienussites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holp serbe is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holp garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my beard, and late me downe sorrowfull, and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I late very sad till the evening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes togne, and the holp garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched forth mine handes to the Lord, 73 And said, O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Pea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers, wee with our brethren, with our Kings and Priests haue bene giuen vp to the Kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And nowe howe great hath thy mercie bene, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reuile to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, wee were not left of our God, but hee gaue vs fauour besoye the Kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and saye by Zion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Jerusalem.

81 And nowe, O Lord, what shall wee say, hauing these things: for wee haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the handes of thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

82 ¶ Because the land, which ye goe to inherite, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse.

83 Therefore nowe pee shall not ioyne their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes.

84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with the for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, O Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes.

86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe vs with the uncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest not thou bee angrie with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leane his roots, nor seebe, nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a root left, even vnto this day.

89 Beholde, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can wee endure before thee for these things.

90 ¶ And as Edras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay upon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men & women, and young children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of Ieiel the sonnes of Israel, crying out, said, O Edras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: we haue taken in marriage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lords to put away all our wives, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the Lawe of the Lords, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it apperteyne, and wee are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Edras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus: and they swaie.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Edras had read the law for the strange wives, they promise to put them away.

Then Edras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Joannan the sonne of Eliash,

2 And being lodged there, hee did eate no bread nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscated to the Temple, and hee cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda & Benjamin, came together within three dayes, into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Edras arose and said to them, We haue sinned: for wee haue married strange wives, so that we haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Nowe therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, & from the strange wives.

10 Then all the multitude cried out and said with a loud voyce, We will doe as thou hast said.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that wee cannot stande without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wives of our families, tarry:

13 And let the Priests and Judges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appealed the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Jonathas Isaacs sonne, and Ezechias sonne of Ithacan were appointed concerning these things, and Holotham and Sabbateus did helpe them.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Edras the Priest also chose him certeyne men, chiefe of the families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an end of the things pertaining to them: he had married strange wives in the first day of the first moneth.

18 And there were founde of the Priests, which had married strange wives, 19 Of the sonnes of Iesus, the sonne of Joseder, and of his brethren ¶ Haphias, and Eleazar, and Josibus, and ¶ Jonadan.

20 Who also gaue their handes to cast out their wives, and offered a ramme for their reconciliation in their purgation.

21 And of the sonnes of Emmer, ¶ Ananias, and Zabebus, and Canes, and Samirus, and Hieriel, and Azarias.

22 And of the sonnes of ¶ Phasit, Elionas, Haphias, Emnelus, and Nathanael, and Ozielus, and Talias.

27 Of the sonnes of ¶ Elaphathamas, Zacharias, and Hierielas, and Hieremoth, and Medias.

28 And of the sonnes of ¶ Xamoth, Eliabas, Elchimus, Dhomus, Jarimoth, and Sabatus, and Sardus.

29 Of the sonnes of ¶ Webai, Joannes, and Ananias, and Josabad, and Emathas.

30 Of the sonnes of ¶ Hani, Dalmus, Hasmuchus, Jedatias, Jafabus, Jafael, and Hieremoth.

31 And of the sonnes of ¶ Abdi, Maathus, Hoolias, Laccimus, and Haidus, & Hathanias, and Selchel, and Bahinus, & Hanaasas.

32 And of the sonnes of Anias, Elionas, and Meas, and Helihas, and Sabbeus, and Simon a Cholimite.

33 And of the sonnes of ¶ Alom, Alcanus, and Hathanias, and Hamaia, Eliphalet, and Hanaas, and Semer.

34 And of the sonnes of ¶ Hani, Jeremias, Doudus, Dmatrus, Inel, Hama, and Hacharias, and Amos, Carabason, and Enathus, and Haminatananus, Eliafis, Daimus, 37 And the Priests and the Levites dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seventh moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.

38 ¶ Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East,

39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that hee should bring the Lawe of Moyses, which had bene given by þe Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Esdras the chiefe priest the Lawe to all the multitude, both man & woman, and to all the Priests, that they might heare the Lawe the first day of the seventh moneth.

41 And hee read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Lawe.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Lawe, stood upon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stood by him ¶ Matgathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Durias, Ezecias, Balasamus, at his right hand, 44 And at his left hand ¶ Phadaius, and Sait, Melchias, Nothafaphus, Phabarias.

45 Then Esdrasooke the booke of the Lawe before the multitude (for hee sawe honourally before them all)

46 And they all stood upright when he expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mighty God of hostes.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Jesus, and ¶ Anus, and Sarabias, ¶ Or, Bani, and Abinus, and Jacobus, Sabaraias, Nistamas, Paaiamas, and Galtas, Azarias, and Joazabbus, and Ananias, and Biatas the Levites lift up their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord, 49 And taught the Lawe of the Lord, and stood also earnestly upon the reading.

50 Then sayde ¶ Aththarates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and Reader, and to the Levites, ¶ Or, Nehemias, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy unto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Lawe.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fatte meates, and drinke the sweet drinckes, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not sone: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Levites commanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eat and drinke, and to reioyce, & to give presents to them that had not, and to make good chere.

55 For they were not filled with the wordes wherewith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

II. Esdras.

CHAP. I.

8 The people is reproosed for their unfaithfulness. 30 God will haue another people, if these will not be reformed.

¶ He second booke of the Prophet * Esdras, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sadanias, the sonne of Sabdor, the sonne of Achitob,

2 The sonne of Achias, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Heli, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Abie, the sonne of Sammoth, the sonne of Arna, the sonne of Azias, the sonne of Borsith, the sonne of Abisai, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar,

3 The sonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Levi) which Esdras was prisoner in the land of Esdres, in the reigne of Artaxerxes king of Persia.

4 * And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Goe, and shewe my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against me, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten mee, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue provoked me vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Wilt thou off them the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

9 Howe long shall I forbear them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

10 * Many kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: ¶ Pharaon with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe. Exod. 14. 28.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whom ye haue taken & slaine, and toge their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will requen, sayth the Lord.

33 Thus saith the Almightye Lord, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the wilde doth the fawltie.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleene me though they heare me not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I command them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 * I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleene the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glorie, & see the people that come from the East.

Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandements by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, sayth vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you by with gladnesse, but with sorrow and heavinesse haue I lost you: for yee haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.

5 And thee, O father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my covenant.

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spople, that their kindred be not continued.

7 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my covenant.

8 Doe vnto thee, Misra: for thou hidest the vnrightheous in thee: O wicked people, remember * what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorrah.

9 Whose land is wred with clouds of pitch, and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almightye Lord.

10 * Thus saith the Lord vnto Eldras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get mee glorie by them, & giue them the euermolting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of opiment: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.

13 Go ye, and ye shall receive it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heaven and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I line, sayth the Lord.

15 Spother, embrace thy children, and bring them by with gladnesse: make their feet as fall as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, will I raise by from their places, & bring the out of the granes: for I haue known my name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Elai and Terrinie to helpe thee, by whose counsel I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers frutes, 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, & seuen mightie mountaines, wherupon they grow roses and lilies, where by I will fill thy children with top.

20 Execute iudice for the widow: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked, 21 Heale the wounded, and sicke : laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blinde come into the light of my clearenesse.

23 * Wherefoeuer thou findest the dead, take them and burie them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Hide still, O my people, and rest : for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Flourish thy children, O thou good nurse: stablish their seete.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not wearie: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse cometh, other shall weepe and be sorrowfull, but thou shalt be merie, and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enue thee, and shall doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine handes shall curre thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shewe mercy vnto them: for I am mercie full saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shewe mercy vnto them: for my foundaimes runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Elias receiued a charge of the Loide vpon the mount Horeb, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commaundement of the Loide.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O ye heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Waite for your shepheard, who shall giue you euertlasting rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the ende of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdom: for the euertlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadowe of this world: receiue the ioye of your gloyp: I testifie my fauour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thanks vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdom.

38 Rise and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the sealt of the Loide, 39 Which are departed from the shadow of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Loide.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Lawe of the Loide.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Loide, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 * I Elias saue vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

43 And in the middes of them there was a pong man higher in stature than them all, and vpon euery one of their heads he set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much maruelled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and said, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered, and said vnto me, These be they that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the name of God: nowe are they crownded, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What pong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 He answered, and said vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then beganne I greatly to commend them, that had stand so strongly for the name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel saide vnto me, For thy way, and tell my people, what, and howe great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

C H A P. III.

4 The wondrous workes, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Esaias maruaileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

1 In the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, Ias I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, & my thoughtes came vnto mine heart.

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwell at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was sore mooued, so that I began to speake fearefull wordes to the most High, and said,

4 O Loide, Loide, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commaundement vnto the people,

5 * And a body vnto Adam, without soule, Gen. 2. 7. who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee,

6 And leddest him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, & enter the earth brought forth.

Or, went forward.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commaundes ment to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediately thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kinreds out of number.

8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commaundments. Gen. 6. 12.

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon these that dwell in this world, and destroyedst them. Gen. 7. 10.

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam, 1. Pet. 3. 20. Per thou ledest one, euen * Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwell vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of the children, people, and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Noe when thou liued wickedly before thee, * thou diddest chuse thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham. Gen. 12. 1. Gen. 17. 5.

14 Whom thou loudest, and vnto whom onely thou shewdest thy will.

15 And madest an euertlasting covenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede. Gen. 21. 2. 3. Gen. 25. 23.

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau, * and diddest

Exod. 19. 1.
dent. 4. 10.
17 And when thou leddest his seede out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them by to mount Sina,

18 And inclinedst the heauens, and bowedst downe the earth, & didst moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and diddest astonish the world.

19 And thy gloz went thowolue fource gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the lawe vnto the seede of Jacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Per tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy lawe might bring forth fruite in them.

Gene. 3. 6.

21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenesse iopned with the lawe in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the peres were brought to an ende, * till thou biddest raise thee by a seruant called Dauid, and 7. 5. 13.

24 * Whom thou commaundedst to builde a cite vnto thy Name, to call vpon ther therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many peeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee,

26 Following the wapes of Adam & all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy cite ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and saue their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth peere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saue, howe thou sufferedst them that sime, & sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and persecuted thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue howe this commeth to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleened thy testimonies, as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruite: for I haue gone here and there throughout the heathen, and I see them florish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednesse nowe in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the worlde, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath to kept thy commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely finde y Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

C H A P. II II.

2 The Angel reproveh Estras, because he seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

And the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And saide, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this worlde, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wapes of the Highest.

3 Then saide I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and saide, I am sent to shewe thee three wapes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee.

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shewe thee also the way that thou desirest to see, and I will shewe thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I saide, Tell on, my Lord. Then saide he vnto me, Goe thy way, weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and saide, what man is borne, that can doe that, which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he saide vnto me, If I should aske thee howe deepe dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or howe great springes are in the beginning of the depth, or howe great springes are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Veradventure thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But nowe haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answer of them.

10 He saide moeouer vnto me, Thine owne things, and such as are growen by with thee, canst thou not knowe?

11 Howe shouldest thou be able to comprehend the wapes of the Highest, and nowe outwardly in the corrupt worlde, to vnderstand the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then saide I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to knowe wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and saide, * I came Iudg. 9. 8.

counsell,

14 And saide, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell and saide, Come, let vs goe by and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the land stood by and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and saide, Verily it is a foolishly purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and saide, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the

the wood, and the sea for his floods, so * they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are aboue the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and saide, I beseeche thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of thine high things, but of such as wee daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a re- proche to the heathen, and for what cause the people whome thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the lawe of our fa- thers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 Why wee are tossed to and fro through the world as the grasshoppers, and our life is a very feare, and wee are not thought worthy to obtaine mercie.

25 But what wilt he do to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he me, and said, The more thou searcest, the more thou shalt maruile: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this worlde is full of vnrightheousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euil is sowne, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euil nowe that is sowne, bee not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euil is sowne, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sowne with good.

30 For the come of euil seede hath bin sowne in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath he brought vp vnto this time? And howe much shall hee bring forth vntill the harvest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, howe much fruite of wickednesse the copie of euil seede bringeth forth, 32 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe, which are without number, how great an harvest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, Howe, and when shall these things come to passe? wheresfore are our peeres fewe and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Hast not to bee aboue the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to be aboue him, though thou endeavour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous ask the question of these things in their chambers, saying, Howe long shall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and sayde, When the number of the seedes is filled in pou: for hee hath weighed the world in the ballance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be mooued or shaken, til the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for one sake peraduenture the har- vest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered mee, and sayd, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when shee hath ful- filled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer withm her.

41 Then said I, yea, Lord, she cannot. And hee sayde vnto mee, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as the that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the crauell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them,

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and sayde, If I haue founde grace in thy sight, and if it bee possible, and if I be merite therefore,

45 Shewe mee whether there bee more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I knowe, but what is to come, I knowe not.

47 And he sayd vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expownde thee this by ex- ample.

48 So I stoode, and beholde, a hot burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before me a watrie cloude, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the storme raine was past, the dyops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the dyoppes, and as fire excedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand, and the dyops and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and sayde, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? O what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me, and sayd, Of the tokens whereof thou askest mee, I can tell thee a parte: but I am not sent to hee thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

C H A P. V.

1 In the latter times truth shall bee hidde. 10 Un- righteousnesse and wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is reuelled, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

N Euertheless concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall bee taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth shall bee hid, and the land shall bee barren from faith,

2 And * iniquitie shall bee increased more then thou hast seene nowe, or hast heard in time past.

3 And it shall come to passe that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the lande desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou shalt see after the thirde trumpet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, and the spoone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be mooued.

6 And he shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, & the soules shall change place.

Mat. 24. 12.

29 And when he talked with me, behold, I looked a little vpon him beſore whom I ſtood.

30 And theſe wordes ſaid he vnto me, I am come to ſhew thee þ time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and ſaſt ſeuen daies more, I wil tel thee moze things, & greater then theſe, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard beſore the highſt: ſurely the mighty hath ſeene thy righteous dealing: he hath ſeene alſo thy chaſtite, which thou haſt kept ſince thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he ſent me to ſhew thee all theſe things, and to ſap vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haſte not in the vaine conſideration of the fiſt times, noꝝ make haſte to the latter times,

35 And after this I wept againe and ſaſted ſeuen daies in like maner, that I might fulfil the three weekes which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart bered with in me againe, and I began to ſpeake beſore the moſt High.

37 For my ſpirit was greatly ſet on fire, and my ſoule was in diſtreſſe.

38 And I ſaid, O Lord, thou ſpakeſt expreſſy in the fiſt creation (euen the fiſt day) and commandedſt * that the heauen & the earth ſhould be made, and the woꝝke followed thy woꝝd.

39 And then was there the ſpirit, and the darkneſſe was on euer ſide with ſilence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedſt thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treaſures, þ it might giue light to thy woꝝke.

41 Vpon the ſecond day thou createdſt the heavenly arie, and commandedſt it, that going betweene, it ſhould make a diuiſion betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine as ſhore, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commandedſt, that the waters ſhould be gathered together in the ſeuenth part of the earth: fire partes diſt thou by, and kept them to the intent that of theſe there ſhould be that ſhould ſerue thee, beſing ſeruen of God and riled.

43 Alſoone as thy woꝝde went forth, the woꝝke was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great and immerable fruite did ſpying vp, and many and diuers pleaſures for the taſte, and flowers of vncchangeable colour, and odours of a moſt wonderfull ſnell, and theſe things were created the third day.

45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdſt the light of the Sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the Starres, 46 And gaueſt them a charge, to do * ſeruiſe euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fiſt day thou ſaideſt vnto the ſeuenth part * where the waters were gathered, that it ſhould bring forth beaſtes, as ſoules and fiſhes: and it was ſo.

48 For the burnme waters, and without liſe brought forth liuing things at the commaundement of God, that the nations might prayſe thy wonderous woꝝke.

49 Then diſideſt thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledſt Behemoth, and the other thou calledſt Annathan,

50 And diſideſt ſeparate the one from the oꝝ ther: for the ſeuenth part, where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gaueſt one part, which was byed by the third day, þ he ſhould dwell in the ſame part, wherein are a thouſand hills.

52 But vnto Annathan thou gaueſt the ſeuenth part, that is wet, and haſt prepared him to deuour what thou wilt, & when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the ſixt day thou gaueſt commaundement vnto the earth, that beſore the it ſhould bring forth beaſtes, cattell and creeping things.

54 And beſides this Adam, whom thou maideſt loꝝde ouer all the woꝝkes which thou haſt created, of him come we all, and the people alſo, whom thou haſt ſpoken.

55 All this haue I ſhoken beſore thee, O Lord, becauſe thou haſt created the woꝝld for our ſakes.

56 As for the other people, which alſo come of Adam, thou haſt declared them that they are nothing beſore thee, but be like vnto ſpette, and haſt compared their riches vnto a droppe that falleth from a beſſell.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, theſe heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be loꝝdes ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou haſt called the fiſt boꝝne, the onely begotten, and thy ſeruent loꝝer) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the woꝝlde then bee created for our ſakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in poſſeſſion? oꝝ how long ſhall we ſuffer theſe things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie, 12 God aduerſityſeth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Chriſt. 32 The reſurrexion and laſt iudgement. 43 After the which all corruption ſhall ceaſe. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true liſe. 62 The mercies and goodneſſe of God.

And when I had made an ende of theſe wordes, there was ſent vnto me an Angel, which had bene ſent downe to me the night afore.

2 And he ſapd vnto mee, By, Eſdras, and heare the wordes that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I ſapd, Speake on, my God. Then ſapd he vnto me, The ſea is ſet in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great,

4 But preſuppoſe that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,

5 Who could goe into the ſea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? If he went not thowow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is alſo another thing: a citie is builded, and ſet vpon a byoad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwixt the fire & the water, ſo that there could but one man go there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thowow the perill beſore it, howe could hee receiue his inheritance?

Gen. 1.14, 15
Luk. 4.19.

Gen. 1.20.

10r, Enuch.

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then saide he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrowe, full of sorowe and trouble: they are but fewe and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fowle world were wide and free, and brought immortall fruite.

14 If then they that are liuing labour not to enter by these strait and darke things, they cannot attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquierest thou the selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou mortuall, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then said I, O Lord, loyde, * seeing thou hast ordered in thy lawe, that the righteous should inherite these things, and that the vngodly should perish.

18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he saide vnto me, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Lawe of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue, to auoide punishment.

22 Nevertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things.

23 And deceived themselves by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his lawe, & refused his promises: they haue vnfaihtfully broken his ordinances, & haue not performed his workes.

25 And therefore, Eldras, vnto the empyre are empyre things, and to the full, full things.

26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the hyde shall appeare, and he shall come forth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoener shall escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce with him foure hundred peeres.

29 After these same peeres shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the olde silence for seven dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seven dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those, that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and inferies shall be inly away, and long suffering shall haue an ende.

34 Justice onely shall continue: the truely shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The wycke shall followe, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deedes shall be of force, and vngodlinesse shall beare no more rule.

36 Then saide I, * Abraham prayed first for Gen. 18. 23. the Sodomites, and * Ioyles for the fathers Exo. 32. 3. 18. that sinned in the wilderness.

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz and Samuell.

38 And * Dauid for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie, 2. Sa. 24. 17. 2. Chr. 6. 14.

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, 1. King. 17. 21. & 18.

40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers other for many. 42. 45. 2. King. 19. 15

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect followe also now?

42 Then he answered me, and saide, This present life is not the ende: oft times honour is reuered in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: incontinencie shall be cut off: righteousness shall growe vp, and the vertue shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victorie.

46 I answered then, and saide, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he should not haue sinned.

47 For what profite is it for men in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after deaht to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in Rom. 5. 18. that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

49 For what profite is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortal life, when we doe the workes that bring death?

50 And that an everlasting hope should be promised vs, seeing that we betide our selues to deadly vancities?

51 And that there should be appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall paradise should be shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, whererin is safetie and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuersant in displeasing places)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue beene, shall be abscinded, abstained, should shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then bakenesse?

56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighreously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and saide, This is the maner of the bartell, which man, that is voyne in the earth, shall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he should suffer as thou hast said; but if he get the victorie, he should receiue the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life, whereof Esdras spake Deut. 30. 19. vnto the people, while he liued, saying, *Chuse thee life that thou mapest liue.

60 Fewertheless, they beleued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauynesse should not so be to their destruction, as iop should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then and said, I knowe, Lord, that the most high is called mercifull, in that he hath mercie vpon them, which are not yet come to that worlde,

63 And that hee hath pittie on those that walke in his lawe,

64 And that * he is patient; for he long suffereth those that haue sinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberrall: for he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that hee is of great mercie: for he ouercommeth in mercie those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the worlde could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also: for if hee gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euill might be relished from their wickednes, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine aliu.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgauē not those that he healed with his voyde, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peradventure be very fewe left in an innumerable multitude.

C H A P. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayeth for him and for his people. 39 The promise of saluation to the iust. 55 The destruction of the vniuers.

And he answered me, saying, The most high made this worlde for many, but the worlde to come for fewe.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthy matter to make pots, but little dust that golde cometh of, so is it with the worke of this worlde.

3 * There be many created, but fewe shall be saved. Mat. 20. 16.

4 Then answered I, and said, Then shall I be by the wit, Esdras my soule, and denounce vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may entreate thee, that thou mapest giue seede vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruit of it, to wherby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set himselfe for many?

7 For thou art alone, & we all are one worke, manshipp of thine hands as thou hast said.

8 For when the body is fashioned nether in the wombe, and thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preferred by fire and water, and the worke created by thee, doeth suffer nine moneths the creature, which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that continueth, and that which is contained, shall both be preferred, and when time is come, the wombe, being preferred, delivereth the things that grewe in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the members, euen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breasts, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, till thou disposest it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringest it by with thy righteousnesse, nurrest it in thy lawe, and reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou sleapest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy commaundement, that the thing also which is made, might be preferred.

15 Nowe therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in generall thou shalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am loy,

16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israell, for whom I am wofull, and for Jacob, for whose sake I am grieved.

17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my selfe, as for them: for I see our faultes that dwell in the land.

18 But I haue heard the hidden comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, and vnderstand my wordes, which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the wordes of Esdras, before he was taken by:

20 O Lord, thou liuest for ever, which bearest holdest from above that which is about, and in the ayre,

21 Whose throne is ineffimable, and his gloze incomprehensible, before whom the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fir, whose worde is true, and sayings stedfast, whose commaundement is strong, and gouernement terrible,

23 Whose looks byeth by the depthes, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witness.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature;

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answer.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will,

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue lined like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clerely taught thy law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beastes, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glosp.

31 For we and our fathers haue all the same sicknesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt be called mercifull towards vs which haue no works of righteousnesse.

33 For the righteous, which haue lapde by many good works, let them receiue the reward of their owne deeds.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortal generation, that thou shouldest bee to grieued towards it?

35 * For verely there is no man among them that be bozne, but hee hath done wickedly, nor any that doeth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Ioyde, thy righteousnesse and thy goodnesse shall be praised, if thou bee mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good works.

37 I Then answered he me, and sayd, Some things had thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy words it shalbe.

38 For I will not verely consider the works of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, & I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation & the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the ground, & planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sown, cometh not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saved.

42 I answered then and sayde, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perissheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perissheth man, which is created with thine handes, and thou art called his patterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Be not wroth with vs, O Ioyde, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, & said, The things present are for the present, & the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art faire off, that thou shouldest loue thy creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawen neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrightheous.

48 In this also thou art maruillous before the Higheth,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becometh thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe woorthie to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them, that shall lue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great vnde.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glosp for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto pou is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnesse made ready: the cite is builded, and rest is prepared, perfect goodnesse and absolute wisdom.

53 The roote of euill is sealed by from pou: the weaknesse and moth is destroyed from pou, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are banished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitye.

55 Therefore alke thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish:

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his lawe and forsooke his wayes.

57 Wherefore, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 * Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knewe that they should die. Psal. 14. 1. and 53. 1.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for pou: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God woulde not that man should not perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the name of him that made them, and are vnrightheous vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a fewe like thee: then I answered, and said,

63 Beholde now, O Ioyde: thou hast shewed me the many wondrous, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

11 But have abhorred my lawe, while they were per in libertie, and when they had perleasure of amendment, and would not understand but despised it,

12 They must bee taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more carefull, to knowe holwe the vngodly shall be punished, but inquire howe the righteous shall be saved, and whose the world is, for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I have afore saide that which I say nowe and will speake it hereafter, that there be many more of them which perish, then of them that shalbe * saved.

16 As the flood is greater then a dyop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the feede: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared a world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now time, no man spake against me.

19 For then enery one obeyed, but nowe the manners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perperuall feede, and by a lawe, wherout they cannot rid themselves.

20 So I considered the world, and beholde, there was perill, because of the deuites, that were sprung up into it.

21 Yet when I sawe it, I spared it greatly, and have kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are boyme in vaine: and let my grape bee kept, and my plant, which I have dressed with great labour.

23 I feared the lest, if thou wilt cease seven daies more (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the flowers of the field, and eate no fleshy, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely.

25 And pray vnto the most High continually: then will I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as hee had commanded mee, into the field, which is called Wadath, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eate of the herbes of the field, and the meat of the fowle sacrificed me.

27 And after seven daies, as I sate vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and so say,

29 O loyde, when thou wouldest shew thy selfe vnto vs, * thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wilderness, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And especially spakest vnto them, saying, Heare mee, O Israel, and marke my wordes, thou seed of Jacob.

31 For beholde, I sowe my lawe in you, that it may bring forth fruite in you, and that you may be honoured by it for ever.

32 But our fathers which received the lawe, kept it not, neither observed thine ordinances, neither did the fruite of the lawe appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 * For they that received it, perished because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiveth seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessel meat and drinke, if that perish wherem a thing is sown, or wherem any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sown, or is put therein, and the things that are received, must perish: so the things that are received, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it cometh not to passe.

36 For we that have received the lawe, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiveth it:

37 But the lawe perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, and vpon the right side * I sawe a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voice, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had althes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherem I was occupied, and turned me vnto her,

40 And sayd vnto her, Wherefore wepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?

41 And she sayd vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase my sorow: for I am sory bereaved in my minde, and brought deep sorow.

42 Then I sayd vnto her, What aplethly thee? tell me.

43 And she said vnto me, I thy servant have bene barren, and have had no child, having an husband thirtie peeres.

44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirtie peeres I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie peeres God heard mee thine handmaide, and looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, & gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell.

47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, come mince together.

But when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all murthered the lightes, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fledde, and am come into this field

felbe as thou feest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, untill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and said,

6 Thou foolish woman above all other, feest thou not our heauinesse, and what cometh vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull and is for afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing we be all now in heauinesse, and make our moine (for wee be all sorrowfull) art thou sorry for one sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and she shall tell thee that it is thee which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that growe vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, she that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sorry but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruite of my wombe, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the manner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast boyne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruite vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Nowe therefore withholde thy sorowe in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which cometh vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receivest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she saide vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said,

20 Doe not so, but be counselled: for holm man ny falles hath Sion: Use of good comfort because of the sorowe of Ierusalem.

21 For thou feest that our sanctuarie is laide waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our Psalterion fainteth, and the song cealeth, and our mirth is banished away, and the light of our candlesticke is quenched, and the Arke of our covenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, and our Lewites are caried into captivity, and our virgins are defiled, and our widues ransomed, and our righteous men spoiled, and our children destroyed, and our pong men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weak,

23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almighty may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beaurp shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was affraide of her, and mused what it might be,

26 And behold, immediately she cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noise of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I affraide, and cryed with a loud voyce, and said, 28 Where is Daniel * which caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and in mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And hee, I lap as one dead, and mine understanding was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand and comforted me, and let me vpon my seate, and said vnto me,

31 What apleth thee? and why is thine understanding bereft? and the understanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorry?

32 And I saide, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done * according vnto thy wordes: I went into the fildes, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then saide he vnto me, Stand by manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnes.

35 For I haue seene that I knewe not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 Whis mine understanding decreied, or doeth my mind, being haue, erre?

37 Nowe therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shewe thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and saide, Heare me, and I will enforeme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art affraide: for the most High hath reuelled many secret things vnto thee.

39 Hee hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sorry continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the understanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganest to comfort her:

42 But nowe feest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas she tolde thee of the beauty of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, she is Sion: and where as she tolde thee (euen she which thou feest nowe as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that she said vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that there was euen thirtie yeeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon builded it againe.

Chap. 4. 2.

Chap. 5. 20.

the citie, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And where as she told thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Jerusalem.

48 But where as she tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when she came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganest to comfort her: of these things which haue chaunced, these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For nowe the most High seeth, that thou art foy in thy mind, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearenesse of her gloyp, and the fairenesse of her beaultie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commaunded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart bee afrayd, but goe in, and see the beaultie and greatnes of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed above many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remaine here.

59 And the most High shal shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another, as he had commaunded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an eagle coming forth of the sea, & of her feathers. 37 Of a lion coming out of the forest.

Then saue I a dreame, and beholde, there came vp from the sea an eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I saw, & behold, he spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the aire blew on her, and gathered themselves.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became like the feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the mids was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreover, I saw that the eagle flew with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, & no man spake agaynst her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I sawe also that the eagle stode by vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not all together: keepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preferred for the last,

10 After the lesse, I saw that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the mids of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood up, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, & said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, & then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and behold, in proccesse of time the feathers that followed, stode by on the right side, that they might rule also. & some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set by, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, & behold, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the eagles body, but two heads that rested, & five wings.

24 Then saue I also that two wings denuded themselves from the side, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the sourse continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnderwings thought to set by themselves, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set by, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselves to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the mids: for that was greater then the two.

30 Then I sawe that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them, that were with it, & did eate by the two vnder wings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, & bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the right right side denouced it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which said vnto me, Looke befoze thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I sawe, and beholde, as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I sawe that he sent out a mans voyce vnto the Eagle, and spake, and said,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Yet not thou that that of 4 foure beastes remaine, whō I made to reigne in my world, that by them the end of tines might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past: a hath power ouer the world with great fearefulness, & ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with decrees?

41 For thou hast not iudged the earth with truth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled 4 mecke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued spars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruite, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme,

43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the sight.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proud times, and beholde, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious beards, and thy wicked claws, nor all thy vaine body, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, and that the map hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

C. H. A. P. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

And when the Lion spake these wordes to the Eagle, I sawe,

2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set by themselves to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of bypries.

3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and traunce of my minde, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit,

4 Doe, this hast thou done vnto me in that thou searest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Doe, yet am I weak in my minde, and very weak in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now, I will beseech the most High, that he will comfort me vnto the ende,

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, I have found grace befoze thy sight, and if I am in such wise, chee be many others, and these prayes in words be come by before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and thou me the former the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou hast perfectly reuolued vnto me.

9 Seeing thou hast iudged me woorthie to shewe me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The Eagle whom thou sawest come by from the sea, is the kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. Dan. 7. 7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, that there shall rise by a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared aboue all kingdomes that were befoze it.

14 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another,

15 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

17 As for the voice that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not go out from the heads, but from the middes of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great strife, and it shalbe in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder wings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him, that arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their peeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time cometh, there shall be sure kept a time, whyles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the ende.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes that the most High raise by three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the domination of the earth.

24 And of this, that dwelt threm, with much grace aboue all those that were befoze them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle.

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednes, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sworde shall denoue them.

28 For the sworde of the one shall denoue the other: but at the last shall be slayn by the sworde himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnder wings, that were attached to the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation,

30 These are they whom the most High hath repleyned for their ende, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising by out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her by right business with all the wordes that thou sawest.

32 This is the vnder which the most High hath becomen.

hath kept for them, & for their wickednesse unto the end, and he shall repproue them, and cast before them their spoiles.

33 For hee shall see them aloue in the iudge-ment, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For he will deliuer the residue of imp prople by affliction, which are preferred vpon imp bojders, and hee shall make them topfull, vntill the coming of the day of iudgement, whereof
I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast bene teete to know this secret of the most high.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene in a booke, and bidde them,

38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seuen dapes mo, that it may be shewed thee whatsoeuer is plea-seth the most high to declare vnto thee: & with that he went his way.

40 And whē all the people perceiued, that the seuen dapes were past, and I not come againe into the cite, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me,
and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? of what es-ill haue we done against thee, that thou forsake kest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as an haueu of thy preferred from the tempest.

43 Wee not the evils which are come vnto vs, sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it bene for vs, that wee had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For wee are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a loud voyce. Then answered I them, and said,

46 We of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie thou house of Jacob.

47 For the most high hath you in remembrance, & the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for mee I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke interce for the lowe estate of your sanctuary.

49 And now go your way home euerie man, and after these dapes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the ci-tie, as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the fildes seuen dapes, as he had commaunded me, and did eate one of the flowers of the field, and had my meate of the herbes in those dapes.

CHAP. XIII.

3 The vision of a wind coming forth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His properties & power against enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AN D after the seuen dapes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a wind from the sea, and it moued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, & behold, there was a mighty man with the thousands of heauen: & when he turned his countenance to looke, all things trembled: that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth saileth when it seeth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, fro the foure winds of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, he graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I sawe after these things, and beholde, all they which came to fight against him, were soze afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuerthelesse, when he saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, hee lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre,

10 But onely, as I sawe, he sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lippes the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, even this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, & fell with violence vpon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust & smell of smoke. When I sawe this, I was afraid.

12 Afterward sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with topfull countenance, and some with sad:
some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: & I was sicke through great feare, and abashed, and said,

14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee woorthie to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine understanding, Woe vnto them that shall bee left in those dapes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauiness.

18 Nowe understand I the things that are hid vp in the latter daies, which shal come both vnto them and to those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perill, and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that he that is in danger, should fall into these, and see the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloud out of the world.

21 Then answered he mee, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shew thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation.

23 He that shal beare the danger in that time, hee shal keepe himselfe. They that bee fallen into daunger, are such as haue workes and faith faith toward the most mightie.

24 Know therefore, that they which bee left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Whereas thou sawest a man coming by from the mids of the sea, 26 The same is he whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shall order them that are left behind.

27 ¶ And where as thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came a blast with fire and smoke,

28 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse he destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,

29 Beholde, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And he shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against an other, cite against cite, and place against place, * and nation against nation, and realme against realme.

Mat. 24. 7.

32 When this cometh to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my sonne be reueiled, whom thou sawest goe by as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man shall in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall bee gathered as one, as they that bee willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But he shall stand vpon the top of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all, being prepared & builded, as thou sawest the hill graven sooth without any hands.

37 And this my sonne shall rebuke the wicked inventions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest,

38 And into tormentes like to flame, wheres by they shall bee tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them, even by the Lawe, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him,

2. Cor. 17. 3.

40 Those are the ten tribes which were carried away captiues out of their owne land, * in the time of Dauid the King, whom Salmanaasar the king of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and carried them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counsell to themselves, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe sooth into a further countrey, where neuer mankind dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entered in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates.

Exod. 14. 27.
10. 3. 15. 16.

44 For the most High then shewed them signes, * and stayed the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.

10. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1.

45 For thow the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a pere and a halfe, and the same region is called ¶ Mesareth,

46 Then dwelt they there untill the latter time: and when they come sooth againe, 47 The most High shall hold still the springs of the riuer againe, that they may goe thow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that bee left behind of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee shall defend the people that remaine.

50 And then shall hee shew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore haue I seene the man coming by from the mids of the sea?

52 And hee said vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my sonne, or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightned.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne lawe, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee þ rewards with the most High: and after three other daies I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praying the most High for the wonders which hee did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, and such things as come in their seasons: & there I sate three daies.

CHAP. XIII.

3 How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgement.

Vpon the third day I sate vnder an oke, and beholde, there came sooth a voyce vnto me out of the bush, and said, Elias, Elias was.

2 And I said, Here am I, Lord, and stood by vpon my feete.

3 Then said he vnto mee, * In the bush I reueiled my selfe, and spake vnto ¶ Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt.

Eno. 3. 2. 8.

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long season.

5 And I told him many wonders, & shewed him the secretes of the times and the ende, and commanded him, saying,

6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay by in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt bee taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine henceforth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, untill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath lost his pouthy, and the times times begin to waere olde.

10 For the woyle is diuided into twelue partes, and tenne partes of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore let thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comforte such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee moztall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdenes of men, and put off now the weake nature, 14 And let adde þ most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater evils then thou, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the evils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is hid farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the diuion to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Beholde, O Lord, I will gaue as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall be bozne afters ward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy lawe is burne, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that thalbe done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into me, and I will write all that hath bin done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy lawe, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter daies, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fourty daies.

24 But prepare thee many hore tables, and take with thee these fine, Sarea, Dabria, Selema, Ecanus, and Miel, which are ready to write swiftly,

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of understanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfite men, and some things shalt thou thewe secretly vnto the wise: to morowe this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, & said,

28 Heare these wordes, O Israel,

29 * Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

30 And receiued the Law of life, which they kept not, which he also haue transgressed after them.

31 ¶ Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parced among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrightheously, and haue not kept the wapes, which the most High commaunded you.

32 And for so much as hee is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdue your owne understanding, and reforme your heart, ye shall be kept aliuie, and after death ye shall obtaine mercie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fourtydaies.

37 So I tooke the five men, as he commaunded me, and we went into the felde, and remained there.

38 The next day, beholde, a voyce called me, saying, Eldras, * open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached me a full cuppe, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had drinke it, mine heart had understanding, and wisedome grew in my breast: for my spirite was strengthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue understanding vnto the five men, that they wrote the hie things of the night, which they understood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and helde not my tongue by night.

44 In fourty daies, they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And when the fourty daies were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the woyle shal be vnto us, and thou maye reade it.

46 But keepe þ seuenth last, that thou maiest giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the betne of understanding, and the fontaine of wisedome, and the riuier of knowledge: and I bid so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophesie of Eldras is certaine. 2 The evils that shall come on the worlde. 3 The Lord will avenge the innocent blood. 4 Egypt shall lament. 5 Sedition. 6 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 7 Cursed are they that sinne. 8 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 9 God is the reuenger of his elect.

Beholde, spake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulness of the speakers trouble thee, that spake against thee.

4 For every vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulness.

5 Beholde, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death and destruction:

6 Because that iniquity hath fully polluted all the earth, & their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in þ things that they doe wickedly.

8 Beholde,

Gen. 47. 4.

After 7. 53.

Reuel. 6. 10.
and 19. 2.

8 Beholde, * the innocent and righteous blood cryeth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I will surely avenge them, saith the Lord, and receive vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Beholde, my people is ledde as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt,

11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hande, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shal mourne, and the foundations thereof shal be smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Doe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword, and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stande by to fight against another with swordes in their handes.

16 For there shall bee sedition among men, and one shall invade another: they shall not regard their king, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 No man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their wylde the cities shall bee troubled, the houses shall bee as a yde, men shall feare.

19 A man shal haue no pite byn his neyghbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shalbe spoiled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

21 As they do yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their boyme: thus saith the Lord God, 22 My right hand shal not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the strawe, that is kindled.

24 Doe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandements, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: desile not my Sanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereyth hee them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the worlde, and pee shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because pee haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision cometh from the East,

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charers, and the multitude of them shall be carried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the Boies of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in batell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the upper hande, and remember their nature, and shal turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shalbe troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the lande of the Assyrians shall the enimie besiege them, & consume some of them, and in their hose shall bee feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Beholde clouds from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shall be from the sword vnto the belly,

36 And the doing of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shall bee great fearefulnesse and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shall bee afraine, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shal windes arise, and shal open it with the cloude, which hee rapted by in wrath, and the starre, rapted to feare the East and West winde, shalbe destroyed.

40 And the great and mightie cloudes shall be lit by, full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth as a yde, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery his place, and lifted by, an horrible constellation,

41 As fire and haile, and flying swordes, and many waters, that all felides may bee full, and all riuers with the aboundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the meadowes, and their coine.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraine.

44 They shall come to her and besiege her, and shall powre forth the constellation, and all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe by vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall do seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46 I And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the gloyp of her person, 47 Doe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoyedom, that they might please and gloyp in thy touers, which haue alway desired to commit whoyedom with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her works, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God,

49 I will

for, we st.

49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widows hood, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the gloyp of thy powter shall be dried vp, as a flower when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie and the loners shall not be able to resceue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alwaye flaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and sapd out their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth þe beaultie of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoresdome shall be in thy bosome: therefore shall thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so wil God doe vnto thee, and will deslaine thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountains shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as unhappy, shalt come thorow the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the flaine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy gloyp, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods & all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carpe away captyue, and shall spoyle thy substance, and marce the beaultie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, Egypt and Syria. 18. 38
Of the evils that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne themselves in afflictions. 54. To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselves to the Lord. 55 Whose mightie prouidence and iustice is so hereuerenced.

Woe to thee, Babylon, and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Crie your selues with sacke and haire cloth, and mourne your children, and be forp: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, & who wil turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who wil quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hungrie Lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mightie Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vterly be broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord and the gloyp of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bow: his arrows that hee shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they bein to be shot into the endes of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not bee put out till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall bee sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowles and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for al these things they wil not turne from their wickednesse, nor bee alwaye mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, vitailles shall bee so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to be in good case: but then shall the euils bud forth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine, and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwel vpon earth, shall perishe with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall bee cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruite, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall bee ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall bee desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shall be ten left, and two of the field which shall hide themselves in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine three or foure olives in the place where olives growe, or among other trees,

24 As when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them þe diligently sought through the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall bee three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof shall waie olde, and her waies and all her parhes shall growe full of thornes, because no man shall trespasse therethrough.

27 The virgins shall mourne, hauing no hidegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their hidegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, ye seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Beholde the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whome the Lord speaketh: beholde, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a travelling woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two of three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the child commeth to the birth, they crie not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the woide shall mourne, and the sorowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my worde: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that flees: he that buyeth, let him be as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth marchandise, as he that winneth not: and hee that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein:

36 Hee that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that curbeth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marrie, as they that shall get no children: and they that marrie not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and people their goods, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue: for in rapine and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their marchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more will I be angrie against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a wofull enemy an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when shee decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when hee shall come that shall bydle the author of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore bee ye not like therunto, nor to the works thereof: for of euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that hee hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

46 Beholde, the Lord knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

47 * For asloone as he sayd, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 His word were the starres established, and he knoweth the number of them.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the middes of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 He spreadeth out the heauen like a vaul: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, to poure out floods from the high rocks to water the earth.

53 Hee made man, and put his heart in the middes of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and understanding.

54 And the spirit of the almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hidden things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your intentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your works, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, ye shall be confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, and how will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Beholde, God himselfe is the Judge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For beholde, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, & shall slay you for meate to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision, and in reproch, and a deni-der-foot.

62 For in euery place & cities that are neere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like madde men: they shall spare none: they shall spoile, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoile their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the trial of my chosen appeare, as the golde is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O my beloued, saith the Lord: Beholde, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: bee not ye afrayed: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselves up.

68 Woe vnto them that are bounde with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, & the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is thurte by, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

Tobit.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobit's parentage, 3 His godlineſſe. 6 His equitie. 8 His charitie and proſperitie. 23 He ſleeth, and his goods are conſecrate. 25 And after reſtored.

Tobias being captiue among the Aſſyrians did not leaue the way of trueh.

HE booke of the wordes of Tobit the ſonne of Tobiel, the ſonne of Ananuel, the ſonne of Abuel, the ſonne of Gabael, of the ſeede of Iſrael, and of the tribe of Naphtalim,

2 Who in the time of Aſeneſſar king of the Aſſyrians was * led away captiue out of Eſſib, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Naphtalim, in Galilee as beſide Aſer.

Tobias was mercifull,

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of truth and iuſtice, and I did many things liberally to the biethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to Aſineue into the land of the Aſſyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Iſrael, being but peong, all the tribe of Naphtalim my father ſell from the houſe of Ieruſalim, which was choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael, that all the tribes ſhould ſacrifice there, where the Temple of the tabernacle of the moſt High was conſecrated, and built vp for all ages.

3. King. 12. 30.

6 But I (as it was ordained to all Iſrael by an enſtablishing decree) went alone often to Ieruſalem, at the feaſts, * bringing the firſt fruites, and the tenth of beaſts, with that which was firſt thyme, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The firſt tenth part I gaue to the Priests the ſonnes of Aaron, which inhabited in Ieruſalem: the other tenth part I ſolde, and came and beſtowed it euery pere at Ieruſalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meete, as Deboia my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupil.

He marieth to wife Anna, which beareth to him Tobias.

9 I Furthermore when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of * mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 I But when I was led captiue to Aſineue, all my biethren, and thoſe which were of my kinred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my ſelfe from eating,
12 Becauſe I remembered God with all mine heart.

14 I And I went into Media, and I deliuered tenne talents of ſiluer to Gabael, the ſon of Gabrias, in the land of Media.

15 But when Aſeneſſar was dead, Sennacherib his ſonne reigned in his ſtead: whole ſtate becauſe it was troubled, I coulde not goe into Media.

Or, Salma-nasar.
The charitie of Tobias,

16 I But in the time of Aſeneſſar, I gaue many almes to my biethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry,

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I

18 And if the King Sennacherib had ſlaine any, when he * was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them ympt (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were ſought for of the King.

19 Therefore when a certene Aſineuite had accuſed me to the King, becauſe I did burie them, I hid my ſelfe: and becauſe I knew that I was ſought to be ſlaine, I witheld my ſelfe for feare.

20 Then all my goods were ſpoiled, neither was there any thing left me beſides my wife Anna, and my ſonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheleſſe * within ſixe & ſixtie dayes, two of his ſonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Arrathy, and Sarchedonus his ſonne reigned in his ſtead, who appointed ouer his fathers accounts and ouer all his domeſticall affaires Achiacharus my brother Ananels ſonne.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a requeſt for me, I came againe to Aſineue: nowze Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the ſigner, and ſeward, and ouerſaw the accounts: So Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers ſonne.

2 Tobit calleth the ſunthill to his table. 3 Hee leaueh the feaſt to burie the dead. 10 Howe hee became blinde. 13 His wife laboweth for her ſiung. 14 Shee reprocheth him bitterly.

NOWE when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was reſtored vnto mee with my ſonne Tobias, in the feaſt of Pentecost, which is the holp feaſt of the ſeven weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I ſate downe to eate.

2 And when I ſawe abundance of meate, I ſayd to my ſonne, Goe, and bring whar poore man ſoener thou ſhalt finde of our biethren, which doeth remember God, and loe I will ſerue thee.

3 But he came againe, and ſaid, Father, one of our nation is ſtrangled, and is caſt out in the market place.

4 Then befoze I had taſted any meate, I ſtart vp, and brought him into mine houſe vntill the going downe of the ſunne.

5 Then I returned and waſhed, and ate my meate in beaumeſſe,

6 Remembering that propheticke of * Amos which had ſayde, Your ſolemne feaſtes ſhall be turned into mourning, and your iopes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the ſunne I went and made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and ſaid, Doeth hee not feare to die for this cauſe, who * ſedde away, and yet ſoe, hee buryeth the dead againe?

11 And my wife Anna did take womens workes to doe.

12 And when she had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kiddle.

13 Which when it was at mine house, and began to bleate, I saide vnto her, from whence is this kiddle? is it not stolen? render it to the owners: * for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stolen.

14 But she said, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleue, and had her to render it to the owners, and I did blithly because of her. Furthermore she saide, * Where are thine almes, and thy righteousness? behold, they all now appeare in thee.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobie. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 13 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

Then I, being sorrowfull, did weep, and in my sorrow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy workes, and all thy waies are mercie and truely, and thou iudgeth truely and iustly for ever.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my sinnes, or mine iniquities, or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandments: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs * for a people, and vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a prouerbe of reproche to all them among whom we are disperfed, and nowe thy son halt manie and iust causes.

5 To doe with me according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy commandments, neither haue walked in truely before thee.

6 Nowe therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and commaund my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorrowfull: commaunde therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a cite of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maides.

8 Because shee had bene married to seven husbands, whom Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed, before that they had ihen with her. Doest thou not knowe, saide they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had nowe seven husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doest thou beate us for them? if they be dead, goe thy waies hence to them, that wee may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, shee was very sorrowfull, so that shee thought to haue strangled her selfe. And she said, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I do this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorrowe.

11 Then they prayed toward the windowe and saide, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy & glorious name is blessed, and honourable for ever: let all thy workes praise thee for ever.

12 And nowe, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproche.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the lande of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath hee any man child to be his here, neither any * neere kinsman of child boyme of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seven husbands are nowe dead, and why shoulde I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, commaund to looke on me, and to pittie me that I doe no more heare reproche.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobies eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Asmodeus the euill spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and enured into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobie to his sonne.

I At that day Tobit remembered * the sinner, which he had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a cite of Media,

2 And saide with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonish him before I dye?

3 And when he had called him, he saide, My sonne, after that I am dead, burie me, and despyse not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

4 Remember, my sonne, how many dangers she sustained when thou wast in her wombe.

5 And when she dyeth, bury her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, let our Lord God alwayes besoyge thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne, or to transgresse the commandments of God. Doe by right all thy life long, and forsoue not the waies of brighteousnesse: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succcede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore: lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraide to giue a litle almes.

Sarra prayeth and fasteth, that she may be deliuered from shame.

10 * Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darkenes.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which vse it.

12 Beware of all * whoresome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for wee are the children of the Prophets: Noe, Abrahams, Isaac, and Jacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherit the land.

13 Nowe therefore my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, innot taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in ferocies is scarfite and great pouertie: for fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the * wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tarry with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conuersation.

15 * Doe that to no man which thou hatest:
drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkennesse goe with thee in thy iourney.

16 * Giue of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and * of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be envious, when thou giuest almes.

17 * Howie out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

18 Like counsell alway of the wise, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

19 Bless thy lord God alway, and desire of him that thy wages may be made straight, and that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsell:
but the lord giueth all good things, and hee humbleth whom he will, as he will: nowe therefore, my sonne, remember my commandments, neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

20 * Furthermore I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered reme talaus to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

21 And feare not, my sonne, forasmuch as we are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, and doe that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

C H A P. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages: 4. He meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conduct him.

Tobias then answered and saide, Father, I will doe all things which thou hast commaunded me.

2 But howe can I receiue the siluer, seeing
I knowe him not?

3 Then he gaue him the handwriting, and said vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whyles I seee him, and I will giue him wages, and goe and rectifie the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knewe not, and saide vnto him,
How I goe with thee into the lande of Media?
and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel saide, I wil goe with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tarry for me, till
I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Goe, and tarry not:
so he went in, and said to his father, Beholde, I haue found one, which will goe with me. Then he saide, Call him vnto me, that I may knowe of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit saide vnto him, Brother, shewe me of what tribe and familie thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doest thou seeke a stocke of familie, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne? Then Tobit saide vnto him, I would knowe, brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then he saide, I am of the kindred of Sazaras and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit saide, ¶ Thou art welcome, brother: be not nowe angrie with me, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kindred and thy familie: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knowe Ananias and Jos-nathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for we went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the first boine, and the tenthes of the fruits, and they were not deccemed with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tell me, what wages shall I giue thee? wilt thou a great a dan and things neces-sarie, as to mine owne soune?

15 Hea, moreover, if pe returne safe, I will adde some thing to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe out on Gods name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father said, Go thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both and departed, and the dogge of the pong man with them.

17 But * Anna his mother wept, and saide to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne?
is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto us?

18 Woulde to God we had not laide money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to line with, doeth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Be not careless, my sister: he shall returne in safete, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doeth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then he made an ende of weeping.

His mother
weepeth.

AS they went on their journey, they came at night to the flood Tigris, and there abode.

2 And when the pong man went to washe himselfe, a fish leaped out of the river, & would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel sayd vnto him, Take the fish. And the pong man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel said, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

5 So the pong man did as the Angel commaunded him: and when they had roasted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the pong man sayde to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he said vnto him, Touching the heart and the liuer, if a deuill of an euill spirit trouble any, we must make a perfume of this befoze the man or the woman, and he shall be no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel sayd to the pong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I wil speake for her that shee may be giuen thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doeth by right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred.

12 And the mayde is faire and wise: nowise therefore heare me, and I wil speake to her father, that he may make the marriage when wee are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another, according to the law of Moses: else he should deserue death, because the right doeth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the pong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this mayd hath bene giuen to seven men, who all dyed in the marriage chamber:

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, least I go in to her, and die as the other befoze: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no body, but those which come in to her: wherefoze I also feare least I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of me to the graue with sorrow: for they haue no other sonne to bury them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Dost thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldst marry a wife of thine owne kindred? wherefoze, heare me, & my brother: for he shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall he be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hore coales for perfumes, & make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish,

17 Which if the spirit doe smell, hee will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pitie on you, and saue you: feare not, for she is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and she shall goe with thee: moreover, I suppose that shee shall beare thee children: nowise when Tobias had heard these things, hee loued her, and his heart was effectually ioynd to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

AS they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel, & Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this pong man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they said, that they were of the tribe of Isephralim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Babilone.

4 Then he said to them, Doe ye know Tobit our kinsman? And they said, Wee know him. Then said he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both alive, & in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, & kissed him, & wept.

7 And blessed him, and said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when hee had heard that Tobit was blinde, hee was sorrowfull and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreover they received the with a ready mind, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meate on the table. Then said Tobias to Raguel, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, & Raguel said to Tobias, Eate, & drinke, and make mery.

10 For it is meet that thou shouldst marry my daughter: neuerthelesse, I will declare vnto thee the trueth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to seven men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuerthelesse, bee thou of a good courage and mery. But Tobias said I wil eate nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and bestow her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and Raguel giue she came to her father, and hee tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for a wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the lawe of Moses, Sarra to and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them,

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when he had done, as he had bidden her, shee brought her in thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

18 And said vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias drineth away the evil spirit. 4 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a grave for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lord.

And when they had supped, they brought Tobias in unto her.

2 And as he went, he remembered the words of Raphael, and tooke coles for perfumes, and put the heart & liver of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the evil spirit had smelled, he fled into the utmost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise and let us pray, that God would have pitty on us.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thyne holy and glorious Name for ever: let the heavens bless thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, & gavest him * Eden his wife for an helpe, and say: of them came mankind: thou hast said, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let us make unto him an aide like unto himselfe.

7 And nowe, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but uprightly: therefore graunt me mercie, that wee may become aged together.

8 And the sayd with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a grave.

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He sayd to his wife Edna, Send one of the maydes, and let them see whether he bee alive: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the mayd opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe.

14 And came softly, and told them that hee was alive.

15 Then Raguel prayesd God, and sayde, O God, thou art woorthie to bee praised with all pure, and holy praise: therefore let thy saintes praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels & thine elect praise thee for ever.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with us according to great mercie.

17 Thou art to be praised because thou hast had mercie of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: graunt them mercie, O Lord, & finish their life in health with ioy and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his servants to fill the grave.

19 And he kept the wedding feast foureteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had sayde unto him by an othe, that hee should not depart before that the foureteene dayes of the marriage were expired.

21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods and returne in safetie to his father, and should have the rest, when hee and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias marriage.

Then Tobias called Raphael, and said unto him,

2 Brother Marias, Take with thee a servant and two camels, and goe to the Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworn that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very sorry.

5 So Raphael went out & came to Gabael, and gave him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed up, & gave them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias as begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobias and his wife thinke long for their sonne, 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

Now Tobias his father counted every day, and when the daies of the journey were expired, and they came not.

2 Tobias said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to give him the money?

3 Therefore he was very sorry.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tareth: & he began to bewaile him, and said,

5 How I care for nothing, my sonne, since I have lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobias said, Hold thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But the sayd, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead: and they went out every day, by the way which they went, neis ther did the eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, untill the foureterne dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworn, that he should tary there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in law said unto him, Tarry with me, & I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let mee goe to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gave him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as servants, and cattell, and money.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heaven make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and he kissed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heaven restore thee, my deare brother, and grant that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreat her evil.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father, 9 How he was received, 10 His father hath his sight restored, and prayeth the Lord.

Tobias followed Raphael's counsel, as Chap. 6. 7. For, upmost.

Gen. 2. 7, 18, 22.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a grave for him.

Raguel praised God for Tobias.

Raguel gave halfe of his goods toward the marriage of his daughter to Tobias.

Tobias care for his sonne, The Angel goeth on Tobias message,

The father & mother are in heaviness for Tobias tarrying. Chap. 5. 17.

Raguel giveth Tobias, and his wife leave to depart.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.

After these things Tobias went his way, praying God that he had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew nere to Aineue.

2 Then Raphael sayde to Tobias, Thou knowest howe, howe thou diddest leane thy father.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house.

4 And take in thine hande the gill of the fish. So they went their way, and the dogge folowed them.

5 Now Anna late in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when she sawe coming, she sayd to his father, Beholde, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I knowe, Tobias, that thy father shall receive his sight.

8 Therefore anoynt his eyes with the gall, and being pickt therewith, hee shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and sayde vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him.

11 And tooke holde of his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes beganne to picke, hee rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke.

14 And he wept, and said, Blessed art thou, O Ioyde, and blessed be thy name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged mee, and hast had pittie on mee: for beholde, I see my sonne Tobias, and his sonne, being glad, went in and tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in lawe, reioycing and praying God to the gate of Aineue: and they which sawe him goe, marvelled, because he had received his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pittie on him. And when he came nere to Sarra his daughter in lawe, hee blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God beee blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioye among all his brethren, which were at Aineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Asbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seven daies with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

1 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him, & the which he would recompense. 2. 13 Raphael declareth that hee is an Angel sent of God.

Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and sayde vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And he said vnto him, O father, it shall not grieue mee to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For hee hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, & hath brought mee the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man sayde, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angell, and said vnto him, Take halfe of all that pee haue brought, and goe away in safetie.

6 But hee tooke them both apart, and sayde vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, & praise him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his name, and to shewe forth his euident workes with honour: therefore hee nor wearie to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secretes of a king, but it is honourable to reueale the workes of God: do that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteoussesse. A little with righteoussesse is better then much with vnrightheoussesse: it is better to giue almes, then to lay by golde.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doth purge all sinne. Those which erre in almes and righteoussesse, shalbe filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I saide it was good to keepe close the secret of a king, but that it was honourable to reueile the workes of God.

12 Howe therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to minde your prayer before the holy one: And when thou diddest burie the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieved to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to burie the dead, thy good deede was not hidde from me: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe.

15 I am Raphael one of the seven holy Angels, which pfect the prayers of the Saintes, and which goe forth before his holy Quæstie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he saide vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure; but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19 * All these daies I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you sawe it in vision.

20 Nowe therefore giue God thanks: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they sawe him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderful workes of God, and howe the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

He that will be acceptable to God, must be proued with temptation.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiving of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

Then Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and said, Blessed be God that liueth for ever, and blest be his kingdom.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, pee children of Israel: for he hath scattered pou among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the thing: for hee is our Lord and our God, and our father for ever.

5 Yee hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whome wee are scattered.

6 If pou turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vnghtly before him, then will hee turne vnto pou, and will not hide his face from pou, but pee shall see what hee will doe with pou: therefoe confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Loyde of righteousness, and extoll the euermoluing King. I wil confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power, and greatnesse to a sinful nation. O pe sinners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if hee will receiue pou to mercie, and haue pittie on you?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the King of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let all prayse him for his righteousness.

9 O Jerusalem the holy citie, he will scourge thee for thy childrens wozkes, but hee will haue pittie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Gine praise to the Loyde duely, and prayse the euermoluing King, that his tabernacle map bee builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for ever those that bee miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lord God, with giftes in their handes, euen giftes to the King of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are all they which hate thee: but blessed are they for ever which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shall be gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorrowfull for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for ever.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Jerusalem shall be built vp with Sapphires, and Emeraudes, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towyes, and thy bulwarkes with pure golde.

18 And all her streetes shall say, Hallelmah, and they shall prayse him, saying, Blessed bee God which hath extolled || it for ever.

CHAP. XIII.

4. Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophesieth the destruction of Nineus. 5 And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife 14 Tobias age and death.

So Tobit made an ende of praying God.

2 And hee was right and fittie peere olde, when hee lost his sight, which was reioyed to him after right peere, and hee gaue almes, and hee continued to feare the Loyde God, and to praise him.

3 And when hee was verp aged, he called his sonne, and sire of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for befolde, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life)

4 Goe into Media, my sonne: for I surely beleene those things which Jonas the Prophet spake of Ninus, that it shall bee destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather bee in Media, and that our brethren shall bee scattered in the earth from that good lande, and Jerusalem shall bee desolate, and the house of God in it shall bee burned, and shall bee desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * wil haue pittie on them, and bring them againe into the lande where they shall builde a Temple, but not like to the first, untill the times of that age bee fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and builde by Jerusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for ever with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truly, and shall bury their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Loyde, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, & all those which loue the Lord in truth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shewe mercie to our brethren.

8 And now my sonne, depart out of Ninus, because that those things which the Prophete Jonas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Lawe, and the commaundements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And burie mee honestly, and thy mother with mee: but carie no longer at Ninus. Remember, my sonne, howe Anan handled Aschiacharus that brought him vp, howe out of sight he brought him into darkenesse, and howe hee rewarded him againe: yet Aschiacharus was saued, but the other had his rewarde: for he went downe into darkenesse. Ananias gaue almes, & escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Anan fel into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefoe now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and howe righteousness doeth liue. When hee had said these things, || he gaue vp the ghost in his bed, being an hundred and eight and fittie peere olde, and he buried him honourably.

12 And when Anna was dead, hee buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbarane to Rasguel guel his father in lawe.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and he buried his father and mother in law honours rabby, and hee inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And hee dyed at Ecbatane in Media, bes

ing an hundredth and seven and twentie peere olde.

15 But before hee dyed, hee heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Merus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 Hee streameth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth peere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dapes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles round about of hewed stone, three cubites broade, and sixe cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it of an hundredth cubites, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubites,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on fire, seuentie cubites, and the breadth of them fourtie cubites, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footemen)

5 Euen in those dapes, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arphaxad in the great felde, which is the felde in the coastes of Agagan.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Egypt, and Hydaspes, and the countrey of Arioch the king of the Elymeans, and verp many nations assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damalcius, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people, that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the hier Galile, and the great felde of Esbrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, and beyond Iorden vnto Ierusalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Cades, and the river of Egypt, & Taphnes, and Kameste, and all the land of Celen,

10 Vntill one come to Tanis, and Chemisphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and till one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commaundement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him; yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadors from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was verp angry with all this countrey, and sware by his thione and kingdome, that hee woulde surely bee auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damalcius, and Spria, and that hee woulde slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the lande of Shoab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battell aray with his power against king Arphaxad in the seuenteenth peere, and hee preuailed in his battell: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsemen, and all his charers.

14 And he waune his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towres, and spoiled the streets thereof, & turned the beauntie thereof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Agagan, & smote him thowth with his darts, and destroyed him viterly that day.

16 So hee returned afterward to Nineue, both he, and all his company with a verp great multitude of men of warre, and there hee palied the time, and banketted, both he and his armie, an hundredth and twenty dapes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commaunded presumptuously that all people should be brought into subiection, 6 And to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparations of Olofernes armie. 22 The conquest of his enemies.

AN D in the righteenth peere, the two and Atwenteth day of the first moneth, there was take in the house of Nabuchodonosor for King of the Assyrians, that hee shoulde auenge himselfe on all the earth, as hee had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secer counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commaundement of his mouth.

4 And when hee had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus sayeth the great King, the Lord of the whole earth, Beholde, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footemen, an hundredth and twentie thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand.

6 And thou shalt goe against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commaundement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will goe forth in my warre against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feere of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoye vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and their riuers, and the flood shall ouerflowe, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the best most partes of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their countrey: and if they peeble vnto thee, thou shalt reuerse them for me vntill the day that I reuoke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoye them wheresomeuer thou goest.

12 For as I lur, and the power of my kings dome, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commaunded thee, and deserue not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaynes, and officers of the armie of Assur,

15 And hee mustered the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commaunded him, vnto ten hundred and twentie thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hee set them in aray according to the manner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their provision,

18 And vitaille for every man of the armie, and very much gold and siluer out of the kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to go before in the vopage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their chariots, and horsemen, and chosen footemen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sortes came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grannell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Minene three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Beccis-leh, and pitched from Beccis-leh, nere the mountaine which is at the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then hee tooke all his armie, his footemen and horsemen, and chariots, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he destroyed Ihud & Iud, and spoyled all the children of Iudas, and the children of Imacl, which were toward the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, & went throughe Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Ardonai, vntill one come to the sea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South, and ouer against Arabia, 26 He compassed also all the children of Asdian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoyled their lodges.

27 Then hee went downe into the countrey of Damalus, in the tyme of wheate harvest, and burnt vp all their fieldes, & destroyed their flocks and the herds: hee robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and more all their pong men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Dema, & all that dwelt in Zennan: and they that dwelt in Azorus and Icalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subject to Olofernes, 8 He destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might only be worshipped.

¶ They sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great king: wee lye downe before thee: vse vs as shall be good in thy sight.

3 Beholde, our houses and all our places, and all our fieldes of wheate, and our flocks and our herds, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Beholde, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this manner.

6 Then came hee downe toward the sea coast, both hee and his armie, and let garisons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them with crownes, with dances, and with timbrels.

8 Per hee brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was intorned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor onely, and that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 And he came against Eszraelon, nere vnto Judea, ouer against the great strait of Iudra,

10 And he pitched betwene Geba, and a citie of the Sacerdians, and there hee caried a moeneth, that hee might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Iffraelites were afraide and defended their countrey. 6 Ioachim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should fortifie themselves. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

¶ When the children of Israel that dwelt in Judea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and howe hee had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled assembled in Judea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had beene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all coasts of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethosa, and Bethin, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Elosa, and to the valley of Salen,

5 And tooke all the toppes of the hie mountaynes, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in brailes for the psonification of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Also Joacim the high Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwell in Bethulia, and Berodineham, which is ouer against Elosaion, towarde the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaynes: for by them there was an entry into Judea, and it was easie to let them that would come by, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Joacim the high Priest had commanded them with the ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwell in Jerusalem.

9 Then cried every man of Israel to God with great feruency, and their soules with great affection.

10 Both they & their wines, and their children, and their cattell, and every stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus every man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spied out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar,

12 And cried to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a praye, and their wines for a sople, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayes, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Judea and Jerusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Joacim the high Priest, and all the Priests, that stood before the Lord, and ministers vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continual burnt offering, with prayes, and the free giftes of the people,

15 And had ashes on their mitres, and cried vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that hee would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Aschior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Israellites.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaynes, and had walled all the tops of the hie hills, and had laid impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angry, and called all the princes of Egoab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And hee saide vnto them, Shew me, O pe sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaynes? and what are the cities that they inhabit? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what king or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And whp haue they determined not to come to meet us, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 Then * said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let vs now heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare vnto thee the truth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaynes, where where thou remainest: and there shall no be come out of the mouth of thy seruant. Chap. 11. 7. 9

6 This people come out of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And * they dwell before in Mesopotamia, Gene. 11. 31. because they would not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancellers, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whome they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fledde into Mesopotamia, and seattered there in many vapes.

9 Then * their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwell, and were increased with gold and silver, and with very much cattell. Gene. 12. 2.

10 But when a famine couered all the lande of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwell there till they returne, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

11 Therefore the king of Egypt rose by against them, and bled deceite against them, and brought them low with laboying in bycke, and made them slaves. Exod. 1. 9.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, and he smote all the lande of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the * Egyptians cast them out of their sight, Exod. 12. 37.

14 And * brought them into mount Sina and Cades barnea, and cast forth all that dwell in the wilderness. Exod. 19. 1.

15 So they dwell in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Eledon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaynes.

16 And they * cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pherezites, and the Jebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwell in that countrey many dayes. Josh. 12. 8.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquity was with them.

18 But * when they departed from the way which hee appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wooddenish foie, * and were ledde captiues into a lande that was not theirs: and the Temple of 2 King. 23. 1. B b. iii. their their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But * now they are turned to their God, and are come up from the scattering wherem they were scattered, and haue possessed Ierusalem, where their temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Nowe therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, to that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ronne, and let vs goe vp, and we shall overcome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, least their lord defend them, and their God bee for them, and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 I And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing rounde about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwell by the sea side, and in Shobab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lord Olofernes, and they shall be meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God, whome Achior confessed.
14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crye vnto the Lord.

And when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, sayde vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Shobab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, * because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

3 Hee will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to susteine the power of our hostes.

4 For we will treade them vnder feete with their, and their mountaines shall be drunken with their blood, and their fieldes shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall verily perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth hath said, euen he hath said, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Sennon, because thou hast spoken these words, in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day, vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the pyon of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue me, passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their flame, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the be cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy minde, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commaunded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middes of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie saue them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and we it forth of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from coming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went prauely vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in those daies, Ozias the sonne of Epicha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the sonne of Gathoniell, and Charnus the sonne of Epichiel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the citie, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the middes of the princes of Assur, and whatsoener Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cried vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, beholde their pride, and haue mercie on the balenelle of our people, and beholde this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

Olofernes doeth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

The next day Olofernes commaunded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remooue their camps against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streets of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remooued their camps in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundred thousande and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousand hoges men, beside the baggage and other men that were were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere unto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spread a broad toward Dorham unto Belbaum, and in length from Bethulia unto Eiamon, which is ouer against Edoraclom.

4 Nowe the children of Israel, when they sawe the multitude, were greatly troubled, and sayd every one to his neighbour, Nowe will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines, nor the valleys, nor the hills are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towyes, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Olofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the fight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vnto their citie, and came to the fountains of their waters, and tooke them and set garisons of men of warre ouer them, and remooued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Eſau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and said,

9 Let our captaine nowe heare a woorde, least an inconvenience come in thine arme.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come by to the toppes of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine arme, and let thy men keepe still the water of the countrey, that cometh forth at the foot of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall gine by their citie: and wee and our people will goe by to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wines, and their children shall be consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall bee ouertrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Olofernes and all his souldiers, and hee appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them five thousande of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountains of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Eſau went by with the children of Ammon and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dorham, and they sent some of themselves toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the river Abocymur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the fildes, and covered the whole lande: for their tentes and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cried vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the companie of Assur remained about them, both their footmen, chariots, and horsemen, foure and thirtie dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not waier enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wines and young men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, & there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Oſias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both young men and women, and children, and cried with a loud voice, and said before all the Elders, 24 The Lord bee iudge betwene vs and Emd. 5. 21. you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that yee haue not required peace of the children of Assur.

25 For nowe wee haue no helper: but God hath solde vs into their handes that wee should be throlwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Nowe therefore call them together, and deliver the whole citie for a spoile to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoile vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will be his seruants that wee may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wines, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witness against you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers which punisheth vs according to our sinnes, and the times of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crye of all with one consent in the middes of the assemble, and they cryed vnto the Lord God with a loud voice.

30 Then said Oſias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs wait yet five dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he will not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towyes of their citie, and sent their wines and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life and conuersation of Iudeth. 11 She rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 12 She sheweth that they should not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

Nowe

Now at that time, Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari, the sonne of Aser, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Aziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Manassas, the sonne of Geddon, the sonne of Raphasim, the sonne of Aicor, the sonne of Elm, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Aschanahel, the sonne of Sannael, the sonne of Salaladat, the sonne of Asrael.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kindred, who died in the barley hars well.

3 For as hee was diligent ouer them that bound heeuen in the fildes, the heate came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and died in the cite of Berhulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the fildes betweene Dothasim and Salamo.

4 So Iudeth was in her house a widowe three yerres and foure monethes.

5 And shee made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath, and the Sabbathes, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Asrael.

7 Shee was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and silver, and men seruants, and maide seruantes, and cattell, and possessions where she remained.

8 And there was none that coulde bring an full report of her: for she feared God greatly.

9 Now when they heard the euill wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they faimted for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the wordes that Asias had spoken vnto them, and that he had * twome vnto them to deliuer the cite vnto the Assyrians within fise dayes)

10 Then they sent her maide that had the gouernement of all things that she had, to call Asias and Chabys and Charmis the ancients of the cite.

11 And they came vnto her, and shee sayde vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Berhulia: for your wordes that pee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this or the which pee made and pronounced before me God and pou, and haue promised to deliuer the cite to the enemies, vntill within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe pou.

12 And now who are pou that haue tempted God this day, & set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now pee seeke the Lord Almighty, but pou shall neuer know any thing.

14 For pou cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can pe perceiue the things that hee thinketh: then howe can pou search out God, that hath made all these thinges, and knowe his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, provoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if hee will not helpe vs within these fise dayes, he hath power to defend vs when he will, euen every day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not pou therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be theamed, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voice if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe nor familie, nor people, nor cite among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath bene afortime.

19 For the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a people, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that hee will not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shalbe taken, shall Iudaea be so famous: for our Sanctuarie shall be spoiled, and hee will require the propheanation thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren and the captiuitie of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will bee turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, wherefouer we shall be in bondage, and we shall an offence and reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shewe an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, and the House, and the Altar rest vpon vs.

25 Wherefouer, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as hee did our fathers.

26 Remember what things hee did to * Asias, and how hee tried Isaac, and all that hee did to * Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when he kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

27 For hee hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither hath hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then saide Asias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is knowne, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowne thy wisdom: for the deuit of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, and compelled vs to do vnto them as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an or the which we map not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord map send us rain to fill our cisternes, and that we map saunt no more.

32 Then saide Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stande this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmaide: and within the dayes that pee haue promised to deliver the cite to our enemies, the Lord will visite Israel by mine hand.

Judg. 1.11. and 4.1. and 6.1.

34 But inquire not pon of mine acte: for I will not declare it unto you, till the things be finished that I doe.

35 Then saide Ozias and the princes unto her, See in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wardes.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth her selfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliverance of her people 7 against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

Then Iudeth fell upon her face, & put ashes upon her head, and put off the sackcloth wherewith shee was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that evening was offered in Jerusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudeth crept with a loude voyce, and said,

2 O Lord God of my father * Simeon, to whom thou gapest a voyde to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maide, and desied her, and discovered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou haddest commaunded that it should not so be,

3 Per they did things for y which thou gapest their princes to the slaughter, for they were defiled and washed their beddes with blood) and hast striken the servants with the gounour, and the gounourous upon their thrones,

4 And hast giue their wives for a pray, and their daughters to bee captives, and all their peoples for a bootie to the children that thou lovest: which were mowed with thy seale, and abhoyred the pollution of their blood, and called upon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Beholde, we are here: for all thy wapors are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknown.

7 Beholde, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselves with horses and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their footemen, thy trust in thielde, speare, and bowe, and slug, and doe not knowe that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuarie, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the houses of the Altar.

9 Beholde their pride, and send thy wrath upon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceived.

10 * Smite by the deceit of my lippes the servant with the prince, and the prince with the servant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

11 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou,

O Lord art the helpe of the humble and the weakes, the defender of the weakes, and the protector of them that are forsaken, and the Saviour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer,

13 And graunt me wordes and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enter yse cruell things against thy covenant, and against thine holy house, and against the top of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shewe evidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art the God of all power & strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her selfe, and goeth forth of the cite. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians and brought to Olofernes.

Nowe after shee had ceased to crie unto the God of Israel, and had made an ende of all these wordes,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maide, and went downe into the house, in the which shee abode in the Sabbath dayes and in the feast dayes,

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith shee was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, shee washed her body with water, and anointed it with much oynement, and dyessed the haire of her head, and put attire upon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith shee was cladde, during the life of spanalles her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sleeves, and rings, and eares rings, and all her ornaments, and shee decked her selfe bravely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then shee gaue her maide a bottell of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrippe with flower, and with dyse figges, and with fine bread: so shee lapped by all these things together, and laid them upon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the cite of Bethulia, and founde standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the cite, Chabris and Charimis.

7 And when they saw her, that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marvelled greatly at her wonderfull beauty, and said unto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And shee saide unto them, Commande the gates of the cite to be opened unto me, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commaunded the pong men to open unto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Udeth went out, she, and her maid with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, until shee was gone downe the mountaine, and till shee had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? and shee saide, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall be giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shewe before him the way whereby hee shall goe and winne all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Nowe when the men heard her wordes, and behelde her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beaurie, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hastned to come downe to the presence of our lord: nowe therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, bee not afraide in thine heart, but shewe vnto him according as thou hast to say, and hee will intreate thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a charer for her and her maide, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro throughout the campe: for her coming was bruited among the tents: and they came and stood rounde about her: for they stood with out the tent of Olofernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they maruelled at her beaurie, and wondered at the children of Israel, because of her, and euery one saide vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes garde went out, and all his seruants, & they brought her into the tent.

21 Nowe Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they carried lamps of silver before him.

23 And when Udeth was come before him and his seruants, they all maruelled at the beaurie of her countenance, and shee fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her by.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olofernes comforteth Udeth, 3 And asketh the cause of her coming, 5 Shee deceiueh him by her faire wordes,

Then saide Olofernes vnto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for

I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Nowe therefore, if thy people that dwel- leth in the mountaines, had not despised me, I would not haue lifted up my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselves.

3 But nowe tell me wherofore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Udeth saide vnto him, Receiue the wordes of thy seruant, and suffer thine hands maide to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt followe the wordes of thine handmaide, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor king of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not ones ly men shall be made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the feldes, and the cats tell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisdomme and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feates of warre marueilous.

9 Nowe* as concerning the matter which Chap 5.5. Achioz did speake in the counsell, wee haue heard his wordes: for the men of Babilonia did take him, and hee declared vnto them all that hee had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, respect not his wordes, but let it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the wordes preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Nowe therefore least my lord should be frustrate, and voide of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whyles they pouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not becomming.

12 (For because their braides faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattel, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his lawes:

13 Pea, they haue purposed to consume the first frutes of the wheate, and the riches of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserved and sanctified for the Pyeistes that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Wherefore they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring them wordes, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be

be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaid, knowing all this, am hidde from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoever shall heare it.

17 For thy seruauit feareth God, and worthippeth the God of heauen day and night, and nowe let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruauit goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that hee may reuile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes.

18 And I will come and shewe it vnto thee:
then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall bee none of them that shall resist
thee.

19 And I will leade thee through the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Jerusalem, and I will let thy thorne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt dyne them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto me according vnto my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shewe thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they maruelled at her wisdom, and said,

21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisdom of wordes.

22 Likewise Olofernes saide vnto her, God hath done this, to sende thee before the people, that strength might be in our handes, and destruction vpon them that despye my lord.

23 And nowe thou art both beautiful in thy countenance, and wurtie in thy wordes: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt bee renowned throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 3 Shee maketh her request that shee might goe out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

Then he commaunded to bring her in where his treasures were layd, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth saide, "I may not eate of them; least they should bee an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

3 Then Olofernes sayde vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, howe should we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then said Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hande the things that hee hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill midnight, and awoke at the morning watch.

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my Lord commaund what thy handmaid may go forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commaunded his garde that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fontaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that hee would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the assautes in hand.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that hee had, Goe and per-swade this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs and eate, and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if wee should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if wee do not assure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and sayde, Let not this faire made make difficultie to goe into my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs to full, and to bee increased as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuschodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Who am I nowe, that I should gainsay my lord? Surely whatsoever pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall bee my joy vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her mayde went, and spredde forth her skinner on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vie, that they might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Nowe when Iudeth came and sate downe, Olofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her company: for hee had waited for the time to decree her from the day that hee had seene her.

17 Then sayde Olofernes vnto her, Drinke nowe and be merry with vs.

18 So Iudeth said, I drinke nowe, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was boyne.

19 Then shee tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things, that her mayde had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then hee had drinke at any time in one day since he was boyne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Olo-fernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

Now when the evening was come, his ser-uants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all wear-ie, because the feast had bene long.

Or, hath done well.

Ecclm. 31.
20, 25.

2 And Judeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along upon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 Nowe Judeth had commaunded her mayde to stande without her chamber, and to waite for her coming forth as she did say: for she said, she would go forth to her prayes, and the speake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So al went forth of her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Judeth standing by his bed, sayde in her heart, O Lord God of all power, beholde at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his chaufin from thence,

7 And approached to the bed, and tooke holde of the haire of his head, and saide, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

8 And shee smote twice upon his necke with al her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after shee went forth, and gaue Olofernes head to her mayde,

10 And shee put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome unto prayer, and passing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went by the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 Then sayde Judeth a farre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open nowe the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power pet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Nowe when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ranne al together both final and great: for it was aboute their expectation, that they should come. So they opened the gate and receiued her, & made a fire for a light, and stode round about them twaine.

14 Then shee saide to them with a loud voyce, Praise God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine handes this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrippe and shewed it, and saide vnto them, Beholde the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein hee did lie in his drunkenesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hande of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept mee in my way that I went, my countenance hath decreed him to his destruction, and he hath not committed shame with mee by any pollution or villanie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped

God, and saide with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then saide Dias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God above all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the heartes of men: for they shall reuenge her the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praye, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God, And all the people saide, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Judeth causeth to hang up the head of Olofernes.
2 Achior iogneth himselfe to the people of Gad, 11 The Assyrians goe out against the Assyrians.

Then said Judeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field, towards the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shal take their armour, and shal goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shal runne to the rent of Olofernes, but shal not finde him: then feare shal fall vpon them, and they shal see before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coastes of Israel shal pursue them, and ouerthrowe them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call mee Achior the Eunuch, that he may see, & know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Dias, and when hee was come and saue the head of Olofernes in a certaine mans hande in the assemblie of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But wher they had taken him by, hee fell at Judeths feet, and reuerenced her, and saide, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which, bearing thy name, shal be astonished.

8 Nowe therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Judeth declared vnto him in the mids of the people all that shee had done from the day that shee went forth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.

9 And when shee had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noise of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, believed in God vnto the end.

nedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was opened unto the house of Israel unto this day.

11 As soone as the morning arose, they hangd the head of Olofernes out at the wall, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straites of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaynes, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaynes, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent, and sayd to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue bene bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Sagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a night cry, and rent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Iudeth where the bled to remaine, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people and cried,

18 These slaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captains of the Assyrians arme heard these wordes, they rent their coates, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a cry & a very great noise throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraide and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Iocaim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to praise God for her.

As whē they that were in the tents heard, they were astonishd at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amasled, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Zebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coastes of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Nowe when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Chobai: likewise also they that came from Ierusalem and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them with a great slaughter, untill they came to Damascus and to the coastes thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: & the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie, for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Iocaim the hie Priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, & said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great rejoicing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people sayd, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled his campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer, and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and she tooke it & laied it on her mules, and made ready her charrets, and laied them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, & blessed her, and made a daunce among them for her, and she tooke branches in her hand, & gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with olives, & her that was with her, & she went before the people in the daunce, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth prayeth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lord Olofernes suffe. 23 Her continuance, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voyce.

2 And Iudeth sayd, Begin vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a Psalme: extail his people, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the mids of the people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines south of the North: he came with thousands in his armie, whose multitude hath shut by the rivers, and their horsemen haue covered the valleys.

5 He sayd that he would burne by my boyers, and kill my pong men with the sword, and dashe the sucking children agayne the ground, and make mine infants as a preise, and my virgins a people.

6 But the Almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the nightie did not fall by the pong men, neither did the sonnes of Eitan smite him, nor the hie giants made him, but Iudeth

Chap. 2, 11, 15.

Judeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widow hood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and amointed her face with ointment, & bound up her faire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie tooke his mind prisoner, & the saulchin passed through his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnesse, and the Medes were troubled with her hardnesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted up their voyces, and turned backe.

12 The children of maides pearced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I wil sing vnto the Lord a song & psalme, O Lord, thou art great & glorious, maruelous and innumerable in power.

14 Let all thy creatures seme thee: *for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy spirit, and he made them by: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art merciful to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweete savour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Doe to the nations that rise up agaynst my kined: the Lord almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sens ding fire and womyes vpon their fleshy, and they shall feele them and weepe for euer.

18 After, when they went by to Jerusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and as soone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, & their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Judeth also offered all the stuffe of Alosenes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopy which he had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Jerusalem by the Sanctuaries for the space of thre moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Judeth went to Bethulia, and remayned in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her companie all the dayes of her life, after that Ananias her husband was dead, and was gathered to this people.

23 But she increased more and more in honour, and waxeth olde in her husbands house, being an hundred and fife yere old, and made her mayde free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the grane of her husband Ananias.

24 And *the house of Israel lamented her ten dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were neerest of kintred to Ananias her husband, and to them that were the neerest of her kintred.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

11 Or, her people.

Gen. 50, 10.

Ester.

Certaine portions of the storie of Ester, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations: which follow in the tenth Chapter.

Then Sparthochus sayd, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I saue concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fontaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Ester whom the King married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Jewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lottes, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shall be vnto them in the moneth of Adar the fourthenthy & fiftenthy day of the same moneth, with an assemble and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, accordyng to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

In the fourth yere of the reigne of Ptolomes Ius and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who sayd hee was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolomeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of Artaserai, which the sayde Apstinachus the sonne of Ptolomeus, which was at Jerusalem, interpreted.

11 Or, lottes.

2 In the second yere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes, in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Sparthochus the sonne of Iamus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Benjamin had a dreame.

3 A Jewe dwelling in the citie of Susis, a noble man, that bare office in the kings court.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon brought from from Jerusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Beholde a noyie of a tempest with thunders and earthy quakes, and bypsoe in the land.

6 Beholde, two great Dragons came soothly ready to fight one againt another.

7 Their crye was great; whereby all the hearten were ready to fight againt the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkenesse and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduertitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed, and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the litle well grew into a great river, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light and the sunne rose vp, and the holuy were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Now when Harbocheus had seene this dreame, he awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would do, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Harbocheus in the Kings Court with Bagathas and Thara, the Kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.

2 * But when he heard their purpose, & their imaginations, hee perceived that they went about to lay their hands vpon the King Artaxerxes, and so he certified the King thereof.

3 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuches with tormentes, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to be put in the Chronicles, Harbocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commanded that Harbocheus should remaine in the Court, and for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.

6 But Nimian the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reparation with the King, went about to hurt Harbocheus & his people, because of the two eunuches of the King that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Marbocheus.

THe copie of the letters was this. The great King Artaxerxes wryteth these thinges to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundred and seven and twentie provinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I woulde not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentlenesse to gouerne my subiects, and to holpy to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely goe thorow ouer euery side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellers how these thinges might be brought to passe, one that was conseruant with vs of excellent wisdom, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of lute fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, cilen Nimian,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commandements of kings, and so that this generall empire, that we haue begun, can not be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now we perceine that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, bing strange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome shoulde not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue we commanded that all they that are appointed in wryting vnto you by Nimian (which is ordeined ouer the assayes, and is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and childen bee destroyed and rooted out with the sworde of their enemies without all mercie, and that none bee spared the foureteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yere,

7 That they which of olde, and now also haue ruer bene rebellious, map in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires map be without troubles and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Harbocheus thought vpon all the workes and of the lord, and made his prayer vnto him,

9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the king almightie (for all thinges are in thy power) and if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen & earth, and all the woonidous thinges vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art lord of all thinges, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the lord.

12 Thou knowest all thinges, and thou knowest, lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glorie, that I did this, and not bowe downe to psond Nimian.

13 For I would haue bin content with good will for the saluation of Israel to haue killed the sole of his feet.

14 But I did it, because I woulde not prester the honoz of a man aboue the glorie of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O lord God and King, haue mercie vpon thy people: for they imagine howe they map bring vs to nought, yea, they woulde despoil the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Despoile not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and bee mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorow into ioye, that wee may live, O lord, and praise thy name: shute not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like maner cried most earnestly vnto the lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

Queene Esther also, being in daunger of death, reioyced vnto the Lord,

And layed away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the head of precious ornament, shee scattered albes, and dooing vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her top filled she with the haire that she pluckt off.

And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou art our king: helpe me desolate woman, which haue no helpe but thee.

For my danger is at hand.

From my youth by I haue heard in the kindred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their pdecessours for a perpetual inheritance, and thou hast persecuted that which thou didst promise them.

Now Lord, wee haue sinned befoze thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the hands of our enemies,

Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

Nevertheless, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue broken hands with their idoles.

That they will abolshe the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordinated, & destroy thine inheritance, to shut by the mouth of them that praise thee, & to quench the glosp of thy Temple, and of thine altar,

And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshy king for euer.

O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, least they laugh vs to scorne in our miserie: but turne their deuice vpon themselves, and make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

Giue me an eloquent speech in my mouth befoze the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemies, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

But deliuer vs with thine hande, & helpe me that am solitary, which haue no defence but onely thee.

Thou knowest all thinges, O Lord: thou knowest, that I hate the glosp of the unrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shew my selfe, & that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe,

And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Mans table, & that I haue had no pleasure in the Kings feast, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings,

And that I thine handmaid haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hither vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

Thou mightie God above all, heare the voice of them, that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

Mardocheus mooueth Esther to goe in to the King, and make intercession for her people. 9 And she performeth his request.

Mardocheus also hade Esther to goe in vnto the King, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

Remember, sayth he, the daies of thy lowe estate, howe thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, and speake for vs vnto the King, & deliuer vs from death.

And vpon the third day when she had ended her prayer, shee layed away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell.

And decked her selfe goodly, after that shee had called vpon God, which is the beholder and Saviour of all thinges, and tooke two handmaidens with her.

Vpon the one shee leane'd her selfe, as one that was tender:

And the other followed her, and bare the frame of her besture.

The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.

Then shee went in thorow all the doores, and stood befoze the King, and the King sat vpon his toppall throne, and was clothed in his goodly array, all glittering with golde and precious stones, and he was very terrible.

Then hee lift vp his face that thone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leane'd her selfe vpon the head of the maid that went with her.

Nevertheless, God turned the Kinges minde that he was gentle, who being careful, leaped out of his thone, and rooke her in his armes, till shee came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said, Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheere.

Thou shalt not die: for our commaundment toucheth the commons, & not thee. Come nere.

And so he held by his golden scepter, and layd it vpon her necke,

And kussed her, and said, Talke with me.

Then said shee, I saw thee, O Lord, as an angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

For wonderfull art thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of grace.

And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby heaueneth those which he first sent forth.

Joseph. Ant.
2.1. cap. 6.

The great King Artaxerxes, which reigned from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and seuen and twentie yonnes, sendeth vnto the princes & rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnes of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And inuoluntarily not onely to hurt our subjects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that do them good,

4 And take not onely all thankfulness as a way from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that bee vnderfull of benefites, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oft times many, which bee set in office, and vnto whom their friends causes are committed, by vaine iudgements doe waype them in calamities, that can not bee remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie and gentleness of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may bee prouoed not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such perversities as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore wee must take heede hereafter that we may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shall come,

9 And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentleness.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in deed a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was reuined of vs, 11 And hath prouoed the friendship that we beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he coulde not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to deprime vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifolde deceit also hath he desired to destroy to destroy Harbocheus our yesterer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his mende was (when he had taken them out of the way) to take wayte for vs, and by this meane to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But wee finde that the Jewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they might be destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust lawes,

16 And that they be the children of the most high & almighty and enuourning God, by whom the kingdome hath bene preserved vnto vs, and our progenitors in very good order.

17 Wherefore we shall doe well, if we doe not put in execution those letters that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For hee that intended them, hangeth at Sinus before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deserving.

19 Therefore wee shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Jewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And wee shall adde them, that vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may bee auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them,

21 For Almighty God hath turned to iope the day, wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreover, among other solemne dayes, we shall keepe this day with all gladnesse,

23 That both now and in time to come, this day may bee a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beastes and foules for euer.

The Wisdome of Salomon.

1 Howe wee ought to search and enquire after God.

2 Who bee those that finde him. 5 The holy Ghost.

8. 11 Wee ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 12 Whereof Death cometh. 15 Righteousnesse and vnrightheousnesse.

Due * righteousnesse, we that bee Judges of the earth: thinke remembrance of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

2 * For he wil be found of them that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked though: separate from God: and his power when it is reped, repproueth the vnwise.

4 Because wisdome can not enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne,

5 For the holy * Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without understanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse cometh.

6 For the Spirit of wisdome * is louing, and will not abhorre him, that blasphemeth with his lippes: for God is a winneler of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth all the world: and the same that maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrightheous things, cannot be hid: neither shall the iudgement of repproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sounde of his wordes shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despitely wisdom, and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their woakes unprofitable.

12 Their times are undiscreete, & their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is undesired, and knoweth not the sinfull bed: she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soules,

14 And the Eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall bee giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the roote of wisdom shal neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shal not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.

17 And though they live long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall bee without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of trial.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous and condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

Better is barrennesse with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortall: for it is known with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned & triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the undesired rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children is unprofitable: and the baselard planters shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, yet they shall bee shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shalbe rooted out.

5 For the vnperfect branches shalbe broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable and sowe to eate, and meete for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witness of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous bee prevented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisdom is the gras haire, and an undesired life is the old age.

10 * Hee pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that where as he liued amidg sinners, he translated him.

11 Hee was taken away, least wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his mind.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, & the vnstedfastnesse of conscience peruertereth the simple mind.

13 Though hee was soone dead, yet fullfilled he much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore has hee to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is vpon his saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: & the youth that is soone brought to an end, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the ende of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath demised for him, and therefore the Lord hath preferred him in safety.

18 They see him & despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne.

19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce shall hee burst them, and cast them downe, & shake them from the foundations, so that they shall bee verily wasted, and they shalbe in sorrow, and their memoriall shall perish.

20 So they being aslapt, shall remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednesse shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before their persecutors. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednes of the Saints and godly.

Then shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue toymenated him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shalbe vered with horrible feare, and shall be amazed for his wonderfull behaviour.

3 And shall change their mindes, and sigh for griefe of minde, and pay within themselves, This is he whom wee sometime had in derision on, and in a parable of reproch.

4 * We foolles thought his life madnesse, and his end without honour.

5 Now is hee counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous waues: but wee haue not knowne the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All those things are * passed away like a shadow, and as a posse that passeth by:

10 As a ship that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:

11 * As a bird that flieth thorow in the aire, and no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noise of her wings, beating the light waide, passing the ayre thorow the vehemencie of her going, and flieth on shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found:

12 * As when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the ayre, which immediately cometh together againe, so that a man cannot

15 But the righteous shal liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, & the most High hath care of them.

16 Therefore they shal receiue a glorious kingdom, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall hee couer them, and with his arme shall hee defend them.

17 He shall take his iellousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to bee reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousness for a breast plate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 Hee will take holinesse for an invincible shield.

20 Hee will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, & the world shall fight with him against the unwise.

21 Then shall the thunderbolts goe straight out of the lightnings, and shall sie to the marke as out of the bent bowe of the cloudes, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile bee cast, and the water of the sea shall bee moeth against them, and the floods shall mightily overflow.

22 And a mighty wind shal stand by against them, and like a storme shall scatter the abroad. Thus iniquitie hath bring all the earth to a wildernes, and wickednesse shall overthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, & Judges, which are at so exhorted to search wisdom.

Heare therefore, O ye Kings, & vnderstand: I learne ye that be Judges of the ends of the earth.

2 Give eare, ye that rule the multitudes and gloip in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule is given pon of the Lord, and power by the most High, which will try your workes, and search out your imaginations.

4 Because that ye being Officers of his kingdom haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God,

5 Horribly and suddenly wil he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is most lowe, is worthy mererie, but the mighty shall bee mightily toymen-

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, will spare no person, neither shall hee feare any greatnesse: for he hath made the smal and great, and carety for all alike,

8 But for the mighty abideth the foier trial.

9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, do I speake, that ye may learne wisdom, & not goe amisse.

10 For they that keepe holmesse holly, shall bee holy, and they that are learned there, shall finde a defence.

11 Wherfoe set your delight vpon my wordes and desire them, and ye shalbe instructed.

12 Wisdom shyneth & neuer fafeth away, and is easly seene of them that loue her, and sound of such as seeke her,

13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shall haue no great tranaille: for he shall find her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfitte vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shall be soone without care.

16 For she goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth her selfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue.

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortallitie:

19 And immortallitie maketh vs neere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisdom leadeth to the kingdom.

21 If your delight be then in thrones, & scepters, & kings of the people, honour wisdom, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wisdom is, and whence it cometh, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but wil seeke her out from the beginning of her natuities, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the trueth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with consulting enuie: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisdom.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preservation of the world, and a wise King is the stay of the people.

25 See therefore instructed by my wordes, and ye shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisdom ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I apper selfe also mortall and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers womb was I fashioned to be flesh in ten moneths: I was brought together into blood of the seed of man, & vpon the pleasure that cometh with desire.

3 And when I was borne, I receined the common aire, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no King that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherfoe I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the spirit of wisdom came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters & thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all gold is but a little grauell in respect of her, and silver shall bee counted but 12 So I was glad in all: for wisdom was the authour thereof, and I knewe not that shee was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnsamely, and communi- cated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For shee is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of know- ledge.

15 God hath graunted mee to speake accor- ding to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things, that are giuen mee: for hee is the leader vnto wisdom, and the director of the wise.

16 For in his hands are both wee and our wordes, and all wisdom, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the worlde was made, and the powers of the ele- ments.

18 The beginning and the ende, and the mids of the times: howe the times alter, & the change of the seasons,

19 The course of the yeere, the situation of the starres,

20 The nature of liuing things, and the su- riousnesse of beastes, the power of the windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret and knowen do I knowe: for wisdom is the worker of all things hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirite of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifeste, sub- til, inuincible, cleare, vndeified, euident, not hurt- full, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot bee letted, doing good.

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, ha- ving all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuall, pure, and subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is nimble then all nimble things: shee goeth thorow and attainerh to all things, because of her purenesse.

25 For she is the beaeh of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glo- rie of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 For she is the brightnesse of the euerlas- ting light, the vndeified mirror of the spaciellie of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one, shee can doe all things, and remanring in her selfe, renueth all, and accor- ding to the ages she enueth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loneth none, if he dwel not with wisdom.

29 For she is more beautifull then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For might commeth vpon it, but wicked- nesse cannot overcome wisdom,

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdom.

Shee also teacheth from one ende to another mightily, and comely doeth shee order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marrie her: such loue had I vnto her beautie.

3 In that she is conuersant with God, it com- mendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loneth her.

4 For shee is the Schoolemistresse of the knowledge of God, and the choosier out of his workes.

5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudence worketh, what is it as among all things that worketh better then shee?

7 If a man loue righteousness, her labours are vertuous: for shee teacheth sobrenesse and prudence, righteousness and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, and discern things to come: shee knoweth the subtilities of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentences: shee fore- seeth the signes and wonders, or ener they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my companie, knowing that shee woulde counsell mee good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glorie among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be yong.

11 I shall bee founde of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall be maruillions in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my leisure: when I speake, they shall heare dili- gently, and if I take much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I shall obtaine immor- talitie, and leane an everlasting memorie among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nati- ons shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraide when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be coun- ted good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home I shall rest with hers for her companie hath no bitterness, and her fes- lowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and ioy.

17 Nowe when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, I saw that to bee ioynd vnto wisdom is immor- talitie,

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudence, & glory by communicating with her. I went about, seeking howe I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a twittie childe, and was of a good hert.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vnde- filed body.

21 Perceiue theesse, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her, except God gaue her (and that was a point of wisdome also, to knowe whose gift it was) I went vnto the loyde, and besought him, and with my whole heart I saide,

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wisdome.

O Lord of fathers, and Lord of mercie, which hast made all things with thy word,

8 Thou hast commaunded mee to builde a Temple vpon thine holy Mount, and an altar in the cite, wherein thou dwellest, a likenesse of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And thy * wisdome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knewe what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and sende her from the throne of thy Sanctitie, that shee may bee with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For thee knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and thee shall leade mee soberly in my workes, and pferue me in her gloie.

13 For * what man is he that can knowe the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is?

14 For the thoughtes of mortall men are fearefull, and our forescastes are vncertaine,

15 Because a corruptible body is heauie vnto the soule, and the earthy mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares:

16 And hardly can wee discern the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde wee out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?

17 Who can knowe thy counsell, except thou giue him wisdome, and send thy holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For to the waipes of them which are vpon earth, are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are pferued throughly with wisdome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and the destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdome.

5 Whereouer, * when the nations were ioynd in their malicious confederacies, he knewe the righteous, and pferued him faultlesse vnto God, and kept him sure, because he loued him tenderly as a sonne.

6 Shee pferued the righteous, * when the vngodly perished when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the five cities.

Gen. 19. 16.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste lande that smoketh, yet quietly testifieth, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaythfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisdome, had not onely this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memorial of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisdome deliuered them & serued her.

Gen. 28. 5.

11 Against the covetousnesse of such as defrauded him, shee stood by him and made him rich,

12 Shee saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in waite, and shee gaue him the price in mighty battell, that he might knowe that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 * When the righteous was solde, shee forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: shee went downe with him into the dungeon,

14 And failed him not in the bandes, till shee had brought him the scepter of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him, & them that had accused him, shee declared to be liars, and gaue him perpetuall gloie.

15 * Shee deliuered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

16 Shee entred into the soule of the seruant of the loyde, and stood * by him in wonders and signes against the terrible Kinges.

Exod. 5. 1.

17 Shee gaue the Saints the reward of thir labours, and ledde them forth a marionous way: on the day time shee was a shadowe vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 * Shee brought them through the red sea, and caried them thorow the great water;

19 But shee disuonch their enemies, and brought them out of the bottom of the deepe.

1 The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 28 The great power and mercie of God. He prospered their workes in the handes of Simeon help Prophet.

Exod. 16. 1.

2 They went through the wilderness that was not inhabited, and pitched their tentes in places where there lay no way.

Exod. 17. 10.

3 They stood against their enemies, and were auenged of their aduersaries.

Num. 20. 11.

4 When they were thirstie they called vps on thee, and water was giuen them out of the hie rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things wherebyp their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their neede.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commaundes ment of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne, abundance of water vns looked for.

Exod. 7. 20.

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, how thou haddest punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with merce, they knewe how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these haile thou exhorted as a father, and plooked them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous King, when thou diddest examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceived that through their toyments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the thyngs that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whome afore they had cast out, denied and decided: for they had another christ then this.

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednes wherebwith they were deceived, and worshipped serpentes, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beastes, thou sendest a multitude of vncreasonable beastes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wheres with a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

14 For vnto thine almighty hand, that made the world of nought, it was not impossible to sende among them a multitude of Beares, or fierce Lions.

15 Dyrarious beastes newly created and vnknoyn, which shoulde breathe out blaistes of fire, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like li. burnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroy them with burning, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Pea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroade through the power of thy Spirite: but thou hast ordered all thyngs in measure, number, and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and who can withstande the power of thine armes?

19 For as the small thing that the ballance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dewe, that fallerh downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercie vpon all: for thou hast power of all thyngs, and makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they shoulde amend.

21 For thou louest all the thyngs that are, and hastest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou haddest hated.

22 And howe might any thing endure, if it werenot thy will: or howe coulde any thing be preserved, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the souer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercie of God towards sinners. 14 The workes of God are vnrerrouceable. 19 God giueth leasure to repent.

For thine incorruptible Spirite is in all thyngs.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them meassurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the thyngs where in they haue offended, that leauing wickednes, they may beleue in thee, O Lord.

3 As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices.

5 And slaying of their owne children with out mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banquetting, where the raging Priestes shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whome thou wouldest destroy by the handes of our fathers.

7 That the land which thou louest above all other, might bee a meere dwelling for the children of God.

8 Peneithelasse, thou sparedst them also, as men, and sendest the forerunners of thine holste, euen sonners to destroy them by lile and lile.

9 Not that thou wast unable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beastes, or with one rough worde to destroy them together:

10 But in punishing them by lile and lile, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well, that it was an vnrigheteous nation and wicked of nature, and that their thought coulde neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning: per hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, What hast thou done? or who dare stande against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whome thou hast made? or who dare stande against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

13 For there is none other God but thou, that carest for all thyngs, that thou mayest declare howe that thy iudgement is not vnright.

24 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight require accomptes of them whome thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou ostendest all things righteously, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemn him, that hath not deserved to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfect power, thou declarest thy power, and reprovest the boldnesse of the wile.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equitie, and governest vs with great fauour: for thou makest shewe thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and lowly, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserved death with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednesse,

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast swayne and made covenants of good promises?

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, wee should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercie.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

Chap. 11. 13.
Rom. 1. 23.

24 * For they went astray very farre in the wayes of error, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should be in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not be reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall seeke the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they dishained: but in these whom they counted gods, when they sawe themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

1 All things bee vaine except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

Rom. 1. 19.

Somewhat all men are vaine by nature, and are Signiorant of God, * and couide not knowe him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes, the workes matter.

and 17. 3.

2 * But they thought the fire of the winde, or the swift arie, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lightes of heauen to be gouernours of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie: yet they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowen, howe much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 * If they marvelled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceived thereby, howe much he that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would finde him, and yet peraduenture doe erre.

7 For they * go about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene.

Rom. 1. 21.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can knowe so much, that they can discern the world, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, gold and silver, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beasts, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

14 * Maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spot that is in it.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his mariage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 Yee callest on him that is weake, for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for liues: hee requirith him of helpe that hath no experience at all,

5 Nevertheless, thou wouldest not, that the workes of thy wisdom should be vaine, and therefore doe men commit their lues to a small peece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship and are saued.

Gen. 6. 4. and 7. 10.

6 * For in the old time also when the proud giants perished, the hope of the world went into a shippe which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left seede of generation vnto the world.

Psal. 5. 5.

9 * For the vngodly and his vngodlines are both like hated of God: so truly the worke and he that made it, shall be punished together.

Iero. 10. 8. habac. 2. 18.

10 Therefore shall there bee a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, & a snare for the feete of the vnwise.

11 For the inuention of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for ever.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore that they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whom now hee worshippeth as a god, and offereth to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by procelle of time this wicked custom prevailed, and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of priests.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeite the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a King, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.

17 Again the ambition of the craftesman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For he peradventure willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so through the beantie of the worke the multitude was allured, and so tooke him now for a god, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude through calamitie & tyrannie ascribed vnto stones, and rocks the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreover, this was not ynough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great warres of ignorance, those to great plagues called they peace.

22 For either * they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or viled secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutenesse by strange trees, Iero. 18. 10. iere. 7. 9. and 19. 4.

23 And so keepe neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one flew another by treason, or els bered him by adultery.

24 So were all mixt together, blood, and slaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulness, tumults, perurie, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulness, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adulterie and vncleanness.

26 For the worshipping of idoles, that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause, and the end of all euil.

27 For either they bee mad when they be merie, or prophetic lie, or lye vngodly, or els lightly forswear themselves.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsly, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting themselves vnto idoles, and because they sweare vniuersally to deceiue, and despise holinesse.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voyce of the faithfull, praying the mercy of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

But thou, O our God, art gracious and true, Blesing suffering, and gouernest all things by mercie.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but wee sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfect righteousness, and to know thy power is the roote of immortalitye.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnpossible labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirreth by the desire of the ignorant: so that he conuerteth the soyme, that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things, are woorthie to haue such things to trust to, and they that make the, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

7 The potter * also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth enery vessel with labour to our life: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels that serue to cleane uses, and the contrary likes wise: but whereto enery vessel serueth, the potter is the iudge. Rom. 9. 21.

8 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a bayne god of the same clay: enen hee, which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, & with in a litle while after goeth further againe wher he was taken, * when he shall make a count for the lone of his life. Luke. 12. 20.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour

how hee taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striketh with the goldsmithes, and silversmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceivable things.

10 His heart is alhes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse woorthye of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gave him his soule, that had power and breath in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to bee but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is game: for they say we ought to bee getting on euery side, though it be by euil meanes.

13 Now he that of earth maketh scale beasts and images, knoweth himselfe to offend as bove all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most unwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, & he that hath but a deuoued spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like to himselfe.

17 For seeing hee is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with unrighteous hands: hee himselfe is better then they whom hee worshippeth: for hee liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, & which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Further haue they any beantie to be desired in respect of other beasts, for they are destitute of Gods prayse, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of Idolaters, 20 The benefites done vnto the faithfull.

Therefore by such things they are woorthily punished and tormented by the multitude of beasts.

2 In stead of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfy their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, euen * quailles,

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed and sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a new taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which used tyrannie, should fall into extreme pouertie, & that to these onely it should bee shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

5 For when the cruel fiercenes of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruel serpents,

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a litle season, that they might be reformed, hauing all * signe of saluation to remember the commaundement of thy lawe.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Salomour of all.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euil,

9 * For the biting of grasshoppers and flies filled them, and there was no remedy found for their life: for they were woorthye to be punished by such. Exod. 8. 24. and 10. 4. reuel. 9. 7.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercy came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy wordes, and were speedily healed, least they should fall into so deepe forgetfulness, that they could not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest by againe. Deut. 32. 39. 1. sam. 2. 6. iob. 1. 3. 2.

14 A man in derde by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 * For the vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange rapine and with hable, and were purged with tempest, that they could not auoid, and were consumed with fire. Exod. 9. 23.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beasts, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see, and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the midst of the water aboue the power of fire, so it might destroy the generation of the vniuersall land.

20 * In the stead whereof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels foode, and sent them head ready from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meet for all tastes. Exod. 16. 14. num. 11. 7. psal. 71. 25. iohn 6. 31.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetnes vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meet to that that euery man would.

22 Whereouer the * snow and ice abode so fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the hable, and sparkling in the raine, destroyed the fruite of the enemies. Exod. 9. 23.

23 Again it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that ferueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vngodly: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need thereof.

27 For that which coulde not bee destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a litle with the same beames, melted.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

For the iudgements are great, and cannot be expressed: therefore men do erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrightheous thought to haue time help people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darknesse, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the rooofe did hee tye to escape the euermolting poyndence.

3 And while they thought to bee hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnesse, fearing horrible and troubled with visions.

4 For the deuine that hidde them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them troubled them, and terrible visions and sorrowfull sights did appeare.

5 For power of the fire might giue light, notwithstanding the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afrayd of this vision, which they coulde not see, they thought the things, which they sawe, to bee woefull.

7 And the illusions of the Magicall artes were brought downe, & it was a most shamefull reproche for the boasting of their knowledges.

8 For they that promised to drine away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afrayd at the beasts which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and sayd they sawe not the are, which by no meanes can bee anoyded.

10 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing else, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, & that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe.

14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soules shoulde betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoener fell downe, he was kept and shut in prison, but without chaunces.

16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shephepard, or one that was set to worke as done, if he were taken, he must suffer this necessity, that he could not auoyde.

17 For with one chaunce of darknesse were they all bound: whether it were an hiding wind, or a sweete song of the birdes among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemency of hisse running water.

18 As a great noise of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beasts, that could not be seene, or the noise of cruell beasts, that roared, or the sounde that answereth as game in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Whelp vpon them there fell an heauie night an image of that darknesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more greivous then darknesse.

CHAP. XVIII.

3 The fierie pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliurance of the faithfull. 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people in the wilderness. 21 Aaron stood betwene the liuing and the dead with his censer.

At the same time had a very great light, whose voyce became, they heard, and sawe not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like. Exod. 10. 23. Or, the Egyptians.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 Therefore thou gawest them a burning pillar of fire to leade them in the vnknewen way, and madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable iourney. Exod. 13. 21. and 14. 24. psal. 78. 14. and 105. 39.

4 But they were worthy to bee deuyed of the light, and to bee kept in darknesse, which had kept the children shutte vp, by whome the vncorrupt light of the lawe shoulde be giuen to the world.

5 Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Sannes, by one childe that was cast out, and preferred to repossesse them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them all together in the mightie water. Exod. 1. 16.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified as fore, that they, knowing vnto what othes they had giuen credite, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus they people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed. Exod. 14. 24.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a lawe of righteousness by one consent, that the Sannes shoulde receive good and euill in like manner, and that the fathers shoulde first sing praise.

10 But a disagreeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were betrayed.

11 For the master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the king. Exod. 11. 5. and 12. 29.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to bury them: for in swiftnesse of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that coulde beleue nothing, because cause of the enchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middes of her swift course,

15 Thine almightie word lept downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine unfained commaundes ment, as a sharpe sword, and stood vp, and filled all things with death, & being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull diuinitie bered them suddenly, and fearefulness came vpon them inuawares, 18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the villions that bered them, shewed them these things afoze: so that they were not ignorant, wherfore they perished.

20 Nowe temptation of death toucheth the righteous also, and among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plagus, but the watch endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministracion, euen prayer, and the reconciliati on by the perfume, and let himselfe against the watch, and so brought the miserie to an ende, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For he ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the worde he subdued him that punished, alleaging the othes and covenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, he stood in the mids, and cut off the watch, and parted it from coming to the living.

24 * For the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure cotes of the bones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraide of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the watch.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meat that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue to the will of God.

As for the vngodly, the watch came vpon them without mercie vnto the ende: for hee knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent and pursue them.

3 For while per sorow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whome they had cast out afoze with prayer.

4 For the desire, wherof they were woe, they brought them to this end, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remanued by torments,

5 Both that thy people might trie a marneous passage, and that these might finde a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was fashioned of new, and serued in their owne offices inspired them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouer shadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afoze was water: so that in the red Sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous maruelles.

9 For they steeled like hofes, and leaped like lambes, prapling thee, O Ioyde, which haddest deliuered them.

10 For they were yet mindefull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, holwe the ground brought forth flies in steade of cattell, and howe the river scalded with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 * But at the last they saue a new generation of birds, when they were entiled with lust, and desired delicate meates.

12 * For the quales came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred towarde strangers.

13 For the one sort would not receive them when they were present, because they knewe them not: the other sort brought the strangers vnto bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things some would not suffer, that any regarde should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitously.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banketting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in olde time certame were at the doores of the * righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darknes, sought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one time is changed vpon an instrument of musick, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were chaunged into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrarie vnto his owne vertue, and the water foggate his owne kind to quench.

20 Again, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neyther melted they that which seemed to be per, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortall meate.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despiised to assist them in euery time and place.

The wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and hee lived in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as hee himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdom among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but hee himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So this Iesus died, and left this which hee had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISDOME, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of WISDOME to allure the Reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes, with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approved of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the authour himselfe: moreouer, what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, & what plagues hee had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeed.

The Prologue of the Wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

Wheras many and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law, and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisdom, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned themselves, but also may bee able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable vnto strangers, both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write some thing pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Lawe. Wherefore, I exhort you to receive it longingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good woorth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to atteme to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expelied: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselves then when they are translated into another tongue: and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copie full of great learning, and I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and trauell to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might bee published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply their felues vnto good manners, and liue according to the Law.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisdom commeth of God. 11 A prayse for the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by wisdom.

All wisdom * commeth of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him] and is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? [who can measure] the height of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisdom [of God] which hath bene before all things?

4 Wisdom hath bene created before all things, and the vnderstanding of prudence from euerslasting.

5 [The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisdom, & the euerslasting commandments are the entrance vnto her.]

6 * Vnto whom hath the roote of wisdom bene declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsels?

7 Vnto whome hath the doctrine of wisdom bene discoursed & shewed? and who hath vnderstood the manifold entrance vnto her?

8 There is one wise, [even the most High Creator of all things, the Almighty, the King of power] and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lord that hath created her [thou the holy Ghost:] he hath seene her, numbered her, [and measured her.]

10 Hee hath powred her out vpon all his works, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, and gladnesse, and erripping, and a topfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merrie heart, and giueth gladnesse, and ioy, & long life.

13 Who lo feareth the Lord, it shall go well with him at the last, and he shall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisdom, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, & for the knowledge of the great works thereof.]

15 * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and was made with the faithful in the wombe: [the goeth] in the chosen women, and is known with the righteous & faithful, Psal. 111. 10. prou. 9. 10. iob 28. 28.

18 Who so feareth the Lord, shall prosper, and in the day of his end, he shall be blessed.

19 She hath built her everlasting foundations with men, and is given to bee with their seede.

20 To feare God is the fulnes of wisdome, and fillen men with her fruits.

21 Shee filleth their whole house with [all] things desirable, and the garners with the things that the bringeth forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisdome, and giveth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her and numbred her.

23 ¶ Shee teacheth downe knowledg, and understanding of wisdome, and hath brought vnto honour them that possessed her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the roote of wisdome, and her branches are long life.

25 ¶ In the treasures of wisdome is understanding, and holy knowledg, but wisdome is abhoyred of sinners.

26 The feare of the Lord dyeth out sinne: & when he is present, she dyeth away anger.

27 ¶ For wicked anger can not be iustificed: for his rashnesse in his anger shall bee his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of it.

29 He will hide his words for a time, & manning mens lips shall speake of his wisdome.

30 In the treasures of wisdome, are the secrets of knowledg, but the sinner abhoyreth the trothship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdome, keepe the commandments, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdome and discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meeknesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of a Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 ¶ We not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heede what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, least thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the mids of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousness, bene understanding, and patience. 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted & impatient.

Mot sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, [stand fast in righteousness and feare, and] prepare thy soule to temptation.

2 Settle thine heart, and be patient: [bovve downe thine eare, and receiue the wordes of understanding] and thinke not away, when thou art assailed. [but waite vpon God patiently.]

3 Joyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayest be increased at thy last end.

4 Whatsoever cometh vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and bee patient in the change of thine affliction.

5 ¶ For as gold [and silver are] tried in the fire, even so are men acceptable in the foynace of aduersitie.

6 Beleeue in God, and hee will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: [holde fast his feare, and growe oide therein.]

7 ¶ He that feare the Lord, wait for his mercie: shynke not away from him that he fall not.

8 ¶ He that feare the Lord, beleeue him, & your reward shall not faile.

9 ¶ Wee that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the everlasting ioy and mercie.

10 ¶ [Hee that feare the Lord, loue him, and pour hearts shall be lighen d.]

11 Consider the olde generations [of men, pe children,] and marke them well: * was there ever any confounded, that put his trust in the Lord: or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken: or whome did wee euer despise, that called vpon him.

12 For God is gracious and mercifull, and forgiveth sinnes, and sancteth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the truth.]

13 Woe vnto them that haue a fcarefull heart, [and to the wicked lippes] and to the faint handes, and to the sinner that goeth two * maner of wayes.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted, for he beleeueth not: therefore shall hee not be defended.

15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right wayes, & are turned backe into froward wayes:] for what will ye doe when the Lord shall visit you:

16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his word: and they that loue him, will keepe his wayes.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, & humble their soules in his sight.

19 ¶ [They that feare the Lord, keepe his commandments, & will be patient till he see them, 20 Saying, If we doe not repent] we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

The children of wisdome are the Church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and loue.

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, & childeyn, and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honour of the childyn, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the childyn.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiven him, [and he shall abide from them, and shall haue his dapply desires.]

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

30 The persuasion of the proud is without remedy, and his steps shall bee plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him, [and he shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentive eare is the desire of a wise man.

32 [Thou heart that is wise & vnderstanding, will abstaine from sinne, and shall prosper in the workes of righteousness.]

CHAP. IIII.

1 Almes must bee done with gentlenesse. 12 The studie of wisdom and her fruit. 20 An exhortation to eschew euil, and to doe good.

M P sonne, defraud not the * poore of his liuing, and make not the needy eyes to waite long.

Deut. 15. 7.

2 Spake not an hungry soule sorrowfull, neither bere a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieved, and deferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore.

Tobit 4. 7.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euil of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] & bowe downe thy head to a man of worth.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bowe downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy debt] and giue him a friendly answer.

9 I Deliuere him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressor, & be not faint hearted when thou iudgest.

|| Ro. 20 defend him.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High: and he shall loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisedome exalteth her children, and receiveth them that seeke her, [and will goe before them in the way of righteousness.]

12 Hee that loneth her, loneth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great joy.

13 Hee that keepeth her, shall inherite gloie: for vnto whom she enueth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shall be p seruants of the holy one, and them that loue her, the Lord doeth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and hee that goeth vnto her, shall diuelli safely.

16 Hee that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, & his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first she wil walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him vnto feare, & deead, and torment him with her discipline vntill hee haue tried his soule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will shee retorne the straight way vnto him and comfort him, and shew him her secretes, [and heape vpon him the treasures of of knowledge, and understanding of righteousness.]

19 But if he goe wrong, he will forsake him, and give him over into the handes of his destruction.

20 [If any sonne,] make much of time, and *eschewe the thing that is euill, 21 And bee not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou bee not conformed to thine owne decap. [and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisdomne when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdomne knowen, and learning by the wordes of the tongue, [and counsell, wisdomne and learning by the talking of the wise, and steadfastnesse in the workes of righteousness.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of trueth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Bee not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the course of the riuier.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.

28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy toshes.

30 Bee not as a yon in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor oppresse them that are vnder thee.]

31 *Lec not thine hand be stretched out to receive, and shut when thou shouldest give.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may wee not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

2 Trust not vnto thy *riches, and say not, I haue pnowgh for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance & indignation.]

3 Followe not thine owne vnde and thy strength to walke in the waues of thine heart:

4 Neither say thou, [Howe haue I had strength?] or who will bring mee vnder for my workes? For God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

5 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto mee? for the almightie is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee unpunished.

6 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not with out feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

7 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he will forgive my manifold sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation connecteth dolour vpon sinners.

8 Make no carping to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy securitie thou shalt bee destituted, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

9 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.]

10 Be not carried about with enery wind, and goe not into enery way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

11 Stand fast in thy sure understanding [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one manner of worde, [and follow the word of peace and righteousness.]

12 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest understand it, and make a true answer with wisdomne.

13 *Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and give a patient answer.

14 If thou hast understanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [least thou be trapped in an vndiscreet word, and so be blamed.]

15 Honour and shame is in the taske, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

16 Be not coumed a *falsebearer, and lie not in waite with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the thiefe, and an euil condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a backbiter shall be hated, enuied and confounded.]

17 Do not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the property of a sinner to be euil tongued, 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

2 Be not of a friend [thy neighbours] an enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall bee in infame as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

3 Bee not proud in the deuice of thine owne mind, least thy soule rent thee as a bull,

4 And eate by thy leaues, and destroy thy fruite, and so thou bee left as a dry tree [in the wilderness.]

5 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the position of the vngodly.]

6 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

7 Hold friendship with many, nevertheless, haue but one counsellor of a thousand.

8 If thou gettest a friend, proue him first, and be not hastie to credite him.

9 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, & will not abide in the day of thy tribulation.

10 And there is some friend that turneth to enmitie, & taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

11 Againne friend * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

12 But in thy prosperitie he will be as thou thy selfe, and will be libertie ouer thy seruants.

13 If thou be brought lowe, he will be against thee, and will hyde himselfe from thy face.

14 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

15 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such a one, findeth a treasure.

16 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of gold and silver] is not to be compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

16 A faithfull friende is the medicine of life [and immortalitye,] and they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aight, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 If my sonne, receiue doctrine from thy mouth: so shalt thou finde wisdom [which shall endure] till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and waite for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke: but thou shalt eate of her fruits right soone.

20 Howe exceeding sharpe is hee to the wise learned: hee that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one she is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisdom, but there be but few that haue knowledge of her.

23 [For with them, that knowe her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue care, my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell.

25 And put thy feete into her limes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bowe downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not wearie of her bandes.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and searce her, and thee shalbe sheued thee: and when thou halt gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shall be turned to thy ioy.

30 When shall her setters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] & her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bandes are the laces of purple colour.

32 When shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt bee taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

36 *Desire to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou seest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foote weare the heppes of his bootes.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and bee continually occupied in his commandements: so shall hee establish thine heart, and giue thee wisdom at thine owne desire.

CHAP. VII.

1 We must for sake euil, and yet not iustifie our selves. The behaviour of the wise toward his wife, his friend, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

Deo no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, solue not vpon the furrowes of vnrightheousnesse, least that thou reape them seven folde.

4 If the not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the King the seate of honour.

5 *Justifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for] he knoweth thine heart, and boast not thy wisdom in the presence of the King.

6 Seeke not to bee made a Judge, least thou bee not able to take away iniquitie, and least thou, fearing the person of the mighty, thou dost commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offende not against the multitude of a cite, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 *Bind not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be unpunished.

9 Sap not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most High God, he will accept it.

10 Bee not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scoone in the heavinesse of his soule: for [God which seeth all things] is hee that can bring downe, and set vp againe.

12 Solue not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 We not to make any manner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many wordes when thou art among the Elders, neither *repeate a thing in thy prayer.

15 Hate not laborious *worke, neither the husbandrie, which the most High hath created.

16 Remember not thy life in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy minde greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the golde of Egypt.

19 Depart not from a wife and good woman, [that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the seate of the Lord:] for her grace is aboue golde.

20 *Whereas thy seruant travaileth cruelly, increase him not euill, nor the hireling that becometh himselfe whole for thee.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and besfraude him not of libertie, [neither leaue him a poore man.]

22 *If thou haue cattell, looke well to them, and if they bee for thy profit, keepe them with thee.

23 *If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and hold their necke from their youth.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their bodies, and helpe not thy face cheerefull toward them.

25 Marrie thy daughter, and so shalt thou performe a weightie matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy minde, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the hateful.

27 *Honour thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the Lordswes of thy mother.

28 Remember that thou wast boyne of them, and how canst thou recompense them þ things that they haue done for thee?

29 ¶ Feare the worde with all thy soule, and honour thy ministers.

30 Loue him that made thee, with all thy strength, * and forsake not his seruantes.

31 Feare the lord with all thy soule, and honour the Priestes, * and gve them their position, as it is commaunded thee, the first frutes, [and purification] and sacrifices for sinne, and the offerings of the shoulders, and the sacrifices of sanctification, and the first frutes of the holy things.

32 Stretch thine hande vnto the poore, that thy blessing, [and reconciliation] map bee accomplished.

33 Liberalitie pleaseth all men liuing, & from the dead restrain it not.

34 * Let not them that weepe, bee without comfort: but mourne with such as mourne.

35 * Wee not slowe to visite the sick: for that shall make thee to be beloved.

36 Whatsoeuer thou takest in hand, remember the end, and thou shalt neuer doe amisse.

CHAP. VIII.

We must take heede with whom we haue to doe.

Striue not with a mightie man, least thou fall into his hands.

2 * Make not variance with a rich man, least hee on the other side weigh downe thy weight: * for golde [and siluer] hath destroyed many, and hath libuered the hearts of kings.

3 Striue not with a man þ is full of wordes, and lay no stickes vpon his fire.

4 Blap not with a man that is vntaught, lest thy kindred be dishonoured.

5 * Despise not a man that turneth himselfe away from sinne, nor cast him not in the teeth withall, but remember that wee are all worthy blame.

6 * Dishonour not a man in his olde age: for they were as we which are not olde.

7 Bee not glad of the death of thine enemy, but remember that wee must die all, [and so enter into ioy.]

8 * Despise not the exhortation of the [Elders] that bee wise, but acquaint thy selfe with their wise sentences: for of them thou shalt learne wisdom, [and the doctrine of vnderstanding,] and howe to serue great men [with out complaint.]

9 Goe not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make answer in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coales of sinners, [when thou rebukest them,] least thou be burnt in the fierie flames [of their sinnes.]

11 Kise not by against him that doth wrong, that hee lap not waite as a spie for thy mouth.

12 * Lend not vnto him that is mightier then thy selfe: for if thou lendest him, count it but lost.

13 Wee not surterie aboute thy power: for if thou be surterie, thinke to pay it.

14 Goe not to lawe with the Iudge: for they will giue sentence according to his owne honour.

15 * Tranasse not by the way with him that is rash, lest hee doe thee iniurie: for he followeth his owne wilfulness, and so shalt thou perishe through his folly.

16 * Striue not with him that is angrie, and goe not with him into the wilderness: for blood is as nothing in his sight, and where there is no helpe, he will ouerthie to thee.

17 Take no counsell at a foole: for he cannot keepe a thing close.

18 Doe no secret thing befoze a stranger: for thou canst not tell what he goeth about.

19 Open not thine heart vnto euery man, lest hee bee vnthankfull vnto thee, [and put thee to repproofe.]

CHAP. IX.

Of Ielousie. 12 An olde friend is to be preferred befoze a newe, 18 Righteous men should be hidden to thy table.

Be not ielous ouer thy wife of thy bosome, neither teache her by thy meanes an euill lesson.

2 Gine not thy life vnto a woman, least shee overcome thy strength, [and so thou bee consumed.]

3 Weete not an harlot, least thou fall into her snares.

4 Use not the companie of a woman that is a finger, [and a dancier, neither heare her,] least thou be taken by her craftinesse.

5 Gaze not on a * mappe, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her.

6 * Cast not thy minde vpon harlots [in any manner of thing,] least thou destrop [both thy selfe and] thine heritage.

7 Goe not about gazing in the streetes of the cite, neither wander thou in the secreete places thereof.

8 * Turne away thine epe from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beaultie: for many * haue perished by the beaultie of women: for through it loue is kindled as a fire.

9 [Euery woman that is an harlot, shall be trodden vnder foote as doung, of euery one that goeth by the way.]

10 Many wondering at the beaultie of a strange woman, haue bin cast out: for her wordes burne as a fire.]

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife, [neither he with her vpon the bed,] nor banquet with her: least thine heart incline vnto her, and so through thy desire fall into destruction.

12 ¶ Forsoke not an olde friende: for the netwe shall not be like him: a newe friende is as newe wine: when it is olde, thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 * Desire not the honour [and riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall bee his ende.

14 Delight not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shall not be found iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slap: so shalt thou not doubt þ feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, lest hee take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the middes of snares, and that thou walkest vpon the towres of the cite.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proude, O earth and ashes: there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one would euill sell his soule, and for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of small indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale is grievous to the Physician.]

11 The Physician cutteth off the soze disease, and he that is to day a King, to morrowe is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proude, seeing that when a man dyeth, hee is the heire of serpents, beastes, and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the original of sinne, and hee that hath it, shall poweie our abomination, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the persuasions [of the wicked] to dis-honour, and destretheth them in the ende.

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wraith in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man, which is an honourable seede: the honourable seede are they that feare the Lord: there is a seede of man, which is without honour: the seede without honour, are they that transgresse the commandments of the Lord: it is a seede that remaineth, which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seede without honour, that despise the lawe, & a decieuable seede that breake the commandments.

5 Many triantes haue sit downe vpon the earth, * and the vniuersall hath worne þe crowne.

6 Many mighty men haue bin brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue bene deliuered into other mens hands.

7 ¶ [Blame [no man] before thou hast inquired the matter: understand first, and then resourne righteousness.]

8 * Give no sentence before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the mids of their tales.

9 Scurie not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

10 Opp some, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou game much, thou shalt not be blameles, and if thou followe after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

11 * There is some man that laboureth and taketh payne, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth.

12 Againe there is some that is slouthfull, & * hath neede of helpe: for he wanteth strength, and hath great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him by from his lowe estate,

13 And hee lieth vpon his head: so that many men maruaille at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]

14 * Prosperitie and aduersitie, life & death, pouertie and riches, come of the Lord.

15 Wisedome and knowledg, and vnderstanding of the lawe are of the Lord: loue and good workes come of him.

16 Error and darkenesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselves in euill, ware abide in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and his hardship, and this is the portion of his wages, 19 In that he saith, * I haue gotten rest, and nowe will I eate continually of my goods, yet he considereth not that the time draweth nere, that hee must leane all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 ¶ Garnelle not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and hee maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profite and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shall I haue hereafter?

24 Againe say not, I haue enough, and possesse many things, and what euill can come to me hereafter?

25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to rewarde a man according to his wages.

27 The aduersitie of an yowre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans ende, his workes are discovered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe knowne by his children.

29 Whynot not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many crames, [and are like stomaches that belche stinking.]

30 As a partrieh is taken vnder a basker, [and the hinde is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proude man, which like a spie watereth for thy fall.

31 For hee lieth in waite and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy playse he will finde some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinfull man lapeth waite for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and he will destroy thee with vniuersallite, and dyne thee from thine owne.

C H A P. XII.

1 Unto whom wee ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

W Hen thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefices.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, Gal. 6. 10. 1. Tim. 5. 8.

3 He cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercy vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: holde backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, least hee ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot be knownen in prosperitie, neither can an enemy be vknownen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieveth his enemies, but in heavinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemy: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, & beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as hee that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt knowe that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest hee destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, lest hee seeke thy roume, and thou at the last remember thy wordes, and be pricked with thy sayings.

16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

17 * An enemye is sweete in his lips: he can make many good wordes, & speake many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitye, hee will not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though hee pretend to helpe thee, yet shall hee vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clap his hands, & will make many wordes, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companie of the proud and of the rich are to be eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe companie with their like.

Deut. 7. 2.

HE * that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proude, shall be like vnto him.

2 Burthen not thy selfe about thy power, whilst thou liest, and companie not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for howe agree the Kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrightheously, & threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreat: if the rich haue done wrong, he must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall straightwayes be threatened.

4 If thou be for his profit, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, hee will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, & will not care for it.

6 If hee haue need of thee, hee will defraud thee, and will laugh at thee, & put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will hee shame thee in his meat, but till hee haue suct thee cleane vp thine of thine, and at the last he will laugh thee to scorne: afterward when hee seeth thee, hee will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and wait vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou bee not deceived in thine owne conceite, and brought downe by thy simplicity: [be not too humble in thy wisdom.]

10 If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Pleaue not thou vnto him, that thou bee not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraue not thy selfe from his speech, but hekene not his many wordes: for with much communication will hee tempt thee, and laughingly will hee groye thee.

13 He is vnniercissfull, and keepeth not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, & take good heed: for thou wal-kett in perill of thine onerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, & call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶ Every beast loneth his like, and euery man loneth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man will keepe companie with such as hee is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowshipp hath ¶ hyena with a dog? and what peace is betwene the rich and the poore?

20 As the wilde asse is the Lions praye in the wilderness, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proud hate humilitie, so do the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends deserue him away.

23 If a rich man offend, hee hath many helpers: hee speaketh proud wordes, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though hee speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what he saith, they please it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if he do amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a reward of his wickednesse.

7 And if hee doe any good, hee doeth it not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauailes vnto another, and thy labours for the diuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue & take & sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousness before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

17 * All flesh wareth olde, as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death.

4 Ye shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not be mooued, and shall holde himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

5 She shall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the congregation shall the open his mouth: [with the spirit of wisdom, and understanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of gloyp.]

6 Shee shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an euercasting name.

7 But foolishly men will not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding will meet her:] the sinners shall not see her.

8 For thee is farre from pride [and deceit,] and men that lie, cannot remember her: [but men of truely shall haue her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdom, [and be plentifulous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord will prosper it.

11 Sap not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to doe the things that he hateth.

12 Sap not thou, Ye hath caused me to erre: for he hath no need of the sinful man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of seruour:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

14 * He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsell [and gaue him his commandments and precepts.]

16 Ye hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 * Before man is life and death, [good and euill:] what him liketh, shall be giuen him.

18 For the wisdom of the Lord is great, and he is mightie in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

19 * And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and hee knoweth all the works of man.

20 He hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to sinne: [for hee desireth] not a multitude of misdeeds, and disposittable children.]

Desire not the multitude of disposittable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the citie be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shall be wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 * In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vnfaitfull people 10, shall the wrath be set on fire.

7 * He spared not the olde giants which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength, 11 Therefore if there be one sinneked among the people, it is maruell if hee scape unpunished: for mercie and wrath are with him: he is mighty to forgive, and to poyse our displeasures.

12 * As his mercie is great, so is his punishment also: * he iudgeth a man according to his workes.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoyle, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deedes, and euery one shall finde according to his workes, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrims image.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharaos, that he should not knowe him, and that his workes should be knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercie is knowen to all creatures: he hath separate his light from the darkenes with an adamant.

17 Sap not thou, I will hide my selfe from the Lord: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I shall not be knowen in to great an heape of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Beholde, the heauen, and the * heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, and the earth, and all that therein is, shall be moued when he shall visite.

19 All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountanes also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doeth no heart vnderstande woorthily, [but hee vnderstandeth enerie heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his waues? and the stome that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousnesse? or who can abide them? for his ordinances is farre off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and errouis man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 O my soune, hearken vnto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my wordes with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee weightie doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath hee sundred from the other when hee first made them.

27 He hath garnished his workes for ever, and their beginnings so long as they shall endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindereth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his workes.

29 After this the Lord looked vpon the earth, and filled it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beasts hath hee couered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

1 The creation of man, and the goodness that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of almes, 22 and repentance.

The Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe.

He gaue him the number of dayes and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

He clothed them with strength, as they had neede, and made them according to his image.

He made all flesh to feare him, so that hee had the dominion ouer the beasts, and foules.

[* He created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe,] and gaue them discretion, and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and first hee gaue them a spirit, and then hee gaue them speech to declare his workes,

And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill.

He set his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble workes,

And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should proudly declare his workes, and that the elect should praise his holy name together.

Beside this, hee gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the lawe of life for an heritage, that they might nowe knowe that they were mortal.

Hee made an euertlasting couenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

Their eyes sawe the maiestie of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voice,

And hee saide vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. * Hee gaue euery man also a commaundement concerning his neighbour.

Their waues are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

Euery man from his mouth is giuen to euill, and their stome heartes cannot become flesh.

He appointed a ruler vpon euery people, when hee diuided the nations of the whole earth.

* And hee did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom hee nourished with discipline as his first borne, and giueh him most louing light, and doth not forsake him.

All their workes are as the sinne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their waues.

None of their vnrighteousnesse is hidde from him, but all their sinnes are before the Lord.

And as he is mercifull, and knoweth his workes, he doth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

* The almes of a man, is as a thing sealed vpon him, and hee keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueh repentance to their sonnes and daughters.

At the last shall hee arise, and rewarde them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads.

HE that liueth for ever, * made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious king for ever.]

2 He ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and diuiderh the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath hee giuen power to expasse his workes? who wil seeke out the ground of his noble acts?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnesse? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercie?

5 As for the woonderous workes of the Lord, there map nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing bee put vnto them, neither map the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, hee must beginne againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an ende, hee must goe againe to his labour.

12 The mercie that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lord is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, and nurrereth, and reacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

14 ¶ App sonne, when thou doest good, re-proue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vie no discomfortable wordes.

24 * When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouertie and need.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Every wise man knoweth wisdom, and knowledge, and prayeth him that sinneth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in wordes: [they vnderstand the truely and rightheousnesse,] and pouer out with modestie graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 * Follow not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

1 Wine and whoredome bring men to powertie. 6 In thy word is discretion. 22 The difference of the wisdom of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayest knowe what is in man.

A labouring man that is giuen to drunkennesse, shall not be rich: and he that conceiveth small things, shall fall by little and little.

2 * Wine and women leade wise men out of the way, [and put men of understanding to reproo.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, shall become impudent : rottennesse and wozines shall haue him to heritage, and hee that is too bolde, shall be taken away, and be made a publicke example.

4 * He that is hasty to giue credite, is lightly minded, and hee that errerth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so relapseth in wickednesse, shall be punished : [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shall be shortened, and hee that abhorreth babbling of wordes, quencheth wickednesse:] but hee that resisteth pleasures, crowneweth his owne soule.

6 He that refrainerth his tongue, may liue with a troublefome man, and hee that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Hee that is not to an other, that which is toide vnto thee : so thou shalt not be hindred.

8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the time apperaine not vnto thee, trowle it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, he will hate thee.

10 * If thou hast heard a worde [against thy neighbour,] let it dye with thee, and be sure, it will not burst thee.

11 A foole tranaieth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arrowe that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

13 Reproue a friend least he doe euill, and if he haue done it, that hee doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friende that he may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that hee say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a slander is rapied, and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: * and who is hee, that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the lawe of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be reueired of him, and wisdom obtaineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandments of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receive the fruite of immortallitie.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wise dome, and the performing of the law is perfect wisdom, & the knowledge of his almighty power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not doe as it pleaseth thee, though afterward he doe it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednes is not wisdom, neither is there prudence where as the counsell of sinners is : but it is euen execrable malice: and the tooles is boide of wisdom.

23 Hee that hath small vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdom, and transgresseth the lawe of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is unrighteous : & there is that welsetteth the open and manifest lawe : yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, doe bowe downe themselves, and are sadde, whose inward partes burne altogether with deuite : hee looketh downe with his face, and sameth himselfe deafe : yet before thou perceiue, he will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though hee be so weake that hee can doe thee no harme, yet when hee may finde opportunity, he will doe euill.

There is some rebuke that is not comely : as to gaine, some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2 It is much better to reprove, then to beare euill will: and he that acknowledgeth his fault, shall be preserved from hurt.

3 As * when a gelded man through lust Chap. 30. 20, would defile a maide, so is hee that useth violence in iudgement.

4 Howe good a thing is it, when thou art reprimed, to shewe repentance: for so shalt thou escape wifull time.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is sounde wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answer : and some keepeth silence, waiting a convenient * time.

7 * A wife man will holde his tongue till hee see opportunitie : but a trifler and a foole will regard no time.

8 He that useth many wordes, shall be abhorred, and hee that taketh authoritie to himselfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and sometime a thing that is found, bringeth losse.

12 Some man bupeth much for a litle price: for the which he payeth seven times more.

13 * A wise man with his wordes maketh himselfe to be loued, but the mery tales of fooles shall be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuius for his importunitie: for hee looketh to receive many things for one: hee getteth litle, and he vphybberth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne crier: to day hee lendeth, to morowe asketh hee againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole sayth, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eate my bread, speake euill of me.

16 Howe oft, and of howe many shall he be laughed to scornes: for he conuysheideth not by right iudgement that which hee hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pavement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft tolde by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it cometh out of a fooles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieved when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because hee is ashamed, and for the regard of persons looeth it.

22 Some man promisseth vnto his friends for shame, and getteth an enemy of him for nought.

23 * A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vniuse.

24 A theefe is better, then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of liars are vn honest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 * He that respecteth his land, shall increase his praye: [he that worketh righteousness, shall be exalted,] and he that pleaseeth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

28 * Rewards and giftes blinde the eyes of the wife, and make them dumme, that they can not reprove faultes.

29 Wisdome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisdome.

31 The necessarie patience of him that followeth the Lord, is better then he that goeth neth his life without the Lord.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but hee that feareth the Lord conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen afarre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the ende thereof is hell, [darknesse and paines.]

11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, keepeth his owne affections thereby: and the increase of wisdome is the ende of the feare of God.

Or, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that is creaserth bitterness.

13 The knowledge of the wife shall abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fontaine of life.

1 Of the fluggard. 12 Not to speake much to a foole.
16 A good conscience seareth not.

A Slouthfull man is like a fleshy stone, which euerp man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the bding of oren, and euerp one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An enill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to bee esteemed.

4 A wife daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but shee that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 Shee that is bolde, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferiour to the bngodly,] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisdom knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that gleweth a potthearde together, and as hee that waketh one that sleeper, from a sounde sleepe.

8 If childzen liue honestly, and haue wheres with, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if childzen be proude, with hautinesse and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of their kindred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisdom, is as a man which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath tolde his tale, he sauerh, What is the matter?

11 * Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for hee is at rest: but the life of the foole is woyle then the death.

12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole and bngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstanding: * beware of him least it turne thee to paine, and lest thou bee defiled when he shaketh him selfe. Depart from him: and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not reeuee sorrowe by his foolishnesse.

14 What is heavier then leade? and what other name should a foole haue?

15 * Sand and salt, and a lump of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and bngodly man.]

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot bee loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discrete wisdom, is as a faire playstring on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on hie, cannot abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that hurteth the eye bringeth forth reares, and hee that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who to casteth a stone at the birds, strapeth them away: and he that vphapderh his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou diwest a sworde at thy friend, yet despair not: for there may bee a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may bee a reconciliation, so that vphapding or pride or disclosing of secrets, or a traperous wound doe not let: for by these things euerp friend will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioice in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the tyme of his tribulation, that thou mayest bee ioyous with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to be continued, nor the riche that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour, and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill wordes, [rebukes and threatenings] goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither wil I hide my selfe from him, though he should do me harme: whosoever heareth it, shall beware of him.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdom in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let their faults passe?

|| That is, of the tongue and lips.

3 Let mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abound to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioice ouer mee, whose hope is farre from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [leane me not in their imagination] neither giue me a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruantes a stout minde.

5 Take from mee vaine hope, and concupiscence, and retaine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh holde mee, and que not mee thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 I feare. O peecl idgen, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truth: who lo keepeth it, shall not perih through his lips, [nor be hurt by wicked workes.]

one: [for thou shalt not bee unpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruante which is oft punished, cannot bee without some skarce, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not bee faultlesse.

11 A man that useth much swearing shall bee filled with wickednesse, & the plague shall neuer goe from his house: when hee shall offende, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledg not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if hee sweare in vaine, he shall not bee innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the thirde bringeth wrath [and destruction]: a minde hote as fire that cannot be quenched, till it bee consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till hee haue kindled a fire.

17 All bread is sweete to a whoresonger: he will not leaue off till hee perish.

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, *Who seeth mee? I am compassed about with darknesse: the walles couer me: no body seeth mee: whom neede I to feare? the most High will not remember my finnes.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the waies of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secrete partes.

20 Hee knoweth all things or ener they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, hee looketh vpon them all.

21 *The same man shall bee punished in the streets of the citie, & shall bee chafed like a pong hoyle soale, & when hee shal thinke not vpon it, hee shall be taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of euery man, because hee would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife that leaueh her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 *For first the harp disbeeped the Lawe of the most High, and secondly, the harp trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, she harp played the whore in adulterie, and gotten her children by another man.

24 She shall be brought out into the Congregation, and examination shall bee made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branch shall bring forth no fruite.

26 A shameful report shall shee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to followe the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

4 In the multitude of the chosen shee shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be praised, and shall say,]

4 ¶ How pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the Elders can giue good counsell!

5 ¶ Oh, how comely a thing is wisdom vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 ¶ There be nine things, which I haue minded in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath lope of his children, and leaeth the fall of his enemies.

8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * & that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are unworthy of him.

9 Well is him that findeth prudence, and he that speaketh in the eares of the that will heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is hee that findeth wisdom! per is there none about him that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God,] Vnto whom shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioued to him.

14 [¶ The greatest heavinesse is the heavinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Gue me any plague, saue only the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault saue the assault of the that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemy.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, & there is no wiaht about the wiaht of an enemy.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as a sacke.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her he sighteth soe of her beware.

21 All wickednesse is but litle to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing wy of a sandie way, is to the feete of the age, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, hee is angry and inpendent and full of respect.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sope heart, an humble

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the zealous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which mooveth wrath.

Blessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife:
for the number of his peeres shall be double.

2 An honest woman reioiceth her husband, and she shall fill the peeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall be given for a gift unto such as feare
the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times have a cherefull countenance.

5 There bee three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth:
treason in a citie: the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heavier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorrow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is ielous over another: and she that communieth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An evil wife is as a poke of oren that draw divers waipes: hee that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for she cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoresonne of a woman may bee known in the pride of her eyes, and rie lids.

Chap. 42. 11. 10 ¶ If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, least she abuse her selfe through os-tentimuch libertie.

11 Take heed of her that hath an unshame-fast eye: & mariell not if shee trespass agaynst
thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shall he open her mouth, and drinke of every next water: by every begge shall shee sit downe, and open her quiver agaynst every arrows.

13 The grace of a wife reioiceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her understanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast & faithfull woman is a domble grace, and there is no weight to bee compared unto her continent mind.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lorde, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is upon the holy can-dlesicks, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are upon the tops

kets of silver: so are faire sette with a constant mind.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be laped upon a strong rocke: so are the commandements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 App some, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and give not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fieldes, sowe it with thine olive seed, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall line after thee, shall growe, trusting in the great liberalitie of their nobilitie.

23 An hal lot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towze as gainst death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is given as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is given to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame:
but a shamefast woman wil reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dog: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wise of all: but she that despiseth him, shall be blazed for her pride.

28 A lowde crying woman and a babler, let her bee fought out to dyne away the enemies: the mind of every man that lieth with such, shall be conversant among the troubles of warre.

29 There bee two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh me anger: a man of warre that suffreth povertrie: and men of understanding that are not fed by: and when one departeth from righteousness unto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to bee hard and perillous,] a merchant cannot lightely keepe him from wrong, and a brailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The unconstancie of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be uttered.
26 The wicked imagineth evil which turneth upon himselfe.

Because of povertie have many sined: and he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

2 As a nail in the wall sticketh fast betwene the joints of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke be-twene the setting and the buying.

3 If he hold him not diligently in the feare of the Lorde, his house shall soone be overthrowen.

4 As when one sicketh, the sickness remaineth in the seene, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The somer proueth the potters besell:
so doeth [temptation] try mens thoughts.

6 ¶ The fruite declared if the tree have bene trimmed: so the woide [declareth] what man hath in his heart.

7 Praise no man except thou have heard his talke: for this is the trial of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousness, thou shalt get her, & put her on as a faire garment, and shalt dwell with her, [and she shall defend thee for ever: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt finde steadfastness.]

9 The birdes resort vnto their like: so doeth the crueltie turne vnto them, that are practised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscreet, obserue the time, but haunt still the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grievous, & their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

14 ¶ The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: & to strue with such, stoppereth the eares.

15 The strife of the proud is bloodshedding, and their scoldings are grievous to heare.

16 ¶ Who so discouereth secretes, loseth his credite, and findeth no friend, after his will.

17 Loose thy friend, & be faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewrappest his secretes, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroypeth his enemy, so doeth thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bird goe out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 ¶ Follow after him no more, for hee is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for woundes, they may bee bound vp againe, and an euil word may be reconciled: but who so bewrappest the secretes of a friend, hath lost all his credite.

22 ¶ He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, hee will speake sweetly, and praye thy wordes: but at the last he will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on him, casteth it vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with gunle, maketh a great wound.

26 Who so "biggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and hee that laierh a stone in his neighbours wap, shall stumble thereon,] and he that laierh a snare for another, shall be taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euil, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproch follow the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lion.

29 They that riotose at the fall of the righteous, shall be taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despire & anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

He that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his finnes. Deut. 32. 35. rom. 12. 19.

2 ¶ Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that he hath done to thee, so shall thy finnes be forgiven thee also when thou prayest. † Man ought not to seeke vengeance.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and desire forgiveness of the Lord? Mat. 6. 14.

4 He wil shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiveness of his owne finnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred, [and aske pardon of God,] who will intreat for his finnes?

6 Remember the end and let enmitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but perseuere in the commandments.

7 Remember the commandments: so shalt thou not bee rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the covenawnt of the most High, and forgive his ignorance.

8 ¶ Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy finnes fewer: for an anger man kindlyth strife. Chap. 8. 25.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is he inflamed. Pro. 26. 21.

11 Wilt thou halting kindleth a fire, and wilt thou halting kindleth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witness, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blowe the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 ¶ Abhorre the slanderer and double tongued: for such haue destroyped many that were at peace. † The tongue. Chap. 21. 28.

14 The double tongue hath disquieted many, and giuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and bene the decay of mightie nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so harkeneth vnto it, shall neuer find rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and cometh not in the anger thereof, which hath not daunen in that poke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the poke thereof is a poke of iron, and the bands thereof are bands of brass.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hee were better then such one.

22 He that hath rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein: See. and and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lion, and deuour them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Bind vp thy silver and gold, and weigh thy wordes in a balance, and make a dooze and a barre, [and a sure bidle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in waitte, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money, & do almes, 15 Of a faithful man answering for his friend, 24 The poore mans life.

He that will shewe mercie, & lendeth to his neighbour: and hee that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandements.

2 * Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway find the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and grieved them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their hope: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a carelesse answer, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, and reckoneth the other as a thing found: else hee deceiveth him of his money, & maketh him an enemy without a cause: he pauerth him with cursing and rebuke, and giueth him euil wordes for his good deed.

7 There bee many which refuse to lend because of this incommenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humblyeth himselfe, and deferre not interce from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandements sake, and turne him not away, because of his pouertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers & neighbours sake, & let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 * Bestow thy treasure after the commandement of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profite then gold.

12 I lap vp thine almes in thy secreete chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

13 [A mans almes is as a purse with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.]

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.

15 An honest man is a suretie for his neighbours: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath laied his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deed of his suretie.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and he that is of an vnthankfull mind, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promisseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, he will forsake him.]

20 Suretieship hath destroyed many a rich man, & remooued them as the wanes of the sea: mightie men hath it diuyn away from thire houses, & caried them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lord, shall fall into suretieship: and hee that medleth much with other mens businesse, is intangled in controuerfies.

22 Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and betwaxe that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 * The chiefe thing of life is water, & bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame.

24 * The poore mans life in his owne lodge, is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it little or much, hold thee contented, that the house speake not euil of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to go from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darrest not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feede vnthankfull men, and after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, saying,

28 Come, thou stranger, & prepare the table, and feed me of that thou hast ready.

29 Gine place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother cometh to be lodged, and I haue need of mine house.

30 These things are heauie to a man that hath vnderstanding, & vpbairding of the house, and the reioyce of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commoditie of healeth, 17 Death is better then a sorowfull life, 22 Of the ioy and sorow of the heart.

He that loueth his sonne, * causeth him oft to feelee the rod, that he may haue ioy of him in the end.

2 He that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 He that * teacheth his sonne, griueneth the enemy, and before his friends he shall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though hee were not dead: for hee hath left one behind him that is like him.

5 In his life he saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not ioy in his death, [neither was he ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friends.

7 Hee that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieved at euery crie.

8 An vntamed horse will be stubburne, and a wanton child will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, hee shall make thee as trayd: and if thou play with him, hee shall bring thee to heauiness.

13 Chastise thy childe, and bee diligent therein, least his shame grue thee.

14 ¶ Better is the poore being whole and strong, then a riche man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and strength is aboue all gold, and a whole body aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sounde body, and no top aboue the top of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [and long rest] then continuall sicknesse.

18 The good things that are poysoned on a mouth shut vp, are as meales of meate set vpon a graue.

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole? for he can neither eate, nor smell: so is hee that is persecuted of the Lord, [and beareth the reward of iniquitie.]

20 Hee seeth with his eyes, and groneth like a grieved man, that lyeth with a virgine and sigheth.

21 ¶ Fine not ouer thy minde to heauinesse, and bere not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.

22 The top of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnesse is the prolonging of his daies.

23 Lone thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: diuine sorrowe farre from thee: for sorrowe hath slaine many, and there is no profite therein.

24 Enuie & wrath shorten the life, and cares fulnesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

Of couetousnesse. 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The praise of a rich man without a fault. 12 We ought to see drunkennesse and follow sobriety.

¶ Waking after riches pineth away the body, and the care thereof diueth away sleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sicknesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The riche hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest hee is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore labourereth in lining poorely, and when he leaueyth off, he is full poore.

5 Hee that loveth golde, shall not be satisfied, and hee that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

6 ¶ Spans are destroyed by the reason of gold, and haue found their destruction before them.

7 It is as a stumbling block vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

8 Blessed is the riche which is found with a out blemish, and hath not gone after golde, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

9 Who is hee, and were will commend him? for wonderfull things hath hee done among his people.

10 Who hath bene tried thereby, and founde perfit? let him bee an example of glorie, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euil, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods be stablished, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

12 If thou sit at a costly table, open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Behold much rancie meate.

13 Remember that an euill eye is a chetue: and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hande wherefoerer it looketh, and thrust it not wity into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and demoure not, least thou be hated.

17 Leane thou off first for noutrures sake, and be not insatiabie least thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

19 ¶ Yowe little is sufficient for a man well taught: and thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feelth any paine.]

20 A wholesome sleepe cometh of a temperate belly: he riseth vp in the mornynge, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watchynge and cholericke diseases, and pangs of the belly are with an insatiabie man.

21 If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe forth, vomite, and then take thy rest: [so thou shalt bring no sicknesse vnto thy body.]

22 App sonne, heare mee, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy workes bee quicke, so shall there no sicknesse come vnto thee.

23 ¶ Who is he liberal in his meate, men shall blesse him: and the testimonie of his honestye shall be leuered.

24 But against him that is a nigarde of his meate, the whole cite shall murmur: the testimonies of his nigaridnesse shall bee sure.

25 Shewe not thy valiantnesse in wine: for wine hath destroyed many.

26 The foynace proueth the edge in the tempering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkennesse.

27 ¶ Wine soberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouercome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [and not for drunkennesse.] Wine meaurably drunken and in time, bringeth gladnesse and chearefulness of the minde.

29 But wine drunken with exesse, maketh bitterness of minde with brawlings and troublingings.

30 Drunkennesse encreaseeth the courage of a foole, till hee offendeth: it diminisheth his strenght and maketh wounds.

31 ¶ Rebinke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: gine him no despiteful words, and presse not vpon him with contrary wordes.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modestie. 3 Let the auncient speake. 14 To giue thanks after therapast. 15 Of the seare, faith and confidence in God.

8 Thou that art pong, speake if neede be, and yet scarcely when thou art twice asked.

9 Comprehende much in fewe wordes: [in many things be as one that is ignorant:] be as one that vnderstandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

10 If thou be among * great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a chauncellour man goeth fauour.

12 Stand by betimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy pastime, and do what thou wilt, so that thou doe none euill, or vse poynd wordes.

14 But aboue all things giue thanks vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lord, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall finde fauour.

16 Hee that seeketh the Lawe, shall bee filled therewith: but the hypocrite will bee offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shall finde that which is righteous, and shall kinde iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not bee reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding desperately not counsell: but a lewde and proude man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 [App sonne] doe nothing without aduise-ment: so shall it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Goe not in the way where thou mayest fall, nor where thou mayest stumble among the stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heede of them, that bee thine owne houses holde.]

23 In euery good worke bee of a faithfull heart: for this is the keeping of the commaundments.

24 Who so beleueth in || the Lord, keepeth the commaundments: and he that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

C H A P. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answere of the wife. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 23 Of euill seruants.

¶ Here shall no euill come vnto him that feareth the Lord: but when he is in temptation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Lawe: but hee that is an hypocrite therein, is as a thippe in a soyme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Lawe, and the Lawe is faithful vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and so shalt thou bee heard: be sure of the matter, and so answer.

5 The heart of the * foolish is like a cart wheele: and his thoughtes are like a rolling aseltree.

6 As a wilde horse nepeth vnder euery one that stryeth vpon him, so is a scornfull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the peere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solenne feastes.

9 Some of them hath hee chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath hee put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the * gromd, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath deuised them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

11 Some of them hath hee blessed and exalted, and some of them hath hee sanctified, and appropiate to himselfe: but some of them hath hee cursed, and brought them lowe, and put them out of their estate.

12 * As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hands of their Creator, so that hee may rewarde them as liketh him best.

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the most High thou mayest see that there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked by last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my winnypresse, like a grape gatherer.

16 * Behold, howe I haue not laboured only for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledg.

17 Heare mee, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, peccrulers of the congregation.

18 Gie not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friend, powder ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreate for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue nothing else ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vnto the handes of thy children.

21 In all thy workes bee excellent, that thy honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whippe and the burden belong vnto the asse, and meate, correction and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt shalt find rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shall seeke libertie.

25 The poke and the whip bolue downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he goe not idle: for idlenesse bringeth much euil.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, put on more heauie fetters.

28 But bee not excessive toward any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruaunt, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, increat him as thy brother: for thou hast need of him, as of thy selfe. If thou increat him euil, and he runne away, wilt thou seeke him?

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Of dreames. 13 The praye of them that feare God. 18 The offerings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needy. 27 God doeth not allow the workes of an unfaithfull man.

The hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, and dreames make fooles to haue wings.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the wind.

3 Euen so is it with the appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be cleane by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a liar?

5 Southsayinges, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, & a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that traileth.

6 Whereas such visions come not of the most High to try thee, let not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, & they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The law shall be fulfilled without lies, and wisdom is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, & he that hath good experience, can talke of wisdom.

10 Hee that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 When I wandered to and fro, I sawe many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oftentimes in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Who so feareth the Lord, feareth no mā, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom purely hee his trust: who is his strength?

16 * For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them, that loue him: he is their * mightie protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heate, and a shadowe for the noone day, a succour from stumbling and an helpe from falling.

17 He setteth by the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he quicketh health, life and blessing.

18 ¶ Hee that * giueth an offering of burroughs goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the gifts of the burghteous, please not him.

19 [But the Lord is their onely, that patiently abide him in the way of trueth and righteousness.]

20 The most High doeth not allowe the offerings of the wicked, * neither is hee pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth the same before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him thereof, is a murderer.

23 He that taketh away his neighbours liuing, slayeth him, * and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodthead.

24 ¶ When one buildeth, & another breaketh downe, what profit haue they then but labour?

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voice will the Lord heare?

26 * Hee that walther himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his walthing?

27 * So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer? or what doeth his fasting helpe him?

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherless, and of the widow, and him that humbleth himselfe.

Who so keepeth the Lawe, * bringeth offerings pnowe, hee that holdeth fast the commandements, tostreth an offering of iustification.

2 Hee that is thankfull to them that haue well deserued, offereth fine slowe: * and he that giueth almes, sacrificeth praye.

3 To depart from euill is a thankfull thing to the Lord, and to forsake burghteousnesse, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 ¶ Thou shalt not appeare empty before the Lord.

5 For all these things are done because of the commandement.

6 * The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the sinell thereof is sweete before the most High.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer be forgotten.

8 ¶ Ene the Lord his honour with a good and liberal eye, and diminish not the sick fruites of thine hands.

9 * In all thy gifts shew a ioyfull countenance, and dedicate thy riches with gladnesse.

10 ¶ Ene vnto the most High according as he hath enriched thee, * and looke what thine hand is able, giue with a cheerefull eye.

11 For the Lord recompenceth, and will giue thee seven times as much.

12 * Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receiue it, and abstaine from wrongfull sacrifices: for the Lord is the iudge and rewarder not mans person.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 Hee despiseth not the desire of the fatherslesse nor the widow, when the powereth out her prayer.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, against those that persecute him Church. 22 The prayer of a good woman.

Hue mercy vpon vs, O Lord God of all things, and behold vs, and [shew vs the light of thy mercies.]

2 And send thy feare & among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may know that there is no God but thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous works.]

3 Lift vp thine hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may know thee, as wee know thee: for there is none other God but onely thou, O Lord.

6 Renew the signes, and change the wonders: shewe the glory of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous acts.

7 Rapse by thine indignation, and powre out wrath: take away the aduersarie, and smite the enemye.

8 Spake the time short: remember thine oth, that thy wonderous works may be payed.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in funder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, and say, There is none other but we.

11 Gather all the tribes of Jacob together, [that they may know that there is none other God but onely thou, and that they may shewe thy wonderous works,] & inherit thou them as from the beginning.

12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy name, and vpon Israel whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

13 Oh, be mercifull vnto Ierusalem the citie of thy sanctuary, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fill Zion, that it may magnifie thine opecles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Give witness vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and rase vp the prophecies þ haue bene shewed in thy name.

16 Reward them that waite for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants according to the * blessing of Aaron our thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousnesse,] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may know that thou art the Lord the eternal God.

18 The belly demoureteth all meates, yet is one meate better then another.

23 If there bee in her tongue gentlenesse, meekenesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 He that hath gotten a vertuous woman, hath begun to get a possession: shee is an helpe like vnto himselfe, & a pillar to rest vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoiled: and he that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a thiefe that is allway ready and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth wheresoeuer the night taketh him?

1 Howe a man should know friends and counsellors. 2 To keepe his company that feareth God.

2 Remembreth there not brauines vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemye?

3 Wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceit?

4 There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyseth with his friend: but in þ time of trouble he is against him.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemye.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke & no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

8 *Counsellor prayseth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

9 Beware of the counsellor, and be aduised afoye where thou wilt vse him: for hee will counsell for himselfe, least hee cast the lot vpon thee.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

12 But bee continuall with a godly man whom thou knoweſt to keepe the commaundments of the Lorde, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is ſoſie for thee when thou ſtumbleſt.

13 Take counſell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For mans minde is ſometimes more accustomed to ſheue more then ſeuern watchmen that ſit aboute in an hie towre.

15 And aboue all this pray to the moſt High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, & yet is vnpoſſible vnto himſelfe.

19 Some man will bee wiſe in wordes, and is hated, yea, he is deſtitute of all fooode, 20 Becauſe grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is deſtitute of all wiſedome.

21 Another is wiſe for himſelfe, and the fruites of vnderſtanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wiſe man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wiſedome ſaile not.

23 A wiſe man ſhalbe plentifully bleſſed, and all they that ſee him, ſhall thinke him bleſſed.

1 A Phyſicion is commendable. 16 To burie the dead.
24 The wiſedome of him that is learned.

Honour the + Phyſicion with that honour that is due vnto him, becauſe of neceſſitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the moſt High commeth healing, and he ſhall receiue gifts of the King.

3 The knowledge of the Phyſicion liſteth by his head, and in the ſight of great men hee

4 The Lorde hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wiſe, will not abhorre them.

5 ¶ Was not the water made ſweete with wood, that men might knowe the vertue thereof?

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might bee glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With ſuch doeth hee heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of ſuch doeth the apothecarie make a confection, & yet he cannot finiſh his owne workes: for of the Lord commeth proſperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 ¶ Some, ſaile not in thy ſickenneſſe, but *pray vnto the Lorde, and hee will make thee whole.

10 Leane off from ſinne, & order thine hands aright, and cleaſe thine heart from all wicknedneſſe.

11 Offer ſweete incenſe, and fine ſtoſwe for a remembrance: make the offering fatte, for thou art not the + fiſt giuer.

12 Then giue place to the Phyſicion: for the Lorde hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou haſt neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterpriſes may haue good ſuccelle.

14 For they alſo ſhall pray vnto the Lorde, that hee woulde proper that, which is giuen for eaſe, and their phyſicke for the prolonging of life.

15 ¶ Hee that ſineth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the phyſicion.

16 ¶ Some, *poluie ſooth teares ouer the dead, + begin to mourne, as if thou haſdeſt ſuffered great paine thy ſelfe, and then couer his body according to his appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, and be earneſt in mourning, and life lamentation as hee is worthy, and that a day or two, leaſt thou bee euill ſpoken of, and then comfort thy ſelfe for thine heauineſſe.

18 ¶ For of heauineſſe commeth death, and the heauines of the heart breaketh the ſtrength.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth ſorrowe, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauines to heart: dyne it away and remember the laſt ende.

master that labourerth night and day: and they that cut and graue seales, and make sundry di-nersities, and giue themselves to counterfaite imagerie, and watch to perfourme the woyme.

28 The smith in like manner abiderth by his anvill, and doeth his diligence to labour the pyon: the vapour of the fire byeth his flesh: and hee must fight with the heate of the foyrace:
the noyse of the hammer is euer in his eares,
and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that hee

2 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things piosse, but vnto the euill, euill good things are euill.

Honely that applyeth his minde to the Lawe of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the wisdom of al the auncient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophesies.

2 Hee keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entereth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 Hee seeketh out þe myserie of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 Hee shall serue among great men, and ap-peare before the prince: hee shall traualle throug strange countreys: for hee hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 Hee will giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his finnes.

6 When the great Lord will, hee shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may pourey out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto
the Lord in his prayer.

7 Hee shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 He shall shewe forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Lawe and covenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer be put out, nor be part away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 The congregation shall declare his wise-doine, and shewe it.

11 Though hee be dead, hee shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if hee liue still, hee shall get the fame.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto me, yee holy childen, and bring forth fruite as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the sicke.

14 And giue pe a sweete smell as Incense, and bring forth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell, and sing a song of praise: bleeseth the Lord in all his woymes.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shewe forth his praise with the songs of your lippes, and with harpes, and pee shall say after this manner,

16 All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commaundements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time convenient, they shall all bee sought out: at his commaundement the water flood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselves.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commaundement, and none can diminish that which hee will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 Hee seeth from euerslasing to euerslasing, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man neede not to say, What is this?
wherefore is this? for hee hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall runne ouer as þe streame, and moisten the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the waters into salte-nesse, so shall the heathen feelee his wrath.

24 As his wapens are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 For the good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 The principal things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and pyon, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and ople, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to the gods:
ly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigor lay on fire strokes:
in the time of destruction they shewe forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 Fire, and haile, and famine, and death:
all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wild beastes, & the scorpions, and the serpents, and the woode execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commaundements: and when neede is, they shall bee ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commaundement.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

33 *All the workes of the Lord are good, and hee giueth euery one in due season, and when neede is:

34 So that a man neede not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and prerogative of the feare of God.

†The miseries of mans life. Great trouble is created for all men, and can heaue poke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, til the day that they retorne to the mother of all things,

2 Namely their thoughtes, and feare of the heate, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death,

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blewes silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enue, trouble, and vniquietnes, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest, the deepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A litle of nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watch towre in the day: he is troubled with the bilions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, he awaketh, and maruileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but senn fold to the vngodly:

9 *Dreouour, death and blood, and strife, and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes caine the * flood also.

11 *All things that are of this earth, shall turne to earth againe: and they that are of the * waters, shall retorne into the sea.

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrightheousnesse shall be put away: but faithfulness shall endure for euer.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall be dyed by like a riuier, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressours shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane rootes are as vpon the hye rockes.

16 Their tender stalks by what water so euer it bee of water banks, it shall be pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlines is as a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and mercie endureth for euer.

18 *To labour and to bee content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but hee that findeth a treasure, is aboute them both.

19 Children, and the building of the citie maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboute them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisdom is aboute them both.

21 The pipe & the psalterion make a sweete noise: but a pleasant tongue is aboute them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beautie: but a Greene seeth time, rather then them both.

23 A friende, and companion come together at opportunitie: but aboute them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the feete: but connsell is esteemed aboute them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the minde: but the feare of the Lord is aboute them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 ¶ Say some, leade not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he to morroweth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nourished wil beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnhamefull, & in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Lawe of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisdom. 17 Of what things a man ought to be alarmed.

†Of death. Of death, holwe bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to bere him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate:

2 ¶ Death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needefull, vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vnto with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remembre them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And whp wouldst thou bee against the pleasure of the most high? whether it be true, or an hundredth, or a thousand yeres, there is no defence for life against the grane.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posteritie shall haue a perpetuall shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe bee vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsaken the Lawe of the most high God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to cursings: if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

again: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shalbe put out.

12 Haue regarde to thy name: for that shall continue with thee aboue a thousand treasures of golde.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but a good name endureth euer.

14 App children, keepe wisdom in peace: for wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profite is in them both?

15 No man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisdom.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my wordes: for it is not good in all things to bee ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Bee ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie.

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrightheousnesse before a companion and friend.

19 And of these before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trieth of God and his covenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the bread, or to bee reprooued for giuing or taking.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot.

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion of a gift, or to be euill minded toward another mans wife.

22 Do to sollicite any mans inap, or to stand by her bedde, or to reioyce thy friends with wordes.

23 Do to hyphaide when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueile secret wordes.

24 Thus mapest thou wel be shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Lawe of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

Of these things be not thou ashamed, neither haue regard to offende for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most High & his covenant, and of indigement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, & of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To bee diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sell marchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beate an euil seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good Locke where an euill wife is, and to Locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to ynt al in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlarned, and the vnlife, and the aged, that contende against the yong: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

9 The daughter maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefullnesse that hee hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in y^o youth, least the should passe the flower of her age: and when shee hath an husband, least the should bee hated:

10 In her virginities, least shee should be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husband, least shee misbehaue her selfe: and when shee is married, least she continue vnfruitfull.

11 If the daughter bee vnshamefast, keepe her straitly, least the cause thine enemy to laugh thee to scorn, and make thee a common talke in the cite, and diffame thee among the people, and bring thee to vslike shame.

12 Beholde not enery bodys beautie, and companie not among women.

13 For as the mothe commeth out of garments: so doeth wickednesse of the woman.

14 The wickednesse of a man is better then the good intreacie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproche.

15 I wil remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The sunne that shinerh, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saintes shoulde declare all his wonderous workes, which the almighty Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his spirit?

18 Hee seeketh out the depth, and the heart, and hee knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secret.

20 No thought may escape him, neither map any word be hid from him.

21 He hath garnished the excellent workes of his wisdom, and he is from everlasting to everlasting, and for euer: vnto him map nothing bee added, neither can hee be minished: hee hath no neede of any counsellor.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his workes, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They lue all and endure for euer: and whensoever neede is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one commendeth the goodnesse of the other, and who can bee satisfied with beholding Gods glory?

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

This high ornament & the cleare firmament, the beautie of the heauen so glorious to behold.

2 The sunne also, a marvellous instrument when it appeareth, declareth at his going out, the workes of the most High.

3 No moone it burneth the countrey, and who map abide for the heate thereof?

4 The sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a furnace with continuall heate: it casteth out the fierie vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement hee causeth it to runne fastly.

7 * The seasons are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the end.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 * As the commandement of the Holy one they continue in their order, & faile not in their watch.

11 * I looke vpon the raine-bow, and praphe him that made it: verie beautifull is it in the brightnesse thereof.

12 * It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious rittie, and the hands of the most High haue benched it.

13 * Though his commandement hee maketh the snow to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his indignement.

14 Therefore hee openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the fowles.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the cloudes, and broken the harte stones.

16 The mountains leape at the sight of him: the Southwind bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth he earth: so doeth the storme of the North: the whirls wind also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snow, and the falling downe thereof is as the grasse-hoppers that light downe.

18 The eye maruellet at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonied at the raine of it.

19 Hee also pouereth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frozen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the cold Northwind bloweth, an pee is frozen of the water, it abideth vpon al the gatherings together of water, and clogeth the waters as with a besseplate.

21 It denoueth the mountains, and burneth the wilderness, and destroyeth that, that is Greene, like fire.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude cometh harshe, and when a dewe cometh vpon the heate, it refresheth it.

23 * As his word he stilleth the wind: so by his counsell he appeareth the deepe, and planteth plands therein.

24 They that saile ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, & when we heare it with our eares, we maruell thereat.

27 And when we haue spoken much, we can not attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue we to praise him? for he is aboue all his workes.

29 The Lord is terrible, and verie great, and maruillous in his power.

30 Praise the Lorde, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth he farre exceed: reate him with all your power, and bee not wearie, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 * Who hath seene him, that hee might tell vs: and who can imagine him as he is?

32 For there are hid per greater things then these bee, and wee haue seene but a fewe of his workes.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisdom to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The prayse of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

1 Et is now commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gott great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue bozne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowned for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

4 * They gouerned the people by counsell, and by the knowledge of learning more for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences.

5 They inuented the melodie of musike, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich & mighty in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behind them, so that their people shall be spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memoriall, *and are perished as though they had neuer bene, and are become as though they had neuer bene bozne, and their children after them.

10 * As the former were mercifull men, whose righteousnesse hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whose posteritie a good inheritance is reserved, and their seed is contained in the covenant.

12 Their stocke is contained in the covenant, and their posteritie after them.

13 Their seed shall remaine for euer, & their people shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15 * The people speake of their wisdom, and the congregation talke of their people.

16 * Enoch pleased the Lord God: therefore he was translated for an ensample of repentance to the generations.

17 * Noe was found perse, and in the time of wrath he had a reward: therefore was hee left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came.

18 An everlasting covenant was made with him, that all flesh should *perish no more by the flood.

19 * Abraham was a great father of many people: in glory was there none like vnto him.

20 He kept the Law of the most High, and was in covenant with him, and he set the covenant *in his flesh, & in remission he was found faithful.

21 Therefore hee assured him by an *othe, that hee would blesse the nations in his seed, and that hee would multiple him as the dust.

And † apopies the * beloued of God & men, brought hee forth, whose remembraunce is blessed.

2 He made him like to the glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.

3 By his wordes hee caused the wonders to rease, and he made him * glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commandements for his people, and shewed him his glory.

4 * He sanctified him with faithfulness, and meeknesse, and chose him out of all men.

5 Hee caused him to heare his voyce, and brought him into the darke cloude, * and there hee gaue him the commandements before his face, enen the lawe of life and knowledge, that he might teach Jacob the covenant, and Israel his iudgements.

6 Hee exalted † Aaron an holy man like vnto him, enen his * brother of the tribe of Levi.

7 An euerlasting couenauent made hee with him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people, * made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 Hee put perfect ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicke, and an ephod.

9 Hee compassed him about with bels of gold, and with many bels round about, * that when he went in, the sound might be heard, and might make a noise in the sanctuary, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people.

10 And with an holy garment, with gold also, and blue silke, & purple, and diuers kindes of workes, and with a belt lapp of iudgement, and with the signes of truth,

11 And with booke of scarlet cunningly wrought, and with precious stones grauen like scales, and set in gold by goldsmithes worke for a memoriall, with a voycing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel,

12 And with a crowne of gold vpon the mitre, bearing the foyme or marke of holmesse, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but onely his children, & his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholy consumed euery day twise continually.

15 Spoiles filled * his hands, * and anointed him with holy oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenauent, and to his seed, so long as the heauens should remaine, that hee should minister before him, and also to execute the office of the Priesthood, and blesse his people in his name.

16 Before all men living the Lord chose him, that he should present offerings before him, & a sweete sauour for a remembraunce to make reconciliation for his people.

17 * He gaue him also his commandements and authoritie according to the lawes appointed, that he should teach Jacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his lawe.

18 * Strangers stood by against him and enuied him in the wilderness, enen the men that rooke Dathans & Abiram's part, and the company of Coze in furie and rage.

19 This the Lord saw, and it displeased him, and in his wrathful imagination were they consumed: hee did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fierie flame.

20 * But he made Aaron moze honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first frutes of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eate of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his seed.

22 * Els had he none heritage in the land of his people, neither had hee any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

23 The third in glory is † Phinees sonne of Eleazar, because hee had zeale in the feare of the Lord, and stood by with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a couenent of peace made with him, that he should bee the chiefe of the Sanctuary and of his people, and that hee and his posteritie should haue the dignitie of the priesthood for ever.

25 And according to the couenent made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdome should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should bee to the onely sonne of his sonne, & to his seed. God giue vs wisdom in our heart to iudge his people in righteousness, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glory map endure for their posteritie.

made his voyce to be heard with a great noyle.

18 So he diſcomfited the princes of the Tyri-ans, and all the rulers of the Philiftines.

1. Sam. 12. 3.

19 * And before his long ſleepe hee made pro-teſtation, in the ſight of the Lord, and his an-

The praiſe of Elias, Eliſeu, Ezeckiel, and Iſaia.

Then roſe vp † Elias the Prophete as a fire, and his word burnt like a lampe.

† Elias.

1. Kin. 17. 1.

2 Hee brought a famine vpon them, and by his zeale hee diminished them: [for they might not stay with the commandements of the Lord.]

3 By the woordes of the Lord he shut the heauens, * and threer times brought he the fire from heauen.

4 O Elias, how honourable art thou by thy wonderful deedes! who may make his boast to be like thee!

5 * Which hast raised vp the dead fro death, and by the woordes of the most High out of the graue:

6 Which hast brought kings vnto destruction, and the honourable from their seat:

7 Which hearest the rebuke of the Lord in Sina, * and in Horeb the iudgement of the vengeance:

8 * Which biddest auownt kings that they might + recompense, and Prophets to bee thy successours:

9 * Which wast taken vp in a whirlewinde of fire, and in a charret of fierie horses:

10 Which wast appointed * to reprimonde in due season, and to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement before it kindled, and to turne the heartes of the fathers vnto the children, and to set by the tribes of Jacob.

11 Blessed were they that saw thee, and slept in loue: for we shall liue.

12 * When Elias was conered with the storme, + Elishus was filled to his spirit: while he liued, he was not moued for any prince, nei ther could any bing him into subiection.

13 Nothing could overcome him, * and after his death his body prophesied.

14 Hee did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes maruellous.

15 For all this the people repented not, nei ther departed they from their sinnes: * till they were caried away prisoners out of their lande, and were scattered thorough all the earth, so that there remained but a few few people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp sinnes.

17 * Ezechias made his citie strong, and conueyed water into the middes thereof: he digged thorow the rocke with pion, and made fountaines for waters.

18 * In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sent Rablases, and lift vp his hand against Sion, and boasted proudly.

19 Then trembled their heartes and hands, so that they forgoode like a woman in trauell.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is mercifull, and lift vp their hands vnto him, and immediatly the Holp one heard them out of heauen.

21 [Hee thought no more vpon their sinnes, nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but des lured them by the hand of Sai.

22 * We sinned the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezechias had done the thing that pleased the Lord, and remained steadfast in the waues of Dauid his father, as + Sai the great Prophete, and faithfull in his vision had com manded him.

24 * In his time the sunne went backward, and he lengthened the kings life.

25 He saw by an excellent spirit what should come to passe at the last, and he comforted them that were sorrowfull in Sion.

26 He shewed what should come to passe for euer, & secret things, of euer they came to passe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, Hierekiah, Dauid, Ieremie, Ezechiel, Zorabel, Iesui, Nehemias, Enoch, Ioseph, Sem, and Seth.

The remembrance of + * Iosias is like the composition of the perfume that is made by the arte of the Apothecarie: it is sweete as honye in all mouthes, and as musicke at a banquet of wine.

2 Hee behaued himselfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away all as bominations of iniquitie.

3 He * directed his heart vnto the Lord, and in the time of + vngodly he established religion.

4 All, except Dauid and Ezechias, and Iosias, committed wickednesse: for euen the kings of Iuda forsooke the Lawe of the most High, and failed.

5 Therefore he gaue their // honye vnto other, and their honour to a strange nation.

6 Hee burnt the elect cite of the Sanctuarie, * and destroyed the streetes thereof according to the // prophesie of + Ieremias.

7 For they * treated him evil, which neuer thelesse was a Prophet, * sanctified from his mothers wombe, that hee might roote out and afflict, and destroy, and that he might also build vp, and plant.

8 + * Ezechiel sawe the glorious vision, which was shewed him vpon the charret of the Cherubims.

9 * For hee made mention of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, and directed them that went right.

10 * And let the bones of the twelue Prophets flourish out of their place, and let their memorie bee blessed: for they comforted Jacob, and deliuered them by assured hope.

11 * How shal we praise + Zorabel, which was as a ring on the right hand!

12 So was + * Iesus also the sonne of Jos + Zorabel, sedec: these men in their time builded the house, and set by the Sanctuarie of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an everlasting worship.

13 * And among the elect was + Neemias, whose renowne is great, which set vp for vs the walles that were fallen, and set by the gates and the barres, and layde the foundations of our houses.

14 * But vpon the earth was no man created like + * Enoch: for he was taken vp from the earth.

15 Neither was there a like man vnto + * Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, and the vnder holder of his people, whose bones were kept.

16 + * Sem and + Seth were in great honour among men: and so was + Adam aboute euery liuing thing in the creation.

3 In his dapes the places to receive water, that were decayed, were restored, and the vase was about in measure as the sea.

a Which Solomon made, 1. King. 7. 23.

4 Hee tooke care for his people, that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when he came out of the house covered with the baile!

6 He was as the morning starre in the mids of a cloud, and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most High, and as the rainebow that is bright in the faire cloudes,

8 And as the floure of the roses in the spring of the peere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of sommer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a behest of masse gold, set with all manner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitful, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth by the cloudes.

11 When hee put on the garment of honour and was clothed with all beautie, he went by to the holy altar, and made the garment of holinesse honourable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Priests hands, he himselfe stood by the herth of the altar compassed with his brethren round about, as the branches to the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their gloire, and their oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that he might accomplish his ministration vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High, and almightie, 15 Hee stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, & he powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good saour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brazen trumpets, & made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hastened, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God almightie, and most high.

18 The fingers also sang with their voices, so that the sound was great, & the melodie sweet.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most high with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receive the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue praise all ye vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our dapes from the wombe, and delt with vs according to his mercie,

23 That hee would giue vs iustitiasse of heart, and peace in our dapes in Israel, as in old time, 24 That he would confirme his mercie with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 There be two manner of people, that my heart abhorreth, and the Lord is no people:

26 They that sit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philistines, & the foolish people that dwell in Scythia.

[Or, Sacherem.]

27 Iesus the sonne of Sirach, the sonne of Eleazarus of Jerusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisdom of his heart.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein: and he that laeth by these in his heart, shall be wise.

29 For if he do these things, he shall be strong in all things: for he secretly his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisdom to the gods by. The Lord be praised for euermore. So be it, to be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

I will confesse thee, O Lord & King, and praise thee, O God my saviour: I will giue thanks vnto thy name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, and from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercie, & for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuour me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked mee round about, and from the mids of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottomne of the belly of hell, from an vnclean tongue, from lying wordes, from false accusation to the King, and from the slander of an vnrightheous tongue.

6 [O thou that praise the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, & there was no man to helpe me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of old, how thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the persecuters.

[Or, nations.]

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord the Father of my Lord, that hee would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud with out helpe.

11 I will praise thy name continually, & will sing praise with thanksgiving: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauest me from destruction, & deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks, and praise thee, & blesse the Name of the Lord.

13 When I was perishing, O Lord, I went abroad, abroad, I besired wisdom openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countries, & she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioiced in her: my foote walked in the right way, and from my pouth vp sought I after her.

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gave me much wiseboime:

17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the gloyp vnto him, that giueth me wiseboime.

18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will be ieaious of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my woikes: I lifted vp mine hands on hie, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, & I found her in purenesse: I haue had mine heart ioynd with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

23 Draw neere vnto mee, ye vnlarned, and dwell in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are you slowe? and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are very thirnie?

25 I opened my mouth, and sayd, *Woe be it for you without money. 1/a. 55. 2.

26 Bow downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: there is ready that ye may find her.

27 Behold with your eyes, * how that I haue had but litle labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest. Chap. 6. 18.

28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much gold.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercie of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his prayer.

30 Doe your dutie betimes, and he will giue you a reward at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechoniah and all the people.

2 The Jewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

And these are the wordes of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maaias, the sonne of Sedeias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon.

3 In the fift peere, and in the tenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

4 And Baruch did reade the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Ioaquim king of Iuda might heare, & all the people that were come to heare the booke.

5 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the elders vnto the highest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the river || Sud.

6 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

7 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power.

8 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioaquim the sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom Driel, and vnto the other priestes, and to all the people, which were with him at Ierusalem.

9 When hee had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the moneth || Sitian, to wit, silver vessels, which Sebercias the sonne of Iosias king of Iuda had made.

10 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had led away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his princes, and his nobles, pilosners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.

11 And then sayd, Behold, we haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a || kneat offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God.

12 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, & for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heaven. || Or, Manna for Minhab, which was the evening and morning sacrifice.

13 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long doe him seruice, & find fauour in their sight.

14 Woe for vs also vnto the Lord our God, (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the fury of the Lord, and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

15 And reade this booke (which wee haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.

16 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousnesse, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem. Chap. 2. 6.

17 And to our kings, and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers, 18 Because we haue * sinned before the Lord our God, Dan. 9. 3.

19 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.

20 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, wee haue bene disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyces.

|| Or, Sedeias.

|| Or, Sodi.

|| Or, Sitian.

Deu. 28. 15. 20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed vpon Moyses his servant at the time þ he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and honie, as appeareth this day.

21 Nevertheless, wee haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the wordes of the Prophets, whom hee sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Jewes confesse that they suffer sufly for their finnes. The true confission of the Christians. 11 The Jewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 Hee promisseth that hee will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a newe and euermlasting Testament.

Therefore the Lord our God hath peroured his worde, which hee pronounced against vs, and against our iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our Iudges, and against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things, that were writtten in the booke of Moyses,

Deu. 28. 53. 3 That some among vs should * eate þ flesh of his owne foune, and some the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moysesour he hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproch and desolation among all the people rounde about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not aboue, because we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

Chap. 1. 15. 6 * To the Lord our God assecurate righteousnesse, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not repayed before the Lord, that were might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So þ Lord hath watched ouer þ plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet wee haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.

Deu. 9. 15. 11 * And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the lande of Egypt with a mighty hand, and an he armie, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lord our God, wee haue sinned: wee haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for wee are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayes, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, and giue vs sauour in the sight of them, which haue led vs alway.

15 That all the earth may knowe that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel, and vpon thy posteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

17 * Open thine eyes, and beholde: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, * giue vnto the Lord, neither praye, nor righteousnesse.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatness of sinne, and hee that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungrie soule will giue thee praye and righteousnesse, O Lord.

19 For we do not require mercy in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousnesse of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

21 * Thus saith the Lord, I will downe pour shouders, and serue the King of Babylon: so shall he remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if he will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall be desolate of inhabitants.

24 But wee would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers should be caried out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the heate of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great misery with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercy,

28 As thou spakest by thy servant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest command him to write thy lawe before the children of Israel, saying,

29 * If he will not obey my voyce, then shall this great swarrie and multitude be turned into a very fewe among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I knowe that they will not heare me: for it is a stiffnecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselves.

31 And know that I am the Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.

32 And they shall heare, and praye me in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon me my Name.

33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backs, and from their euill workes: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more drive my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begunne for their deliuerance. 9 He prayeth wisdom vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Only God was the finder of wisdom. 37 Of the incarnations of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pitie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for ever, and we utterly perish.

4 O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voice of thre thre God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that wee should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for we haue considered in our mindes all the wickednesse of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are per this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commendements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisdom.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies laude, and art wayen olde in a strange countrey?

11 And art desit with the dead? and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisdom.

13 For if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldst haue remained safe for ever.

14 Learne where is wisdom, where is strength, where is understanding, that thou mayest knowe also from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beastes vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pasture with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded by silver and golde, wherein men trust, and made none ende of their gathering?

18 For they that copied silver, and were so careful of their worke, and whose vntion had none ende, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steades.

20 When they were yong, they sawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they understood not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceived the pathes thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 He hath not bene heard of in the lande of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in Chanaan.

23 Nor the Agarines, that sought after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Hecran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisdom haue knowne the way of wisdom, neither doe they thinke vpon the pathes thereof.

24 O Israel, howe great is the house of God! and howe large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none ende: it is hie, and vnumeasurable.

26 There were the gyants, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her, rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considered her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his understanding: this same is he which hath prepared the earth for enemie, and hath filled it with foure footed beastes.

33 When hee sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when hee calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When hee calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulness they shewe light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 He hath soude out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Law, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

This is the booke of the commandements of God, and the Law that endureth for ever: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Jacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Give not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel wee are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 We of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Israel.

6 Pee are solde to the nations, not for your destruction: but because pee provoked God to wrath, pe were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For pe haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils and not to God.

8 Pee haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euertlasting God, and pee haue grieved Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When thee saw the wrath comming vpon you from God, the said, Hearken, ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought mee into great heauinesse.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the Euertlasting will bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the finnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not know his righteousness, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: neither did they enter into the pathes of discipline, through his righteousness.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the Euertlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, & of a strange language.

16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pierce the yong: these haue carried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing me alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely hee hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackcloth of prayer, & so long as I live, I will call vpon the Euertlasting.

21 We of good comfort, O children: cry vnto God, and he will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation thos-row the Euertlasting, and ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, because of the mercie which shall quickly come vnto you from our euertlasting Saviour.

23 For I sent you alway with weeping, and mourning: but with ioy and perpetuall gladnesse will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion salve your captiuitie, so shall they also see thoury your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great gloe, and brightnes from the Euertlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt treade vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 We of good comfort, my children, and cry vnto God: for he that led you alway, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to go astray from your God: so endeavour your selues tenne times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For hee that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euertlasting ioy againe, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is he that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as shee reioiced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall she be ioy for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the reioicing of her great multitude, and her ioy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the Euertlasting, long to endure, and she shall be inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem looke toward the East, and beholde the ioy that cometh vnto thee from thy God.

37 Doe, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe), come gathered together from the East into the West, reioicing in the worde of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

Put off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour, that cometh vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousness, that cometh from God, and let a crowne vpon thine head of the gloe of the Euertlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnesse to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, The peace of righteousness, and the glory of the worship of God.

5 Write, O Jerusalem, and stand up on high, and looke about thee toward the East, and behold thy children gathered from the East unto the West by the word of the Holy one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as spheles of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe riuer high mountaine, and the long endouring rocks, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.

8 The woods and all sweete smelling trees shall ouershadowe Israel at the commaundement of God.

9 For God shall bring Israel with ioy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercie and righteousness that cometh of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Jeremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the king of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

Because of the sinnes, that ye haue committed against God, pee shall be led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, king of the Babylonians.

2 So when pee be come into Babylon, pee shall remaine there many yeres, and a long season, euen a seuen generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 Now shall ye see in Babylon gods of silver, and of gold, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that pee in no wise bee like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them.

5 But say pee in your hearts, O Lord, we must worship thee.

6 For mine Angel shall be with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselves are gilded, and laid ouer with silver: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take golde for a maid that loseth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priests themselves couer away the golde and silver from their gods, and bestowe it vpon themselves.

10 Pea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of silver, and gods of golde, and of wood, with garments like men,

11 Yet cannot they bee preserved from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, wherof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not say such as offend him.

14 In other hath a dagger or an are in his right hand: yet is hee not able to defend himselfe from battell, nor from therues: so then it is euident that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessell that a man drieth, is nothing woorthy when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feet of those that come in:

17 And as the gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the King: or as one that should be led to be put to death, so the Priests keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with barres, least their gods should be spoiled by robbers.

18 They light by candles before them: yea, more then to themselves, wherof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.

19 They confesse, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallows & birdes flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the catter also.

22 By this ye may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 As for withstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherewith is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feet, wherby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing woorthy: yea, and they that worship them, are alhamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise vp againe of themselves, neither if one set them vpright, can they mooue of themselves, neither if they be bowed downe can they make themselves straight: but they set gifts before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their priests sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lap vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childebed, touch their sacrifices: by these things ye may knowe that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of silver, and gold, and wood.

30 And the priests sit in their Temples, having their clothes rent, whose heads & beards are shauen, and being bare headed,

31 They roare and crie before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues and children.

33 Whether it bee euill that one doeth vnto them, or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set by a king, nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vowe vnto them and keepe it not, they will not requite it.

Or, counte.

Isa. 46.7.

In this chapter are the makers and maintainers of images mightily confuted. a That is, seuentie yeeres, 2/a. 44.8, 9, 10. & 46.5, 7. p/a. 115. 4. 11/13. 10.

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mighty.

36 They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

37 They can shew no mercy to the widowe, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, gold, and siluer, are as stones that be hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shall be confounded.

39 Howe should a man then thinke or say, that they are gods?

40 Whereouer the Chaldeans themselves dishonour them: for when they see a dimme man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel,

41 And desire that hee would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstande these things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

42 Furthermore the women, girded with coardest, sit in the streetes, and burne strawe.

43 And if one of them bee drawen away, and lie with any such as come by, thee calleth her neighbour in the teeth, because thee was not so worship reputed, nor her coardest broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lies:
howe may it then be thought or saide, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmiths make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: howe should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue spes, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there cometh any warre or plague vpon them, the Priestes imagine with themselves, where they may hide themselves with them.

49 Howe then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselves from warre, nor from plagues?

50 For seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, men shall knowe hereafter that they are but spes, and it shall be manifest to all nations and kings, that they be no gods, but the workes of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knowen, that they are no gods.

52 They can set by no king in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crows betwene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, the Priestes will escape and saue themselves, but they burne as the balikes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any king or enemies: howe can it then be thought or saide that they be gods?

56 Whereouer, these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can neither defend themselves from theues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take alway their golde and siluer, and apparell, whereswith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselves.

58 Therefore it is better to be a king, and so to shewe his power, or else a profitable vessel in an house, whereby he that oweth it, might haue profite, then such false gods: or to be a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as be theres within such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne, and the moone, and the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary uses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning when it shineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in euery countrey.

61 And when God commandeth the cloudes to goe about the whole world, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hills and woods, it doeth that which is commaunded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.

64 For so much now as ye are sure, that that be no gods, leaue them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blisse kings:

66 Neither can they shewe signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.

67 The beastes are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and do themselves good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no maner of meanes they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a scarcrowe in a garden of cucumers keepeth nothing, so are their goddesses of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and gold, and siluer, are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead body that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightness which fadeth vpon them, pee may vnderstande, that they be no gods: yea, they themselves shall be consumed at the last, and they shall be a shame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be farre from reprooe.

Psal. 115. 4.
n/d. 13. 10.

The

The song of the three holy children, which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie fornae.

25 The prayer of Azarias, 46 The crueltie of the King. 48 The stone downreth the Caldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lorde was in the fornae. 51 The three children praye the Lorde and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 And they walked in the middes of the flame, prapling God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stood by, and prapen on this manner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, said, 26 Blessed be thou, O Lorde God of our fathers: thy name is worthy to be prapled and honoured for evermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wapes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy cite of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our finnes.

29 For wee haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue wee trespassed,

30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou hadst com- manded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and most hateful traitors, and to an vnrighteous king, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And now we may not open our monthes: we are become a shame and reproofo vnto thy seruantes, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy Names sake we beseech thee, giue vs not by for ever, neither breake thy co- venant.

35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy ser- uant Isaacs sake, & for thy holy Ierachs sake, 36 To whom thou hast spoken and promis- sed, that thou wouldest multiplie their seede as the starres of heauen, and as the sand, that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For we, O Lorde, are become lesse then any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our finnes:

38 So that now we haue neither prince, nor prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruites befoe thee, that wee might finde mercy.

39 Nevertheless in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit, let vs be received.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullocks, and as in ten thousand of fat lambs, so let our offering be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them, that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we followe thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy name the glory, O Lord,

44 That all they that doe thy seruantes euill, may be confounded: euen let them be confound- ed by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou only art the Lord God, & glorious ouer the whole world.

46 Now the kings seruantes that had cast them in, called not to make the oven hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with towne, and with fagots,

47 So that the flame went out of the for- nae fourtie and nine cubites, 48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the fornae.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the fornae with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the fornae,

50 And made in the middes of the fornae like a most killing winde, so that the fire touch- ed them not at all, neither grieved, nor trou- bled them.

51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the for- nae, saying,

52 Blessed be thou, O Lorde God of our fa- thers, and prapled, and exalted aboue all things for ever, and blessed be thy glorious and holy name, and prapled aboue all things, and mag- nified for ever.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glory, and prapled aboue all things, and exalted for ever.

54 Blessed be thou, that beholdest the depths, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and prapled a- boue all things, and exalted for ever.

55 Blessed be thou in the glorious throne of thy kingdome, and prapled aboue all things, and exalted for ever.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of hea- uen, and prapled aboue all things, and glorified for ever.

57 All ye workes of the Lorde, blesse ye the Lorde: praple him, and exalt him aboue all things for ever.

58 O heauens, blesse ye the Lord: praple him, and exalt him aboue all things for ever.

The historie of || Susanna, which some ioyne to the end of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth chapter.

8 The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They accuse her to wickednesse. 23 Shee chuseth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accused. 45 Daniel doth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

Here dwelt a man in Babylon called Iocim,

2 And hee tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helcias, a verie faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the law of Moyses.

4 Nowe Iocim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Jewes, because hee was more honourable then all others.

5 The same yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be iudges, such as the Lord speaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babilon, and from the ancient iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These haunted Iocims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the lawe, came thither vnto them.

7 Nowe when the people departed away at noone, Susanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two elders saw her that she went in dayly and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their mind, a Towit, and cast downe their eyes, that they thought from God, not see heauen, nor remember iust iudgements.

10 And albeit they were both wounded with her lone, yet durst not one shewe another his griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to do with her:

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one said to the other, Let vs goe now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appointed they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

15 Nowe when they had spied out a conuenient time, that shee went in, as her manner was, with two maides onely, and thought to walke her selfe in the garden, (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, saue þ two Elders that had hid themselves, and watched for her:

17 Shee said to her maides, Bring me oyle and sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may walke in.

18 And they did as shee bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselves at a backe doore, to set the thing that he had commaunded them: but they saue not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Now when the maides were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp and ranne vnto her, saying,

20 Beholde, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we will beare witness against thee, that a yong man was with thee, and therefore thou dost send away thy maides from thee.

22 Then Sufanna sighed, and saide, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I doe this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I doe it not, I cannot escape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, and not doe it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Sufanna cryed with a loude voyce, & the two Elders cryed out against her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when þ seruantes of the house heard the crye in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruantes were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Sufanna.

28 On the morrow after, came the people to Iocim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of mischieuous imagination against Sufanna, to put her to death, 29 And said before the people, Send for Sufanna the daughter of Helcias Iocims wife. And immediacly they sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her children and all her kinred.

31 Nowe Sufanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commaunded to vncouer her face, (for she was covered) that they might so be satisfied with her beaurtie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stoode by in the middes of the people, and laid their hands vpon her head, 35 Which wept, and looked by toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders saide, As wee walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maides, whom she sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man, which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then wee which stoode in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ran vnto them, and we saw them as they were together.

39 But we could not holde him: for he was stronger then we, and opened the doore and leaped out.

40 Nowe when we had taken this woman, we asked her what yong man this was, but she would not tell vs: of these things are wee witnesses.

41 Then the assembly belceued them, as those that were the Elders & Iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Sufanna cryed out with a loude voyce, and said, O everlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afoye they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witness against me, and beholde, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 ¶ Therefore when shee was led to be put to death, the Lord rapied by the holy spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel,

46 Who cried with a loud voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these wordes, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stoode in the middes of them, and said, Are pee such fooles, O Itraelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, ye haue condemned a daughter of Itrael?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witness against her.

50 Wherefoye the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders said vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shewe it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then saide Daniel vnto them, Vnto these two aside, one sacre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder one from another, hee called one of them and saide vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now we thy sinnes which thou hast committed aforetime, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lord sayth, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay.

54 Nowe then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, vnder what tree saluest thou them compassing panping together? Who answered, Under a lentike tree.

55 Then saide Daniel, Verely thou hast lied against thine owne head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

56 So put hee him aside, and commaunded to bring the other, and saide vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beautie hath deceiued thee, & lust hath subuerred thine heart.

57 Thus haue yee dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Nowe therefore tell me, Under what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Under a pynne tree.

59 Then saide Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lyed against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cried with a loud voyce, and praised God, which sauech them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuicted them of false witness by their owne mouth)

62 * And according to the Lawe of Moyses Deut. 19. 19. they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly Leuit. 24. 15. against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saned the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife prayed God for their daughter Sulanna, with Iocim her husband, and all the kindred, that there was no dishonour found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astages was laide with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

The historie of Bel and of the Dragon, which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

Nowe when King Astages was laide with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel was eate at the Kings table, and was honoured as bene all his friends.

3 Nowe the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him every day, twelue great measures of fine flour, and foure sheepe, and sixe great pots of wine.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went daily to honor it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King said vnto him, Why dost not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with handes, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then saide the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? lest thou dost not holue much yee eate, and drinke every day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and sayde, O King, be not deceiued: for this is but clay with in, and brasse without, and do neuer eate any thing.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for his Priests, and said vnto them, If ye tell mee not why this is that eate, by these expenses, yee shall die:

9 But if yee can certifie me that Bel eate, then shall Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the King, Let it bee according to thy word.

10 Nowe the Priests of Bel were threescore and ten, beside their wives and children: and the King went with Daniel into the Temple of Bel.

11 So Bel's Priests said, Beholde, wee will goe out, and let thou the meate there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

12 And to morrow when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten by all, we will suffer death, or else Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.

13 Nowe they thought themselves sure enough: for vnder the table they had made a pynne entrance, and there went they in euery, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the King set meates before Bel. Nowe Daniel had commaunded his seruants to bring albes, and these they shewed thorowout all the Temple, in the presence of the King alone: then went they out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kings signet, and so departed.

15 Nowe in the night came the Priests with their wives and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eate and drinke by all.

16 In the morning becommes, the King arose and Daniel with him.

17 And the King said, Daniel, are the scales whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

18 And althow as hee had opened the doore, the King looked vpon the table, and cryed with a loud voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the King that hee should not goe in, and saide, Beholde nowe the pavement, and marke well whole footsteps are these.

20 And the King saide, I see the footsteps of men, women, and children: therefore the King was wroth.

21 And tooke the Priests, with their wives, and children, and they shewed him the pynne doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the King slew them, and delivered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Appearer in that same place there was a great dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King sayde unto Daniel, Sayest thou that this is of brass also? loe, hee lurcheth, and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no living God: therefore worship him.

25 Then saide Daniel unto the King, I will worship the Lord my God: for hee is the living God.

26 But giue me leave, O King, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the King said, I giue thee leave.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fatte, and haire, and did see the them together, and made lumps thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel said, Beholde, whom ye worshipped.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The King is become a Jewe: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priestes to death.

29 So they came to the King, and said, Destroyer be Daniel, or else we will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Nowe when the King sawe, that they pleased sore vpon him, and that necessitie constrained him, hee delivered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lions den, where he was sixe daies.

32 In the denne there were seven Lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Ierusalem a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made portage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord came vnto Abbacuc, Goe, carie the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lyons denne.

35 And Abbacuc saide, Lord, I neuer sawe Babylon, neither doe I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and though a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cried, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then saide Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon me, and thou neuer failest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.

40 Vpon the seventh day, the King went to bewaile Daniel: and when hee came to the denne, he looked in, and beholde, Daniel sat in the mids of the Lyons.

41 Then cried the King with a loud voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And hee drew him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia.

11 Antiochus taketh the kingdomes. 12 Many of the children of Israel make covenant with the Gentiles.

21 Antiochus subuerteth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 30 Antiochus setteth up idols.

After that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went south of the land of Cherrin, and slawe Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia.

2 Hee tooke great warres in hand, and waime strong holdes, and slew the Kings of the earth.

3 So hee went throught to the endes of the world, and tooke spoiles of many nations, in so much that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed up and was haughty.

4 Nowe when hee had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, and knewe that he should die.

7 Then he called for his chiefes of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdom among them, while he was yet alive.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

9 And his seruants reigned euery one in his roome.

10 And they all caused themselves to be crowned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednesse increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote; euen Antiochus, Epiphanes, the sonne of King Antiochus, which had him in hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundredth and thirtieth yeere of the kingdomes of the Greeces.

12 In those daies went there out of Israel wicked men, which enticed many, saying,

Let us goe, and make a covenant with the

the heathen that are rounde about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorrowe.

13 So this deuice pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the king, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then set they by a place of exercise at Jerusalem, according to the fancies of the heathen,

16 And made themselves vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy conenant, and iopned themselves to the heathen, and were solde to do mischief.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mighty companie, with charers and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great name.

19 And moued waite against Ptolemies King of Egypt: but Ptolemies was afraine of him, and fledde, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoiles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundred fourthie and thier pere,

22 And went by toward Israel and Jerusalem with a mighty people,

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuarie, and tooke away the golden altar, and the candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewbread, and the pouring vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basons, and the baile, and the crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the silver and golde, and the precious iuwels, and hee tooke the secreet treasures that hee founde, and when hee had taken away all, hee departed into his owne land, 25 After he had murdered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the pong women, and the pong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery hidegrome tooke him to mourning, and the that late in the marriage chamber was in heavinesse.

29 The land also was mooued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Jacob was covered with confusion.

30 After two peres the King sent his chiefe tate master into the cities of Iuda, which came to Jerusalem with a great multitude, 31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in deceit, and they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then he fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when he had spoiled the citie, he set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walled theron on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the city of Dauid with a great & thicke wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Whosoever they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselves therein.

37 And they stoyed it with weapons and buttailes, and gathered the spoyle of Jerusalem, and laide it by there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare and were in ambushment for the Sanctuarie, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuarie, and defiled the Sanctuarie, 40 In so much that the citizens of Jerusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom the Lord boyned: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuarie was left waste as a wilderness: her holy daies were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorrowe.

43 Also the King wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.

45 Pea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Jerusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should followe the strange lawes of the countrey.

47 And that they should forbye the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the offerings in the Sanctuarie, 48 And that they should defile the Sabbath, and the feastes.

49 And pollute the Sanctuarie and the holy men,

50 And to set up alters and grones, & chappels of idoles, and offer by swynnes flesh, and vncleane beasts,

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannesse, and pollute themselves, that they might forget the lawe, and change all the ordinances,

52 And that whosoever would not doe according to the commandement of the King, should suffer death.

53 In like maner wrote hee throughout all his kingdomes, and let ouerscers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And hee commanded the cities of Iuda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the law, and so they committed euill in the land.

2 And hee had five ſonnes, Ioſaph called Gabdis,

3 Siron called Thamm,

4 Iudas which was called Spaccabeus,

5 Eleazar called Abaron, and Jonathani, whoſe name was Mypilus.

6 Nowe hee ſawe the blaſphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ieruſalem:

7 And he ſaid, Who is me: wherefore was I borne, to ſee the deſtruction of my people, and the deſtruction of the holy cite, and thus to ſit ſtill: it is deliuered into the handes of the enemies,

8 And the Sanctuarie is in the handes of ſtrangers: her temple is as a man that hath no reſolution.

9 Her glorious beſſels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are ſlaine in the ſtreets, and her young men are ſlaken by the ſwoorde of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not ſome poſſeſſion in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her ſpoiles?

11 Will her glory be taken away: of a free woman, ſhe is become an handmaid.

12 Behold, our ſanctuarie, and our beautie, and honour is deſolate, and the Gentiles haue deſired it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he, and his ſonnes, and put ſackcloth vpon them, and mourned very ſore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the king to the cite of apodim, to compell them to forſake God, and to ſacrifice.

16 So many of the Iſraelites confeſſed vnto them: but Mattathias and his ſonnes aſſembled together.

17 Then ſpake he commiſſioners of the king, and ſaide vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honorable man, and great in this cite, and haſt many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore ſiet and fulfill the kings commaundement, as all the heathen haue done, and alſo the men of Iuda: and ſuch as remaine at Ieruſalem: ſo ſhalt thou and thy familie be in the kings fauour, and thou and thy children ſhall be enriched with ſiluer and golde, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and ſaide with a loud voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion, obey him, and fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and conſent to his commaundements,

20 Yet will I and my ſonnes, and my bres-thren, walke in the covenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that we forſake not the lawe and the ordinances.

22 Wee will not hearken vnto the kings

23 And when hee had left off ſpeaking theſe wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the ſight of al, to ſacrifice vpon the altar which was at apodim, according to the kings commaundement.

24 Now when Mattathias ſawe it, he was ſo inflamed with zeale, that his rimes ſhook, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the law: therefore he ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the ſame time he ſlew the kings commiſſioner, that compelled him to do ſacrifice, and deſtroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the lawe of God, * doing as Phinees did vnto Zambri the ſonne of Salom.

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loud voyce in the cite, ſaying, Whoſoever is zealous of the lawe, and wil ſtand by the covenant, let him come ſoothly after me.

28 So he, and his ſonnes fled into the mountaynes, and left all that they had in the cite.

29 Then many that ſought after iuſtice and iudgement,

30 Went downe into the wildeſſe to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wives, and their cattell: for the afflictions increaſed ſore vpon them.

31 ¶ Now when it was told vnto the kings ſeruants, a The father promiſeth for his children, that they ſhall ſerue God: ſo doeth Iohua for his houſhold, Iotha.

servants, and to the garisons, which were in Jerusalem in the cite of David, that men had broken the kings commaundement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wilderness.

32 Then many pursued after them: and having overtaken them, they camped against them and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath day.

33 And sayd unto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and doe according to the commaundement of the king, and ye shall live.

34 But they answered, Wee will not goe forth, neither will we doe the kings commaundement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gave them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at them, nor stopped the pyrie places,

37 But sayd, Wee will die all in our innocence: the heaven and earth shall testifie for vs, that ye destroy us wrongfully.

38 Thus they gave them the battell upon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wives and their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When sparrathias and his friends understood this, they mourned for them greatly.

40 And said one to another, If we all do as our brethren have done, and fight not against the heathen for our lives, and for our lawes, then shall they continually destroy us out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battell with vs upon the Sabbath day, we will fight against him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came unto them the assemblie of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the lawe.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, lodged themselves unto them, and were an helpe unto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the ungodly in their anger: but the rest fled unto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then sparrathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars, 46 And circumcised the children by force that were uncircumcised, as many as they found within the coasts of Israel.

47 And they pursued after the proud men: and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recovered the lawe out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gave not place to the wicked.

49 Nowe when the time drew neere, that sparrathias should die, he said unto his sonnes, Nowe is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be ye zealous of the law, and give your lives for the covenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall ye receive great honour and an everlasting name, 64 Wherefore my sonnes, take good hearts, and shew your selues men for the lawe: for by it shall you obtaine glory.

65 And beholde, I knowe that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: give eare vnto him alway: he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Judas sparrathias hath bene mightie and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him be your captaine, and fight you the battell for the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you al those that obserue the lawe, and shall auenge the injuries of your people.

68 Accompenie fillp the heathen, and give your selues to the commaundement of the law.

69 So he blessed them, and was laide with his fathers.

70 And died in the hundredthi fourthie and first yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. II.

¶ Judas is made ruler over the Jews. 1. Hee killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The confidence of Judas toward God. 55 Judas determineth to fight against Lyffas, whom Antiochus had made captain over his host.

¶ When Judas his sonne, called sparrathias, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that held with his father, and sought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gave his people great honor: he put on a breast plate as a giant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, & defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his actes he was like a lyon, and as a lyon whelp roaring after the pray.

5 For hee pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt vp those that hated his people,

6 So that the wicked Redde for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.
7 And he grieved diuers kings, but Jacob reioyced by his acts, and his memoriall is blessed for ever.

8 Hee went also thorow the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and cured away the way from Israel.

9 So was hee renowned vnto the endes of the earth, and hee assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great hoste out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Iudas perceiued, hee went forth to meete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Iudas tooke their spoiles, and tooke also Apollonius sworde, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Nowe when Seron a prince of the armie of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the congregation, and Church of the faithful, and went forth to the warre.

14 He said, I will get me a name, and will be glorious in the realme: for I will go fight with Iudas, & them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandement.

15 So hee made him ready to go vp, and there went with him a mightie hoste of the ingodly of Israel.

16 And when hee came neere to the going by of Beth-horon, Iudas went forth to meete him with a small companie.

17 But when they sawe the armie comming against them, they said to Iudas, How are we able, being so few, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we be so wearie, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut by in the handes of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small companie.

19 For the victorie of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength cometh from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruell and proud multitude, to destroy vs, and our wives, and our children, and to rob vs.

21 But we do fight for our liues, and for our lawes.

22 And God himselfe wil destroy them before our face: therefore bepe not afraid of them.

23 And when hee had left off speaking, hee leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Beth-horon vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundred men of them, & the residue fled into the land of the Philistines.

25 Then the feare and terour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about.

26 So that his fame came vnto the king: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, hee was angry in his minde: wherfore he sent forth, and gathered all the power of his realme, a very strong armie, 28 And opened his treasure, and gaue him hoste a pecers wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a yere for all occasions.

29 Wherefore, when hee sawe that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissension, and plagues that he had brought vpon the lande, in taking away the lawes which had bene of olde time,

30 He feared least he should not haue now as the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had given with a liberall hand afore: for in liberallie hee sarre passed the other kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore hee was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias a noble man and of the kings blood to oversee the kings business, from the ruler of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bring by his sonne Antiochus, till hee came againe.

34 Moreover, he gaue him halfe of his hoste and elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done.

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Jerusalem, that he should send an armie against them, to destroy & roote out the power of Israel and the remnant of Jerusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place.

36 And to let strangers for to inhabit at their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall cite, in the peere an hundredth fouentie seven, & passed the river Euphrates, and went thorow the his countreys.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolemies the sonne of Dorymenes, and Picanos, and Gorgias, mightie men and the kings friends.

39 And sent with them fourtie thousand footemen, and seven thousand horsemen, to goe vnto the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came and pitched by Emmaus in the plaine countrey. † Emmaus.

41 Nowe when the marchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much silver and golde, and seruants, and came into the campe to buy the children of Israel for slaves, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations rayned with them.

42 ¶ Nowe when Iudas and his brethren sawe that trouble increased, and that the hoste dwelt neere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby hee had commanded to destroy the people, and utterly abolish them.

43 They saide one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie.

44 Then the congregation were soonie ready gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Jerusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went noile that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuarie

Sanctuarie was troden downe, And the strangers kept the fourtresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Jacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselves together, and came to Bethphage before Jerusalem: for in Bethphage was the place where they prayed as forerime in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackes cloth upon them, & cast ashes upon their heads, and rent their clothes, 48 And opened the booke of the law, where in the heathen sought to paint the likenesse of their idoles.

49 And brought the Hyssops garments, and the fist frutes, and the rushes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their vapes.

50 And they cryed with a loud voyce toward heauen, saying, What shall we doe with these? and whither shall we carry them away?

51 For thy Sanctuarie is troden downe and defiled, and thy Hyssops are in heauynesse, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: thou knowest what things they imagine against vs.

53 How can wee stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cryed with a loud voyce.

55 And after this Judas ordeined captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thousandes, and captaines ouer hundredes, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer teene.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or married wiues, or planted vine parres, or were fearefull, that they should reserue euery one to his owne house, according to the lawe.

57 So the hoste remoued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmaus.

58 And Judas saide, Arise your selues and be valiant men, and be ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuarie.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battell, then to see the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuarie.

60 Herewithesle, as the will of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Iudas goeth against Gorgias which lyeth in waite, 14 He putteth Gorgias and his hoste to flight, 28 Lysias maketh Iudas, 29 But Iudas driueth him out, 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple and dedicateth the altar.

T hen tooke Gorgias fower thousand foote men, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night.

2 To make the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the fortrasse were his guides.

3 Now when Iudas heard it, he remoued, and they that were valiant men, to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus.

4 Whiles per the armie was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Judas campe: and when he found no man there, hee sought them in the mountaines: for said he, they flee from vs.

6 But as soone as it was day, Judas shewed himselfe in the fildes with thre thousand men, which had neither harnesse nor weapons to their woundes.

7 And they saw that the armie of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, and that these were expert men of warre.

8 Then saide Judas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neither be afrayde of their assault.

9 Remember how our fathers were deliuered from the red sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with an armie.

Exod. 14. 9, 29.

10 Therfore now let vs cry vnto heauen, and the Lord will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the Covenant of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day.

11 So shall all the heathen knowe, that there is one, which deliuereth and sauerh Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and sawe them coming against them.

13 And they went out of their tents into the battell, and they that were with Judas blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioynd together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fell by the sword, and they pursued them vnto Gazeron, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Mosais, and of Iamnia, so that there were slaine of them about thre thousand men.

16 So Judas turned againe with his hoste from pursuing them.

17 And said vnto the people, Be not greedy of the spoiles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against your enemies, and overcome them: then may ye safely take the spoiles.

19 As Iudas was speaking these wordes, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaine.

20 But when Gorgias sawe that his were fled, and that Judas soldiers burnt the tents: (for the smoke that was seene, declared what was done.)

21 When they sawe these things, they were sore afrayde, and when they sawe also that Judas and his hoste were in the fildes ready to see themselves in arrey.

22 They fledde euery one into the lande of strangers.

23 So Judas turned againe to spoyle the tents, where he gat much golde and silver, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, & sung psalmes, and praised toward the heauen: for heis gracious, and his mercie endureth for ever.

25 And so Israel had a great victory in that day.

26 Iudas al so strangles that escaped, came, and toke Iphias all the things that were done.

27 When hee heard these things, was sore afrayde and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as hee would. neither such things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gathered Iphias thre score thousand chosen men, men, and five thousand horsemen to fight against Jerusalem.

29 So they came into Beth-sura, and pitched their tents at Beth-sura, where Judas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he sawe that mighty armie, he prayed, and saide, Blessed be thou, O Saviour of Israel, * which diddest destroy the assault of the mighty man by the hand of thy servant David, * and gapest the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them be confounded with thy power, and with thy horsemen.

32 Spake them afraide, and confine their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sworde of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they toyned together, and there were name of Ephraim hoste, five thousand men, & they fell before them.

35 Then Aprias, seeing his armie put to flight, and the mannesse of Judas soldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, hee went into Antiochia, and gathered strangers, and when hee had furnished his armie, hee thought againe (being prepared) to come against Judea.

36 Then saide Judas and his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let vs nowe goe vp to cleanse, and to prepare the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they sawe the sanctuary laid waste, and the altar defiled, and the doores burnt vp, and the shubbes growing in the courtes, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe, 39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads.

40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew a salue with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Judas commaunded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had defiled the Sanctuary.

42 So hee chose Priests that were undefiled, such as delighted in the lawe, 43 And they cleansed the Sanctuary, & bare out the defiled stones into an vnclanke place.

44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offerings which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, least it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar.

46 And laide vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a convenient place, till there should come a Prophet, to shewe what should be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the law, and builded a newe altar according to the former.

48 And made vp the Sanctuary, and the things that were within the Temple: and the courtes, and all things.

49 They made also newe golp vessels, and brought into the Temple the candlesticke, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlesticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailles, and finished all the workes that they had begun to make.

52 And vpon the five and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chassen, in the hundredeth and eight and fourtyeth yere they rose vp betimes in the morning.

53 And offered sacrifice according to the lawe, vpon the newe altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day, was it made newe with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cytharals.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praying toward the heauen him that had given them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnes, & offered sacrifices of deliuerance & praise.

57 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of golde and shielbes, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Judas and his brethren with the whole congreagation of Israel ordeyned that the dayes of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from peere to peere, by the space of eight dayes, from the five and twentieth day of the moneth Chassen, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they by mount Sion with hie walles & strong towres rounde about, least the Gentiles should come, and treade it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Iudaea.

CHAP. V.

3 Judas vanquished the heathen that goe about to destroy Israel, and is helper of his brother Simon and Jonathan. 50 Hee overthroweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage through it.

Now when the nations round about heard, Iosaph. lib. 3. cap. 12. that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuary renewed as afore, they were sore grieved.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Jacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Judas fought against the children of Chan in Iudaea at Artabachene, because they besieged the Israelites, and he smote them with a great plague, and dyed them to straites, and tooke their spoiles. [Or, Arabians share.]

4 Hee thought also vpon the malice of the children of Bran, which had bene a snare and an hindrance vnto the people, when they laye in waite for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towres, and besieged besieged them, and destroyed them utterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward, went hee against the children of Ammon, where he found a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So hee had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so hee discomfited them.

8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and so turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castle of Dachehan.

10 And sent letters to Judas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs.

11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortreffe, wherein we are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come nowe therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine.

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, & they haue taken away their wiues and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galile, with their clothes rent, which told the same tidings.

15 And sayd, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyris, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered, against them to destroy them.

16 When Judas and the people heard these wordes, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they besieged.

17 Then sayd Judas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and goe & deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Jonathan will goe into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So hee left Iosephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to bee captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea.

19 And commanded them, saying, Take the ouersight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, until we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thousand men, to goe into Galile, & to Judas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And hee purchased them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so hee tooke their spoiles.

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile and in Iherbatis with their wiues, and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Judas & Iaccabius also, & his brother Jonathan went ouer Iordan, & traueiled three dayes iourney in the wilderness.

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them kindly, & told them every thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad.

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bofora, and Bofoz, in Aleims, & Chasbon, & aged and Carnaun (all these cities are strong, and great) for, Chasbon.

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to knowe they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these fortes, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Judas & his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness toward Bofora, and waune the city, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all their spoyle, and set fire vpon the cite.

29 And in the night he removed from thence, and went toward the fortreffe.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked by, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the forte, and had assaulted them.

31 When Judas sawe that the battell was begun, and that the crye of the cite went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound.

32 Then he sayd vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behind them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knew, that it was Iaccabius, and they fled from him, and he note them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day, almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Judas vnto Maspha, and layd siege vnto it, and waune it, and slew all the males thereof, and spoyled it, and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went hee and tooke Chasbon, & aged, and Bofoz, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and hee camped before Kaphon beyond the flood.

38 Nowe Judas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great.

39 And he hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come & fight against thee. So Judas went to meete them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captains of his hoste, When Judas and his hoste come neere the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shall not be able to withstand him: for he will be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, we will goe ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Judas came neere to the flood, hee caused the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood, and commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let every man come to the battell.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, and all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, & cast away their weapons, and fled into the temple that was at Carnaun.

44 Which citie Judas wanne, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Judas.

45 ¶ Then Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the least unto the most, with their wives and their children, and their baggage a very great hoste, to come into the land of Juda.

46 So they came unto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defended: they could not passe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must goe thowow it.

47 But they that were in the citie, shut their shutes in, & stopped by the gates with stones: and Judas sent unto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thowow your land, that wee may goe into our owne countrey, & none shall hurt you: wee will but onely goe thowow on foote: but they would not open unto him.

49 Wherefore Judas commanded a proclamation to be made thowowout the hoste, that every man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set upon it, & assaulted the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was given over into his hands:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, and tooke the spoyle thereof, and went thowow the citie over them that were slaine.

52 Then went they over Jordan into the great plaine before Bethshan.

53 And Judas gathered together them that were behind, and gave the people good exhortation all the way thowow, till they were come into the land of Juda.

54 Thus they went by with joy, and gladnes unto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 ¶ Now whiles Judas & Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simo their brother in Galilee before Ptolemais.

56 Joseph the sonne of Zacharias, & Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and battels which they had achieved, sayd, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gave their hoste a commandement, and went toward Jamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to come against them.

60 And Joseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued unto the borders of Judea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great overthrow among the people of Israel.

61 Because they were not obedient unto Judas and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose hands deliverance was given to Israel.

63 But the man Judas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, wheresoever their name was heard of.

64 And the people came unto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Judas forth with his brethren, & fought against the children of Elian in the land toward the South, where he wanne Jeshon, and the towne thereof, & he destroyed the castle thereof, and burnt the towers thereof round about.

66 Then reasoned he to goe into the land of the strangers, and went thowow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priests of the cities slaine in the battell, which would shewe their valiantheesse, & went forth to battell without counsell: and when Judas came to Azorus in the strangers land, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoiles of the citie, and came into the land of Juda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus, willing to take the citie of Elimelech, is driven away of the citizens. 2 He falleth into sickness, & dieth. 3 His sonne Antiochus is made king. 4 The manner to prouoke elephants to fight. 43 Eleasarus valiantly killeth him. 48 The siege of Sion.

Nowe when king Antiochus travelled thowow the his countreys, hee heard that Elimelech was in the countrey of Persia was a city greatly renowned for riches, silver and gold,

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, whereas were coverings of gold, coats of armour, and harnesse, which Alexander king of Macedoniam the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoile it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter.

4 And rose by against him in battell, and hee fled and departed thence with great heavynesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreover, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Persia, that the armies that went against the land of Juda, were driven away.

6 And that Aprias, which went forth first with a great power, was driven away of the Jewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and divers spoiles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed.

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which hee had set by upon the altar at Jerusalem, and fenced the Sanctuary with high walles, as it was afore, and Bethsura his citie.

8 So when the king had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moored: therefore hee layd him downe upon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorrow, because it was not come to passe as hee had thought.

9 And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was ever more and more, so that hee sawe he must needs die.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friends, and sayd unto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with myselfe, Into what adversitie am I come: and into what flood of miserie am I fallen now, whereas aforetime I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power?

12 And now doe I remember the curses, that

I haue done at Ierusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of gold and of silver that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda with our cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon mee for the same cause, and beholde, I must die with great sorow in a strange land.

14 Then called hee for Philippe, one of his friends, whom he made ruler of all his realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that hee shoulde instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till hee might reigne himselfe.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundredth foure and ninth yeere.

17 ¶ When Lysias knewe that the king was dead, he ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whome he had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Nowe they that were in the castle at Ierusalem, kept in the Israelites rounde about the Sanctuarie, and fought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to bessege them.

20 So they came together, & besieged them in the hundredth & fiftie yeere, and made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre.

21 But certaine of them that were besieged, gate footh, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel ignored themselves)

22 And they went vnto the King, saying, How long wilt thou cease fro executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren?

23 Wee haue bene ready to serue thy father, and to goe forward in those things, that hee appointed, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and wheresoeuer they founde any of vs, they slew them, and spoiled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely layd hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And beholde, this day are they besseging the castle of Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuarie, and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou dost not puenient them quickly, they will doe greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the King heard this, hee was very angry, and called all his friends, the capitaines of his armie, and his hostemen, 29 And bandes that were hired, came vnto him from the kings, that were confederate, and from the ples of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundred thousand footemen, and twentie thousand hostemen, and two and thirtie Elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came through Idumea, and dyewe nere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, and made engins of warre, but they came out, and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Iudas from the castle, and remooued the hoste toward Beth-zacarias, ouer against the Kings campe.

33 So the king arose very early, and brought the armie and his power toward the wap of Beth-zacarias, where the armie set themselves in aray to the battell, and blew the trumpets, 34 And to prouoke the Elephants for to fight, they shedd them the blood of grapes and mulberries,

35 And they set the beasts according to the ranges: so that by euery Elephant there stood a thousande men armed with coates of maile and helmets of brasse vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordeined five hundred men of the best,

36 Which were ready at all times wheresoeuer the beast was: and whithersoener the beast went, they went also, & departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towres of wood that covered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and vpon euery one was two and thirtie men, that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the hostes men vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the battles.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shields, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings armie was spread vpon the hie mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the companie, and the rattling of the harness, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Iudas and his hoste entred into the battell, and they slew five hundred men of the kings armie.

43 ¶ Nowe when Eleazar, the sonne of the baron, sawe one of the Elephants armed with ropall harness, and was mooue excellent then all the other beasts, he thought that the king shoulde be vpon him.

44 Wherefore hee leaped himselfe to deliuer his people, & to get him a perpetual name.

45 And ranne holdip vnto him though the middes of the hoste, slaying on the right hande, and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went hee to the Elephants ferte, and gaue him vnder him, and slew him: then fell the Elephant downe vpon him, & there he died.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the kings armie went by to meete them toward Ierusalem, and the king pitched his tents in Iudea toward mount Sion.

49 Wherupon, the King tooke triue with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the cite, because they had no victualles there, and were shut by them, and the land had rested,

50 The king tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garrison to keepe it, 51 And besieged the Sanctuarie many daies, and made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast battes and flings.

52 ¶ They also made engins against their engins, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vittails: for it was the seventh yeere, and then they that were in Iudea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten by the residue of the stoie, 54 So that in the Sanctuarie were few men left: for the famine came to vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lysias heard that Philip, (whome Antiochus the king, whiles he liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be king)

56 Was come againe out of Persia, & Macedon, and the kings hoste with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things,

57 Hee and his pasted, & were stirred forward by them in the castle to goe and tell the king, and the captaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, We decrease dayly, and our vittalles are but small: and the place that wee lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

58 Nowe therefore let vs agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation, 59 And graunt them to liue after their Law, as they did afore: for they bee grieved, and doe all these things, because wee haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the king and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, & they receiued it.

61 When the king and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the forrestes,

62 And the king went vp to mount Sion: but when hee sawe that the place was well defended, hee brake his othe that he had made, and commaunded to bryake downe the wall rounde about.

63 Then departed hee in all haste, and returned vnto Antiochia, where hee founde Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so hee fought against him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

1 Demetrius reigned, after hee had killed Antiochus and Lysias, 5 He troubleth the children of Israel through the counsaill of certaine wicked persons, 37 The prayer of the Priestes against Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after he had made his prayer.

¶ In the hundredth, and one and fiftieth yere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came by with a fewe men vnto a citie of the sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when he came into possession of his fathers kingdome, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lysias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was tolde him, he said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Nowe when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdome,

5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Israel, whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene the hie Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto the king, saying, Iudas & his brethren haue slaine all thy friendes, and dynen vs out of our owne lande.

7 Wherefore sende nowe some man, whome thou trustest, that he may goe and see all the destruction, which hee hath done vnto vs, and to the kings lande, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king chose Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and sent him,

9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom hee made hie Priest, and commaunded him to be attenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great host vnto the land of Iuda, and sent messengers to Iudas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable wordes.

11 But they beleued not their saying: for they sawe that they were come wth a great hoste.

12 Then a company of the gouernours also sembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreate of reasonable points.

13 And the Highpriests were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

14 For saide they, Hee that is a Priest of the seede of Aaron, is come with this armie: theresfore hee will not hurt vs.

15 Then he spake vnto them peaceably, and sware vnto them, and said, We will doe you no harme: neither your friendes.

16 And they beleued him: but hee tooke of them thre-score men, and slewe them in one day, according to the wordes that were written,

17 They haue cast the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood rounde about Ierusalem, and there was no man that would burie them.

18 So there came a feare and a trembling among all the people: for they said, There is neuer truerh nor righteousness in them: for they haue broken the appointment and othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remooued from Ierusalem, and pitched his tent at Beth-secha, where hee sent forth & tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people whome hee slew and cast into the great pit.

20 Then committed hee the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus stroue for the Priesthood.

22 And all such as troubled the people, yea, sorted vnto him: in so much that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 Nowe when Iudas sawe all the mischief that Alcimus and his compaie had done among the Israelites more then the heathen, 24 Hee went forth round about all the borders of Iudea, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroade in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus sawe that Iudas and his people had gotten the upper hande, & knewe that hee was not able to abide them, hee went as gaue to the king, and accused them of wicked things.

26 Then the king sent Nicanor one of his chiefe princes, which hated Israel deadly, and commaunded him, that hee should destroy the people.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great hoste, and sent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendship wordes, saying,

28 Let there be no warre betwene mee, and you: I will come with fewe men, to see how ye doe, friendship.

29 So he came vnto Iudas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Neuerthelesse, it was told Iudas, that hee came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore hee feared him, and would see his face no moze.

31 When Aicanor perceived that his counsell was beliaied, he went out to fight against Iudas, beside Carphalalama, 32 Where there were slayne of Aicanors hoste about fise thousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Aicanor vnto mount Sion, & some of the Priests with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the burnt offering that was offred for the King.

34 But he laughed at them, & mocked them, and counted them prophane, & spake proudly, 35 And tooke in his wrath, saying, If Iudas & his hoste be not beliaied now into mine hands, if euer I come againe in safetie, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stood before the altar in the Temple, weeping & saying,

37 For so much as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this* House, that thy name might bee called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people, 38 Bee auenged of this man and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 When Aicanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

40 And Iudas pitched in Iudasa, with three thousand men, where Iudas prayed, saying, 41 O Lord,* because the messenger of King Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel wote forth, and slew an hundred, fourescore and fise thousand of them.

42 So destrope thou this hoste before vs to day, that aliother may know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuarie, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioynd together in battell, the thirtenth day of the moneth Adar: but Aicanors hoste was discomfited, and hee himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Nowe when his army sawe that Aicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons and fled.

45 But they pursued after the dayes ionrnep from Iudasa, vnto Caesara, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the towne of Iudea round about, & rushed vpon them, and threw them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the poples, & the priaie, and smote off Aicanors head, & his right hand, which hee held by so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them by asofe Ierusalem.

48 So the people reioiced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordeined to keepe peercely that day on the thirtenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Iuda was in rest a litle while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent to the Iewes.

Iudas heard also the fame of the Romanes, Joseph, Antiochus, and as they were mightie, and balaunt, and as they were greable to all things, that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them,

2 And that they were men of great power, and they tolde him of their battels, and their worthy acts, which they did among the Galatians whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and gold,

4 And that by their counsell and gentle behaviour they were rulers in every place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited, and giuen great ouerthrowes to the Kings that came against them, from the vttermoost partes of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euery peere,

5 Now they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Perles kings of the Macedonians, and others, that rose against them, and how they ouercame them,

6 And how great Antiochus king of Asia that came against them in battell, hauing an hundred and twentie Elephants, with horsemen and chariots, and a very great army, was discomfited by them,

7 And how they tooke him aline, and ordeined him, with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a separate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Arabia, and Lydia, and of his best countreys, which they tooke of him and gaue them to King Eumenes.

9 Againe when it was told them that the Grecians were coming to destrope them,

10 They sent against them a captain, which gaue them battell, and slewe many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiuues, and children, and spoiled them, and conquered their land, and destroped their strong holdes, and subdued them to bee their bondmen vnto this day:

11 Moreover, how they destroped & brought into subiection other kingdomes & Iles, whosoeuer had withstand them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their owne friends, and those that staid vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, in so much that whosoeuer heard of their remouue, was afraid of them.

13 For whome they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned: whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high authority.

14 Perfor all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to bee imagined thereby,

16 And that they committed their gouernment to one man euer peere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuy among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas chose Eupolemus the sonne of John, the sonne of Accus, and Jason the sonne of Eleazar, & sent them vnto Rome, to make friendship, & mutual fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them þe pike (for they sawe that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage.)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the Senate where they spake and sayd, 20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Jewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship & peace with you, and pee to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the Epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse and sent to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the peace, and mutual fellowship.

23 Good successe bee to the Romanes, and to the people of the Jewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the sword, and enemye be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romanes, or any of their friends throughout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Jewes shal help them, as the time shal be appointed, with all their heart.

26 Also if they shal giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with weate nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but if they shal keepe their covenants without taking any thing of them.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nation of þe Jewes, the Romanes shal helpe them with a good will, according as the time shal be appointed them.

28 Neither shal weate be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who wil keepe these covenants without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Jewes.

30 If after these points the one partie, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoever they shall adde or take away, shal be ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Jewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore latest thou thine heauie pike vpon our friends, and conserueth the Jewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his army against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slaine. 31 Jonathan is put in the stead of his brother. 47 The battell between Jonathan and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is gouernour.

the pisse, and dieth. 68 He cometh vpon Jonathan by the counsell of certaine wicked persons, and is overcome. 70 The truce of Jonathan with Bacchides.

¶ In the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Iudas, and his hoste had giuen the battell, he sent Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his chiefe strength with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Betheloth which is in Arbelis, and wan it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundredth, fiftie and two peere, they laped their siege against Jerusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Bera, with twentie thousand foote men, and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at Betheloth, and thre thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the army was great, they were sore afraid, and many couered themselves out of the hoste, so that there abode no more of them, but eight hundred men.

7 When Iudas sawe that his hoste sapled him, and that he must needs fight, hee was sore troubled in mind that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Nevertheless, he sayd vnto them that remained, let vs rise, and goe by against our enemies, if peradventure we may bee able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, Wee are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall wee fight against them, that are so few?

10 Then Iudas sayd, God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time bee come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

11 Then the hoste remooued out of the tents, and stood against them, who had deuised their horsemen into two troupes, and they that were with slings, and the archers marched in þe forefront, and they that fought in the forefront, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drew nere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They of Iudas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noise of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Iudas sawe that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the darby men,

15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Nowe when they which were of the left wing, sawe that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Iudas behind, and then that were with him hard at the heels.

17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Iudas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon tooke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre.

sepulchre in the citie of Machin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many daies, saying,

21 How is the valiant man fallen which be-liued Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Judas, both the battels and the valiant actes that hee did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

23 ¶ Nowe after the death of Judas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselves to iniquitie.

24 In those daies was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselves to them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Judas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophete was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas friends together, and said vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs, 30 Therefore, this day wee chuse thee that thou maiest bee our prince and capitaine in his place to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother, perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Chesua with all their company, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Bethbar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, hee came ouer Jordan with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 ¶ Nowe had Jonathan sent his brother John a capitaine of 5 people, to pray his friends, the Sabbathdaies, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

36 But the children of Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke John, and all that hee had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, and brought the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembered John their brother, and went vp, and hid themselves vnder the court of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a great hoste, & much preparation: then the dyegronie came forth, and his friends and his brethren mete them with trumpets, and instruments of musike, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fledde into the mountaines, so that they rooke all their peoples.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noise of their mirth into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Jordan.

43 When Bacchides heard this, hee came vnto the border of Jordan with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his company, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Beholde, the battell is before vs, and be-hinde vs, and the water of Jordan on this side and that side, and the marie and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore say nowe vnto heauen, that ye may be deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioynd battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but he turned aside from him and recoiled.

48 Then Jonathan, & they that were with him, leapt into Jordan, and swimmied ouer vnto the further bank: but the other would not passe through Jordan after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides aboue a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Jerusalem, and builded the strong cities in Juda, as the citie of Jericho, and Emmaus, & Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Chamminatha, ¶ Parothoni, and Tephro, with his walles, with gates, and with barres, 51 And set garrisons in them, that they might be their malice vpon Israel.

52 Hee fortified also the citie Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garrison in them with promise of viualles.

53 He tooke also the chiefeest mens homes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Jerusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterwarde in the hundredth, fiftie and three yere, in the second moneth, Alcimus commaunded that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuarie should be destroyed, and he pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterpises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for hee was smitten with a palsey, and couide no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides sawe, that Alcimus was dead, hee turned againe to the King, and so the lande of Juda was in rest two yeres.

58 Then all the bngodly men held a counsell, saying, Beholde, Jonathan and his company dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs hng Bacchides hng, and hee will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him,

60 And arose and came with a great hoste, and sent letters vnto his adherents, which were in Judea, to take Jonathan, and those that were with him: but they couide not, for their counsell was known unto them.

61 And they tooke fittie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workes of this wickednesse, and sleweth them.

62 Then Jonathan and Simon with their company departed unto Beth-basin which is in the wilderness, and repayed the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his hoste, and sent word to them that were of Iudaea.

64 Then came hee and layde siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number,

66 And slew Abdonas and his brethren, and the children of Phaltion in their tents: so he began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also & his company went out of the citie, & burnt by the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and bereft him force, so that his counsell and iourney was in vaine.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, that gave him counsell to come into the countrey, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, hee sent ambassadours unto him, to intreat of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing hee accepted, & did according to his desire, and made an othe, that hee would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored unto him the prisoners that hee had taken aforetime out of the lande of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne lande, neither did hee come any more unto their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Babilmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Jonathan.

18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemeus and Alexander.

In the hundredth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemeus, and they reuened him, and there he reigned.

2 Nowe when Demetrius the king heard it, hee gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters unto Jonathan, with louing wordes, as though he would preferre him.

4 For hee saide, Wee must first make peace with him, before hee ioyne with Alexander as gainst vs.

5 Els he will remember all the euill that wee haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so hee gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commaunded the hostages that were in the castle, to be deliuered unto him.

7 Then came Jonathan to Ierusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 Therefore they were sore afrayde, because they heard that the king had giuen him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages unto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to build, and repaire the citie.

11 And hee commaunded the workemen to build the walles, and the mount Sion rounde about with heuen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the law, and the commaundements: for it was their refuge.

15 Nowe when king Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble acts, which hee and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 Hee sayde, Might wee finde such a man? nowe therefore wee will make him our friends and confederate.

17 Upon this hee wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him with these words, saying,

18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordaine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nation, and to be called the Kings friend: (and hee sent him a purple robe, and a crowne of gold,) that thou mayest consider what is for our profite, and keepe friendship toward vs.

21 So in the seventh moneth of the hundredth and threescore yeere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

22 Which when Demetrius heard, he was maruelousd sore, and said,

23 What haue wee done, that Alexander hath preferred vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Per will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewards, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon hee wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIUS vnto the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

26 Wee haue heard that pee haue kept your covenant toward vs, & continued in our friendship, and haue not ioynd with our enemies, wherof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelitie toward vs, and we will recompense you for the good things that pee haue done for vs.

28 And wil release you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, and free you from the customes customs of sale, and the crowne taxes; & from the thirde part of the seede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruite of the trees which is mine owne duertie, I so releaste them, that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda, or of the three governments, which are added thereto, as of Samaria and of Galile, from this day forth for evermore.

And of the country beyond Iordē, as Iosephus
writeth.

31 Jerusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall bee holy and free from the tenthes and tributes.

32 Also I releaste the power of the castle which is at Jerusalem, and give it unto the hie Priest, that he may let in it such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreover I freely deliuer every one of the Iewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, and every one of them shall bee free from tributes, pea, euen their cattel,

34 And all the feastes, and Sabbathys, and new moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme, 35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to bere any of them in any manner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousande of the Iewes shall be wryten vp in the kings holte, and haue their wages paid them as apperteineth to all them that are of the kings armie: and of them shall bee ordeined certaine to keepe the kings strong holdes.

37 And some of them shall bee set ouer the kings most secreete affaires, and their gouernours and their princes shall be of themselves, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three governments that are added vnto Iuda from the countrey of Samaria, shall be ioyned vnto Iuda, and they shall be as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuarie at Jerusalem, for the necessarie expenses of the holy things.

40 Moreover, I will giue every yere fiftene thousande sicles of siluer of the kings reuenues out of the places appertaining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the fise thousand sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appointed for the entertainment of the Sanctuarie, these yeres passed, euen these things shall be releaste because they apperteine to the Priestes that minister.

43 Item, whosoever they see that flee vnto the Temple at Jerusalem, or within the libertes thereof, and are inderted to the king for any manner of thing, they shall bee pardoned, and all that they haue in my realme.

44 For the building also and reparyng of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expenses shall be giuen of the kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jerusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holdes of Iudea may bee built by, shall also the costes be giuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan and the people heard these wordes, they gaue no credite vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembred the great wickednesse that hee had done in Israel, and how soe he had bereed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for hee was the first that had increased of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered King Alexander a great hoste, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioynd battell, but Demetrius hoste sleb, and Alexander pursued him, and pueailed against them.

50 So that soe battell continued til the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ When Alexander sent Ambassadors vnto Ptolemeus the King of Egypt with these wordes, saying,

*Iosephus
chap. 5.*

52 For so much as I am come againe to my realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and hee and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome,

54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue mee nowe thy daughter to wife: so shall I bee thy sonne in lawe, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemeus the king gaue answer, saying, Happie bee the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the lande of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of thy kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy wryting: but meete mee at Ptolemais that wee may see one another, & that I may make thee my sonne in lawe, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundredth threescore and two yere.

58 Where king Alexander mette him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glorie, as the manner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wote king Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he should come and meete him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there hee mette the two kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine pestilent felowes of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the King commaunded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple: and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him.

63 And saide vnto his princes, Go with him into the middes of the citie, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

64 So when his accusers sawe his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that hee was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honour, and wote wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him a duke, and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 In the hundredth, threescore and five yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Syria into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when King Alexander heard, he was very joye, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Jamnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the hye Priest, saying,

70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: nowe therefore why dost thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaynes?

71 Nowe then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine field, and there let vs trie the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foore is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chased in their owne land.

73 And nowe howe wilt thou bee able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footemen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was mooued in his mind: wherefore he chose tenne thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And hee pitched his tents at Joppe: but they thre him out of the citie: for Apollonius garrison was in Joppe.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wanne Joppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousande horsemen with a great hoste of fooremen, and went towards Azotus, as though hee would goe sojward, and came immediately into the plaine field, because hee had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arrows band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behinde them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knewe that there was an ambushment behinde him, and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shotte darts at the people from the morning to the evening,

81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them, til their horses were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them against the bande: but the horses were wearie, and hee discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the field,

83 And they fled to Azotus, & came into the temple of Dagon their idole, & that they might there saue themselves.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities rounde about it, and tooke their spoiles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the hoste from thence, and camped by Mclan, where the men of the citie came soorth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great spoiles.

88 And when King Alexander heard these things, he began to do Jonathan more honour, 89 And sent him a collar of golde, as the vse is to bee giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him also Maccan, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The dissention betwene Ptolemus and Alexander his sonne in lawe. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemus. 22 Sion is besieged of Ionathan. 42 Demetrius seeing that he man ressted him, sendeth his armie againe. 54 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the King of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the lande that lyeth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, & went about through decrete to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to iopne it vnto his owne Realme.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friends, ly wyodes, and was let into the cities, and men came soorth to meete him: for King Alexander had commanded them to meete him, because he was his father in lawe.

3 Nowe when hee entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bands and garrisons in euery citie.

4 And when hee came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where he should passe.

5 And they tolde the King what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the King held his peace.

6 And Jonathan meete the king with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the King vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So King Ptolemus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 And sent Ambassadors vnto King Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betwene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and sojooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowne.

13 Then Ptolemus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

Iosaph. Anti.
13. cap. 7.

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, and Ptolemicus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemicus was exalted.

17 And Zabbidi the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it unto Ptolemicus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemicus died, & they that were in the holds, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundredth, threescore and seuenth yeere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Judea, to lay siege vnto the castle, which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Jonathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediately came vnto Ptolemas, and wrote vnto Jonathan, that hee should lay no more siege vnto it, but that he should meete him, and speake with him at Ptolemas in all haste.

23 Nevertheless when Jonathan heard this, he commaunded to besiege it: he chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priests, and put himselfe in danger, 24 And tooke with him silver and gold, and apparell, and diuers presents, & went to Ptolemas vnto the king, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the king increased him as his presence had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the his priest hood with all the honourable things, that hee had as soe, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the king, that hee would make Judea free with the three gouernments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Jonathan promised him three hundredth talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, & gaue Jonathan writing of the same, containing these words, 30 KING DEMETRIUS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

31 Wee send you here a copie of the letter, which we did write vnto our cousin Lathenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lathenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulness that our friends the nation of the Jewes keepe vnto vs, & for their good will toward vs, we are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Judea, with the thre gouernements, Aphesrema, and Iudaea, and Iamath (which are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concerning the payments which the king tooke pererly aforetime, both for the fruites of the earth, & for the fruites of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto to vs of the tenthes and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, a crowne taxes, which were paid vnto vs, were discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof that be renoked from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that pee make a copie of these things, & deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this when Demetrius the king sawe that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, hee sent away all his hoste, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bandes of strangers, whom hee brought from the ples of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when hee sawe that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, he went to Simulacrus the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander,

40 And layd siege vpon him, to deliuer him this pong Antiochus, that hee might reigne in his fathers stead: he told him also what great evil Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan sent vnto king Demetrius to bidde them out which were in the castle at Jerusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Jonathan, saying, I will not onely doe these things for thee and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee and thy nation.

43 Now therefore shal thou doe mee a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousand strong men vnto Antiochus, and they came vnto the king: wherefore the king was very glad at their coming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundredth and twentie thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, & would haue slaine the king.

46 But the king fled to the palace, and the citizens kept the streets of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Jewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroad through the citie.

48 And slew the same day an hundredth thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoiles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the Citizens sawe that the Jewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they themselves were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 Let Graue be peace, and let the Jewes cease from veying vs and the citie.

51 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace, and the Jewes were greatly honoured before the king, and before all that were in his Realme, and they came againe to Jerusalem with great praise.

52 Then king Demetrius sat in the thron of his kingdom, and had peace in his land.

53 Nevertheless he distasteth in all that euer hee spake, and with blew himselfe from Jonathan, neither did hee reward him according to the benefices which hee had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 After this returned Tryphon with the pong child Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered unto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled, and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the beasts, and wane Antiochia.

57 And pong Antiochus wrote unto Jonathan, saying, I appoint thee to bee the chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler over the foure governments, that thou maiest be a friend of the Kings.

58 Upon this hee sent him golden vessels to bee served in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in gold, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of gold.

59 Hee made his brother Simon also captaine from the coastes of Cyprus unto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went forth, and passed throught the cities beyond the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered unto him for to helpe him: so he came unto Ascalon, and they of the citie received him honourably.

61 And from thence went he unto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore hee laied siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoiled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication unto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and tooke of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, & sent them to Jerusalem, and went throught the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius Princes were come into Cadus, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to drine him out of the countrey, 64 Hee came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which he granted them, & afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garrison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his hoste, came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And behold, the hostes of the strangers met him in the plaine and had laied ambushments for him in the mountaines.

69 So that when they came agaynst them, the ambushment rose out of their places & skirmished.

70 So that all that were on Jonathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Garatathias the sonne of Abialonius, and Judas the sonne of Galphai the Captains of the hoste.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, & cast earth vpon his head, and wept.

72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Nowe when his owne men that were led, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to followe after all vnto their tentes at Cadus, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Jonathan turned againe to Jerusalem,

CHAP. XII.

1 Jonathan sendeth ambassadors to Rome, 2 And to the people of Sparta, to renew their covenant of friendship. 24 Jonathan putteth to flight the Princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Jonathan by deceit.

Jonathan now seeing that the time was mette for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to stablish and renew the friendship with them.

2 Hee sent letters also vnto the Spartians and to other places, for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entered into the Senate, & said, Jonathan the hie Priest and the nation of the Jewes sent vs vnto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should lead them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 AND THIS is the copy of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians,

6 Jonathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priests, and the rest of the people of the Jewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Wherefore wee letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from Arius, which then reigned among you, that you would be our brethren, as the copy here under written sheweth.

8 And Onias intreated the Ambassadors honourably, and received the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, we need no such writings: for wee haue the holp bookes in our handes for comfort.

10 Nevertheless we thought it good to send vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, least we should bee strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that we sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore wee remember you at all seasons continually, & in the feasts and other daies appointed, when we offer sacrifices & prayers, as it is mette and convenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And wee reioice at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs,

14 Yet would we not be greivous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates and friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and wee are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Antimusius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason, and sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 Wee commaunded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to 19 And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the King of Sparta sent unto Danias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians unto Danias the hie Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is founde in writing, that the Sparti-ans and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And nowe for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well to write unto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs, we have written unto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue wee commaunded to be shewed vnto you.

24 I Nowe when Jonathan heard that Demetrius Princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore.

25 He went from Jerusalem, and met them in the lande of Hamath: for hee gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And he sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe, and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore, when the sunne was gone downe, Jonathan commaunded his men to watch, and to bee in armes ready to fight all the night, and set watchmen rounde about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their heartes, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuerthelesse Jonathan and his compa-nie knewe it not till the morning: for they sawe the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoyle.

32 Yee proceeded further also, and came vnto Dainacus, and went thowoe all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went soorth, and came to Ascalon and to the next holdes, departing vnto Ioppe, and Iamne it.

34 For he heard that they would deliuer the holde to them that tooke Demetrius part:
wherefore he set a garrison there to keepe it.

35 I After this came Jonathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and denised with them for to builde vp the strong holdes in Iudea.

36 And to make the walles of Jerusalem hieh, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the citie, for to separate it from the ci-tie, that it might bee alone, and that men should neither buy, nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to builde vp the ci-tie: for part of the wall vpon the booke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set by Abida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

39 I In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to bee crowned when hee had slaine the King Antiochus.

40 But hee was afraide that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him:
wherefore hee went about to take Jonathan, and to kill him: so hee departed and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Jonathan soorth against him to the battell with foure thousand cholen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon saw that Jonathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay hand vpon him.

43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commaunded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him, as to himselfe.

44 And said vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betwene vs?

45 Therefore sende them nowe home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with mee to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holdes, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my coming.

46 Jonathan belueued him, and did as hee saide, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Iuda.

47 And retained but thre thousand with him, wherof he sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Nowe alsoone as Jonathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slewe all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen and hoysmen into Galile, and into the great plaine, to destroy all Jonathans company.

50 But when they knewe that Jonathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came soorth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were rounde as-bout them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they saide, Nowe haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memorie from among men.

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, See know

Joseph. Ant. 13. cap. 9.

knowe what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the lawe, and the Sanctuarie, and the battels, and troubles that we haue seene.

4 By reason wherof all my brethren are named for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Nowe therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any tyme of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will avenge my nation, and the Sanctuarie, and our wives, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to despoyle vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these wordes the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cried with a loud voyce, saying, Thou shalt bee our captain in stead of Judas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whosoever thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 ¶ So hee gathered all the men of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent hee Jonathan the sonne of Absalomus with a great hoste vnto Ioppe, which doeth them out of that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remooued from Ptoles mats with a great armie, to come into the land of Iuda, and Jonathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at Addis his vpon the open plaine.

14 But when Tryphon knewe that Simon stood by in stead of his brother Jonathan, and that hee would fight against him, hee sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas wee haue kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in the kings account concerning the businesse that hee had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundred talents of silver, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten forth, he will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuerthelesse Simon knewe that hee dissembled in his wordes, yet commanded he the money and children to bee deliuered vnto him, least hee should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who might haue saide, Because hee sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So hee sent the children and an hundred talents: but hee dissembled, and would not let Jonathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to bestrope it, & went rounde about by the way, that leadeth vnto Moza: but whersoener they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Nowe they that were in the castle, sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that he should make haste to come by the wilderness, and to sende them bitailes.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his hostes men: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that hee came not, because of the snow: but hee remooued & went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when he came neere to Balcama, he slew Jonathan, and hee was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Moabim his fathers cite.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto, of hewen stone beynide and before.

28 And set vpon seven pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren.

29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetual memorie, and earned shippes beside the armes, that they might be seene of men sailing in the Sea.

30 This sepulchre which hee made at Moabim, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Nowe as Tryphon went forth with the pong King Antiochus, hee slew him traitously.

32 And reigned in his steade, and crowned himselfe King of Asia, and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built up the castles of Iudea, and compassed them about with high towres, and great walles, euen with towres, and gates, and barres, and layed by bitailes in the strong holdes.

34 Whersoener Simon chose certaine men and sent them to King Demetrius, that hee would discharge the lande: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the King answered him, and wrote vnto him after this manner.

36 DEMETRIUS the King vnto Simon the hie Priest, and the friende of Kings, and to the Elders, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, and precious stone that he sent vnto vs, haue wee receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers, to release you of the things wherein we made you free.

38 So the things that we haue granted you, shall bee stable: the strong holdes which ye haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 Also wee forgie the oversightes, and faults committed vnto this day, & the crowne care that ye ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shall bee nowe no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to be written with our men, let them bee written by, that there may be peace betwene vs.

41 Thus the voke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundredth and thientie peere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, and publike instruments, IN THE FIRST peere of Simon, the hie and chiefe Priest, gouernour and prince of the Jewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it rounde about, where hee set by an engine of warre, and approched neere the cite, and beat a towre, and took it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the cite, and there was great trouble in the city,

45 In so much that the people of the cite rent their clothes, and chined by vpon the walles with with their wiues, and children, and cried with a loude voyce, beseeching Simon to grant them peace, saying, 46 Deale not with vs according to our wicks kednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, & would fight no more against them, but put them out of the cite, and clenied the houses, wherein the idoles were, & so entered therewinto with Palmes and thanksgiving.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set such men in it as kept the Lawe, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe,

49 Now, when they in the castle at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth, nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were verie hungry, & many of them were famished to death,

50 In so much that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he granted them, and put them out from thence, and clenied the castle from filthinesse.

51 And vpon þ the three and twentieth day of the second moneth, in the hundredth seuentie and one yeere, they entered into it with thanksgiving, & branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbals, and with viols, & with psalms, and songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.

52 And he ordeined that the same day should be kept euery yeere with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castle where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that John his sonne was now a man, hee made him captaine of all the hostes, and caused him to dwell in Gazaris.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Demetrius is overcome of Arsaces. 11 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel. 18 The covenant of friendship with the Romanes, & with the people of Sparta is renewed.

In the hundredth, seuentie and two yeere gathered Ired king Demetrius his hoste, and departed vnto Media, to get him helpe to fight agaynst Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the king of Persia and Media heard, þ Demetrius was entred within his borders, hee sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went & overcame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, & brought him to Arsaces, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for he sought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon also wan the cite of Ioype to his great honour to be an haueu towne, & made it an entrance vnto the ples of the sea.

6 Hee enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 He gathered by many of their people that were prisoners, & he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castle, which hee clenied from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him,

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruites, and the trees gaue their fruite.

9 The Elders sat in the open places, and consulted altogether for the common wealth, and the pong men were honorably clothed and armed.

10 He provided bitasses for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowned vnto the end of the world.

11 He made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfit mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sat vnder his vine, & the fig trees, and there was no man to frap them.

13 There was none in the land to fight agaynst them: for then the kings were overcome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, and he tooke awap the vngodly, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuarie, & increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romanes heard, & the Spartians had knowledge that Jonathan was dead, they were verie sorow.

17 But when they heard, that Simon his brother was made his Duelt in his stead, and how hee had wonne the land agayne with the cities in it, 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renew the friendship & bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copp of the letters that the Spartians sent.

20 THE SENATORS and cite of Sparta vnto Simon the great Duelt, and to the Elders, and to the Priestes, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their coming.

22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publike records in this manner, NVMENIVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Micipater the sonne of Iason the Iewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should bee honourably increased, and that the copie of their ambassage should bee registred in the publike records, that it might bee for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this, Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people understood, they said, What thanks shall we recompence agayne vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue stablished Israel, and overcome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Zion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eight and twentieth day of the moneth + Elul, in the hundredth seuentie and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the high Priest, 10r, Jeruſalem.

28 In ¶ Saraiuel in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the elders of the countrey, he would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue bene fought in our countrey.

29 Wherein Simon the sonne of Asatrathias (come of the children of Iarib) and his brethren put themselves in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuarie, and Lawe might bee maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Jonathan gathered his nation together, and became their high Priest, and is lauded with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inhabited their countrey, and despoiled their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, & spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 He fortified also the cities of Iudea, and Bethsura that lieth vpon the borders of Iudea (where the ordinance of their enemies lay some time) and set there a garrison of the Jewes.

34 And he fortified Toppe, which lieth vpon the sea, and ¶ Gazara that bordereth vpon Azorus (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Jewes, & furnished them with things necessarie for the reparation thereof.

35 Now when the people sawe the faithfulness of Simon, and to what glorie hee thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest because he had done all these things, and for the brightness, and fidelitie that hee had kept to his nation, and that sought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the cite of David at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they went, and desired all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Jewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land, and cite, and raised vp the wals of Ierusalem.

38 And King Demetrius confirmed him in his high Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, & gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romanes called the Jewes their friends & confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons ambassadours.

41 And that the Jewes and Priests consented that Simon should be their prince, and high Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true Prophet.

42 And that he should be their capitaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make provision for the help things, 43 And that hee should be obeyed of every man, and that all the writings in the countrey should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and weare gold.

44 And that it should not be lawfull for any of the people, or Priests to breake any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of gold:

45 And if any did contrarie to these things, or brake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it should bee done to Simon according vnto these words.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the capitaine, and the Prince of the Jewes and of the Priests, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commanded to set vp this writing in tables of brasse, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place, 49 And that a copie of the same should be layed vp in the treasure, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

C H A P. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romanes write letters vnto Kings & nations in the defence of the Jewes.

27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his covenant.

Whereouer King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the ples of the sea, vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Jewes, and to all the nation,

2 Concerning these words, ANTIOCHVS the King vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue usurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to chalenge the Realme agayne, and to restore it to the old estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared hippees of warre,

4 That I may go thorow the countrey, and see auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Now therefore I doe confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the Kings my progenitours haue discharged thee, and all the paymets, whereof they haue released thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coine money of thine owne stampe within thy countrey,

7 And that Ierusalem and the Sanctuarie be free, and that all the weapons, that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine handes, shall bee thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the King, and all that shall be due vnto the King, I forgive it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when wee haue obtained our kingdome, we wil giue thee and thy nation, and the temple great honour, so that your honour shall be knowne throughout the world.

10 ¶ In the hundredth, seventie & foure yeere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and the bands came together vnto him, so that few were left with Tryphon.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Doza, which lieth by the sea side.

12 For hee sawe that troubles were toward him,

10r, Gazara.

him, and that the armie had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundred & twenty thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the cite about, and the shippes came by the sea. Thus they pressed the cite by lande, and by sea, in so much that they suffered no man to goe in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Numenius, and his compaign from Rome, hauing letters writen vnto the kings and countreys, whereto were concerned these wordes, 16 LVCIVS the Consul of Rome vnto King Ptolemus tenderly greeting.

17 The ambassadors of the Jewes are come vnto vs as our friends and confederates from Simon the hie Priest, and from the people of the Jewes, to renewe friendship, and the bond of love, 18 Who haue brought a sherd of gold weyging a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore wee thought it good to write vnto the kings and countreys, that they should not goe about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their countrey, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.

20 And wee were content to receive of them the shilde.

21 If therefore there bee any pestilent felowes fled from their countrey vnto you, desire them vnto Simon the hie Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were writen to Demetrius the king, and to Aratus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces, 23 And to all the countreys, as to Samaria, and to them of Sparta, & to Delus, & to Iopindus, & to Spicion, & to Caria, & to Samos, and to Pamphilia, and to Lycia, & to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and to Cos, and to Siden, and to Corina, and to Gindon, and to Cyprius, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the hie Priest.

25 So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second time euer ready to take it, and made diuers engines of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Neuertheless, he would not receive them, but brake all the covenant, which he had made with him afore, and withholde himselfe from him.

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends, to commune with him, saying, We withholde Joppe, & Gazara, with the castle that is at Ierusalem, the cite of my realme, 29 Whose borders ye haue destroyed & done great hurt in the lande, and haue the gouernement of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore nowe deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that pee haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudaea, 31 Which giue me for them fve hundred talents of siluer, and for the harme that pee haue done, and for the tributes of the places ocher fve hundred talents; if not, we will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when hee sawe the honour of Simon, and the cupbodie of golde and siluer plate, and to great preparation, he was astonished, and tolde him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and saide vnto him, Wee haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholde that which appertineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrightheously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, we recovered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou request Joppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thowolde our countrey, yet will we giue an hundred talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word, 36 But turned againe angry vnto the king, and tolde him all these wordes, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that hee had seene: and the king was very angry.

37 In the meane time fledde Tryphon by ship vnto Dithosas.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus capitaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footemen and horsemen,

39 And commanded him to remoue the hoste toward Iudaea, and to builde by Gedion, and to forrifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnia, and began to bere the people, and to invade Iudaea, and to take the people prisoners, & to slay them.

41 And hee built by Gedion, where hee lett housemen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Iudaea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the capitaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banker.

23 Iohn killeth them that lie in waite for his life.

Then came Iohn by from Gazara, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done. 10 Ep. Antio. 13. cap. 11.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Judas and Iohn, and saide vnto them, I & my biethzen, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and wee haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am nowe olde, and ye by Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be ye therefore in stead of me, and my brother, & go forth and fight for our nation, & the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So hee chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mighty great host came against them both of footemen, and horsemen: but there was a river betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his army ouer against him, and when hee sawe that the people was afraid to goe ouer the river, hee went ouer first himselfe, & the men seeing him, passed through after him.

7 Then hee divided his men, & set the houses Wh. i. men men in the midis of the footemen.

8 For thine enemies hoysmen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gate them to the fortreffe.

9 Then was Judas Johns brother wounde: but John followed after them, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towies, that were in the fieldes of Azoruz, & those did John burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousand men of them, so he returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 ¶ Now in the felde of Jericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For he had married the daughter of the hie Priest)

13 Therefore he wared proude in his minde, and thought to rule the land, & thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about through the cities of the countrey, and studied carefully for them, he came downe to Jericho with Patasthis, and Judas his sonnes in the hundredth, senten and tenen pere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a litle holde, called Dochnus, which hee had built, where hee made them a great banquet, and hid men there.

16 So when Simon & his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolemeus stode by with his men, andooke their weapons, and entered in to Simon in the banker house, and slew him with his two sonnes and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby hee committed a great villaine, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemeus these things and sent to the King, that he might send him an host to helpe him, & so would denaie him the countrey with the cities.

19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take John, and sent letters vnto the capitaines to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and golde, and rewardes.

20 And to Ierusalem, hee sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ranne before, and tolde John in Gazara, that his father, and his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemeus had sent to slay him.

22 When hee heard this, hee was sore alotted, and laide handes of them that were come to slay him, and slewe them: for he knewe that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of John, both of his warres, and of his noble actes (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of walles which hee made, and other of his deedes.

24 Wholde, they are written in the Chronicles of the Priesthood, from the time, that hee was made hie Priest after his father.

The second booke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thanks for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Nemoias.

He brethren the Iewes, which be at Ierusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethren the Iewes that are throughout Egypt, send salutation, & prosperitie.

2 God be gracions vnto you and remembre his covenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, & Jacob his faithfull seruants,

3 And giue you all an heart, to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart & with a willing minde,

4 And open your hearts in his lawe, and commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, & be reconciled to you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundredth, threescore and ninth pere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence that came vnto vs in those peres, after that Jason, and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, and shed innocent blood. When we prayed vnto the Lord, and were heard: we offered sacrifices and fine flour, and lighted the lampes, and set soothly the bread.

9 Nowe therefore keepe ye the dayes of the feast of the tabernacles in the moneth Chassen.

10 ¶ In the hundredth, fourscore and eight pere, the people that was at Ierusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsell, and Judas, vnto Aristobulus king Ptolemeus maker, which is of the stocke of the anointed Priests, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 Inasmuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the king.

12 For hee brought them into Persia by heapes, that fought against the holy cite.

13 For albeit the captaine & the army, that was with him, seemed invincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Panea, by the decreete of Paneas Priests.

14 For Antiochus, as though hee would dwell with her, came thither, he, and his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowrie.

15 But when the Priests of Panea had laid it forth, and he was entred with a small company within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in.

16 And by opening a ynnie doore of a vault, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bindeed them in pieces, they cut off their heads and threw them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered by the wicked.

18 Whereas we are now purposed to keepe

the purification of the Temple vpon the five & twentie day of the moneth Chassen, we thought it necessarie to certifie you thereof, that pee also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs when Ieremias offered sacrifice, after that he had built the Temple, and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the Priests, which sought the honour of God, tooke the fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollow piter, which was drie in the bottome, and therein they kept it, so that the place was vnknewen vnto euery man.

20 Nowe after many yeeres when it pleased God that Ieremias should be sent from the king of Persia, he sent of the posteritie of those Priests, which had hid it, to fetch the fire, and as they toide vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commaunded hee them to drawe it vp, and to bring it: and when the things appertaining to the sacrifices were brought, Ieremias commaunded the Priests to spinkle the wood, and the things layde thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the Sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man maruelled.

23 Now the Priests, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Jothan began, and the other answered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Ieremias was after this manner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which art fearefull and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious king,

25 Onely liberall, onely iust and almightie and euermlasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, and hast chosen the fathers, and sanctified them,

26 Receiue the sacrifice for thy whole people of Israel, and preserve thine owne portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together, that are scattered from vs: deliuer them that serue among the heathen: looke vpon them that are despised, and abhorred, that the heathen may knowe that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place, as poples hath spoken.

30 And the Priests sang psalmes thereunto.

31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Ieremias commaunded the great stones to bee sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light, that shined from the altar.

33 ¶ So when this matter was knowen, it was tolde the king of Persia, that in the place where the Priests, which were led away, had hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Ieremias and his company had purified the sacrifices.

34 The king tried out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king fauoured, hee gaue and bestowed many gifts.

36 And Ieremias called þ same place Ephraim, which is to say, purification: but many men call it Nephthar.

CHAP. II.

Howe Ieremias the Tabernacle, the Arke and the Altar in the hill. 23 Of the five booke of Iason contained in one.

¶ It is founde also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet, that he commaunded the, which were carried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commaunded them that were led into captiuitie,

2 * Giuing them a law, that they should not forget the commaundements of the Lord, and that they should not erre in their mindes, when they saw images of golde and siluer, with their ornaments.

3 These and such other things commaunded hee them, and exhorted them that they should not let the law go out of their hearts.

4 It is written also, howe the Prophet, by an oracle that hee had, charged them to take the Tabernacle and the Arke, and follow him: and when hee came vp into the mountaine where poples went by, * and salve the heritage of God.

5 Ieremias went forth, and found an holowe caue, wherein he laide the Tabernacle, and the Arke, and the Altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certeine of those that folowed him, to marke the place: but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Ieremias perceiued, hee responed them, saying, As for that place, it shall be vnknewen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercie be shewed.

8 Then shall þ Lord shew them these things, and the maiestie of the Lord shall appeare and the cloude also, as it was shewed vnder poples, and as * when Salomon desired, that the place might be honourably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that hee, being a wise man, offered the * sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

10 * And as when poples prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came downe from heauen, & consumed the sacrifice: so when Salomon prayed, * the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And poples said, Because the fume offering was not eaten, therefore is it consumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight daies.

13 These things also are declared in the writings and registers of Ieremias, and how hee made a librarie, and how hee gathered the actes of the Kings, and of the Prophets, & the actes of Dauid, and the epistles of the Kings concerning the holy gifts.

14 Euen so Iudas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if pee haue neede thereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas wee then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, and ye shall do well, if ye keepe the same daies.

17 We hope also that the God, which blessed all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all and the kingdome, and the Priests

19 As concerning Judas Maccabens and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stood for the Jewes religion: (for though they were but few, yet they ran thowow whole countreys, and pursued the barbarous armie, 22 And repaired the Temple that was renowned thowowout all the worlde, and deliuered the cite, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie)

23 Wee will assaie to abridge in one volume those things that Jason the Epeman hath declared in fine books,

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficultie that they haue that would be occupied in the rehearsal of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 Wee haue endeouored, that they that would reade, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memory, and that whosoener reade them, might haue profit.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweat, and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens communitie, hath no small labour: so wee also for many mens sakes are very well content to vnder take this great labour.

28 Leauing to the author the exact diligence of euery particular, wee will labour to goe forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as hee that will build a newe house, must prouide for the whole building, but he that setteth out the platte or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it apper taineth to the first writer of a storie to enter deeply into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shor ten it, to vse fewe wordes, and to auoide those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we beginne the storie, adding thus much to our former wordes, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in wordes before the storie, and to be short in the storie,

CHAP. III.

1 * Of the honour done to the Temple by the Kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon uttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26 He is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

What time as the holp cite was inhabited with all peace, and when the lawes were kept well kept, because of the godlines of Onias

the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the Kinges did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts.

3 In so much that Seleucus King of Asia of his owne rents, bare all the costes belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the high Priest concerning the iniquitie committed in the cite.

5 And when he could not overcome Onias, he gave him to Apollonius the sonne of Thias seas, which then was gouernour of Coelosyria, and Phenice,

6 And tolde him that the treasure in Ierusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into the Kings hands.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had shewed him of the money, as it was tolde him, the King chole out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandement, to bring him the foresaid money.

8 Immediately Heliodorus tooke his iourney as though he would visite the cities of Coelosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, and was countreously receiued of the high Priest into the cite, hee declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his coming, and asked if these things were so in deed.

10 Then the hie Priest tolde him that there were such things layde by by the widowes and fatherlesse,

11 And that a certeine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundred talents of silver, and two hundred of golde,

12 And that it were altogether impossible to doe this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holines of the place and Temple, which is honoured thowow the whole worlde for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commandement giuen him, saide that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasure.

14 So hee appointed a day, and went in to take order for these things: then there was no small grieue thowowout the whole cite.

15 For the Priests fell downe before the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Law concerning things giuen to be kept, that they should be safely preferred for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorrow of his minde.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorrowe hee had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And

11 Or, the state or prouision.

19 And the women, girt with sackcloth vnder their breasts, filled the streetes, and the virgins that were kept in, ranne foine to the gates, and some to the walles, and others looked out of the windowes.

20 And all helpe by their handes towarde heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude, that fell downe of all sortes, and the expectation of the Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almightye Lorde, that hee woulde keepe safe and sure the things, which were laide by for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuerthelesse, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did hee perforce.

24 And as hee and his souldiers were now there present by the treasure, he that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonishd at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly haberd, and hee ranne hercelp and smote at Heliodorus with his foote, and it seemed that hee that sat vpon the horse, had harnesse of golde.

26 Moreover, there appeared two young men, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, and comely in apparell, which roode by him on either side, & scourged him continually, and gaue him many foie stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was covered with great darknesse: but they that were with him, tooke him by, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus hee that came with so great company, and many souldiers into the saide treasure, was borne out: for hee coulde not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did knowe the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumme by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they prayed the Lorde that had honoured his owne place: for the Temple which a litle afore was full of feare and trouble, when the Almightye Lorde appeared, was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then straightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that hee woulde call vpon the most High to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue by the gholt.

32 So the high Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Jewes had done Heliodorus some euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Nowe when the high Priest had made his prayer, the same young men in the same cloathing appeared, and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, Gue Onias & the Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord graunted thee thy life:

34 And seeing that thou hast bene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mightie power of God: and when they had spoken these wordes, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lorde sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him which had graunted him his life, & thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the king.

36 Then testified hee vnto every man of the great workes of God that hee had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the King asked Heliodorus, who were meete to be sent yet once againe to Jerusalem, he said,

38 If thou hast any enemy or traitour, send him thither, and thou shalt receive him well scourged, if hee escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39 For he that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and he beareth and destroypeth them that cometo hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasure.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias, 7 Jason obtaineth the office of the high Priest by corrupting the king, 27 And was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias fleine traitorously by Andronicus.

THIS Simon now, of whom wee spake afore, being a bewayer of the money, and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euill of Onias, as though hee had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the muener of the euill.

2 Thus was he bolde to call him a traitour that was so beneficiall to the cite, & a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that though one that belonged to Simon, murders were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as hee that was the gouernour of Coelestria, and hence, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 He went to the king not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealthe both priuately and publicly.

6 For hee saue it was not possible, except the king tooke order, to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kings dome, Jason the brother of Onias laboured by unlawfull meanes to be high Priest.

8 For hee came vnto the King, and promised him three hundredeth and threescor talents of silver, and of another rent fourescore talents.

9 Besides this he promised him an hundred and fiftie, if hee might haue licence to set up a place for exercise, and a place for the pouth, and that they would name them of Jerusalem Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the King had graunted, and hee had gotten the superiority, he began immediately to diuise his kinsmen to the customes of the Gentiles.

11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the kings, that the Jewes had set by John the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassador vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: hee put downe their lawes and policies, and brought by newe statutes, and contrary to the lawe.

12 For he presumed to builde a place of exercise vnder the castle, & bought the chiefe young men vnder his subiection, and made them weare battes.

|| Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Jerusalem, among them.

|| Or, buskins in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

2 In working some trecherie or forcerie against him,

13 So there began a great desire to followe the manners of the Gentiles, and they tooke up the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Jason, nor the pie Priest, but the bngodly person,

14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expenses at the play: after the calling of the stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to be their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed to earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 ¶ Nowe when the games that were vsed enter fift peere, were played at Epus, the King being present,

19 This wicked Jason sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought thre hundred diademes of silver for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So hee that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were given to the making of gallies.

21 ¶ Nowe Apollonius the sonne of Pnests heus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceived that he was enuifected towards his affaires, hee sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioype, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where hee was honourably receiued of Jason, and of the cite, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great shoutings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Thre peere afterward Jason sent Penelau, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the King, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires, whereof hee had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But hee, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue thre hundred talents of silver more then Jason.

25 So hee gaue the Kings letters patents, albeit he had nothing in himselfe worthy of the pie Priesthood, but bare the stonake of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

26 Then Jason which had deceived his owne brother, being deceived by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Penelauus gaue the dominion: but as for the money that hee had promised vnto the King, hee tooke none order for it, albeit Solstratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him apperceived the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the King.

29 Nowe Penelauus left his brother Epstinachus in his stead in the priesthood, and Solstratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Egyptians.

30 ¶ Whyles these things were in doing, the Charrlans and they of Gallat made insurrection, because they were giuen to the Kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the King in all haste, to appeake the businesse, leaving Andronicus a man of authority to be his lieutenant.

32 Nowe Penelauus, supposing that hee had gotten a convenient time, stole certaine vessels of golde out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some hee sold at Epus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a suretie, hee reproued him, and withdwew himselfe into a Sanctuarie at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Penelauus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when hee came to Onias, hee counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hande with an othe: (howbeit he suspect him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuarie) so hee slew him incontinently without any regarde of righteousness.

35 For the which cause not only the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieved, and tooke it heauily for the unrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the King was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the cite, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Wherefore Antiochus was sorie in his minde, and hee had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, hee tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commanded him to be led through the cite, and in the same place where hee had committed the wickednesse against Onias, hee was slaine as a murderer. Thus hee rewarded him his punishment, as hee had deserved.

39 ¶ Nowe when Epstinachus had done many wicked deedes in the cite through the commandment of Penelauus, and the bunie was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Epstinachus: for hee had caried out now much vessel of golde.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Epstinachus armed about thre thousand, and began to vse lawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they vnderstood the purpose of Epstinachus, some gaue stones, some great clubs, and some cast handbills of dust which lay by vpon Epstinachus men, and those that madded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe, they killed beside the treasure.

43 For these causes an accusation was laide against b That is, of them that measured the come.

against Epelanus.

44 And when the king came to Tyrys, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Epelanus being now convinced, promised to Ptolemus the somme of Dojunes nes much money, if hee would persuade the king.

46 So Ptolemus went to the King into a court, where as hee was to coole himselfe, and turned the Kings minde.

47 In so much that he discharged Epelanus from the accusations (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischiefe) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had told their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they shoulde haue bene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they soone punished vniu'sly, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holp vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrys hated that wickednesse, and ministered all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the conetousnesse of them that were in power, Epelanus remained in authority, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitor to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

2 Of the signes and tokens seene in Ierusalem. 6 Of the end and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The pursue of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoiling of the Temple. 27 Maccabews fleeth into the wilderness.

About the same time Antiochus undertooke his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there seene thoghtwoot all the citie of Ierusalem fouretee dapes long, hostes men running in the ayre, with robes of golde, and as bands of speare men.

3 And as troups of horsemen set in aray, encountering and coursing one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of darts, and drawing of swordes, and shooting of arrows, and the glittering of the golden armour seene, and harnesse of all sorts.

4 Therefore euery man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Nowe when there was gone sooght a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, and came suddenly vpon the citie, & they that were vpon the walles, being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Epelanus fled into the castle, but Iason slew his owne citizens without mercie, not considering, that to haue the aduantage against his kinsmen is greatest disadvantage, but thought that hee had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gate not the superiority, but at the last receiued shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally hee had this ende of his wicked conuelleration, that hee was accused before Nera the king of the Arabians, & fled from citie to citie, being pursued of euery man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in adominatiou, as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, and was driven into Egypt.

9 Thus hee that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

10 And hee that had cast many out vnburied, was throwen out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was hee partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when these things that were done, were declared to the king, he thought that Iason would haue fallen from him: wherefore he came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 Hee commaunded his men of warre also, that they shoulde kill and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of yong men, and olde men, and a destruction of men and women and childzen, and virgins & infants were murthered:

14 So that within three dapes were slaine fourescore thousand, and fortie thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many solde as were slaine.

15 Yet was hee not content with this, but burst goe into the most holp temple of all the world, hauing Epelanus that traitour to the Lawes, & to his owne countrey, to be his guide,

16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holp vessels, which other kings had giuen for the garnishing, glozp, and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So haucie in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not, that God was not a little wroth for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in many sinnes, he, alsoone as he had come, had suddenly bene punished, and put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasure.

19 But God hath not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it be partaker of the benefites of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lord shall be reconciled, it shall be set by in great worship againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eightee hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gate him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the drie land, and to walke vpon the sea: such an high minde had he.

22 But hee left deputies to bere the people: at Ierusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in manners more cruel then he that set him there:

23 And at Garizim Antiochus, and with them Epelanus, which was more greivous to the citizens then the other, and was despitfull against the Iewes his citizens.

24 Hee sent also Apollonius a cruel prince, with an armie of two and twentie thousand, whom hee commaunded to slay those that were toward mans age, and to sell the women, and the yonger for.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, hee fained

By h. h. iii. peace,

peace, and kept him still untill the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Jewes keeping the feast, he commaunded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so hee slew all them that were gone forth to the Iewes, and running thowoe the citie with his men armed, hee murdered a great number.

27 But Judas Maccabens, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wilderness, & lived there in the mountaines with his companie among the beastes, dwelling there, and eating grasse, lest they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leave the lawe of God,
4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grievous paine of Eleazarus.

Not long after this, sent the King an olde man of Athens, for to compell the Jewes to transgresse the lawes of the fathers, and not to be governed by the Law of God,

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Jerusalem, and to call it the Temple of Jupiter Olympius, and that of Saisim, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Jupiter that keepeth hospitallitie.

3 This wicked government was soe and grievous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was full of dissolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dalted with harlots, & had to do with women within the circuite of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and to be forbidden by the Law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbathes, nor to obserue their auncient feastes, nor plaime to confesse himselfe to be a Jew.

7 In the day of the kings birth they were grievously compelled perforce every moneth to banker, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the processions of Bacchus with garlands of Iune.

8 Moreover through the counsell of Ptolemies, there went out a commaundement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Jewes, that the like custome, and banketting should be kept.

9 And who so would not conforme themselves to the manners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had ledde round about the citie (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into denmes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discovered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afraid to helpe themselves.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which reade this booke, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions, not to be destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnesse, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straight wayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom he punisheth when they are come to the fullnesse of their sinnes:

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not bee heaped vpon to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraueth his mercie from vs: & though he punish with aduersitie, yet doth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will wee come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall scribes, an aged man, & of a well fauoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But hee desiring rather to die gloriously than to liue with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and put it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to take of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banker, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside privately, and prayed him that he would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as hee would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the thing appointed by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice,

22 That in so doing hee might bee deliuered from death, & that for the old friendship he was among them, he would receive this fauour.

23 But hee began to consider discretely, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his auncient peeres, and the honour of his gray haire, wherunto he was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childhood, but chiefly the holy Law made and giuen by God: therefore he answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the grate.

24 For it becommieth not our age, sayd he, to dissemble, wherby many young persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourscore yeeres olde and ten, were now gone to another religion. ¶ Or, to another manner of life.

25 And so through mine hypocritie (for a little time of a transiour life) they might be deceived by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither alue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, and will shewe my selfe such as mine age requieth.

28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as be poore to die willingly and couragiously for the honourable and holy lawes. And when he had said these words, immediately hee went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed the stone which they bare him before, into hared, because of the words that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as hee was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, hee sighed and said, The Lord that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue bene deliuered from death, I am scourged, and suffer this

¶ Or, Antiochia,

¶ Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

these soe paines of my body : but in my minde
I suffer them gladly for his religion.
31 Euen now after this manner ended he his life, leaving his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memoriall of vertue, not onely vnto poore men, but vnto all his nation.

C H A P. VII.

The punishment of the seuen brethren and of their mother.

1 I came to passe also that seuen brethren, with their mother, were taken to bee compelled by the king against the lawe, to take swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whips.

2 But one of them which spake first, sayde thus, What seekst thou? and what wouldest thou knowe of vs? We are ready to die, rather then to transgresse the lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the king angrie, and commaunded to heate pannes and cauldrons, which were incontinently made hot.

4 And he commaunded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and so flay him, and to cut off the utmost parts of his body in the light of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Nowe when hee was thus mangled in all his members, he commaunded him to be brought aliue to the fire and to fry him in the pannes: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the pannes, the other brethren with their mother exhorted one another to die courageously, saying in this manner,

6 The Lord God doth regard vs, and indeed taketh pleasure in vs, as Poples * declared in the song wherein hee testified openly, saying,
That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this manner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke : and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him, if he would eate of he were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But hee answered in his owne language, and said, No. Wherefore hee was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when hee was at the last breath, hee sayde, Thou murderer takest this present life from vs, but the King of the world will rayse vs vp, which die for his lawes, in the resurrection of everlasting life.

10 ¶ After him was the third had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, hee put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his hands boldly,

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but nowe for the lawe of God
I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the king and they which were with him, marvelled at the poore mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when he was dead also, they bered and tormented the fourth in like manner.

14 And when hee was now ready to die, hee said thus, It is better that wee should change this which wee might hope for of men, and waite for our hope from God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterwarde they brought the fift also and tormented him,

16 Who looked vpon the King, and saide, Thou hast power among men, and though thou be a mortall man, thou dost what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy kinde.

18 After him also they brought the sixt, who being at the point of death, said, Decree not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are woorthie to be woondred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which undertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt be vnpunished.

20 But the mother was maruellous alone all other, and woorthie of honorable memory: for when she saw her seuen sonnes flaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good wil, because of the hope that he had in the Lord.

21 Pea, she exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wisedome, stirred by her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

22 I cannot tell howe you came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life:
it is not I that set in order the members of your body,

23 But doubtlesse the Creator of the world, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercie giue you breath, and life againe, as pee nowe regarde not your owne selues, for his lawes sake.

24 Nowe Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the murdrous wordes, while the poongest was yet aliue, he did exhort him not onely with wordes, but swore also vnto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if hee would forsake the lawes of his fathers, and that hee would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the poong man woulde in no case hearken vnto him, the king called his mother, and exhorted that shee woulde counsell the poong man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many wordes, shee promised him that shee woulde counsell her sonne.

27 So shee turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell repaunt to scorn, & spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pittie vpon mee, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, & brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen & the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankinde made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but helpe thy selfe woorthie such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercy with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these wordes, the poong man said, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the kings commandement: but I will obey the commandement of the Law that was giuen vnto our fathers by Poples.

31 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For we suffer these things, because of our sinnes.

33 But though the living Loyde be angrie with vs a litle while for our chaitening and correction, yet will he be reconciled with his owne seruantes.

34 But thou, O man without religion and most wicked of all men, list not thy selfe vp in vaime, which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, and listest thine handes against the seruants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a litle paine, are nowe vnder the diuine covenant of euertlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer most punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that hee will soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment inapest conteste, that he is the onely God.

38 And that in me & my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, ragged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grieuously, that he was mocked.

40 So he also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the most ther put to death.

42 Yet this now be enough spoken concerning the bankers, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Judas gathereth together his host. 9 Nicanor is sent against Judas. 16 Judas exhorteth his souldiers to constancie. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Iewes giue thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight, diuiding part of the spoiles vnto the fatherlesse and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor sleeth vnto Antiochia.

Then Judas Maccabees, & they that were with him, went quietly into the townes, and called their kinsfolkes and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion, and assembled sixe thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that hee would haue an eye vnto his people, which was bereed of euery man, and haue pittie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men.

3 And that he would haue compassion vpon the cite that was distressed, and almost brought to the ground, & that he would heare the voice of the blood that cried vnto him.

4 And that he would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his Name, and that hee would bestowe his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabees had gathered this multitude, hee could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore he came at vnwares, and burnt by the townes and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially hee used the nights to make such assaults, in so much that the byte of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip saw that this man increased by litle and litle, and that things prospered with him for the most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemies the gouernour of Syria and Phoenice to helpe him in the kings business.

9 Then sent hee speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gave him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twentie thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and topped with him Gorgias a capitaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king of two thousand talents, which the Romans should haue, to be taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buy Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell fourescore and ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Judas then knew of Nicanors coming, hee tolde them that were with him, of the coming of the armie.

13 Nowe were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousnesse of God, but fled away, & abode not in that place.

14 But the other tolde all that they had left, and besought the Lord together to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had tolde them, or euer hee came nere them.

15 And though hee would not doe it for their sakes, yet for the covenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabees called his men together, about sixe thousand, exhorting them not to be afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly.

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniuilly done to the holy place, and the crueltie done to the cite by perfidion, and the destruction of the elders established by their fathers.

18 For they, said hee, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which once can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Whereouer he admonished them of a helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundredth and fourescore and sixe thousand vnder a Semacherib.

20 And of the battell that they had in Basbylon, against the Galathians, howe they came in all to the battell eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were slawed, the eight thousand flew to helpe that was given them from heauen, wherewith they had receiued many benefites.

21 Thus when he had made them bold with these wordes, and ready to die for the lawes and

and the countrey, hee deuised his armie into foure partes,

22 And made his owne brethren capitaines ouer the armie, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph, and Jonathan, giuing eche one fiftene hundred men.

23 And when Eleazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the forwarde, togiued with Pricanoz,

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew aboue nine thousand men, and wounded and manured the most part of Pricanoz hoste, and so put all to flight,

25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time, they returned,

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, & therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoyled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks, and praising the Lord wonderfully, which had bestowed them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercie.

28 And after the Sabbath, * they distributed the spoyles to the sicke, and to the fatherles, and to the widowes, and diuided the residue among themselves and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the mercifull Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and slew aboue twentie thousand, & waune hie & strong holdes, and diuided great spoyles, and gaue an equall port on vnto the sicke, and to the fatherles, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreover they gathered their weapons together, and laid them by diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoyles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person which was with Timotheus, and had bereed the Jewes many wapes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victorie in their countrey, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a litle house: so hee received a reward meete for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked Pricanoz, which had brought a thousand merchants to buy the Jewes, 35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lord brought downe of them whom hee thought as nothing, insomuch that he put off his glorious raiment, and fled ouertoward the countrey like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his hoste.

36 Thus hee that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Jewes had a Defender, and for this cause none coulde hurt the Jewes, because they followed the lawes appointed by him.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to spoile Persopolis, is put to flight. 5 As hee persecuteth the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lord. 13 The fained repentance of Antiochus.

28 Hee dyeth miserably.

At the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour out of the countrey of Persia.

2 For when hee came to Persopolis, and went about to robbe the Temple, and to subdue the citie, the people ran in a rage to defend their selues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Howe when hee came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come vnto Pricanoz, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, hee thought to impure to the Jewes their sancte, which had put him to flight, and therefore commaunded his charetman to dyne continually, and to dispatch the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for hee had saide thus in his pride, I will make Ierusalem a common burping place of the Jewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty and God of Israel smote him with an incurable and murthering plague: for as soone as hee had spoken these wordes, a paine of the bowels that was remedlesse, came vpon him, and soye torments of the inner partes,

6 And that most iustly: for hee had tormmented other mens bowels with dulcers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit hee would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breaching out fire in his rage against the Jewes, and commaunded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that hee fell downe from the charer that ranne swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bryused with the great fall.

8 And thus hee that a litle afore thought hee might commaund the floods of the Sea (so proude was hee beponde the condition of man) and to weigh the hie mountaines in the balance, was now cast on the ground, and caried in an hogseurter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God,

9 * So that the wormes came out of the bowels of this wicked man in abundance: & whiles hee was alive, his flesh fell off for paine and torment: and all his armie was grieved at his smell.

10 Thus no man coulde beare because of his stinke, him that a litle afore thought hee might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then hee beganne to leaue off his great pride, and selfewill, when hee was plagued and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased eternall torment.

12 And when hee himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, hee laide these wordes, It is meete to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, shoulde not thinke himselfe equall vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord, who would now he haue no mercie on him,

14 And saide thus, that he would let at libertie the holy citie vnto the which hee made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burping place.

15 And as touching the Jewes (whom hee had indged not worthy to be buried, but woulde haue cast them out with their children) den to bee deuoured of the foules and wilde beastes) hee woulde make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And whereas hee had spoiled the holy Temple afore, hee would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rentes beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that hee woulde also become a Iew himselfe, & goe thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines woulde not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder write ten, containing the forme of a supplication.

19 THE KING, and prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens, witheth much ioy and health and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your minde, I giue great thanks vnto God hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I be sicke, yet I am mindfull of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, and fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safetie of all,

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickness.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the he countries, hee appointed who should succcede him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grievous, they in the land might knowe to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Again, when I ponder howe that the gouernours, that are borderers and neighbours vnto my kingdome, waite for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordered that my sonne Antiochus shall be king, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went vnto the he countries, & haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore, I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man wilbe faithfull vnto me & my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle and loving vnto you according to my minde.

28 Thus the murderer and blasphemour suffered most grievously, and as he had increased other men, so he dyed a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, caried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went vnto Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Judas Maccabens taketh the citie and the Temple, 16 The actes of Eupator, 16 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus invadeth Iudea, with whom Judas ioynerh battell. 29 Five men appeare in the ayre to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

Maccabens now and his company, through the helpe of the Lorde, waime the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroied the altars, & chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And cleansed the Temple, and made an other altar, and burned stones, and cooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and meate two peeres, and fire moneths after, and set forth the lampes, and the shew bread.

4 When that was done, they set downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lorde, that they might come no more into such troubles: but if they findes any more against him, that he himselfe would chasten them with mercy, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemyes, and barbarous nations.

5 Nowe vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was cleansed againe, euen the five & twentieth day of the same moneth, which is Chesleu.

Or, November.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembryng, that not long afore they helde the feast of the Tabernacles when they lured in the mountaynes and denues like beastes.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery peere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the ende of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 How will we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering byrds the calamities of the warres, that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdome, he made one Iudas, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phenice, and Coelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the Realme.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Paceron, purposed to do iniustice vnto the Iewes for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause, hee was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Egypt that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefor seeing that hee was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poisoned himselfe, and dyed.

14 But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, hee entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes.

15 Moreover the Idumeans that helde the strong holdes which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, & by receiving them that were driven from Jerusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabens made prayers, & besought God that he woulde be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them fore, that they waime the places, & slew all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twenty thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then then nine thousand) were fledde into two strong castles, hauing all maner of things conuenient to susteine the siege, 19 Baccabens left Simon, and Ioseph, and Zachens also, and those that were with them, which were enioie to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessitate.

20 Nowe they that were with Simon, being led with couerousnesse, were treated for moneye (thorow certene of those that were in the castle) & tooke leuente thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

A drachme is the eight part of an ounce, which is about three pence.

21 But when it was tolde Baccabens what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had sold their brethren for moneye, and let their enemies goe.

22 So hee slew them when they were consuet of treason, and immediatly wanne the two castles:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that hee tooke in hand, hee slew in the two castles more then twentie thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Jewes had overcome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sorts, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia, to winne Jewrie by strength.

25 But when hee drew nere, Baccabens, and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth,

26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lorde to be mercifull to them, and to be an enemye to their enemies, and to be an aduersarie to their aduersaries,* as the lawe declareth.

Exod. 23. 20.
Leuit. 20. 4.

27 So after the prayer, they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the cite, and when they came nere to the enemies, they tooke heed to themselves.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both isued together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victorie, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen five comely men vpon horses with bridles of golde, and two of them led the Jewes,

30 And tooke Baccabens betwixt them, and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts, & lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindness, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foote men twentie thousand and five hundred, and five hundred horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, hee fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong holde, wherein Cherias was captaine.

33 But Baccabens and his company layde siege against the fortress with courage for foure daies.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

35 Neuerthelesse, vpon the fifth day in the morning, twentie young men of Baccabens company, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, and with holde stomaches smote downe those that they met.

36 Others also that clined vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, let fire vpon the towers, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vpon the gates, and receiued the rest of the armie, and tooke the cite.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Cherias his brother with Apollosphanes.

38 When this was done, they prayed the Lord with plaines, and thanksgiving, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victorie.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to overcome the Jewes. 8 Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Jewes. 16 The letter of Lysias vnto the Jewes. 20 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lysias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Jewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Jewes.

Very shortly after this, Lysias the Kinges steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke soze displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Jewes, thinking to make the cite an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple woulde hee haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for hee would sell the Priests office euery peere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footmen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his fourscore Elephants,

5 He came into Iudea, and drew nere to Beth-sura, which was a castle of defence, five furlongs from Jerusalem, and layd soze siege vnto it.

a Whereof eight make a mile.

6 But when Baccabens and his company knewe that he besieged the holdes, they, and all the people made prayers with weeping, and reares before the Lord, that hee would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Baccabens himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would leopord themselves together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a couragious minde.

8 And as they were there besides Jerusalem, there appeared before them vpon horses backe a man in white clothing, shaking his harnesse of golde.

9 Then they prayed the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, inasmuch that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruell beasts, & to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lions, they slew eleven thousand footmen, and sixteene hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, & Lysias himselfe fled away shamefull, fully, and so escaped.

13 Who as he was a man of understanding, considering what losse hee had had, and knowing that the Hebrewes could not be overcome because the Almighty God helped them, sent unto them,

14 And promised, that hee would consent to all things which were reasonable, and persuade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Iphis requestes, having respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoever Maccabeus wrote vnto Iphis concerning the Jewes, the king granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Jewes from Iphis concerning these wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

For, Absalon, or Absalom.

17 John and I Absalom, which were sent from you, delivered me the things that you desired by writing, and required mee to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soever were meet to be reported to the king himselfe, I have declared them, and hee granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if pee behaue your selues as friends toward his affaires, hereafter also I will endeavour my selfe to do you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue given commandement to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare ye well, the hundred and eight and fourtie peere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dystorinthius.

22 I Nowe the Kings letter contained these wordes, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Iphis sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our Realme, live quietly, that euery man may appease his owne affaires.

24 Wee vnderstand also that the Jewes would not consent to our father, for to bee brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne manner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to live after their owne lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is that this nation shall be in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to send him to them, and grant them peace, that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort, and cheerfully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Jewes, and to the rest of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

28 If ye fare well, wee haue our desire: wee are also in good health.

29 Penelous declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne homie, and to apply your owne businesse.

For, April, some reade Xerxes, and some Zanians.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, wee give them free libertie, vnto the thirtie day of the moneth of Panthicus.

31 That the Jewes may vse their owne maner of lining and lawes, like as aforesaid, and none of them by any manner of waies to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Penelous to comfort you.

33 Fare ye well: the hundred and eight and fourtie peere, the fiftieenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 I The Romanes also sent a letter contraining these wordes, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and TITVS Paulus ambassadors of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Jewes send greeting.

For, March.

35 The things that Iphis & kings kinsmen hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which hee shall require vnto the king, send hither some with speed, when ye haue considered the matter diligently, that we may consult thereupon, as shall be best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and sende some men, that we may know your minde.

38 Farewell: this hundred and eight and fourtie peere, the fiftieenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

1 Timothy troubleth the Jewes. 3 The wicked deed of them of Ioppe against the Jewes. 6 Judas is avenged of them. 9 He stretcheth fire in the haven of Iamnia. 20 The pursure of the Jewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken and let goe unhurt. 32 Judas pursueth Gorgias.

When these covenantes were made, Iphis went vnto the king, and the Jewes tilld their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Jeronimus, & also Demophon, and besides them Nicano the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them live in rest and peace.

3 I They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they hated the Jewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had sought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduice of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspected nothing: but when they were gone forth into the dreye, they downed no lesse then two hundred of them.

5 Nowe when Judas knew of their cruelty shewed against his nation, he commanded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And having called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went forth against the murderers of his brethren, and set fire in the haven by night, and burnt the shippes, and those that fled thence, he slew.

7 I And when the citie was shut vp, he departed as though hee would come againe, and root out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 I But when hee perceived that the Jamnites were minded to do in like manner vnto the Jewes, which dwelt among them,

9 He came vnto the Jamnites by night, and set fire in the haven with the nanie, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundred and fourtie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney towardes Timotheus, about fise thousande men of foot, and and five hundred men of the Arabians set upon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Judas through the helpe of God: the 400 men of Arabians, being overcome, besought Judas to make peace with them, and promised to give him certaine scattell, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Judas thinking that they should indeed be profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Judas also assaulted a cite called Caspita, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced rounde about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in hope of victuals, that they were the slackest in their doings, railing them that were with Judas, and reproching them: pea, they blasphemed and spake such wordes as were not lawfull.

15 But Baccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great prince of the worlde (which without any instruments, or engines of warre, did cast downe the walles of Jericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles,

16 And tooke the cite by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, inasmuch that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay there, seemed to flowe with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seven hundred and fiftie furlongs, and came to Chacaca vnto the Jewes, that are called Eubien.

18 But they founde not Timotheus there: for, he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garison in a very strong holde.

19 But Dosithens, and Sosipater, which were captaines with Baccabeus, went forth, and slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortreffe, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Baccabeus prepared, and ranged his arme by bandes, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundred and twentie thousand men of foote, and two thousand and five hundred horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas coming, he sent the women, and children, and the other baggage afoze vnto a fortreffe called Carnion (for it was hard to besiege, and vncalle to come vnto because of the straites on all sides.)

22 But when Judas first bande came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, and a trembling was among them: though the presence of him that seeth all things, in so much that they fleeing one here, another there, were oftentimes hurt by their owne people, & wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Judas was very earnest in pursuing, and slew those wicked men: pea, he slew thirtie thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also him selfe fell into the hands of Dosithens, and Sosipater, whom he besought with much craft to let him goe with his life, because he had many of the Jewes parents and the brethren of Iesus of them, which if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when hee had assured them with many wordes, and promised that he would release them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Baccabeus toward Carnion, and Margation, and slew five and twentie thousand persons.

27 And after that hee had chased away and slaine them, Judas remooued the holle toward Ephron a strong cite, wherein was Lydas and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the walles, defending them mightily: there was also a great preparation of engines of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they waunte the cite, and slew five and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which is six hundred furlongs from Jerusalem.

30 But when the Jewes which dwelt there, testified, that the Scythopolitans dealt louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their adueritie, 31 They gaue them thanks, desiring them to be friendship still vnto them, and so they came to Jerusalem, as the feast of the weekes approached.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foote, and foure hundred horsemen.

34 And when they ioynd together, a fewe of the Jewes were slaine,

35 And Dosithens one of the Baccabeus, which was on horsebacke and a mighty man, tooke Gorgias, and lapd holde of his garment, and dyed him by force, because hee woulde haue taken the wicked man aliue: but an horseman of Thacia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fledde into Garsa.

36 And when they that were with Elewin, had foughten long, and were weary, Judas called vpon the Lord, that he would shewe himselfe to bee their helper, and captaine of the fieldes.

37 And then hee beganne in his owne language, and sung Psalmes with a loude voyce, inasmuch that straightwayes hee made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Judas gathered his hoste, and came into the cite of Bolla. And when the seventh day came, they censured themselves (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Judas and his companie came to take by the bodies of them that were slaine, and to burie them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Nowe vnder the coates of euery one that was slaine, they founde twelue that had bene consecrate to the idoles of the * Iamites, which thing is forbidden the Jewes by the lawe. Then many men sawe that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

a From this verse to the end of this Chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby: Also it is euident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it dissenteth from the rest of the holy 41 And so euery man gaue thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue themselves to prayer, and besought him, that they shoulde not utterly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Judas exhorted the people to keepe themselves from sinne, for so much as they sawe beseege their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine.

43 And hauing made a gathering through the company, sent to Jerusalem about two thousand drachmes of silver, to offer a sinne offering, doing verie well, and honestly that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if he had not hoped, that they which were slaine, shoulde rise againe, it had bene superfluous, and vaine, to pray for the dead.

45 And therefore hee perceived, that there was great fauour laide by for those that dyed godly. (It was an holy and good thought.) So he made a reconciliation for the dead that they might be deliuered from sinne.

Scriptures, and also the author of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmities, desireth pardon, if hee haue not attained that hee should. And it seemeth, that this Iason the Cyrenian, out of whom he tooke this abridgement, is Ioseph Ben-gorion, who hath written in Ebrewe fise bookes of these matters, and increasing this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. Cap. 19. For it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes, euen to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Judas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might minister the Sacraments, Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Razis that one might kill himselfe, whom this author so much commendeth, Chap. 14. 41.

C H A P. XIII.

i The coming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus goes to fight against Eupator, moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15 He killeth foure teene thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

1 A the hundredth fourth and nine peere, it was Iolde Judas that Antiochus Eupator was returning with a great power into Iudea, 2 And Apollas the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundredth and teene thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and fise thousand horsemen, and two and twentie Elephants, and three hundred chariots set with hookes.

3 Menelaus also ioynded himselfe with them, and with great deuote encouraged Antiochus, not for the safegarde of the countrey, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of kings moued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Apollas moued the King that this man was the cause of all mischiefe, so that the King commanded to bring him to Berra to put him vnto death as the maner was in that place.

5 Nowe there was in that place a towne of ffire cubites high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned rounde, and on euery side it routed downe into the ashes:

6 And there whosoener was condemned of sacrifice, or of any other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man shoulde die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus shoulde want buriall.

8 For because he had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire and ashes were holp: hee himselfe also dyed in the ashes.

9 ¶ Nowe the King raged in his minde, and came to fiewe himselfe more cruell vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Judas perceived, he commaunded the people to call vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, he woulde nowe helpe them, when they shoulde be put from their lawe, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple:

11 And that hee woulde not suffer the people which a lile afore began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this all together, and besought the Lord for mercy with weeping and fasting, and falling downe three daies together, Judas exhorted them to make them selues ready.

13 And he being apart with 5 Elders, tooke counsell to goe forth, afore they king brought his hoste into Iudea, and shoulde take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the worlde, hee exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the lawes, the Temple, the citie, their countrey, and the common wealth, and camped by Godin.

15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watch worlde, The victorie of God, hee picked out the manliest pong men, and went by night into the kings campe, and fiewe of the hoste fourteene thousand men, and the greatest Elephant with all that fate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the beake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 ¶ Nowe when the King had tasted the manliness of the Iewes, he went about to take the holdes by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong holde of the Iewes: but hee was chaled away, hurt, and lost of his men.

20 For Judas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessary.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes hoste, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore he was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the King commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and hee tooke truce with them, departed, and ioynded battell with Judas, who overcame him.

23 But when hee vnderstood, that Philip (whom he had left to be ouerseer of his business at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that hee peiced himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an oath to doe all things that were right, and was appealed towards them, and offered sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place,

24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Serenians.

25 Pererthelelle,

For, game and took the right hand,

Jeruſaleſſe, when hee came to Iſtolemaſ, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and becauſe they were griued, they would that hee ſhould breake the covenants.

26 Then went Lysas by into the Iudgement ſeat, and excuſed the fact as well as hee could, and perſwaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the Kings ſouney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Demetrius moued by Alcimus ſendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes. 29 Which he yet breaketh through the motion of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Raſis to beſeage, who ſlayeth himſelfe.

After three yeeres was Judas informed that Demetrius the ſonne of Seleucus was come by with a great power and name by the hauen of Tripolis.

2 When he had wonne the countrey, and ſaue Antiochus and his lieutenant Lysas.

3 Nowe Alcimus, which had bene the high Prieſt, and willfully deſiled himſelfe in the time that all things were confounded, ſeeing that by no meanes he could ſaue himſelfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy altar,

4 He came to king Demetrius in the hundredth ſittie and one yeere, preſenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a palme, & of the boughes, which were vied ſolemely in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occaſion for his rage. Demetrius called him to counſell, and asked him what deuices or counſels the Iewes leaue vnto.

6 To the which he answered, The Iewes that he called Aſideans, whole captaine is Judas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make inſurrections, and will not let the Realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being deppriued of my fathers honour (I meane the hie Prieſthood) am nowe come hither.

8 Partly becauſe I was well affectioned vnto the Kings affaires, and ſecondly becauſe
I ſought the proſperitie of mine owne citizens: for all our people, through their raiſneſſe, are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, O King, ſeeing thou knoweſt all theſe things, make prouiſion for the countreie, and our nation which is abuled, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Judas liueth, it is not poſſible that the matter ſhould be well.

11 When he had ſpoken theſe wordes, other friends alſo hauing euill will at Judas, let Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediately called for Nicanor the ruler of the Elephantes, and made him captaine ouer Iudea,

13 And ſent him forth, commanding him to ſlay Judas, and to ſcatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high Prieſt of the great Temple.

14 Then the Heathen which fled out of Judea from Judas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thinking the haine & calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Nowe when the Iewes heard of Nicanors coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they ſprinkled themſelues with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himſelfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commaundement of the captaine, they remoued ſtraightwaies from thence,
and came to the towne of Deſſan,

17 Where Sumon Judas brother had toy-ned battell with Nicanor, and was ſomewhat attoniſhed through the ſudden ſilence of the enemies.

18 Jeruſaleſſe Nicanor hearing the manlineſſe of them that were with Judas, and the bolde ſtomackes that they had for their countreie, durſt not proue the matter with bloodſhedding.

19 Wherefore he ſent Doſidonius, & Theodoſus, and & Parthias before to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long abuſement thereupon, and the captaine ſhewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one munde, and conſented to the covenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they ſhould particularly come together: ſo when the day was come, they ſet for euery man his ſtoole.

22 Jeruſaleſſe Judas commaunded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, leſt there ſhould ſuddenly ariſe any euill thorow the enemies: and ſo they commured together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while hee abode at Jeruſalem, did none hurt, but ſent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee ſhewed Judas, and fauoured him in his heart.

25 Hee prayed him alſo to take a wife, and to beget children: ſo hee married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus, perceiving the loue that was betwene them, and vnderſtanding the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius, & told him, that Nicanor had taken ſtrange matters in hand, and ordeyned Judas a tray-tour to the Realme, to be his ſuccellour.

27 Then the King was diſpleaſed, and by the reportes of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, ſaying, that he was very angry for the covenants, commanding him that he ſhoulde ſend Maccabeus in all haſte priſoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When theſe things came to Nicanor, hee was attoniſhed and fore griued, that he ſhoulde breake the things wherein they had agreed, ſee-ing that that man had committed no wickedneſſe.

29 But becauſe it was not commodious to him to withſtand the King, hee ſought craftily to accompliſh it.

30 Notwithſtanding when Maccabeus perceived that Nicanor beganne to be rough vnto him, and that he increaſed him more euilly then hee was wont, hee perceived that ſuch rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a ſerue of his men, and withdrew himſelfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiving that hee was perceiued.

presented by Maccabees' worthie policie, came into the great and holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their viall sacrifices, to deliver him the man.

32 And when they ware that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought,

33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an oath in this manner, If yet will not deliver me Judas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, and will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes he departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heaven, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, laying in this manner, 35 Then, O Lorde of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation shoulde be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this house euer undefiled, which lately was cleued, and stoppe all the mouches of the vnrightheous.

37 Nowe was there accused vnto Nicanor, Hasis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a soner of the cite, & a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Jewes.

38 For this man at othertimes when the Jewes were minded to keepe themselves undefiled and pure, being accused to bee of the religion of the Jewes, did offer to spend his body and life with all constancie for the religion of the Jewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Jewes, sent about him death men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Jewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, & commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to be taken on euerie side, he fell on his sword,

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproche vnrighthe for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as hee missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betwene the doores, hee raine boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe down manfully among the multitude:

44 Which comeyed themselves lightly away, and gaue place, so that hee fell vpon his belly.

45 Neuerthelesse while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, hee rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very sore wounded, yet hee ranne thorow the middes of the people,

46 And gate him to the top of an hie rocke: so when his blood was utterly gone, hee tooke out his owne bowels with both his handes, and threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lorde of life and Spirit, that hee would restore them againe vnto him, and thus hee dyed.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 5 The blasphemies of Nicanor. 14 Maccabees expounding vnto the Iewes the vision inuoyced them. 21 The prayer of Maccabees. 30 Maccabees commaunders Nicanors head and handes to bee cut off, and his tongue to be giuen vnto the foules. 39 The author excuseth himselfe.

N And when Nicanor knew that Iudas and his company were in the countrey of Samaria, hee thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuerthelesse the Jewes that were compelled to goe with him, sayde, O will not to cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day that is appoynted by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demanded, Is there a Lorde in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they sayde, There is a liuing Lorde, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seventh day to be kept,

5 Then he sayde, And I am mightie vpon earth to commaund them to arme themselves, and to performe the kings businesse. Notwithstanding he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, purposed to set vp a memoriall of the victorie obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabees had euer sure confidence and a perfect hope that the Lorde would helpe him,

8 And exhorted his people not to bee afrayde at the coming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust vnto alle that they shoulde haue the victorie by the Almightye.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the law and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the batels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred vp their heartes, and shewed them also the deceitfulness of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus hee armed euery one of them, not with the assurance of shieldes and speares, but with wholesome wordes and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthie to bee beleued, and reioiced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision, We thought that he sawe Onias, (which had bene the hie Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behaviour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godlinesse from a childe) holding vp his hands toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Jewes.

13 After this there appeared vnto him an other man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie about him.

14 And Onias spake, and sayde, This is a soner of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy cite, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

15 Wee thought also that Ieremias helde out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a sword of golde: and as he gaue it, he spake thus, a As this private example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the worde of God, although the author seeme here to approve it: so that place as touching prayer, Chap. 12. 44. though Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to proue a doctrine, because it is onely a particular example.

16 Take this holy sword a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wounde the aduersaries.

17 And so being comforted by the wordes of Judas, which were very sweete and able to stirre them vp to valiantnes and to encourage the hearts of the young men, they determined to pitch no campe, but couragiously to set upon them, and manfully to assault them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the cite and the Sanctuary & the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wives and children, and brethren, and kindred, they let lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Again they that were in the cite, were carefull for the armie that was abroad.

20 Now whyles they all waited for the trial of the matter, and the enemies noobe met with them, and the hoste was set in aray, and the beasts were separated into convenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings:

21 Baccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, and the divers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beasts, helde up his hands toward heaven, calling upon the Lorde that doeth wonders, and that looked upon them, knowing that the victorie commeth not by the weapons, but that he giueth the victorie to them that are worthy, as seemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer hee sayde after this maner, O Lord, thou that didst send thine Angel in the time of Ezechias king of Iudea, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slewe an hundredth fourescore and five thousand,

23 Sende now also thy good Angell before vs, O Lorde of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them,

24 And let them bee discomfited by the strength of thine armie, which come against thine holy people to blasphemie. Thus with these wordes he made an ende.

25 Then Micanor and they that were with him, drewe neere with trumpets & shoutings for toye.

26 But Judas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountered with their enemies,

27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their heartes they prayed vnto God, and slewe no lesse then five and thirtie thousand men: for through the presence of God they were wonderously comforted.

28 Nowe when they left off, & were turning againe with ioy, they vnder stood that Micanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shoute and a cry, praising the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Judas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and mind, and which bare euer good affection towardes them of his nation, commaunded to hure off Micanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Jerusalem.

31 And when hee came there, hee called all them of his nation, and set the Priestes by the altar, and sent for them of the castell, 32 And shewed them wicked Micanors head, and the hand of the blasphemier which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almighty with proude wagges.

33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Micanor to be cut in little pieces, and to bee cast vnto the soules, and that the rewardes of his madnes should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man prayed toward the heaven the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be hee, that hath kept his place vndeified.

35 He hanged also Micanors head vpon the high castell, for an euident and plaine token vnto all the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a common decree that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Bardochens day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Micanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the cite in possession. And here will I also make an end.

39 If I haue done well, and as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the tast: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that read the story. And here shall be the ende.

The ende of Apocrypha.

The title page is framed by an elaborate border. At the top left, a female figure sits holding a cornucopia. At the top right, another female figure sits holding a staff. In the center top, a royal coat of arms is displayed. Below it, a small portrait of a man's head is visible. At the bottom left, a lion rampant is shown. At the bottom right, a unicorn is depicted. The bottom center features a portrait of a man's head. The entire border is filled with intricate scrollwork and floral patterns.

GOD,

He bookes of the olde Testament doe teach vs that the same GOD, whom Adam, Noe, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Dauid & the other fathers did worship, is ^a the only true God, and that he the same is Almighty and aeuerslasting: who of his meere goodnesse hath created by his word ^b heaven and earth, & al that is in them: From whom al things do come: without whom there is nothing at all: And that he is ^c iust and mercifull: who also ^d worketh al in all, ^e after his owne will: ^f To whome it is not lawfull to say, wherefore hee doth thus or thus.

bl Iesus

Creation of man.

Moreover, these bookes teach vs, that this very God Almighty, after he created al things, ^a hope to constitute him Lord ouer all things that he had created in earth. Which Adam, by the enuy and fraud of the deuill, transgressing the precept of his creator, ^b by this his sinne brought in such and so great sinne into the world, that we which be sprong from him by the fleshe, ^c bee in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon wee be made subiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke and tyrannie of the deuill.

Sinne.

Christ promised

Furthermore, we are taught by these excellent bookes, that God promised to ^a Adam, ^b Abraham, ^c Isaac, ^d Jacob, ^e Dauid, & to other fathers of the old time, that he would send that blessed seed, his sonne Iesus Christ our Sauour, which should deliuer all those from sinne, and from the tyranny of the deuill, which by a liuely and working faith should beleue this promise, and put their trust in Iesus Christ, hoping that of him and by him, they should obtaine this deliuerance.

The Lawe

Also they giue vs to vnderstand, that in the meane season, while those fathers the Israelites looked for the saluation, and deliuerance promised (for that the nature of man is such, so prond and so corrupt, that those would not willingly acknowledge themselves to be sinners, which had need of the Sauour promised) God the creator gaue by Moyses his ^a Law written in two Tables of stone: that by it, sinne & the malice of mans heart being ^b knowne, men might more vehemently thirst for the ^c comming of Iesus Christ, who should redeeme and deliuer them from sinne: which thing, neither the Law, nor yet the sacrifices and oblations of the Law did ^d performe. For they were shadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Christ: by which oblation all ^e sinne should be blotted out, and quite put away.

Christ God our Sauour came.

By the bookes of the new Testament we be taught, that Christ so afore promised (^a which is God above al things most blessed for euer,) he, I say, was shadowed in the bookes of the olde Testament, and in sacrifices figured, that he was ^b sent at the last from the father, the selfe same time which the father did constitute within himselfe: I say, ^c at that time, when all wickednesse abounded in the world, then he was sent. And this Iesus our Sauour, being borne in the fleshe, ^d suffered death, and rose againe from the dead. Which actes of his were not done by him in respect of the ^e good workes of any man (for we were all sinners) but ^f this God our father should ^g appeare true, in exhibiting the abundant ^h riches of his grace which hee promised, and that ⁱ through his mercy hee might bring vs to saluation.

A Lambe,
A sacrifice,
Peace.
Adoption,

Whereupon it is evidently shewed in the ^a newe Testament, that Iesus Christ, beeing the true ^b Lambe, the true ^c sacrifice of the world, putting away the sinnes of men, came into this world to purchase grace and ^d peace for vs with the Father, ^e washing vs from our sinnes in his owne blood, and ^f should deliuer vs from the bondage of the deuill, whome by sinne wee did serue: And so we should be adopted by him to be the sonnes of God, made ^g heirs with him of that most excellent and euerslasting kingdom.

The holy Ghost,
Faith,

Nowe that we should acknowledge this singular and excellent benefite of God towards vs, Almighty God ^a giueth vs his holy Spirit: the ^b fruite and effect of the which is ^c faith in God, and in his Christ. For, without the holy Ghost, by which we are instructed and sealed, neither can we beleue that God the father sent Messias, nor yet that Iesus is Christ: For ^d no man (saith Paul) can say that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost. The ^e same Spirit witnesseth to our Spirit, ^f we are the children of God, ^g and powreth into our bowels that charitie which Paul deseribed to the Corinthians. Furthermore, ^h holy Spirit doth giue vs hope, which is a sure looking for eternal life, wherof he himselfe is the certain ⁱ tokē & pledge. Also he giueth vs other ^j spiritual gifts, of the which Paul writeth to ^k Galatians. Therefore ^l benefite of faith is not to be despised, or litle to be set by. For by ^m y means of this trust & faith in Christ, which ⁿ worketh by charitie, & sheweth it self forth by ^o y works of charitie, mouing man thereto, we are ^p iustified & sanctified: that is to say, God & the Father of our Lord

Charitie, Hope.

Iustification and sanctification.

The summe of the holy Scripture.

Iesus Christ (which is made our ^d Father also by him, being our ^e brother) doeth accompt vs to be lust and holy through his grace, and through the merit of his sonne Iesus Christ, not ^f imputing our sinnes to vs, so farre forth that we should suffer the paines of hell for them.

Finally, Christ himselfe came into the world, to the intent that we through him being sanctified and cleansed from our sinnes, following his will in good workes, should deny the things pertaining to the flesh, and ^h freely ^b serue him in righteousnesse and holinesse all the dayes of our life: and that ⁱ by good workes (which God hath prepared for vs to walke in) we should ^k shew our selues to bee called to his grace, and gift of faith: which good workes who so hath not, doeth shew himselfe not to haue such a faith in Christ as is required in vs.

To Christ must we come, and ^l followe him with a cheerefull minde, that he may teach: For he is ^m our master, ⁿ lowly and humble of heart: he is to vs an ^o example, whereby we must learne the rule to liue well.

Moreouer, he is our ^p Bishop, and our ^q high Priest, which did himselfe offer vp for vs his owne blood, being the onely ^r mediator betweene God and men: Who now sitteth at the right hande of God the Father, being made our ^s aduocate, making prayer and intercession for vs: who doubtesse shall obtaine for vs whatsoeuer wee shall desire, either of him, or els of his Father in his Name, if so be that we thus desiring, shall beleuee that he will so doe: for thus hath he promised. Therefore let vs not doubt, if wee sinne at any time, to come with ^t repentance (to the which he doeth inuite and stirre vs at the very beginning of his preaching) and with sure trust to the ^u throne of his grace, with this beleefe, that we shall obtaine mercie. For therefore ^v came he into the world, that he might saue sinners by his grace.

THis is verily Christ Iesus, which shall come at a ^w certaine time appointed by his Father, and shall sit in great maiestie to ^x iudge all men, and to render to euery man ^y the workes of his body according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill. And he shall say to them which shall be on the right side, which in this worlde did looke for the good things to come (that is to say, life euermlasting :) ^z Come ye blessed of my Father, inioy the kingdome that hath bene prepared for you from the beginning of the world. But to them which shall be on the left side, hee shall say: Depart from me ye cursed into euermlasting fire prepared for the deuill and his Angelles. And then ^a shall the ende be, when Christ hauing viterly vanquished all maner of enemies, shall deliuer vp the kingdome to God the Father.

TO the intent that we mought vnderstand these things, the ^b sacred bookes of the Bible were deliuered to vs by the goodnes of God through his holy Spirit, with the preaching of that doctrine which is contained in them, and with his Sacraments, by which the truth of his doctrine is sealed vp to vs: that we ^c mought vnderstand, I say, and beleuee that there is one onely true God, & one Saviour Iesus Christ, whom (as he had promised) hee hath sent: ^d g and that we beleueing, mought haue in his Name life euermlasting.

Beside this ^e foundation, no man can lay any other in the Church of Christ: and vpon this foundation the Church doeth stand sure and stedfast. And Paul willet him to bee ^f accursed which shall preach any other faith and saluation, then by Iesus Christ, yea, although he were an Angel from heauen.

For ^g of him, through him, and for him, are all things: To whome with the Father and the holy Ghost, be all honour and glory, world without ende, Amen.

 Certaine

Certaine questions and answers touching the doctrine of Predestination, the vse of Gods worde and Sacraments.

Question.

Why doe men so much varie in matters of religion?

Answer.

Because all haue not the like measure of knowledge, neither doe all beleue y^e Gospel of Christ.

Question.

What is the reason thereof?

Answer.

Because they onely beleue the Gospel and doctrine of Christ, which are ordained vnto eternall life.

Question.

Are not all ordained vnto eternall life?

Answer.

Some are vessels of wrath ordained vnto destruction, as others are vessels of mercie prepared to glory.

Question.

Howe standeth it with Gods iustice, that some are appointed vnto damnation?

Answer.

Very wel; because all men haue in themselves sinne, which deserueth no lesse: and therefore the mercie of God is wonderfull in that he vouchsafeth to saue some of that sinfull race, and to bring them to the knowledge of the trueth.

Question.

If Gods ordinance and determination must of necessity take effect, then what neede any man to care? for hee that liueth well, must needs be damned, if he be thereunto ordained: and hee that liueth ill must needs be laued, if hee be thereunto appointed.

Answer.

Not so: for it is not possible, that either the elect should alwayes be without care to doe well, or that the reprobate should haue any will therunto. For to haue either good will or good worke, is a testimonie of the Spirit of God, which is giuen to the elect only, whereby faith is so wrought in them, that being graft in Christ, they growe in holinesse to that glory, wherunto they are appointed. Neither are they so vaine as once to thinke that they may doe as they list themselves, because they are predestinate vnto saluation: but rather they endeavour to walke in such good workes as God in Christ Iesus hath ordained them vnto, and prepared for them to be occupied in, to their owne comfort, stay, and assurance, and to his glory.

Question.

But howe shall I knowe my selfe to bee one of those whome God hath ordained to life eternall?

Answer.

By the motions of spirituall life, which belongeth onely to the children of God: by the which that life is perceiued, euen as the life of this body is discerned by the sense and motions thereof.

Question.

What meane you by the motions of spirituall life?

Answer.

I meane remouing of conscience, loyned with the lothing of sinne, and loue of righteousness: the hand of faith reaching vnto life eternall in Christ, the conscience comforted in distresse, and rayled vp to confidence in God by the worke of his Spirit: a thankfull remembrance of Gods benefites receiued, and the vsing of all aduersities as occasion of amendment sent from God.

Question.

Cannot such perish as at some time or other feele these motions within themselves?

Answer.

It is not possible that they should: for as Gods purpose is not changeable, so he repenteth not the gifts and graces of his adoption: neither doth he cast off those whome he hath once receiued.

Question.

Why then should wee pray by the example of David, that hee cast vs not from his face, and that hee take not his holy Spirit from vs?

Answer.

In so praying wee make protestation of the weaknesse of flesh, which moueth vs to doubt: yet should not wee haue courage to aske, if wee were not assured that God will giue according to his purpose and promise, that which we require.

Question.

Doe the children of God feele the motions aforesayd alwayes alike?

Answer.

No truely: for God sometime to proue his, seemeth to leaue them in such sort, that the flesh ouermatcheth the spirit, whereof acutely trouble of conscience for the time:

Questions and Answers

yet the spirite of adoption is neuer taken from them, that haue once receiued it: else might they perish. But as in many diseases of the body, the powers of bodily life are letted: So in some assaults these motions of spirituall life are not perceiued, because they lie hidden in our manifold infirmities, as the fire covered with ashes. Yet as after sickness cometh health, and after cloudes the Sunne shineth cleare: so the powers of spirituall life will more or lesse be felt and perceiued in the children of God.

Question.

What if I neuer feele these motions in my selfe, shal I despayre and thinke my selfe a castaway?

Answer.

God forbid: for God calleth vs at what time hee seeth good: and the instruments whereby hee finally calleth, haue not the like effect at all times, yet it is not good to neglect the meanes whereby God hath determined to worke the saluation of his. For as ware is not melted without heate, nor clay hardened but by meanes thereof: so God vseth meanes both to drawe those vnto himselfe, whome hee hath appointed vnto saluation, and also to betwape the wickednesse of them whom he iustly condemneth.

Question.

By what meanes vseth God to drawe men to himselfe that they may be saued?

Answer.

By the preaching of his worde and the ministering of his Sacraments thereunto annexed.

Question.

What meane you by the worde of God?

Answer.

I meane the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles which they receiued of the spirit of God, and haue left written in that Booke which wee commonly call the Old and New Testament.

Question.

Howe may I be assured, that it is the worde of God, which that Booke containeth?

Answer.

By the maiestie of God appearing in that plaine and simple doctrine: by the purenesse, brightnesse and holines thereof: by the certaintie of every thing therein affirmed: by the necessity of all things according to it: by perpetuall consent which is to be seene in every part thereof: by the excellencie of the matters treated: But especially by the testimonie of Gods spirite, whereby it was written, who moueth the hearts of those in whome it resteth, to consent vnto the worde, and reuerently to embrace it.

Question.

Howe doeth this worde of God serue to drawe men vnto him?

Answer.

When it is so preached and heard, that men may understand and learne what God teacheth: accept & receiue thankfully that which is thereby giuen, promised and assured: and be moued with desire and diligence to doe that which it commandeth.

Question.

Doe the Sacraments also serue to this ende?

Answer.

Yea verily: that by sight, taste and feeling, as well as by hearing, wee might bee instructed, assured, and brought to obedience.

Question.

Howe doeth our Baptisme serue hereto?

Answer.

It teacheth vs to put on Christ, that with his righteousness our sinfulness may be hidden: it assureth vs, that we are so graft into Christ, that all our sinnes by him are washed away: it chargeth vs to die to sinne, to continue in the profession of Christ, and to loue eche other.

Question.

Hath the Lords Supper also this vse?

Answer.

Yea doubtlesse: for it teacheth, that the body and blood of Christ crucified is the onely food of the newe borne children of God: it assureth that Christ is wholly theirs to giue and to continue life spirituall and heauenly to body and soule, to nourish, strengthen, refresh, and to make cheerefull the hearts of the elect: it requirerth thankfull remembrance of the death of Christ, vntie among those that doe profess him, with a true confession of his trueneth.

Question.

Why is not this vse of the Sacraments commonly knowne?

Answer.

Because they are abused for foure, for fashion, for custome and company, without regard vnto the worde, whereunto they are so annexed, that they ought not vpon any necessitie by any person be severed from it, which teacheth the right vse of every thing.

Question.

I perceiue that nothing is more necessarie then the worde of God: therefore I pray you shewe me howe I may attaine to some knowledge and profite thereby.

Answer.

By diligent hearing of such as preach it, by continuall and orderly exercise of reading and praying.

Question.

What orderly exercise thinke you most conuenient to be vied herein?

Answer.

Answer.

That as euery day, twisse at the least, we most commonly receiue foode to the nourishment of this corporall life: so no day be let passe without some reading in such sort that occasion therby may be taken to speake againe vnto God by prayer, as hee in his word speaketh vnto vs: So that at the least two Chapters would bee orderly and aduisedly read euery day, all other businesse, impediments and lets set apart.

Question.

This seemeth very easie to be done, what thinke you else requisite?

Answer.

That some especiall places of Scripture be so committed to memory, that the minde may euer bee furnished with some good matter against all temptations. To which ende I note these Scriptures vnto you, Amen.

whereunto you may soyme other at your owne choise: Psalmes 37. 50. 139. Psal. 53. John 17. Rom. 8. 1. Tim. 4.

Question.

But the Scriptures are hard and not easie to vnderstand.

Answer.

Discourage not your selfe herewith: for GOD maketh them easie to such as in humilitie seeke him: and that hardnesse that you finde serueth to mooue you to the more diligence, and to make inquirie of such as haue knowledge, when any doubt ariseth. That which you perceiue not at one time, God shall reueale at another: So that you shall haue your growing in grace, knowledge and godlinesse, to Gods glorie and your owne comfort in Christ, whose name for euer be prayd.

The holy^a Gospell of Iesus Christ, ^b according to Mattheue.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this historie written by Mattheue, Marke, Luke, and Iohn, the spirit of God so gouerned their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect and purpose they so content, as though the whole had bene composed by any one of them. And albeit in stile and manner of writing they be diuers, and sometime one writeth more largely than which the other doth abridge: neuertheless in matter and argument, they all tend to one ende: which is, to publish to the world the fauour of God towards mankind through Christ Iesus, whome the Father hath giuen as a pledge of his mercie and loue. And for this cause they entitle their storie, G O S P E L, which signifieth good tydings, inasmuch as God hath performed indeede that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admonished to forsake the world, and the vanities thereof, and with most affectioned hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely offered vnto vs: for there is no ioy nor consolation, no peace nor quietnesse, no felicitie nor saluation, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very substance of this Gospel, and in whome all the promises are Yea, and Amen. And therefore vnder this word is contained the whole New Testament: but commonly we vse this name for the history, which the foure Euangelists write, containing Christs comming in the flesh, his death and resurrection, which is the perfect summe of our saluation. Matthew, Marke, and Luke are more copious in describing his life and death: but Iohn more labourerth to set forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and also the vertue of his death and resurrection more fully appeare: for without this, to know that Christ was borne, dead, and risen againe, should nothing profite vs. The which thing notwithstanding that the three first touch partly, as he also sometime intermedleth the historical narration yet Iohn chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a most learned interpreter writeth, they describe, as it were, the body, and Iohn setteth before our eyes the soule. Wherefore the same aptly teameth the Gospell written by Iohn, the key which openeth the doore to the vnderstanding of the others: for whosoever doeth knowe the office, vertue and power of Christ, shall read that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the Redeemer of the worlde, with most profite. Now as concerning the writers of this historie, it is euident that Matthew was a Publicane, or custome gatherer, and was thence chosen of Christ to be an Apostle. Marke is thought to haue bin Peters disciple, and to haue planted the first Church at Alexandria, where he dyed the eight yeere of the reigne of Nero. Luke was a Philition of Antiochia, and became Pauls disciple, and fellowe in all his trauailes: hee liued fourescore and foure yeeres, and was buried at Constantinople. Iohn was that Apostle whom the Lord loued, the sonne of Zebedeus, and brother of Iames: he dyed threecore yeeres after Christ, and was buried neere to the cite of Ephesus.

18 ¶ Now the birth of Iesus Christ was thus, when as his mother Marie was betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, she was found with childe of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man, and not willing to make her a publicke example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But whiles he thought these things, beholde, the Angel of the Lorde appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph the sonne of David, feare not to take Marie for thy wife: for that which is conceived in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And she shall bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iesus: for hee shall saue his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lorde by the Prophet, saying,

23 ¶ Beholde, a Virgine shall bee with childe, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

24 ¶ Then Ioseph, being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lorde had intreated him, and tooke his wife.

1 The time and place of Christes birth. 11 The wife men offer their presents. 14 Christ fleeth into Egypt. 16 The yong children are slaine. 23 Joseph tareth into Galilee.

¶ When Iesus then was borne at Beth-lehem in Iudea, in the dayes of Herode the King, beholde, there came

¶ Wisemen from the East to Jerusalem,

2 Saying, Where is the King of the Jewes that is borne? for wee haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worshipping him.

3 ¶ When King Herode heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the chiefe Priestes and Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 And they said vnto him, At Beth-lehem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 ¶ And thou Beth-lehem in the land of Iuda, art not the least among the princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come the gouernour that shall feede my people Israel.

7 ¶ Then Herode secretly called the wisemen, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared.

8 And sent them vnto Beth-lehem, saying, Go, and search diligently for the babe: and when yee haue found him, bring mee worde againe, that I may come also, and worshipping him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the King, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came, and stood ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they sawe the starre, they reioiced with an exceeding great ioy.

11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Marie his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, of goud, and incense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they should not go againe to Herode, they returned into their country another way.

13 ¶ After their departure, beholde, the Angel of the Lorde appeared to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and bee there till I bring thee worde: for Herode will seeke the babe, to destroy him.

14 So hee arose, and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt.

15 And was there vnto the death of Herode, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lorde by the Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my Sonne.

16 ¶ ¶ When Herode, seeing that he was mocked of the wife men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slewe all the male children that were in Beth-lehem, and in all the coastes thereof, from two yere old and vnder, according to the time which hee had diligently searched out of the wisemen.

17 ¶ ¶ Then was that fulfilled which was

8 Bring forth therefore * fruites worthy amendment of life,

14 But Iohn put him backe, saying, I haue neede to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?

15 Then Iesus answering, said to him, Let be now, for thus it becometh vs to fulfil all righteousness. So he suffered him.

16 And Iesus when hee was baptized, came straight out of the water. And lo, the heauens were opened vnto him, and Iohn sawe the Spirit of God descending like a * dove, and lighting vpon him.

thee to offend, plucke it out, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath bene sayde also, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him giue her a testimoniall of diuorcement.

32 But I say vnto you, Whosoever and whosoever shall marrie her that is di-uorced, committeth adultery.

1 Of almes, 5 Prayer, 14 Forgiuing one another. 16 Fasting. ¶ He forbiddeth the carefull seeking of worldly things, and wileth men to put their whole trust in him.

T Ake heede that yee giue not your almes before men, to be seene of them, or else ye shall haue no reward of your Father which is in heauen.

2 * Wherefore when thou giuest thine almes, thou shalt not make a trumpet to be blown before thee, as the hypocrites doe in the Synagogues and in the streetes, to be prayled of men. Verily I say vnto you, they haue their reward.

3 But when thou doest thine almes, let not thy left hand knowe what thy right hand doeth,

4 That thine almes may bee in secret, and thy Father that seeth in secret, he will reward thee openly.

5 And when thou prayest, be not as the pray in the Synagogues, and in the cor-be seene of men. Verily I say vnto you, they haue their reward.

7 Also when ye pray, use not vaine repetitions as the heathen: for they thinke to be heard for their much babbling.
8 Be ye not like them therefore: for your father knoweth whereof ye haue neede, before ye aske of him.
9 After this manner therefore pray ye, Our father which art in heauen, hallowed be thy name.
10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.
11 Give vs this day our daily bread.
12 And forgiving vs our dettes, as we also forgive our debtors.
13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deliuer vs from euill: for thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glorie for euer, Amen.
14 For if ye doe forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly father will also forgive you.
15 But if ye doe not forgive men their trespasses, no more will your father forgive you your trespasses.
16 Moreover, when ye fast, looke not sorrow as the hypocrites: for they disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you, that they haue their reward.
17 But when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face, 18 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy father which is in secret: and thy father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.
19 Lay not vp treasures for your selues vpon the earth, where the moth and canker corrupt, and where thieves dig through, and steale.
20 But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the moth nor canker corrupteth, and where thieves neither dig through, nor steale.
21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.
22 The light of the body is the eye: if then thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be light.
23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy bodie shall be darked. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkened, howe great is that darkeness?
24 No man can serue two masters: for either hee shall hate the one, and loue the other, or else hee shall leaue to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.
25 Therefore I say vnto you, Be not carefull for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drinke: nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more woorth then meate? and the bodie then raiment?

26 Beholde the fowles of the heauen: for they sowe not, neither reape, nor care into the barnes: yet your heavenly father feedeth them. Are ye not much better then they?
27 Which of you by taking care, is able to adde one cubite vnto his stature?
28 And why care ye for rayment? Leauene howe the lilies of the fild doe growe: they labour not, neither spinne:
29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Salomon in all his glorie was not arrayed like one of these.
30 Wherefore if God do clothe the grasse of the fild which is to day, and to morrow is cast into the ouen, shall hee not doe much more vnto you, O ye of little faith?
31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or what shall we drinke? or wherewith shall we be clothed?
32 For after all these things seeketh the Gentiles: for your heavenly father knoweth that ye haue neede of all these things.
33 But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be ministered vnto you.
34 Care not then for the morrow: for the morrow shall care for it: suffice it the day hath ynough with his owne griefe.

1 Iudge not, that ye be not iudged.
2 For with what iudgement ye iudge, ye shall be iudged, and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you againe.
3 And why seekest thou the mote that is in thy brothers eye, and perceivest not the beame that is in thine owne eye?
4 Wholue layest thou to thy brother, suffer me to cast out the mote out of thine eye, and behold, a beame is in thine owne eye?
5 Hypocrite, first cast out the beame out of thine owne eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye.
6 Ouee not that which is holy, to dogges, neither cast ye your pearles before swine, least they treade them vnder their feete, and turning againe, all to rent you.

8 For whosoener asketh, receiveth: and hee that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

by thy name done many great workes?
23 And then will I proteste to them, ¶ I neuer knew you: * depart from me, ye that worken iniquitie.
24 Whosoever then heareth of these wordes, * and doeth the same, I will liken him to a wise man, which hath builded his house, & it fell: & the fall thereof was great.

had ended these wordes, the people were

T When he entred into a shippe, and passed over, and came into his owne citie.

2 And loe, they brought to him a man sicke of the palse, lying on a bed. And Iesus seeing that, sayd, sayde to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

3 And beholde, certaine of the Scribes sayd with themselves, This man blasphemeth.

4 But when Iesus sawe their thoughtes, he sayd, Wherefore thinke yee evill things in your hearts?

c Because they did maliciously refuse Christ, who offered himselfe unto them.

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that yee may knowe that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive sinnes, (then sayd he unto the sicke of the palse,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go to thine house.

7 And hee arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude sawe it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such authoritie to men.

9 ¶ And as Iesus passed forth from thence, hee sawe a man sitting at the receite of custome, named Mattheewe, and sayd to him, Follow me. And hee arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to passe, as Iesus sat at meate in his house, beholde, many Publicanes and sinners, that came thither, sat downe at the table with Iesus and his disciples.

11 And when the Pharises sawe that, they said to his disciples, Why eateth your master with Publicanes and sinners?

12 Now when Iesus heard it, he sayde unto them, The whole neede not the physition, but they that are sicke.

13 But go ye and learne what this is, I will have mercie, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharises fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

15 And Iesus sayde unto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber mourn as long as the bridegrome is with them? But the dayes will come when the bridegrome shall bee taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16 Moreover, no man pieceth an olde garment with a piece of new cloth: for that that should fill it up, taken away from the garment, and the breach is worse.

17 Neither doe they put new wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels woulde breake, and the wine woulde bee spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put new wine into new vessels, and so are both preserved.

18 ¶ While hee thus spake unto them, beholde, there came a certaine ruler, & worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased, but come and lay thine hande on her, and she shall live.

19 And Iesus arose and followed him with his disciples.

20 And beholde, a woman which was diseased by an issue of blood twelve yeres, came behinde him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

23 Nowe when Iesus came into the rulers house, and sawe the minstrels and the multitude making noyse, 24 Hee sayd vnto them, Get you hence: for the mayd is not dead, but sleepech. And they laughed him to scorne.

25 And when the multitude were put forth, he went in and tooke her by the hand, and the mayd arose.

26 And this haunte went throughout all that land.

27 And as Iesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of David, haue mercy vpon vs.

28 And when hee was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Iesus sayde vnto them, " Beleue yee that I am able to doe this? And they sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord.

29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Iesus charged them, saying, See that no man know it.

31 But when they were departed, they spied abroad his fame throughout all that land.

32 ¶ And as they went out, beholde, they brought to him a dourne man possessed with a deuill.

33 And when the deuill was cast out, the dourne spake: then the multitude marvelled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel.

34 But the Pharises sayd, "He" casteth out deuils, through the prince of deuils.

35 ¶ And "I" Iesus went about all cities and to townes, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the Gospell of the "o" kingdome, and healing euery sicknes and euery disease among the people.

36 But "when" hee sawe the multitude, he had compassion vpon them, because they were disperfed, and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepheard.

37 Then said he to his disciples, "Surely" the "haruest" is great, but the labourers are fewe.

38 Wherefore pray the Lord of the haruest, that hee would send forth labourers into his haruest.

CHAP. X.

5 Christ sendeth out his Apostles to preach in Iudea. 7 He giueth them charge, teacheth them, and comforteth them against persecution. 20 The holy Ghost speaketh by his ministers. 26 Whom we ought to feare. 30 Our haire is counted. 32 To confesse Christ. 37 Not to loue our parents more then Christ. 38 To take vp our crosse. 39 To saue or lose the life. 40 To receiue the preachers.

And "he" called his twelue Disciples vnto him, and gaue them power against vncleane spirits, to cast them out, and to heale euery sicknes, and euery disease.

2 Nowe the names of the twelue Apostles are these. The first is Simon, called Peter, and Andrew his brother: James the sonne of Zebedeus, and John his brother:

3 Philip and Barthelme: Thomas, and Mattheue the Publicane: James the sonne of Alphaeus, and Lebbeus whose surname was Thaddæus:

4 Simon the Cananite, and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed him.

5 These twelue did Iesus send forth, and commanded them, saying, Goe not into the way of the Gentiles, and into the cities of the Samaritanes enter ye not:

6 But goe rather "to the" lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

7 "And as ye goe, preach, saying, The kingdome of heauen is at hand:

8 Heale the sick: cleanse the lepers: raise vp the dead: cast out the deuils. Freely yee haue receiued, "freely" giue.

9 "I" Possesse not "golde", nor siluer, nor money in your girdles, 10 Nor a scrippe for theourney, neither two coates, neither shoes, nor a staffe: "for the" workeman is worthy of his meate.

11 And into "whatsoeuer" citie or towne ye shall come, enquire who is worthy in it, and there abide till ye goe thence.

12 And when ye come into an house, salute the same.

13 And if the house be worthy, let your peace come vpon it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace returne to you.

14 "And" whosoener shall not receiue you, nor heare your wordes, when ye depart out of that house, or that citie, "shake off the" dust of your feete.

15 Truly I say vnto you, it shall be easier for them of the land of "Sodom" and Gomorha in the day of iudgement, then for that citie.

16 ¶ Beholde, I send you as sheepe in the middes of wolues: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and simple as dones.

17 But beware of men, for they will deliuer you vp to the Councils, & will scourge you in their Synagogues.

18 And ye shall be brought to the Gouernours and Kings for my sake, in e witness to them, and to the Gentiles.

19 "But" when they deliuer you vp, take no thought howe or what yee shall speake: for it shall be giuen you in that houre, what ye shall say.

20 For it is not yee that speake, but the spirit of your father which speaketh in you.

21 And the "brother" shall betray the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

22 And ye shall be "hated" of all men for my name: "but" hee that endureth to the ende, he shall be saued.

23 And when they persecute you in this citie, flee into another: for verely I say vnto you, ye shall not finish all the cities of Israel, till the "Sonne of man" be come.

21 ¶ Wo be to thee, Chorazin: ¶ Wo be to thee, Bethsaida: for if the great workes, which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.
22 ¶ But I say to you, it shall bee easier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of iudgement, then for you.

23 ¶ And thou, Capernaum, which art lifted vp vnto heauen, shalt be brought downe to hell: for if the great workes, which haue bene done in thee, had bene done among them of Sodom, they had remayned to this day.
24 ¶ But I say vnto you, that it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom in the day of iudgement, then for thee.

25 ¶ At that time Iesus answered, and sayd, I giue thee thanks, O Father, Lord of heauen and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and men of vnderstanding, and hast opened them vnto babes.
26 ¶ It is so, O Father, because thy good pleasure was such.

27 ¶ All things are giuen vnto me of my Father: and no man knoweth the Sonne, but the Father: neither knoweth any man the Father, but the Sonne, and he to whom the Sonne will reueale him.

3 ¶ Chrisť exorciseth his disciples which plucke the eares of corne. 10 He healeth the dried hand. 21 Helpe the possessed that was blinde & dumme. 33 Blasphemie. 34 The generation of vipers. 35 Of good wordes. 36 Of idle wordes. 38 Hee rebuketh the vnfaithfull that would needes haue tokens. 49 And sheweth who is his brother, sister, and mother.

¶ At that time Iesus went on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his Disciples were an hungred, and beganne to plucke the eares of corne and to eate.

2 ¶ And when the Pharisees sawe it, they sayde vnto him, Beholde, thy disciples doe that which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath.

3 ¶ Ant hee sayde vnto them, * Haue yee not read what Dauid did when hee was an hungred, and they that were with him?

4 ¶ How he entred into the house of God, and ate the shewe bread, which was not lawfull for him to eate, neither for them which were with him, but onely for the Priestes?

5 ¶ Hauē yee not read in the Lawe how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priestes treade vpon the Lawe, & breake the Sabbath, and are blamelesse?

6 ¶ But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 ¶ Wherfore if ye knewe what this is, * I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice, yee would not haue condemned the innocents.

8 ¶ For the Sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

9 ¶ And he departed thence, and went in to their Synagogue:

10 ¶ And beholde, there was a man which had his hande dyed vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.

11 ¶ And he sayd vnto them, ¶ What man shall there bee among you, that shall haue a sheepe, and if it fall on a Sabbath day vnto a pitte, will not hee take it and lift it out?

12 ¶ How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day.

13 ¶ Then sayde hee to the man, Stretche forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 ¶ Then the Pharisees went out, & consulted against him, howe they might destroy him.

15 ¶ But when Iesus knewe it, he departed thence, and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all.

16 ¶ And charged them that they should not make him knowne.

17 ¶ That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by Isaia the Prophet, saying,

18 ¶ Behold my seruant whom I haue chosen, my beloued in whom my soule delighteth: I will put my Spirit on him, and he shall shewe iudgement to the Gentiles.

19 ¶ We shall not strine, nor cry, neither shall any man heare his voyce in the streetes.

20 ¶ A humbled reede shall hee not breake, and smoking flaxe shall hee not quench, till hee bring forth iudgement vnto victorie.

21 ¶ And in his name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 ¶ Then was brought to him one possessed with a deuill, both blind, & dumme, and he healed him, so that he which was blind and dumme, both spake and sawe.

23 ¶ And all the people were amazed, and sayd, Is not this the sonne of Dauid?

24 ¶ But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, ¶ This man callethe the deuils no otherwise out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 ¶ But Iesus knewe their thoughts, and sayd to them, ¶ Every kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be brought to nought: and euery citie or house diuided against it selfe, shall not stand.

26 ¶ So if Satan cast out Satan, hee is diuided against himselfe: howe shall then his kingdome endure?

27 ¶ Also if I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whome doe your children cast them out? ¶ Therefore they shall bee your iudges.

30 Hee that is not with mee, is against mee: and hee that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

31 * Therefore I say vnto you, euery sinne, and blasphemie shall be forgiven vnto men: but the blasphemie against the holy Ghost shall not be forgiven vnto men.

32 And whosoever shall speake a word against the Sonne of man, it shall be forgiven him: neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

34 ¶ All generations of vipers, how can you speake good things, when ye are euill? For of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh.

35 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things: and an euill man out of an euill treasure, bringeth forth euill things.

36 But I say vnto you, that of euery idle worde that men shall speake, they shall giue account thereof at the day of iudgement.

37 For by thy words thou shalt be iustified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.

43 ¶ Now when the vncleane spirit is gone out of a man, hee walketh throughout drye places, seeking rest, and findeth none.

44 Then hee sayeth, I will retorne into mine house, from whence I came: and when he is come, hee findeth it empty, swept, and garnished.

45 ¶ Then he goeth, & taketh vnto him selfe other spirits worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: & the ende of that man is worse then the beginning. Euen so shall it be with this wicked generation.

46 ¶ While he yet spake to the multitude, behold, his mother, and his brethren stood without, desiring to speake with him.

47 Then one sayd vnto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stande without, desiring to speake with thee.

48 But he answered, and sayde to him that tolde him, Who is my mother? and who are my brethren?

49 And he stretched forth his hande toward his disciples, and sayde, Beholde my mother and my brethren.

50 For whosoever shall doe my fathers will which is in heauen, the same is my brother and sister and mother.

CHAP. XIII.

3 The state of the kingdome of God set forth by the parable of the seede. 24 Of the tares. 31 Of the mustard seede. 33 Of the leauen. 44 Of the treasure hid in the field. 45 Of the pearles. 47 And of the net. 57 The Prophet is censured in his owne country.

The same day went Iesus out of the house, and late by the sea side.

2 And a great multitude resorted vnto him, so that he went into a shippe, and satte downe: and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Beholde, a sower went forth to sowe.

4 And as hee sowed, some fell by the wayes side, and the fowles came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stony ground, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne rose vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting, withered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprong vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fel in good ground, and brought forth fruite, one came an hundred folde, some thirtie folde, and another thirtie folde.

9 See that he hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 ¶ Then the disciples came, and sayd to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 And he answered and said vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you, to knowe the secrets of the kingdome of heauen, but to them it is not giuen.

12 * ¶ For whosoever hath, to him shall be giuen, and hee shall haue abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away, euen * that he hath.

13 Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing, doe not see: & hearing, they heare not, neither vnderstand.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophesie of Isaies, which prophesie saith, * By hear-ring, yee shall heare, and shall not understand, and seeing yee shall see, and shall not perceive.
15 For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they have winked, least they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and shoulde understand with their heartes, and shoulde returne, that I might heale them.
16 But blessed are your eyes, for they see:
and your eares, for they heare.
17 For verily I say unto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men have desired to see those things which yee see, and haue not seene them, and to heare those things which yee heare, and haue not heard them.
18 ¶ Hear ye therefore the parable of the sower.
19 Whensoever a man heareth the word of he kingdome, and understandeth it not, the euill one cometh, and catcheth away that which was sowne in his heart: and this is he which hath receiued the seede by the way side.
20 And hee that receiued seede in the stone ground, is hee which heareth the worde, and incontinently with ioy recei-ueth it.
21 Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution cometh because of the word, by and by he is offended.
22 And he that receiuethe the seed among thornes, is he, that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the worde, and hee is made unfruitfull.
23 But he that receiuethe the seede in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, & understandeth it, which also beareth fruite, and bringeth forth, some an hundred folde,
some fiftie folde, some thirtie folde.
24 ¶ Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his field.
25 But while men slept, there came his enemie, & sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.
26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.
27 Then came the seruants of the householder, and said vnto him, Master, sowest not thou good seede in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?
28 And hee sayde to them, The enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants said vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them vp?
29 But he said, Nay, lest while yee goe about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheate.
30 Let both growe together vntill the haruest, and in tyme of haruest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and binde them in sheaves to burne them:

but gather the wheate into my barn.

31 ¶ Another parable he put forth unto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graue of mustard seede, which a man taketh and sowerh in his fielde:
32 Which in deede is the least of all seedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birdes of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.
33 ¶ Another parable spake hee to them, The kingdome of heauen is like unto leauen, which a woman taketh, and hideth in three peckes of meale, till all bee leauened.
34 ¶ All these things spake Iesus unto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake hee not to them, 35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, * I will open my mouth in parables, and will utter the things which haue bene kept secret from the foundation of the world.
36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the fielde.
37 Then answered he, and said to them,
Ye that sowerh the good seede, is the sonne of man, 38 And the fielde is the world, and the good seede, they are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of the wicked,
39 And the enemie that sowerh them, is the deuill, and the haruest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.
40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of the world.
41 The sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which doe iniquitie.
42 And shall cast them into a fowre of fire. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.
43 ¶ Then shall the iust men shine as the sunne in the kingdome of their Father.
Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.
44 ¶ Again the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the fielde, which when a man hath found, hee hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that fielde.
45 ¶ Again the kingdome of heauen is like to a merchant man, that seeketh good pearles, 46 Also having found a pearle of great pice, went, and solde all that hee had, and bought it.
47 ¶ Again the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a dray net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kindes of things.
48 Which, when it is full, men draw to land, and sit and gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.
49 So shall it be at the end of the world.

2 Herods opinion concerning Christ. 10 Iohn is beheaded. 19 Christ feedeth five thousand with five loaves & two fishes. 23 He prayeth in the mountaine. 25 He appeareth by night vnto his disciples vpon the sea. 31 And sauneth Peter. 33 They confesse him to be the sonne of God. 36 He healeth all that touched the hemme of his garment.

A * that tyme Herode the Tetrarche heard of the fame of Iesus, 2 And sayde vnto his seruants, This is John Baptist: * he is risen againe from the dead, & therefore great works are wrought by him.

3 * For Herod had taken John & bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philipps wife.

4 For Iohn saide vnto him, It is not * lawfull for thee to haue her.

5 And when hee would haue put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a * Prophet.

6 But when Herodias birth day was kept, the daughter of Herodias danced before them, and pleased Herod.

7 Therefore hee * promised with an oath, that hee woulde giue her whatsoever shee would aske.

8 And she being before instructed of her mother, said, Giue me here John Baptists head in a platter.

9 And the King was sorre: neuertheless for becaule of the oath, and them that sate with him at the table, he commanded it to be giuen her.

10 And sent, and beheaded Iohn in the prison.
 And he was wicked: but yet it was more vile to bee obstinate in the same, than hee might seeme constant.

11 And his head was brought in a platter, and giuen to the maid, and shee brought it vnto her mother.

12 And his disciples came, and tooke by his body, and buried it, and went, and told Iesus.

13 * And when Iesus heard it, he departed thence by ship into a desert place apart. And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him afoore out of the cities.

14 And Iesus went forth, and sawe a great multitude, and was moued with compassion toward them, and hee healed their sicke.

15 ¶ And when euen was come, * his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the house is already past: let the multitude depart, that they may goe into the houses, and buy them victuals.

16 But Iesus sayde to them, They haue no need: to goe away: giue ye them to eate.

17 Then sayde they vnto him, We haue here but five loaves, and two fishes.

18 And he said, Bring them hither to me.

19 And he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, and tooke the five loaves and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen and blessed, and brake, and gaue the loaves to his disciples, & the disciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eate, and were satisfied, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, twelue baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about five thousand men, beside women and little children.

22 ¶ And straightway Iesus compelled his disciples to enter into a ship, and to goe out before him, while he sent the multitude away.

23 And assoone as he had sent the multitude away, hee went vp into a mountaine alone to pray: * and when the evening was come, he was there alone.

24 And the ship was now in the midst of the sea, and was tossed with waues: for it was a contrary winde.

25 And in the fourth watch of the night, Iesus went vnto them, walking on the sea.

26 And when his disciples sawe him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit, and cryed out for feare.

27 But straightway Iesus spake vnto them, saying, Be of good comfort. It is I: be not afrayd.

28 Then Peter answered him, and said, Master, if it be thou, * bid mee come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he sayd, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the ship, he walked on the water, to goe to Iesus.

30 But when he sawe a mighty winde, he was afraide: and as hee began to sinke, he cryed, saying, Master, saue me.

Then came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharises, which were of Ierusalem, saying,

2 Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders: for they wash not their hands when they eate & bread.

3 But he answered and said vnto them, Why doe yee also transgresse the commandement of God by your tradition?

4 * For God hath commaunded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: * and he that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But yee say, Whosoever shall say to father or mother, b By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profite,

21 ¶ And Iesus went thence, and departed vnto the coastes of Tyrys and Sidon.

22 And beholde, a woman a Cananite came out of the same coastes, and cryed, saying vnto him, Haue mercie on me, O Lord, the sonne of Dauid: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuill.

23 But hee answered her not a worde. Then came to him his disciples, & besought him, saying, * Send her away, for she crieth after vs.

1 The Pharisees require a token. 6 Iesus warneth his disciples of the Pharisees doctrine. 16 The confession of Peter. 19 The keys of heauen. 24 the faithfull must beare the crosse. 25 To winne or lose the life. 27 Christs coming.

Then came the Pharisees and Sadducees, and did tempt him, desiring him to shew them a signe from heauen.

2 But he answered, and said vnto them, When it is evening, ye say, Faire weather: for the skie is redde.

3 And in the morning ye say, To day shall be a tempest: for the skie is redde and lowering. Hypocrites, ye can discerne the face of the skie, & can yee not discern the signes of the times?

4 The wicked generation and adulterers seeketh a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen it, but the signe of the Prophet Jonas: so he left them, and departed.

5 And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread with them.

6 Then Iesus sayde vnto them, Take heed and beware of the leauen of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

7 And they thought in their selues, saying, It is because wee haue brought no bread.

8 But Iesus knowing it, sayde vnto them, O ye of litle faith, why thinke ye thus in your selues, because yee haue brought no bread?

9 Doe ye not yet perceiue, neither remember the fine loaves, when there were five thousand men, and howe many baskets tooke ye vp?

10 Neither the seven loaves when there were foure thousand men, and how many baskets tooke ye vp?

11 Why perceiue ye not, that I said not vnto you concerning bread, that ye shoulde beware of the leauen of the Pharisees and Sadducees?

12 Then understood they that hee had not said, that they shoulde beware of the leauen of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees, and Sadducees.

13 Nowe when Iesus came into the coastes of Celsarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, What men say that I the sonne of man am?

14 And they said, Some say, John Baptist, and some, Elias: & others, Ieremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He saide vnto them, But whome say ye that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter answered, and saide, Thou art the Christ, the sonne of the liuing God.

17 And Iesus answered, &

Blessed art thou, Simon, the sonne of Ionas: for a fleshy and blood hath not reueiled it vnto thee, but my father which is in heauen.

18 And I say also vnto thee, that thou art Peter, and vpon this rocke I will build my Church: and the gates of hel shall not overcome it.

19 And I will giue vnto thee the keys of the kingdome of heauen, and whatsoever thou shalt binde vpon earth, shall bee bounde in heauen: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth, shall bee loosed in heauen.

20 Then he charged his disciples, that they shoulde tell no man that he was Iesus the Christ.

21 From that time forth Iesus began to shewe vnto his disciples, that hee must go vnto Ierusalem, and suffer many things of the Elders, and of the bie Priests and Scribes, and be slaine, and rise againe the third day.

22 Then Peter tooke him aside, & began to rebuke him, saying, Walter, pittie thy self: this shall not be vnto thee.

23 Then hee turned backe, & sayd vnto Peter, Get thee behinde me, Satan: thou art an offence vnto mee, because thou understandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

24 Iesus then sayde to his disciples, If any man will followe me, let him forsake himselfe, & take vp his crosse, & followe me.

25 For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, shall find it.

26 For what shall it profite a man, though he should win the whole worlde, if he lose his owne soule? or what shall a man giue for recompence of his soule?

27 For the sonne of man shall come in the glory of his father with his Angels, & then shall he giue to euery man according to his deedes.

28 Verily I say vnto you, there be some of them that stande heere, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the sonne of man come in his kingdome.

4 Then answered Peter, and saide to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to bee heere: if thou wilt, let vs make heere three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

5 While hee yet spake, beholde, a bright cloud shadowed them: and beholde, there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased: heare him.

6 And when his disciples heard that, they fell on their faces, and were sore afraid.

7 Then Iesus came and touched them, and saide, Arise, and be not afraid.

8 And when they lifted vp their eyes, they sawe no man, save Iesus onely.

9 And as they came downe from the mountaine, Iesus charged them, saying, Sheweth the vision to no man, vntill the Sonne of man rise againe from the dead.

10 And his disciples asked him, saying, Why then say the Scribes that Elias must first come?

11 And Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Certainly Elias must first come, and restore all things.

12 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but haue done vnto him whatsoever they woulde: likewise shall also the Sonne of man suffer of them.

13 Then the disciples perceived that hee spake vnto them of John Baptist.

14 And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certaine man, and kneeled downe to him.

15 And saide, Master, haue pitie on my sonne: for he is lunaticke, and is sore vexed: for oft times he falleth into the fire, and oft times into the water.

16 And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not heale him.

17 Then Iesus answered, and saide, O generation faithles and crooked, how long now shall I be with you? howe long now shall I suffer you? bring him hither to me.

18 And Iesus rebuked the deuil, and he went out of him: and the childe was healed at that houre.

19 Then came the disciples to Iesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out?

20 And Iesus said vnto them, Because of your unbeliefe: for verely I say vnto you, if ye haue faith as much as a graine of mustard seede, ye shall say vnto this mountaine, Remove hence to powder place, and it shall remove: and nothing shall be impossible vnto you.

25 He said, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Iesus prevented him, saying, What thinkest thou, Simon? Of w^h doe the kings of the earth take tribute, of polle money: of their children, or of strangers?

26 Peter sayde vnto him, Of strangers. Then sayd Iesus vnto him, Then are the children free.

27 Neuerthelesse, lest we should offend them, goe to the sea, and cast in an angle, and take the first fish that cometh vp, and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt finde a piece of twentie pence: that take, and giue it vnto them for me and thee.

31 And when his other fellowes sawe what was done, they were very sorry, and came, and declared vnto their master all that was done.

32 ¶ Then his master called him, and said to him, O euill seruant, I forgave thee all that debt, because thou playedst me.

33 Doughtest thou also to haue had pittie on thy fellowe, euen as I had pittie on thee?

6 And hee went about the eleuenth houre, and found other standing idle, and saide vnto them, ¶ Why stand ye here all the day idle?

7 They said vnto him, because no man hath hired vs. He saide to them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the Master of the vineyard said vnto his steward, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleuenth houre, came and receiued every man a penie.

10 Now when the first came, they supposed that they shoulde receiue more, but they likewise receiued every man a penie.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house, 12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equall vnto vs, which haue borne the burden, and heate of the day.

13 And he answered one of them, saying, ¶ Friend, I doe thee no wrong: diddest thou not agree with me for a penie?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and goe thy way: I will giue vnto this last, as much as to thee.

15 Is it not lawfull for mee to doe as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye enill because I am good?

16 So the last shall be first, and the first last: for many are called, but fewe chosen.

20 * Then came to him the mother of Ierobeam children with her sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certaine thing of him.

21 And he said vnto her, What wouldest thou? Shee said to him, Graunt that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdome.

22 And Iesus answered, and saide, Vee knowe not what yee aske. Are yee able to drinke of the cuppe that I shall drinke of, and to be baptized with the baptisme that I shall be baptized with? They said to him, Wee are able.

23 And he said vnto them, Vee shall drinke in deede of my cuppe, and shall be baptized with the baptisme that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is not mine to giue: but it shall be giuen to them, for whome it is prepared of my Father.

24 * And when the other ten heard this, they disdayned at the two brethren.

25 Therefore Iesus called them vnto him, and said, Vee knowe that the Lordes of the Gentiles haue domination ouer them, and they that are great, exercise authoritie ouer them.

26 But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your seruant,

30 And beholde, two blinde men sitting by the way side, when they heard that Iesus passed by, cryed, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on vs.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should holde their peace: but they cried the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on vs.

32 Then Iesus stoode still, and called them, and said, What wilt thou that I should doe to you?

33 They said to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Iesus moued with compassion touched their eyes, and immediately their eyes receiued sight, and they followed him.

2 Saying to them, Goe into the towne that is ouer against you, and anon yee shall finde an asse bound, and a colte with her: loose them, and bring them vnto me,

3 And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye, that the Lord hath neede of them, and straightway he will let them goe.

7 And brought the asse and the colt, and put on the their clothes, & set him thereon.

8 And a great multitude layed their garments in the way: and other cut downe branches from the trees, and strewed them in the way.

9 Moreover, the people that went before, and they also that followed, cryed, saying, * Holanna the sonne of Dauid: blessed be hee that cometh in the Name of the Lord, Holanna thou which art in the high heavens.

10 * And when hee was come into Ierusalem, all the cite was moued, saying, Who is this?

11 And the people saide, This is Iesus the Prophet of Nazareth in Galile.

12 * And Iesus went into the Temple of God, and cast out all them that solde and bought in the Temple, and overthrowed the tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that solde doves, 13 And said to them, It is writtne, * Mine house shall be called the house of prayer: but * ye haue made it a denne of theeues.

14 Then the blinde and the bale came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

23 ¶ And when he was come into the Temple, the chiefe Priests, & the Elders of the people came vnto him, and hee was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authority?

24 Then Iesus answered and said vnto them, I also will aske of you a certaine thing, which if yee tell mee, I likewise will tell you by what authority I doe these things.

25 The baptisme of Iohn whence was it? Is from heauen, or of men? Then they reasoned among themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will lay vnto vs, Why did ye not then beleue him?

26 And if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all hold Iohn as a Prophet.

27 Then they answered Iesus, and said, We cannot tell. And he layde vnto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I doe these things.

28 ¶ But what thinke yee? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the elder, and said, Sonne, goe, and worke to day in my vineyard.

29 But he answered and said, I wil not: yet afterward hee repented himselfe, and went.

30 ¶ Then came he to the second, and said likewise. And he answered, and said, I wil, sir: yet he went not.

31 ¶ Whether of them twaine did the will of the father? They layde vnto him, The first. Iesus laide vnto him, Clerely I lay vnto you, that the ^o Publicanes and the harlots shall goe before you into the kingdom of God.

32 For Iohn came vnto you in the way of righteousness, and ye beleued him not: but the Publicanes, and the harlots beleued him, and ye though ye saw it, were not moued with repentance afterwarde, that ye might beleue him.

33 ¶ Heare another parable, There was a certaine householder, * which planted a vineyard, and he hedged it round about, and made a winepresse therein, and built a towre, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruit drew neere, he sent his seruants to the husbandmen to receiue the fruits thereof.

35 And the husbandmen tooke his seruants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Again he sent other seruants, more then the first: and they did the like vnto them.

37 But last of all he sent vnto them his olone sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen sawe the sonne, they said among themselves, * This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and let vs take his inheritance.

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 ¶ When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will he doe to those husbandmen?

41 They layd vnto him, He wil cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer him the fruites in their seasons.

42 Iesus said vnto them, Read ye neuer in the Scriptures, * The stone which the builders refused, the same is made the head of the corner? (This was the Lords doing, and it is maruelous in our eyes.

43 Therefore lay I vnto you, the kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and shall be giuen to a nation, which shall bring forth the fruites thereof.)

44 * And whosoener shall fall on this stone, hee shall be broken: but on whomsoener it shall fall, it will grinde him to powder.

45 And when the chiefe Priests and Pharises had heard his parables, they perceiued that he spake of them.

46 And they seeking to lay handes on him, feared the people, becaule they tooke him as a Prophet.

T Ven Iesus answered, and spake vnto them againe in parables, saying,

2 The kingdom of heauen is like vnto a certaine king which married his sonne.

3 And he sent forth his seruants, to call them that were bid to the wedding, but they would not come.

4 Again he sent forth other seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I haue prepared my dinner: mine open and my fastings are killed, and al things are readie: come vnto the marriage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his merchandise.

6 And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

7 But when the king heard it, hee was wroth, and sent forth his warriers, and destroyed those murderers, and burnt by their citie.

8 Then said he to his seruants, Truly the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

9 So ye therefore out into the hie wayes, and as many as yee finde, bid them to the marriage.

10 So those seruants went out into the hie wayes and gathered together all that euer they found, both good and bad: so the wedding was furnished with guests.

11 ¶ Then the king came in, to see the guests, and saw there a man which had not on a wedding garment.

17 Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou?

third, vnto the seventh.
27 And last of all the woman died also.
28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her.
29 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Ye are deceiued, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.
30 For in the resurrection they neither were astonied at his doctrine.

34 But when the Pharisees had heard, that he had put the Sadduces to silence, they assembled together.

pounder of the Lawe, asked him a question, tempting him, saying,

shall be brought lowe: and whosoever will humble himselfe, shall be exalted.

13 ¶ And therefore be unto you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because ye shut up the kingdome of heauen before men: for ye your selues goe not in, neither suffer yee them that would enter, to come in.

14 ¶ Also be unto you Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye denoure widowes houses, euer vnder a colour of long prayer:
wherefore yee shall receive the greater damnation.

15 ¶ Also be unto you Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye compasse sea and land to make one of your profession: and when he is made, yee make him two folde more the child of hell, then you your selues.

16 ¶ Also be unto you blinde guides which say, Whosoever sweareth by the Temple, it is nothing: but whosoever sweareth by the gold of the Temple, he offendeth.

17 Ye fooles and blinde, whether is greater, the golde, or the Temple that sancti-feth the golde?

18 And whosoever sweareth by the altar, it is nothing: but whosoever sweareth by the offering that is vpon it, offendeth.

19 Ye fooles and blinde, whether is greater, the offering, or the altar which sancti-feth the offering?

20 ¶ Whosoever therefore sweareth by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all thinges thereon.

21 ¶ And whosoever sweareth by the Temple, sweareth by it, and by him that dwelleth therein.

22 ¶ And hee that sweareth by heauen, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon.

23 ¶ Also be to you, Scribes, and Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye cypher mine, and anulle, and cummin, & leaue the weightier matters of the Lawe, & iudgement, and mercie, and fidelitie. These ought yee to haue done, and not to haue left the other.

24 Ye blinde guides, which frame out a gnat, and swallow a camel.

25 ¶ Also be to you, Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites: for yee make cleane the vnderside of the cup, and of the platter; but within they are full of hytherie, and of excess.

26 ¶ Thou blinde Pharise, cleane first the inside of the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be cleane also.

27 ¶ Also be to you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: for yee are like vnto whited tombes, which appaie beautiful outwardly, but are within full of dead mens bones, and of all filthines.

28 So are ye also: for our warfare yee ap-peare righteous vnto men, but within yee are full of hypocrisie and iniquitie.

29 ¶ Also be unto you, Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites: for yee build the tombes of the Prophets, and garnish the Sepulchres of the righteous,

30 And say, If we had bene in the dayes of our fathers, wee would not haue bene partners with them in the blood of the Prophets.

31 So then yee be witnesses vnto your selues, that ye are the children of them that murdered the Prophets.

32 Fulfill ye also the measure of your fathers.

33 O Serpents, the generation of vipers, how should ye escape the damnation of hell?

34 ¶ Therefore beholde. I send vnto you the Prophets, and wise men, & Scribes, and of them ye shall kill & crucifie: and of them shall ye scourge in your Synagogues, and persecute from citie to citie.

35 That vpon you may come all the righteous blood that was shed vpon the earth, from the blood of Abel the righteous, vnto the blood of Zacharias, the sonne of Barachias, whose blood yee slewe betweene the Temple and the altar.

36 Verily I say vnto you, All these things shall come vpon this generation.

37 ¶ Ierusalem, Ierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them which are sent to thee, how often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings;
and ye would not!

38 Behold, your habitation shall be left

2 And Iesus said vnto them, See ye not in that he all these things? Verily I say vnto you, that there shall not be here left a stone vpon a

3 And as he sat vpon the mount of Oli-

4 And Iesus answered, & said vnto the,

be preached through the whole world for a witness vnto all nations, and then shall the ende come.15 ¶ When a ye therefore shall see the baniel the Prophet, standing in the holy place, (let him that readeth, consider it.)16 Then let them which be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines.17 Let him which is on the house top, not come downe to fetch any thing out of his house.18 And he that is in the field, let not him returne backe to fetch his clothes.19 And woe shalbe to them that are with-childe, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes.20 But pray that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the Sabbath day.21 For then shall bee great tribulation, such as was not from the beginning of the world to this time, nor shall be.22 And except those dayes should be shortened, there should no flesh be saued:

but for the elects sake, those dayes shall bee shortened.23 * When if any shall say vnto you, Loe, here is Christ, or there, beleeue it not.24 For there shall arise false Christs and false prophets, and shall shew great signes and wonders, so that if it were possible, they should deceiue the very elect.

25 Behold, I haue told you before.

26 ¶ Wherefore if they shall say vnto you,
Behold, he is in the desert, go not forth:
Behold, he is in the secret places, beleeue it not.27 For as the lightning cometh out of the East, and shineth into the West, so shall also the coming of the Sonne of man be.28 * For whereloeuer a dead carkeis is, thither will the Eagles resort.29 * And immediately after the tribulation of those dayes, shall the Sonne bee darkened, and the moone shall not giue her light, and the starres shall fall from heauen, and the powers of heauen shall be shaken.30 * And then shall appeare the signe of the Sonne of man in heauen: and then shall all the kindreds of the earth mourne, and they shall see the Sonne of man come in the cloudes of heauen with power and great glory.31 * And he shall send his Angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect, from the foure windes, and from the one end of the heauen vnto the other.32 Now learne the parable of the figge tree: when her boughs is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaues, ye know that summers is neere.33 So likewise ye, when ye see all these things, knowe that the kingdom of God is neere, even at the doores.34 Verily I say vnto you, this generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.35 ¶ Heauen and earth shall passe away:
but my wordes shall not passe away.36 But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no nor the Angels of heauen, but my Father onely.37 But as the dayes of Noe were, so likewise shall the coming of the Sonne of man be.38 * For as in the dayes before the flood, they did eate and drinke, marrie, and giue in marriage, vnto the day that Noe entered into the Arke,39 And knewe nothing, till the flood came, and tooke them all away: so shall also the coming of the Sonne of man be.40 * ¶ Then two men shall bee in the fieldes, the one shall bee receiued, and the other shall be refused.41 Two women shall be grinding at the mill: the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be refused.42 * Make therefore: for ye knowe not what houre your master will come.43 ¶ Be thus be sure, that if the good man of the house knewe at what watche the thiefe would come, hee would surely watch, and not suffer his house to be dig-ged through.44 Therefore bee ye also ready: for in the houre that ye thinke not, will the Sonne of man come.45 * ¶ Who then is a faithfull seruant and wise, whom his master hath made ruler ouer his household, to giue them meate in season?46 Blessed is that seruant, whome his master when he cometh, shall finde so doing.47 Verily I say vnto you, he shall make him ruler ouer all his goods.48 But if the euill seruant shall say in his heart, My master doeth deferre his com-ming,49 And begin to smite his fellowes, and to eate, and to drinke with the drunken,50 That seruants master will come in a day, when hee looketh not for him, and in an houre that he is not ware of,51 And will scut him off, and giue him his portion with hypocrites: there shall be weeping, and gnashing of teeth.

Then the kingdome of heauen shall be likened vnto ten virgins, which tooke their lampes, and went to meet the bridegrome.

2 And five of them were wise, and five foolish.

3 The foolish tooke their lampes, but tooke none oyle with them.

4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Nowe while the bridegrome tarried long, all slumbered and slept.

6 And at midnight there was a crye made, Beholde, the bridegrome cometh: goe out to meet him.

7 Then all those virgins arose, & trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish said to the wise, Give vs of your oyle, for our lampes are all out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, We feare least there will not be enough for vs and you: but goe yee rather to them that sell, and buy for your selues.

10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came: and they that were ready, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwardes came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, I know you not.

13 Watch therefore: for ye know neither the day nor the houre, when the Sonne of man will come.

14 For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange country, called his seruantes and deliuered to them his goods.

15 And vnto one hee gaue five talents, and to another two, and to another one, to every man after his owne habilitie, and straightway went from home.

16 Then hee that had receiued the five talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other five talents.

17 Likewise also, he that receiued two, he also gained other two.

18 But hee that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those seruantes came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came he that had receiued five talents, and brought other five talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me five talents: behold, I haue gained with them other five talents.

21 Then his master sayde vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into thy masters ioy.

22 Also he that had receiued two talents, came and said, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me two talents: behold, I haue gained two other talents with them.

23 His master sayde vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into the masters ioy.

24 Then hee which had receiued the one talent, came and said, Master, I knew that thou wast an hard man, wherewith I feared thee: where thou soldest not, and garest where thou straddest not.

25 I was therefore afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine oyle.

26 And his master answered, and saide vnto him, Thou evil seruant and slothfull, thou knowest that I reape, where I sow not, & gather where I stradow not.

27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming should I haue receiued mine oyle with vantage.

28 Take therefore the talent fro him, and giue it vnto him, which hath ten talents.

29 For vnto every man that hath, it shall be giuen, and he shall haue abundance, and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken away.

30 Cast therefore that vnprofitable seruant into viter darkenesse: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

31 And when the Sonne of man cometh in his glory, and all the holy Angels with him, then shall hee sit vpon the throne of his glory.

32 And before him shall be gathered all nations, and he shal separate them one from another, as a shepheard separateth the sheepe from the goates.

33 And hee shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goates on the left.

34 Then shall the King say to them on his right hand, Come ye blessed of my father: inherit ye the kingdome prepared for you from the foundations of the world.

35 For I was an hungred, & ye gaue me meate: I thirsted, & ye gaue me drinke: I was a stranger, and ye lodged me:

36 I was naked, and ye clothed me: I was sicke, and ye visited mee: I was in prison, and ye came vnto me.

37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when sawe we thee an hungred, and fedde thee? or athirst, & gaue thee drinke?

38 And when sawe we thee a stranger, and lodged thee? or naked, & clothed thee?

39 Or when sawe we thee sicke, or in prison, and came vnto thee?

40 And the King shal answer & say vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, in as much as ye haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me.

41 Then shall he say vnto them on the left hand, Depart from me ye cursed, into everlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels.

42 For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me no meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue me no drinke:

43 I was a stranger, and ye lodged me not: I was naked, & ye clothed me not: sicke, and in prison, and ye visited me not.

And * it came to passe, when Iesus had finished all these sayings, hee layd vnto his disciples,

2 We know that within two dayes is the Passouer, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered to be crucified.

3 * Then assembled together the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders of the people into the hall of the hie Priest, called Cafaphas,

4 And consulted howe they might take Iesus by subtiltie, and kill him.

5 But they sayd, Not on the feast day, lest any buzzbe be among the people.

6 * And when Iesus was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper,

7 There came vnto him a woman, which had a boze of very costly oyntment, and * poured it on his head, as hee late at the table.

8 And when his disciples sawe it, they had * indignation, saying, What needeth this waste?

9 For this oyntment might haue bene sold for much, and bene giuen to the poore.

10 And Iesus knowing it, sayde vnto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for she hath wrought a good worke vpon me.

11 * For ye haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall ye not haue alwayes.

12 For in that hee poured this oyntment on my body, hee did it to * bury me.

13 Verily I say vnto you, Where soeuer this Gospel shall be preached throughout all the world, there shall also this * be hath done, be token of for a memoriall of her.

14 * Then one of the twelue called Judas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priests, and said, What wilt thou giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? and they appointed vnto him thirtie * pieces of silver.

16 And from that time hee sought opportunitye to betray him.

17 * Now on the first day of the feast of vneleuened bread the disciples came to Iesus, saying vnto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eate the Passouer?

18 And hee sayd, See into the cite to such a man, & say to him, The master saith, * My time is at hand: I will keepe the Passouer at thyne house with my disciples.

19 And the Disciples did as Iesus had giuen them charge, and made ready the Passouer.

20 * So when the euen was come, hee sat downe with the twelue.

21 And as they did eat, hee said, verily I say vnto you, one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorowfull, and began every one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?

23 And hee answered, and said, * Ver that aduise his hand with mee in the dish, hee shall betray me.

24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, * as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whome the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

25 Then Iudas which betrayed him, answered, and saide, Is it I, Master? Hee layd vnto him, Thou hast said it.

26 * And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread: and when hee had giuen thanks, he brake it, and gaue it to the disciples, and sayd, Take, eate: * this is my body.

27 Also hee tooke the cup, and when hee had giuen thanks, hee gaue it them, saying, Drinke ye all of it.

28 For this is my * blood of the new testament, that is shedde for many, for the remission of sinnes.

29 I say vnto you, that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruite of the vine vntill that day, when I shall drinke it newe with you in my fathers kingdome.

30 And when they had sung a Psalm, they went out into the mount of Olives.

31 * Then sayd Iesus vnto them, All ye shall be * offended by me this night: for it is written, I will * smite the shepherds, and the sheepe of the flocke shall be scattered.

32 But * after I am risen againe, I will goe before you into Galilee.

33 But Peter answered, and sayd vnto him, * Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet wil I neuer be offended.

34 * Iesus sayd vnto him, Verily I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denie me thrice.

35 Peter said vnto him, Though I should dye with thee, yet wil I not denie thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 * Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, and sayd vnto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I goe and pray yonder.

37 And hee tooke Peter, & the two sonnes of Zebedees, and began to waite sorrowfull, & grievously troubled.

one of the twelue, came, with him a great multitude with swordes and stauces, from the hie Priestes and Elders of the people.
48 Now hee that betrayed h'm, had gi-shall kisse, that is he, lay hold on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Iesus, and saide, || God saue thee, * Master, and kised him.
50 Then Iesus said vnto him, * Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they,
and laid hands on Iesus, and tooke him.
51 And beholde, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, & drew his sword, & strooke a seruant of the hie Priest, and smote off his eare.
52 Then said Iesus vnto him, Put by thy sword into his place: for al that y take the sword, shal perishe with the sword.
53 Either thinkest thou, that I can not now pray to my father, and he wil giue mee more then twelue legions of Angels?
54 Now then should the * Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so: 55 The same houre saide Iesus to the multitude, ye be come out as it were against a thiefe with swordes and stauces, to take me: I late dayly teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.
56 But all this was done, y the * Scriptures of the Prophetes might bee fulfilled.
57 ¶ And they tooke Iesus, and led him to Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.
58 And Peter followed him a farre off vnto the hie Priestes hall, and went in, and late with the seruants to see the ende.
59 Nowe * the chiefe Priestes and the Elders, and all the whole Councell * sought false witness against Iesus, to put him to death.
60 But they founde none, and though many false witnesses came, yet founde they none: but at the last came two false witnesses,
61 And said, This man said, * I can destroy the temple of God, and bulde it in three dayes.
62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and saide to him, and werest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witnesse against thee?
63 But Iesus * held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and said to him, I charge thee by the liuing God, that thou tell vs if thou be Christ the Sonne of God.

64 * Iesus said to him, * Thou hast said it: neuertheless I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of the heauen.
65 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, saying, He hath blasphemed: what haue
we any more neede of witness? beholde, now ye haue heard his blasphemie.
66 What thinke ye? They answered, and said, He is worthy to die.
67 * Then spate they in his face, and buffeted him; and * other smote him with their roddes,
68 Saying, * Prophecie to vs, O Christ,
Who is he that lineth thee?
69 ¶ * Peter sat without in the hall: & a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galilee.
70 But he denied before them all, saying,
I wot not what thou sayest.
71 And when hee went out into the porch, another maide sawe him, and said vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazaret.
72 And * againe he denied with an oth, saying, I know not the man.
73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stood by, and sayd vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech bewrayeth thee.
74 Then began he to curse himselfe, and to weare, saying, I know not the man. And immeddiately the cocke crew.

of Iesus, which had sayd vnto him, Before

3 ¶ Then when Iudas which betrayed repented himselfe, and brought againe the thirty pieces of silver to the chiefe Priestes, and Elders,

4 Saying, I haue sinned betraying the innocent blood. But they sayd, What is that to vs? I see thou to it.
5 And when hee had cast downe the silto put them into the treasure, because it is the price of blood.

7 And they took counsell, and bought with them a potters field, for the buriall of strangers.

8 Therefore that field is called, *The field of blood untill this day.

9 (Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Ieremas the Prophet, saying, *And they tooke thirtie silver pieces, the price of him that was valued, whom they of the children of Israel valued.

10 And they gaue them for the potters field, as the Lord appointed me.)

11 *And Iesus stood before the gouernour, and the gouernour asked him, saying, Art thou the king of the Iewes? Iesus said vnto him, Thou sayest it.

12 And whē he was accused of the chiefe Priests and Elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then said Pilate vnto him, Hearst thou not how many things they lay against thee?

14 But hee answered him not to one word, insomuch that the gouernour marvelled greatly.

15 Now at the feast the gouernour was wont to deliuer vnto the people a prisoner, whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate said vnto them, Whether will ye that I let loose vnto you Barabbas, or Iesus which is called Christ?

18 (For he knew wel, that for enuy they had deliuered him.)

19 Also when he was set down vpon the iudgement seate, his wife sent to him, saying, *Haue thou nothing to doe with that iust man: for I haue suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason of him.)

20 *But the chiefe Priests and the Elders had perswaded the people that they should aske Barabbas, and shoulde destroy Iesus.

21 Then the gouernour answered, & said vnto them, Whether of the twaine will ye that I let loose vnto you? And they laide, Barabbas.

22 Pilate said vnto them, What shal I do then with Iesus which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then said the gouernour, But what euill hath hee done? Then they cryed the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 When Pilate saw that he auailed nothing, but that murther was made, he tooke water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this iust man: looke you to it.

25 Then answered all the people, & said, His blood be on vs, and on our children.

26 Thus let hee Barabbas loose vnto them, and scourged Iesus, and deliuered him to be crucified.

27 ¶ Then the souldiers of the gouernour tooke Iesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band.

28 And they stripped him, and put vpon him a scarlet robe,

29 And platted a crowne of thornes, and put it vpon his head, & a reede in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God saue thee king of the Iewes,

30 And spitte vpon him, and tooke a reede, and smote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne rayment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 *And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his crosse.

33 *And when they came into the place called Golgotha, (that is to say, the place of dead mens skulles)

34 They gaue him a vineger to drinke mingled with gall: And when he had tasted thereof, he would not drinke.

35 ¶ And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, & did cast lots, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, *They deuised my garments among them, and vpon my vesture did cast lots.

36 And they sat, & watched him there.

37 They set vp also ouer his head his kinge written, *THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEWES.

38 ¶ And there were two theenes crucified with him, one on the right hand, and an another on the left.

39 And they that passed by, reuled him, wagging their heads,

40 And saying, *Thou that destroyest the Temple, and buidest it in three dayes, saue thy selfe: if thou be the sonne of God, come downe from the crosse.

41 Likewise also the hie Priests mocking him, with the Scribes, and Elders, and Pharisees, sayd, 42 He saued others, but hee cannot saue himselfe: if hee bee the King in Israel, let him now come downe from the crosse, and we will beleue him.

43 *He trusted in God, let him deliuer him now, if he will haue him: for hee sayd, I am the Sonne of God.

44 That saue also the theenes which were crucified with him, in his teeth.

45 Now from the first houre was there darknesse ouer all the land, vnto the ninth houre.

46 And about the ninth houre Iesus cryed with a loud voyce, saying, *Eli, lamina sabachiani: that is, *By God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47 And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, sayd, This man calleth Elias.

48 And straightway one of them ranne, and tooke a sponge, and filled it with vineger, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke.

49 Other sayd, Let him be: let vs see, if Elias will come and saue him.

55 And many women were there, beholding him atare off, which had folowed Iesus from Galile, ministring vnto him.

56 Among whom was Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of James and Ioses, and the mother of Sebedeus sonnes.

57 And when the euen was come, there came a rich man of Arimatea, named Ioseph, who had also himselfe bene Iesus disciple.

58 He went to Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be deliuered.

59 So Ioseph tooke the body, and wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth, 65 Then Pilate said vnto them, Ye haue a watch: go, and make it sure as ye know.

6 The resurrection of Christ. 10 The brethren of Christ. 12 The high Priests bribe the souldiers. 17 Christ appeareth to his disciples, and sendeth them forth to preach, and to baptize, 20 Promising to them continuall assistance.

Nowe in the 11 side of the Sabbath when the first day of the weeke began to dawning, Marie Magdalene, and the other Marie came to see the sepulchre.

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the Angel of the Lord descended from heauen, and came & rolled backe the stone from the doore, and late vpon it.

3 And his countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snowe.

4 And for feare of him, the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and sayde to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified:

6 Hee is not here, for he is risen, as hee sayde: Come, see the place where the Lord was layd,

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead: and behold, he goeth before you into Galile: there ye shall see him: loe, I haue tolde you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and a great ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, and tooke him by the feete, and worshipped him.

10 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, Be not afraid, Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galile, and there shall they see me.

11 Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the cite, and shewed vnto the high Priests all the things that were done.

12 And they gathered them together with the Elders, and tooke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the souldiers, 13 Saying, Say, his disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept.

14 And if y^e gouernour heare of this, we will perswade him, and saue you harmelesse.

15 So they tooke the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is noyed among the Jewes vnto this day.

16 Ther the eleven disciples went into Galile, into a mountaine, where Iesus had appointed them.

17 And when they sawe him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.

18 And Iesus came, & spake vnto them, saying, All power is giuen vnto me in heauen, and in earth.

19 So therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and the Sonne, and the holy Ghost, life, for remission of finnes.

5 And all the countrey of Iudea, & they of Ierusalem went out vnto him, and were all baptized of him in the River Iordan, confessing their finnes.

6 * Nowe Iohn was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdle of a skinne about his loynes : and he did eate * Locusts and wilde home.

7 * And preached, saying, I stronger then
I, cometh after me, whose shoos latcher
I am not worthy to stoope downe, and vn-loose.

8 Trueth it is, I haue * baptizd you with water : but he will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 * And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazareth a citie of Galilee, and was baptized of Iohn in Jordan.

10 And assoone as hee was come out of the water, Iohn saue the heauens clouen in twaine, and the holy Ghost descending vpon him like a dove.

11 Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

12 * And immediatly the Spirit diuined him into the wildernesse.

13 And hee was there in the wildernesse fourtie dayes, and was tempted of Satan : hee was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministered vnto him.

14 * Nowe after that Iohn was confessed to prison, Iesus came into Galilee, preaching : the Gospell of the kingdome of God,

15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand : repent and beleeue the Gospell.

16 * And as he walked by the sea of Galilee, hee saue Simon, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea, (for they were fishes.)

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, & I will make you to be * fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forooke their nettes, and followed him.

19 And when he had gone a litle further thence, he saue James the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the shippe, mending their nettes.

20 And anon he called them : and they left their father Zebedeus in the ship with his hired seruantes, and went their way after him.

21 * So they entred into Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astounded at his doctrine : for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 * And there was in their Synagogue a man which had an vncleane spirit, and he cryed, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue wee to doe with thee, O Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs ? I knowe thee what thou art, even that holy one of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, holde thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vncleane spirit tare him, and cryed with a loude voyce, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demanded one of another, saying, What thing is this ? what a newe doctrine is this ? for he commandeth the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediatly his fame spred abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galilee.

29 * And assoone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred vnto the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and Iohn.

30 And Simons wifes mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they tolde him of her.

31 And he came & tooke her by the hand, and lift her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and the ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, and the sunne was downe, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered together at the doore.

34 And he healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases : and he cast out many devils, and suffered not the devils to say that they knewe him.

35 And in the morning very early, he forsoke day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, & they that were with him, followed after him.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galilee, and cast the deuils out.

40 ¶ And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeled downe vnto him, and sayd to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, & touched him, and sayd to him, I will: be thou cleane.

42 And as soon as hee had spoken, immediately the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after hee had giuen him a straight & commaundement, hee sent him away forthwith, 44 And said vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing those things, which Moses commaunded, for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when he was departed, he began to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus couide no more openly enter in the cite, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

CHAP. II.

3 He healeth the man of the palse. 5 He forgiveth finnes. 14 He calleth Leuit the custומר. 16 He eateth with sinners. 18 He exorciseth his disciples, as touching fasting, and keeping the Sabbath day.

After a fewe dayes, he entred into Capernaum againe, and it was noyled that he was in the house.

2 And anon, many gathered together, fir so much that the places about the doore could not retein any more: and hee preached the worde vnto them.

3 And there came vnto him, & brought one sicke of the palse, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered the rooffe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed, wherein p sicke of the palse lay.

5 Now when Iesus sawe their faith, he said to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, thy finnes are forgiven thee.

6 And there were certaine of p Scribes, sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts, 7 Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies: who can forgive finnes, but God onely?

8 And immediately when Iesus perceived in his spirit, that thus they thought with themselves, he saide vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 ¶ Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palse, Thy finnes are forgiven thee: or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and walke?

10 And that yee may knowe, that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue finnes, (he said vnto the sicke of the palse)

11 I say vnto thee, Arise and take vp thy bed, & get thee hence into thine owne house.

12 And by and by he arose, andooke vp his bed, & went forth before them all, in so much that they were all amazed, & glorified God, saying, We neuer sawe such a thing.

13 ¶ Then he went againe toward the sea, and all the people reioyced vnto him, and he taught them.

14 ¶ And as Iesus passed by, he sawe Leuit the sonne of Alphaeus sit at the receite of custome, and said vnto him, Follow mee. And he arose and followed him.

15 ¶ And it came to passe, as Iesus sat at table in his house, many Publicanes and sinners sat at table also with Iesus, and his disciples: for there were many that followed him.

16 And when the Scribes and Pharisees sawe him eat with the Publicanes and sinners, they said vnto his disciples, Howe is it, that he eateth & drinketh with Publicanes and sinners?

17 Now when Iesus heard it, he sayde vnto them, Whether haue no neede of the Phisician, but the sicke. I came not to call the righteous, but p sinners to repentance.

18 And the disciples of Iohn, and the Pharisees did fast, & came a laide vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn and of the Pharisees fast, and thy disciples fast not?

19 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber fast, whiles the bridegrome is with them? as long as they haue the bridegrome with them, they cannot fast.

20 But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, & then shall they fast in those dayes.

21 Also no man seweth a peece of new cloth in an olde garment: for els the newe peece takerh away the filling vp from the olde, and the breach is worse.

22 Likewise, no man putteth new wine into olde vessels: for els the new wine breake the vessels, and the wine runneth out, and the vessels are lost: but newe wine must be put into new vessels.

23 ¶ And it came to passe as hee went through the corne on the Sabbath day, that his disciples, as they went on their way, began to plucke the eares of corne.

24 And the Pharisees sayde vnto him, Behold, why doe they on the Sabbath day, that which is not lawfull?

25 And he sayd to them, Haue ye neuer read what Dauid did, when hee had neede, and was an hungred, both he, and they that were with him?

26 Now he went into the house of God, in p dayes of Abiathar the hie Priest, and did eate the shew bread, which were not lawfull to eate, but for the Priests, and gave also to them which were with him?

27 And he sayd to them, The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

9 Then he said vnto them, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when hee was alone, they that were about him with the twelue, asked him of the parable.

11 And he said vnto them, To you it is giuen to know the myserie of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are without, all things be done in parables, 12 * That they seeing, may see, and not discern: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, lest at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should bee forgiven them.

13 Again hee said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? howe then should ye vnderstand all other parables?

14 The sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receiue the seed by the wayes side, in whom the worde is sown: but when they haue heard it, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the worde that was sown in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receiue the seede in stony ground, are they, which when they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiue it with gladnesse, 17 Yet haue they no roote in themselves, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediately they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lustes of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, and bring forth fruite, some thirte, another fiftie, and some an hundred.

21 ¶ Also he sayd vnto them, * Is the candle lighted to bee put vnder a bushell, or vnder the table, and not to bee put on a candlestick?

22 * If for there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 And he sayde vnto them, Take heed what yee heare: * With what measure yee mete, it shall bee measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more bee giuen.

25 * For vnto him that hath, shall it bee giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, * euen that he hath.

26 ¶ Also he sayd, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seede in the ground, 27 And should sleepe, and rise by night and day, and the seede should spring and growe vp, he not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruite of her selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that, full come in the eares.

29 And alsoone as the fenise sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

39 And hee rose vp, and rebuked the winde, and sayd vnto the sea, Peace, and be still. So the wind ceased, and it was a great calme.

CHAP. VII.

¶ The disciples eat with vnwashed hands. 8 The commandment of God is transgressed by many traditions. 21 What defileth man. 24 Of the woman of Syrophenissa. 32 The healing of the dumme. 37 The people prayse Christ.

Then gathered vnto him the Pharisees, and certaine of the Scribes which came from Ierusalem.

2 And when they saue some of his disciples eate meate with ¶ common hands, because they thought that the common handling of things defiled them, so that they made holinesse and religion to depend in hand-walkings.

(that is to say vnwashed) they complained.

3 (For the Pharisees and all the Jewes, except they wash their hands ¶ oft, eate not, holding the tradition of the Elders.

4 And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eate not: and manie other things there bee, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cuppes, and of pottes, and of brasse vessels, and of tables.)

5 Then asked him the Pharisees, and Scribes, why walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate ¶ meate with vnwashed hands?

6 Then he answered and said vnto them, Surely * What hath prophesied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is farre away from me.

7 But they worship me in vaine, teaching for doctrines the ¶ commandments of men.

8 For ye lay the commandment of God apart, and obserue the tradition of men, as the washing of pottes and of cuppes, and manie other such like things ye doe.

9 And he sayd vnto them, Well, ye respect the commandment of God, that ye may obserue your owne tradition.

10 For Moses sayd, * Whomour thy father, & thy mother: and, * Whosoever shall curse father or mother, let him die the death.

11 But ye say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by me, thou maiest haue profite, hee shall be free.

12 So ye suffer him no more to doe any thing for his father, or his mother, 13 Making the worde of God of none authoritie, by your tradition which ye haue ordeined: and ye doe many such like things.

14 * Then hee called the whole multitude vnto him, and sayd vnto them, Hearken you all vnto me, and vnderstand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entrech into him: but the things which procede out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when hee came into an house away from the people, his Disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he sayde vnto them, What are ye without vnderstanding also? Doe ye not knowe that whatsoeuer thing from without entrech into a man cannot defile him, 19 Because it entrech not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught which is the purging of all meates?

20 Then he sayd, What which cometh out of a man, that defileth man.

21 * For from within, even out of the heart of men, procede euill thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, 22 Theftes, couetousnes, wickednes, deceit, ¶ vnclannesse, ¶ a wicked eye, backbiting, pride, foolishnes.

23 All the ¶ euill things come from within, and defile a man.

26 And the woman was a Greeke, a Syrophonissian by nation, and she besought him that he would cast out the deuill out of her daughter.

27 But Iesus sayde vnto her, Let the children first bee fed: for it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it vnto whelpes.

32 And they brought vnto him one that was deafe, and stambed in his speech, and prayed him to put his hand vpon him.

CHAP. VIII.

2 The miracle of the seuen loaves. 11 The Pharises aske a signe. 15 The leauen of the Pharises. 22 The blind receiueth his sight. 29 He was knowen of his disciples. 33 He reprobeth Peter. 34 And sheweth howe necessarie persecution is.

1 And those dayes, when there was a very great multitude, and had nothing to eate, Iesus called his disciples to him, and sayde vnto them,

2 I haue a compassion on the multitude, because they haue now continued with me three dayes, and haue nothing to eate.

3 And if I send them away fasting to their owne houses, they would faint by the way: for some of them came from farre.

4 Then his disciples answered him, Howe can a man satisfie these with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And hee asked them, Howe many loaves haue ye? And they said, Seuen.

6 Then hee commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground: and hee tooke the leuen loaves, and gaue thanks, brake them, and gaue to his disciples to set before them, and they did set them before the people.

7 They had also a fewe small fishes: and when he had giuen thanks, he commanded them also to be set before them.

8 So they did eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the broken meate that was left, seuen baskets full.

9 And they that had eaten, were about foure thousand: so he sent them away.

10 And anon hee entred into a shippe with his disciples, and came vnto the parts of Dalmanutha.

11 And the Pharises came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a signe from heauen, and tempting him.

12 Then hee sighed deeply in his spirit, and said, Why doth this generation seeke a signe? verely I say vnto you, If a signe shall not be giuen vnto this generation.

13 So he left them, and went into the ship againe, and departed to the other side.

14 And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the shippe with them, but one loafe.

15 And hee charged them, saying, Take heede, and beware of the leauen of the Pharises, and of the leauen of Herod.

16 And they thought among themselves, saying, It is, because we haue no bread.

17 And when Iesus knewe it, he sayde vnto them, Why reason you thus because ye haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderstand: haue yee your hearts yet hardened?

18 Haue yee eyes and see not? and haue yee eares and heare not? and doe ye not remember?

19 When I brake the seuen loaves among seuen thousand, howe many baskets full of broken meate tooke yee vp? they said vnto him, Twelue.

20 And when I brake seuen among foure thousand, howe many baskets of the leauings of broken meate tooke yee vp? and they said, Seuen.

21 Then hee sayd vnto them, Howe is it that ye vnderstand not?

22 And hee came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blinde man vnto him, and desired him to touch him.

23 Then hee tooke the blinde by the hand, and led him out of the towne, & spate in his eyes, and put his hands vpon him, and asked him, if he sawe ought.

24 And hee looked vp, and said, I see men: for I see them walking like trees.

25 After that, he put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And hee was restored to his sight, and saue euery man a facke off cleere.

26 And hee sent him home to his house, saying, Neither goe into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.

27 And Iesus went out, & his disciples into the towne of Celarea Dalmani. And by the way hee asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whome men say that

¶ And he said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the kingdom of God come with power.

2 * And hie daies after, Iesus took Peter, and James, and John, & broughtt them vp into an hie mountaine out of the way alone, and hee was transfigured before them.

3 And his raiment did shine, and was very white as snow, to white as no fuller can make vpon the earth.

4 And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses, and they were talking with Iesus.

5 Then Peter answered, and said to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also three Tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 ¶ Yet he knewe not what he sayde: for they were afraide.

they were afraide.

7 And there was a cloud that shadowed them, and a voyce came out of the cloude, saying, * This is my beloued Sonne: heare him.

8 And suddenly they looked rounde about, and sawe no more any man save Iesus onely with them.

9 * And as they came downe from the mountaine, hee charged them, that they should tell no man what they had seene, save when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.

10 So they kept that matter to themselves, & demanded one of another, what the rising from the dead againe should meane.

11 Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, that * Elias must first come?

12 And he answered, and said vnto them, Elias verely shall first come and restore all things: and as it is written of the Sonne of man, he must suffer many things, and be set at nought.

13 But I say vnto you, that * Elias is come, (and they haue done vnto him whatsoever they would) as it is written of him.

14 ¶ And when he came to his disciples, he saw a great murmur about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amazed, and ranne to him, and saluted him.

16 Then he asked the Scribes, What dispute you among your selues?

17 And one of the companie answered, and said, Master, I haue brought my sonne vnto thee, which hath a diuine spirit:

18 And whereloeuer hee taketh him, he teareth him, and hee smiteth, and gnaweth his teeth, and pincheth away: and I spake to thy disciples that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 Then he answered him, and said, I faithlesse generation, how long now shall I be with you! how long now shall I suffer you! Bring him vnto me.

20 So they brought him vnto him: and as soone as the spirit sawe him, hee tare him, and hee fell downe on the ground, wallowing and foaming.

21 Then he asked his father, How long time is it since he hath bene thus? And hee sayd, Of a childe.

22 And oft times hee casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him: but if thou canst doe any thing, helpe vs, and haue compassion vpon vs.

23 And Iesus said vnto him, If thou canst beleene it, all things are possible to him that beleueth.

24 And straightway the father of the childe crying with teares said, Lord, I beleue: helpe my vnbeleefe.

way, there came one * running, and kneeled unto him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I doe, that I may possesse eternal life?

18 Iesus sayd to him, Why callest thou mee good? there is none * good but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the commandements, * Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witness. Thou shalt hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and sayd to him, Master, all these thinges I haue obserued from my youth.

21 And Iesus beheld him, & loued him, and sayd vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee, & sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, follow me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But hee was sad at that saying, and went away sorowfull: for hee had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and sayd vnto his Disciples, howe hardly doe they that haue riches, enter into the kingdom of God!

24 And his disciples were astonied at his wordes. But Iesus answered againe, and sayde vnto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdom of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

26 And they were much more astonied, saying with themselves, Altho then can be saued?

27 But Iesus looked vpon them, and sayde, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all thinges are possible.

28 ¶ Then Peter beganne to say vnto him, Lord, wee haue forsaken all, and haue followed thee.

29 Iesus answered and sayd, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospels, 30 But he shall receiue an hundredfold more now at this present: houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands with * persecutions, and in the world to come eternal life.

31 * But many that are first, shall be last, and the last, first.

32 ¶ And they were in the way going by to Ierusalem, and Iesus went before them, and they were amazed, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Iesus tolke the twelue againe, and beganne to tell them what thinges shoulde come vnto him,

33 Saying, Beholde, we goe vp to Ierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the hee priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shall mocke him, & scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe.

35 ¶ Then James and John the sonnes of Zebedeus came vnto him, saying, Master, wee would that thou shouldest doe for vs that that we desire.

36 And he sayd vnto them, What would ye I shoulde doe for you?

37 And they sayd to him, Graunt vnto vs, that we may sit one at thy right hande, and the other at thy left hande in thy glory.

38 But Iesus sayd vnto them, Ye knowe not what ye aske. Can ye * drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptizyd with the baptisme that I shall be baptizyd with?

39 And they sayd vnto him, We can. But Iesus sayde vnto them, See what I drinke in deepe of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptizyd with the baptisme wherewith I shall be baptizyd:

40 But to sit at my right hand, & at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they beganne to disdaine at James and John.

42 But Iesus called them vnto him, and sayd vnto them, * Ye knowe that they which desire to beare rule among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ouer them.

43 But it shall * not bee so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your seruant.

47 And when hee heard that it was Iesus of Nazareh, he began to cry and to say, Iesus the sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because hee shoulde holde his peace: but hee * cryed much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

49 Then Iesus stood stil, and commaunded him to bee called: and they called the blinde, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.

50 So hee threw away his cloke, & rose, and came to Iesus.

51 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blinde sayd vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Goe thy way: thy faith hath saued thee. And by and by, he receiued his sight, and followed Iesus in the way.

4 And they went their way, and found a colte tyed by the doore without, in a place where two wayes mette, and they loosed him.

21 Then Peter remembered, & sayd vnto him, Master, beholde, the figge tree which thou cursedst is withered.

22 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Vaine is faith in God.

23 For verily I say vnto you, that whosoener shall say vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, and shall not wauer in his heart, but shall beleue that those things which hee sayeth shall come to passe, whatsoeuer hee sayeth, shall be done to him.

26 For if you will not forgive, your Father which is in heauen, wil not pardon you your trespasses.

27 * Then they came againe to Ierusalem: and as hee walked in the Temple, there came to him the hie Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders,

28 And sayd vnto him, By what authoritie dost thou these things: and who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou shouldst doe these things?

And he began to speake vnto them in parables, * A certaine man plantad a vineyard, and compassed it with an hedge, and digged a pit for the winepresse, and built a towne in it, and lett it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

2 And at a time, he sent to the husbandmen a seruant, that hee might receiue of the husbandmen of the fruite of the vineyard.

a The Greeke word signifieth the vessell or far, which standeth vnder the wine presse to receiue the wyce or liquor.

3 But they tooke him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.

4 And againe, he sent vnto them another seruant, and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

5 And againe he sent another, and him they slewe, and many other, beating some, and killing some.

6 Per had he one sonne, his deare beloved him also he sent the last vnto them, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

7 But the husbandmen sayde among themselves, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shalbe ours.

8 So they tooke him, & killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shal then the Lord of the vineyard doe? He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and giue the vineyard to others.

10 Haue yee not read so much as this scripture? * The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner.

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

12 Then they went about to take him, but they feared y people: for they perceiued that hee spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 * And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharisees, and of the Herodians that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they sayd vnto him, Master, we knowe that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly, Is it lawfull to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should we giue it, or should wee not giue it? But he knew their hypocricie, & said vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a penny, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and he sayd vnto them, Whose is this image & superscription? and they sayd vnto him, Cessars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, * Giue to Cesar the things that are Cessars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marvelled at him.

18 * Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, * Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seede vnto his brother.

20 There were seuen brethren, & the first tooke a wife, and when he died, left no issue.

21 Then the second tooke her, and he died, neither did he yet leaue issue, & the third likewise.

22 So seuen had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall she be of them? for seuen had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Are ye not therefore deceiued, because ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marry, nor wues are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue yee not read in the booke of Moses, how in the bush God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the liuing. Ye are therefore greatly deceiued.

28 * Then came one of the Scribes, that had heard them disputing together, and perceiuing that hee had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandement of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the commandements is, * Hear, Israel, the Lord our God is the onely Lord.

30 Thou shalt therefore loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, & with all thy minde, & with all thy strength: this is the first commandement.

31 And the second is like, that is, * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandement greater then these.

32 Then the Scribe said vnto him, Master, thou hast said the trueth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he.

33 And to loue him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then, when Iesus sawe that he answered discretely, hee sayde vnto him, Thou art not farre from the Kingdome of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question.

35 * And Iesus answered & sayd teaching in the Temple, How say the Scribes that Christ is the Sonne of Dauid?

36 For Dauid himselfe sayd by the holy Ghost, * The Lord sayd to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

37 Then Dauid himselfe called him Lord: by what meanes is he then his sonne? and much people heard him gladly.

38 * Recouer he said vnto them in this doctrine, Beware of the Scribes, which loue to goe in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets,

39 And the chiefe seates in the Synagogues, and the first rooms at feastes, 40 Which deuoure widows houses, liuen vnder a colour of long prayers. These shall receive the greater damnation.

41 * And as Iesus sat ouer against the treasure, hee behelde howe the people cast money into the treasure, & many rich men cast in much.

42 And there came a certaine poore widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a quadrin.

43 Then hee called vnto him his disciples, and sayde vnto them, Verely I say vnto you,

3 And as he sate on the mount of olives, ouer against the Temple, Peter, & James, and John, and Andrey asked him secretly,

4 Tell vs, when shall these things be? and what shall be the signe when all these things shall be fulfilled?

5 And Iesus answered them, & began to say, * Take heed lest any man deceiue you.

6 For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.

7 Furthermore when yee shall heare of warres, and rumours of warres, be ye not troubled: for such things must needs be: but the ende shall not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome, and there shall be earthquakes in diuers quarters, and there shall be famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes.

9 But take ye heede to your selues: for they shall deliuer you vp to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: ye shall be beaten, and brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimoniall vnto them.

10 And the Gospel must first be published among all nations.

11 * But when they leaue you, and deliuer you vp, take ye a no thought afore, neither premeditate what ye shall say: but whatsoeuer is giuen you at the same time, that speake: for it is not ye that speake, but the holy Ghost.

12 Yea, and the brother shall deliuer the brother to death, and the father his sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall come them to die.

13 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Names sake: but whoeuer shall endure vnto the end, hee shall be saved.

14 * Moreover, when ye shall see the abomination of desolation (spoken of by * Daniel the Prophet) standing where it ought not, (let him that readeth, consider it) * then let them that be in Iudea, flee into the mountains.

15 And let him that is vpon his house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the fildes, not turne backe againe vnto the things which he left behynd him, to take his clothes.

17 Then two shall be to them that are with a child, & to them y giue sucke in those daies.

18 I pray therefore that your flight bee not in the winter.

19 For there shall be in those daies such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created vnto this time, neither shall be.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those daies, no flesh should bee saved: but for the elects sake, which he hath chosen, he hath shortened those daies.

21 Then * if any man say to you, I, heere is Christ: or, I, heere is there, heeleue it not.

22 For false Christs shall rise, & false prophets, and shall shew signes and wonders, to deceiue, if it were possible, the very elect.

23 But take ye heede: behold, I haue shewed you all things before.

24 * Moreover in those daies, after that tribulation, the Sunne shall waxe darke, & the Moone shall not giue her light,

25 And the starres of heauen shall fall: & the powers which are in heaue, shall shake.

26 And then shall they see the Sonne of man coming in the cloudes, with great power and glory.

27 * And he shall then send his Angels, and shall gather together his elect from the foure windes, and from the vnnorst part of the earth to the vnnorst part of heauen.

28 Now learne a parable of the fig tree. When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaues, yee knowe that sommer is neere.

29 So in like maner, when ye see these things come to passe, knowe that the kingdome of God is neere, euen at the doores.

30 Surely I say vnto you, y this generation shall not passe, til all these things be done.

31 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my wordes shall not passe away.

32 But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no, not the Angels which are in heauen, neither the Sonne himselfe, save the Father.

33 * Take heede: watch, and pray: for ye know not when the time is.

34 For the Sonne of man is as a man going into a strange countrey, and leaueth his house, and giveth authoritie to his seruants, and to euery man his worke, and commandeth the porter to watch.

35 Watch therefore, (for ye knowe not when the master of the house will come, at euery, or at midnought, at the cocke crowing, or in the dawning)

2 But they said, Not in the feast day, lest there be any tumult among the people.

3 * And when he was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as hee late at table, there came a woman hauing a bove of ointment of spikenard very costly, and she brake the bove, and powdered it on his head.

4 Therefore * some disdayned among themselves, and said, To what ende is this waste of oymntment?

5 For it might haue bene solde for more then * three hundred pence, & bin giuen vnto the poore, - and they grudged against her.

6 But Iesus sayde, Let her alone: why trouble yee her? shee hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 For yee haue the poore with you alwayes, and when yee will yee may doe them good, but me yee shall not haue alwayes.

8 Shee hath done that shee could: shee came aforehand to anoint my body to y^e burying.

9 Verely I say vnto you, Whereloeuer this Gospel shalbe preached throughout the whole worlde, this also that shee hath done, shalbe looken of in remembrance of her.

10 * Then Iudas Iscariot one of the twelue, went away vnto the hie Priestes, to betray him vnto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they woulde giue him money: therefore hee sought howe hee might conveniently betray him.

12 * Now the first day of vbleauneden bread, when they sacrificed the Pascheouer, his disciples layde vnto him, Where wilt thou that wee goe and prepare, that thou mayest eate the Pascheouer?

13 Then he sent forth two of his disciples, and layde vnto them, Goe yee into the cite, and there shall a man meeete you bearing a pitcher of water: followe him.

14 And whithereloeuer hee goeth in, say ye to the goodman of the house, The Pas-cher sayth, Where is the lodging where I shall eate the Pascheouer with my disciples?

15 And hee will shewe you an upper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it ready for vs.

16 So his disciples went forth, and came to the cite, and found as hee had sayd vnto them, and made ready the Pascheouer.

17 * And at euene he came with y^e twelue.

18 * And as they sate at table & did eate, Iesus sayde, Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray mee, which eateth with me.

19 Then they began to be sorrowfull and to lay to him one by one, Is it I? and another, Is it I?

20 And he answered & sayde vnto them,
It is one of the twelue that * * dipperth with me in the platter.

21 * Truely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe bee to that man, by whome the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if hee had neuer bene borne.

22 * And as they did eate, Iesus tooke
the bread, and when hee had giuen thanks, he brake it and gaue it to them, and sayde,

Take, eate, this is my body.

23 And hee tooke the cup, & when hee had giuen thanks, gaue it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And hee layde vnto them, This is my blood of the newe Testament, which is shed for many.

25 Verely I say vnto you, I will drinke no more of the fruite of the vine, vntill that day, that I drinke it newe in the kingdome of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Olives.

27 * Then Iesus layd vnto them, Al ye shalbe offended by me this night: for it is written, * I will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

28 But after that I am risen, I will goe into * Galilee before you.

29 And Peter sayd vnto him, Although all men should bee offended, yet woulde not I.

30 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, this day, euen in this night, before the cocke crowe twice, thou shalt denie me thule.

31 But hee sayde more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not denie thee:
likewise al also layd they all.

32 * After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then hee layd to his disciples, Sit ye here, till I haue prayed.

33 And hee tooke with him Peter, and James, & John, and he began * to be afraid, and in great heavinesse,

34 And layd vnto them, My soule is he-uery heauie, euen vnto the death: tary here and watch.

35 So he went forthward a litle, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

36 And hee sayde, Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cup from me: Nevertheless, not that I will, but that thou wilt, be done.

37 Then he came & found them sleeping, and sayd to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou?
couldst thou not watch one houre?

38 Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit in deede is ready, but the flesh is weak.

39 And againe he went away, & prayed, and spake the same wordes.

40 And he returned and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heauy:
neither knewe they what they should an-swere him.

41 And he came the third time, and sayd vnto them, * Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is ynough: the houre is come:
behold, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise vp: let vs go: loe, he that betray-eth me, is at hand.

43 * And immediatly, while he yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, and with him a great multitude with woodes and staves from the hie Priestes & Scribes,

and Elders:

b This declarereth the wickednesse and insolencie of the gouernours and rulers, seeing their officers contrary to all iustice, thus ragd and tormented him, that was innocent, them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kiffe, he it is: take him, and leade him away safely.

45 And assoone as he was come, he went straightway to him, and sayd, & after, & after, and kuffed him.

46 Then they layd their hands on him, and tooke him.

47 And one of them that stood by, drew out a sword, and broote a seruant of the hie Priest, and cut off his eare.

48 And Iesus answered and sayd vnto them, He be come out as vnto a thiefe with swordes and with stauces to take me.

49 I was dayly with you teaching in the Temple, and ye tooke me not: but this is done by the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 Then they all forooke him, & fled.

51 And there followed him a certaine yongman, clothed in linnen vpon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 So they led Iesus away to the hie Priest, & to him came all the hie Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him afarre off, men vnto the hall of the hie Priest, and late with the seruants, and warned himselfe at the flire.

55 And the hie Priestes, and all the Councill sought for witness against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare faile witness against him, but their witness agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare faile witness against him, saying,

58 We heard him say, * I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three dayes I wil build another, made without hands.

59 But their witness yet agreed not together.

60 Then y the hie Priest stood by amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these beare witness against thee?

61 But he helde his peace, and answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him, and sayde vnto him, Art thou Christ the Sonne of the Blessed?

62 And Iesus sayd, I am he, * and yee shall see the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of heauen.

63 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes and sayd, What haue we any more neede of witnesses?

64 Ye haue heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

65 And some began to spit at him, & to couer his face, and to beate him with fists, and to say vnto him, Prophecie. And the sergantes smote him with their rodde.

66 * And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maydes of the hie Priest.

67 And when she sawe Peter warning himselfe, she looked on him, and sayd, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazaret.

68 But he denied it, saying, I knowe him not, neither wot I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69 * Then a mayd saw him againe, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But he denied it againe: and anon after they that stood by, sayd againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galile, and thy speech is like.

71 And he began to curse, & sweare, saying, I knowe not this man of whome yee speake.

72 * Then the second time the cocke crew, & Peter remembered the worde that Iesus had sayd vnto him, Before the cocke crowe twise thou shalt denie me thise, and saying that with himselfe, he wept.

C H A P. XV.

1 Iesus is led to Pilate. 15 He is condemned, reuiled, put to death, 46 And is buried by Ioseph.

And anon in the dawning, the high Priestes helde a counsell with the Elders and the Scribes, and the whole councill, and bound Iesus, and led him away, and deliuered him to Pilate.

2 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And he answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou sayest it.

3 And the hie Priests accused him of many things.

4 Therefore Pilate asked him againe, saying, Answerest thou nothing? Behold hee many things that witness against thee.

5 But Iesus answered no more at all, so that Pilate marvelled.

6 Nowe at the feast Pilate did deliuer a prisoner vnto them, whomsoeuer they would desire.

7 Then there was one named Barabhas, which was bound with his fellows, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murder.

8 And the people cryed aloud, and began to desire that hee would doe as her had euer done vnto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, & sayd, Will yee that I let loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

10 For hee knewe that the hie Priestes had deliuered him of enue.

11 But the hie Priestes had moued the people to desire that he would rather deliuer Barabhas vnto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and sayde againe vnto them, What wilt ye then that I doe with him, whome yee call the King of the Iewes?

13 And they cryed againe, Crucifie him.

14 Then Pilate sayde vnto them, What euill hath yee done? And they cryed the more feruently, Crucifie him.

15 So Pilate was willing to content the people, iustice, c The people alwayes mainteine their customes, although they be worth nothing.

d When a iudge hath respect to men, hee quite forgetteth yle, iustice, ple, looked them Barabbas, and delivered Jesus when he had scourged him, that hee might be crucified.

16 Then the souldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band,

17 And clad him with purple, and platted a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head,

18 And began to salute him, saying, Haile, King of the Iewes.

19 And they smote him on the head with a peeble, and spat upon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reverence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, and put his owne clothes on him, and led him out to crucifie him.

21 And they compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the countrey, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.

22 And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens skulls.

23 And they gaue him to drinke wine mingled with myrrhe: but he received it not.

24 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lottes for them, what every man should haue.

25 And it was s the third houre, when they crucified him.

26 And the title of his cause was written above, THE KING OF THE IEWES.

27 They crucified also with him two theues, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.

28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which sayth, And he was counted among the wicked.

29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Hee thou that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three dayes, 30 Saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse.

31 Likewise also euen the high Priestes mocking, said among themselves with the Scribes, Hee saued other men, himselfe he cannot saue.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel now come downe from the crosse, that we may see, and beleue. They also that were crucified with him, reviled him.

33 And now when the first houre was come, darkenesse arose ouer all the land vntill the ninth houre.

34 And at the ninth houre Jesus cried with a loude voyce, saying, Eli, Eli, lamma sabachthani: which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, sayd, Beholde, hee calleth Elias.

36 And one ran, and filled a sponge full of vineger, and put it on a reed, & gaue him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let vs see if Elias will come and take him downe.

37 And Jesus cryed with a loude voyce, and gaue vp the ghost.

38 And the balle of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottome.

39 Now when the Centurion, which stood ouer against him, sawe that hee thus crying gaue vp the ghost, hee sayd, Truly this man was the sonne of God.

40 There were also women, which behelde as farre off, among whom was Marie Magdalene, and Mary (the mother of James the lesse, and of Ioses) and Salome, 41 Which also when hee was in Galile, followed him, and ministered vnto him, and many other women which came vp with him vnto Ierusalem.

42 And now when night was come (because it was the day of the preparation, that is before the Sabbath)

43 Ioseph of Arimathea, an honorable Counsellour, which also looked for the kingdome of God, came, & went boldly vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Jesus.

44 And Pilate marvelled if he were already dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had bene any while dead.

45 And when hee knewe the truth of the Centurion, hee gaue the body to Ioseph, 46 Who bought a linnen cloth, & tooke him downe, and wrappd him in the linnen cloth, and laide him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a stone vnto the doore of the sepulchre.

47 And Marie Magdalene, and Mary Ioses mother behelde where hee should be layde.

And when the Sabbath day was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, & Salome, bought sweete oynments that they might come, and enbalme him.

2 Therefore carely in the morning, the first day of the weeke, they came vnto the sepulchre, when the sunne was yet rising,

3 And they sayd one to another, Who shall rolle vs away the stone from the doore of the sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they sawe that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one.)

5 So they went into the sepulchre, and sawe a yong man sitting at the right side, clothed in a long white robe: and they were afraide.

6 But he said vnto them, Be not afraide: ye seeke Jesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen: he is not here: behold the place where they put him.

7 But goe your way, and tell his disciples, and Peter, that hee will goe before you into Galile: there shall ye see him, as hee sayd vnto you.

8 And they went out quickly, & fled from the sepulchre: for they trembled, and were amazed: neither sayd they any thing to any man: for they were afraide.

CHAP. I.

5 Of Zacharias & Elisabeth 11 The Angel sheweth him of the nativity of Iesus Baptist. 20 His incredulity is punished. 28 The talke of the Angel, & Mary. 46 Her song. 57 The birth, circumcision, and graces of Iohn. 68 Zacharias giueth thanks to God, and prophesieth.

¶ As much as many haue taken in hand to set forth the storie of those things, whereof we are fully perswaded, 2 * As they haue deliuered them vnto vs, which from the beginning saw them their liues, and were ministers of the b Word,
3 It seemed good also to me (most noble Theophilus) as soon as I had searched out perfectly all things from the beginning, to write vnto thee thereof from point to point,
4 That thou mightest acknowledge the certaintie of those things, whereof thou hast bene instructed.

5 ¶ In the time of Herod King of Iudea, there was a certain Priest named Zacharias, of the 4 course of Abia: and his wife was of the 5 daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabeth.

6 Both were 7 iust before God, and walked in all the commandements and s ordinances of the Lord, without reproofe.

7 And they had no child, because that Elisabeth was barren: and both were well stricken in age.

8 And it came to passe, as he executed the Priestes office before God, as his course came in order,

9 According to the custome of 3 Priestes office, his lot was to 4 burne incense, when he went into the i Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, * while the incense was burning.

11 Then appeared vnto him an Angell of the Lord standing at the right side of the altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias sawe him, hee was troubled, and feare fell vpon him.

13 But the Angel sayd vnto him, Feare not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elisabeth shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name 5 Iohn.

14 And thou shalt haue joy and gladnes, and many shall reioyce at his birth.

15 For hee shall be great in the sight of the Lord, & hee shall be filled with the holy Ghost, euen from his mothers wombe.

16 * And many of the children of Israel shall he turne to their Lord God.

17 * For he shall goe 6 before him in the spirit and power of Elias, to turne the hearts of the 7 fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdomme of the iust men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

18 Then Zacharias said vnto the Angel, Whereby shall I know this? For I am an olde man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel answered, & said vnto him, I am 8 Gabriel that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shewe thee these good tidings.

20 And beholde, thou shalt be dumme, and not be able to speake, untill 9 the day that these things be done, because thou beleuest it not my wordes, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

21 Nowe the people waited for Zacharias, and marvelled that he taried so long in the Temple.

22 And when he came out, he could not speake vnto them: then they perceived that he had seene a vision in the Temple: for he made signes vnto them, and remayned dumme.

23 And it came to passe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne houle.

24 And after those dayes, his wife Elisabeth conceived, and hid her selfe sixe moneths, sayng, 25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with mee, in the dayes wherein hee looked on mee, to take from me my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ And in the first moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a maide of Galilee, named Mary.

27 To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the house of Dauid, and the virgins name was Marie.

28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and sayde, ¶ Hail thou that art blessed: the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel said vnto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou hast found fauour with God.

31 * For loe, thou shalt conceive in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, and shalt call his name Iesus.

32 ¶ Hee shall be great, and shall be called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.

33 * And hee shall reigne ouer the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shall be none ende.

34 Then sayde Marie vnto the Angel, ¶ Howe shall this bee, seeing I knowe not man?

35 And the Angel answered, and sayde vnto her, The holy Ghost shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouerthadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be borne of thee, shall be called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy cousin Elisabeth, shee hath also conceived a sonne in her olde age: and this is her thre moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing bee impossible.

38 Then Mary sayd, Behold, the seruant of the Lord: hee it vnto me according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ And Marie arose in those dayes, and went into the hill country, with haste to a citie of Iuda,

40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabeth.

41 And it came to passe, as Elisabeth heard the salutation of Marie, the babe sprang in her bosome, and Elisabeth was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And shee cried with a loud voyce, and sayd, Blessed art thou among women, because the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence cometh this to mee, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For loe, as soon as the voyce of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my belly for toy.

45 And blessed is shee that beleuen: for those things shall be performed, which were tolde her from the Lord.

46 Then Marie sayd, My soule magnifyeth the Lord,

47 And my spirit reioyceth in God my Saviour.

48 For hee hath looked on the lowly degree of his seruant: for behold, from henceforth shall all ages call me blessed.

49 Because hee that is mightie hath done for me great things, and holy is his name.

50 And his mercy is from generation to generation on them that feare him.

51 * Hee hath shewed strength with his arme: he hath scattered the proude in the imagination of their hearts.

52 He hath put downe the mightie from their seates, and exalted them of low degree.

53 * He hath filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the rich emptye.

54 ¶ Hee hath vphelden Israel his seruant, being minded of his mercy, 55 ¶ As he hath spoken to our fathers, to wit, to Abraham, and his seede for euer.

56 ¶ And Mary abode with her about thre moneths: after, shee returned to her owne house.

57 ¶ Now Elisabeths time was fulfilled, that she should be deliuered, and she brought forth a sonne.

58 And her neighbours, & cousins heard tell howe the Lord had shewed his great mercy vpon her, and they reioyced with her.

59 And it was so that on y eight day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias, after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and sayd, Not so, but hee shall be called John.

61 And they said vnto her, There is none of thy kured, y is named with this name.

62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would haue him called.

63 So he asked for writing tables, and wrote, sayng, His name is John, and they marvelled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue looked, and hee spake and prayen God.

65 Then feare came on all them that dwelt nere vnto them, and all these wordes were noyed abroad throughout all the hill country of Iuda.

CHAP. II.

7 The birth and circumcision of Christ. 22 He was receiued into the Temple, 28 Simeon and Anna prophesie of him. 46 He was found among the doctors. 51 His obedience to father and mother.

As it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a commandment from Augustus Caesar, that all the world should be taxed.

2 (This first taxing was made when Cyrenus was gouernour of Syria.)

3 Therefore went all to be taxed, every man to his owne citie.

4 And Joseph also went vp from Galilee out of a city called Nazaret, into Iudea, vnto the citie of David, which is called Beth-lehem (because hee was of the house and lineage of David.)

5 To be taxed with Marie that was giuen him to wife, which was with child.

6 And so it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accomplished that he should be deliuered.

7 And she brought forth her first begotten sonne, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and layd him in a cratch, because there was no rounce for them in the inne.

8 And there were in the same countrey shepherds abiding in the feldes, and keeping watch by night because of their flocke.

9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them, and they were sore afraid.

10 Then the Angel layd vnto them, Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you tidings of great ioy, that shall be to all the people:

11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shall be a signe to you. Vee shall finde the child swaddled, and layde in a cratch.

13 And straightway there was with the Angel a multitude of heauenly soundours, praying God, and saying,

14 Glory bee to God in the high heauens, and peace in earth, and towards men of good will.

15 And it came to passe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the shepherdes sayde one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-lehem, and see this thing that is come to passe, which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs.

16 So they came with haste, and found both Mary and Joseph, and the babe layde in the cratch.

17 And when they had seene it, they published abroad the thing, which was tolde them of that child.

18 And al that heard it, wondered at the things which were tolde them of the shepherds.

19 But Mary kept all those sayings, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the shepherdes returned, glorifying & praying God, for all that they had heard & seene, as it was spoken vnto them.

21 And when the eight dayes were accomplished, that they should circumcise the child, his name was then called IESVS, which was named of the Angel, before he was conceived in the wombe.

22 And when the dayes of his purification after the Lawe of Moyses were accomplished, they brought him to Ierusalem, to present him to the Lord,

23 As it is written in the Lawe of the Lord, Every man child that first openeth the wombe, shall be called holy to the Lord:

24 And to giue an oblation, as it is commanded in the Lawe of the Lord, a paire of turtle doves, or two yong pigeons.

39 And when they had performed all things according to the Lawe of the Loyde, they returned into Galile to their owne citie Nazaret.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Ierusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the middes of the doctours, both hearing them, and asking them questions.

47 And all that heard him, were astonished at his understanding, and answers.

48 So when they sawe him, they were amased, and his mother saide vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? beholde, thy father and I haue sought thee with beame hearts.

49 Then saide he vnto them, What is it that ye sought mee? knewe ye not that I must see about my fathers businesse?

50 But they understood not the waye that he saide to them.

51 Then he went downe with them, and came to Nazaret, and was subject to them: and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Iesus increased in wisdom, & stature, and in fauour with God and men.

IN the fifteenth yere of the reigne of Tiberius Cesar, Pontius Pilate being Governour of Iudea, and Herode being Tetrarch of Galile, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Iurea, and of the countrey of Trachontis, and Lysanias the Tetrarch of Abulee,

2 (* When Annas and Cataphas were the hie Priestes) the worde of God came vnto Iohn, the sonne of Zacharias in the wilderness.

3 * And hee came into all the coastes about Iordan, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes,

4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Elias the Prophet, which sayeth, The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness is, Prepare yee the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

5 Every valley shall be filled, and euery mountaine and hill shall be brought lowe, and crooked things shall be made straight, and the rough wayes shall be made smooth.

6 And all flesh shall see the saluation of God.

7 Then sayde he to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, ¶ Generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth therefore fruite worthy amendment of life, and begiue not to say with your selues, Allee haue Abrahams for our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abrahams.

9 Nowe also is the axe layde vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruite, shall be hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

10 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we doe then?

11 And he answered, and said vnto them, ¶ Yee that haue two coats, let him part with him that hath none: and he that hath meate, let him doe likewise.

12 Then came there Publianes also to be baptized, and layd vnto him, Master, What shall we doe?

13 And he sayde vnto them, Require no more then that which is appoynted vnto you.

14 The souldiers likewise demanded of him,

2 This was the sonne of Herode called the great.

2 * And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the deuil, and in those dayes he did eat nothing: but when they were ended, he afterward was hungry.

3 Then the deuil said unto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, commaund this stone that it be made bread.

4 But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, * That man shall not live by bread onely, but by every word of God.

5 Then the deuil tooke him up into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the worlde, & in the twinkling of an eye.

6 And the deuil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of those kingdomes: for that is delivered to me: and to whomsoever I will, I give it:

7 If thou therefore wilt worship me, they shall be all thine.

8 But Iesus answered him, and saide, * Hence from me, Satan: for it is written, * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone thou shalt serve.

9 Then he brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of Temple, and saide unto him, If thou be the sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence,

10 For it is written, * That he wil give his Angels charge over thee to keepe thee:

11 And with their handes they shall lift thee up, least at any time thou shouldest dash thy foote against a stone.

12 And Iesus answered, and said unto him, It is said, * Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the deuil had ended all the temptation, hee departed from him: for a season.

14 * And Iesus returned by the power of the Spirit into Galilee: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about.

15 For he taught in their Synagogues, and was honoured of all men.

16 * And he came to Nazaret where hee had bene brought up, and (as his custome was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stode vp to reade.

17 And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Esaias: and when hee had opened the booke, hee found the place, where it was written,

18 * The Spirit of the Lord is vpon me, because hee hath anointed mee, that I should preach the Gospell to the poore: hee hath sent mee, that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliuerance to the captiues, and recovering of sight to the blinde, that I should let at libertie them that are bound,

19 And that I should preach the acceptable yeere of the Lord.

20 And hee closed the booke, and gaue it againe to the minister, and satte downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him.

21 Then hee beganne to say vnto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 And all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious wordes, which proceeded out of his mouth, and saide, Is not this Iosephs sonne?

23 Then hee said vnto them, Ye wil surely lay vnto mee this prouerbe, Whist, can heale the selfe: Whatlouer we haue heard done in Capernaum, doe it here likewise in thine owne countrye.

24 And hee said, Verely I lay vnto you, * No Prophet is accepted in his owne countrye.

25 But I tell you of a trueth, many wi-dowes were in Israel in the dayes of * Elias, when heauen was shut three yeeres and sixe moneths, when great famine was throughout all the land, 26 But vnto none of them was Elias sent, save into Sarepta, a cite of Sidon, vnto a certaine widowe.

27 Also many lepers were in Israel, in the time of * Eliseus the Prophet: yet none of them was made cleane, saving Naaman the Syrian.

28 Then all that were in the Synagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath, 29 And rose vp, & thrust him out of the cite, and led him vnto the edge of the hill, whereon their cite was built, to cast him downe headlong.

30 But hee passed through the middes of them, and went his way.

31 * And came downe into Capernaum a cite of Galile, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.

32 * And they were astounded at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.

33 And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an vncleane deuill, which cryed with a loude voyce, 34 Saying, Oh, what haue wee to doe with thee, thou Iesus of Nazaret? art thou come to destroy vs? I know who thou art, even the holy one of God.

35 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. Then the deuill throwing him in the middes of them, came out of him, and hurt him not.

36 So feare came on them all, and they spake among themselves, saying, What thing is this? for with authoritie and power he commandeth the foule spirits, and they come out.

37 And the fame of him spred abroade throughout all the places of the countrey round about.

38 * And hee rose vp, and came out of the Synagogue, and entred into Simons house: and Simons wifes mother was taken with a great feuer, and they required him for her.

39 Then hee stode ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and it left her: and immediately she arose, and ministered vnto them.

40 Now when the tyme was downe, all they that had sicke folkes of diuers diseases, brought them vnto him, and hee laide his handes on euery one of them, and healed them.

41 * And deuils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art the Christ, the Sonne of God: but hee rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knew him to be the Christ.

42 And when it was day, he departed, and went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him, that hee should not depart from them.

43 But hee saide vnto them, Surely I must also preach the kingdom of God to other cities: for therefore am I sent.

44 And hee preached in the Synagogues of Galile.

h Christ toucheth the principall cause of all our euils.

i Forasmuch as his diuinitie was sufficiently shewed by this miracle, he gaue them hereby to vnderstand that he had power to forgive sinnes.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, hee fell downe at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, goe from me: for I am a sinful man.

9 For he was utterly astonished, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they tooke.

10 And so was also James & John the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus saide vnto Simon, Fearing not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought 8 ships to land, they forooke all, and followed him.

12 ¶ Now it came to passe, as he was in a certaine citie, beholde, there was a man full of leprosie, and when he sawe Iesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosie departed from him.

14 And hee commaunded him that hee should tell it no man: but hee, sayeth he, and sheweth thy selfe to the s. ¶ Quert, and offer for thy cleansing, as Moses hath commaunded, for a witnesse vnto them.

15 But to much more went there a faine abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to bee healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But hee kept himselfe apart in the wilderness, and prayed.

17 ¶ And it came to passe, on a certaine day, as he was teaching, that the Pharisees and doctours of the Lawe late by, which were come out of euery towne of Galilee, and Iudea, and Ierusalem, and the power of the Lord was in him to heale them.

18 ¶ Then behold, men brought a man lying in a bedde, which was taken with a pailie, and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they coulde not finde by what way they might bring him in, because of the presse, they went vp on the house, and let him downe through the tiling, bed and all, in the middes before Iesus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he sayd vnto him, Man, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees began to thinke, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies: Who can forgive sinnes, but God onely?

22 But when Iesus perceiued their thoughtes, he answered, and said vnto them, What thinke ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise and walke?

24 But that yee may knowe that the Sonne of man hath authoritie to forgive sinnes in earth, (he sayde vnto the sicke of the pailie) I say to thee, Arise: take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

25 And immediatly hee rose vp before them, and tooke by his bed wherupon hee lay, and departed to his owne house, praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praised God, and were filled with feare, saying, Doubtlesse wee haue seene strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after that he went forth and sawe a Publiane named Leui, sitting at the receite of custome, and said vnto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose vp, and followed him.

29 Then Leui made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great company of Publianes, and of other that late at table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes & Pharisees among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eate yee and drinke ye with Publianes and sinners?

31 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, They that are whole, neede not the Physician, but they that are sicke.

32 ¶ I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ Then they sayd vnto him, Why do the disciples of Iohn fast often, & pray, and the disciples of the Pharisees also, but thine eate, and drinke?

34 And he said vnto them, Can ye make the children of y wedding chamber to fast, as long as the bridegome is with them?

35 But the dayes wil come, euen when the bridegome shall bee taken away from them: then shall they fast in those dayes.

36 Againe he spake also vnto the parable, No man putteth a piece of a newe garment into an olde vessell: for then the newe renteth it, & the peece taken out of the newe, agreeth not with the olde.

37 ¶ No man putteth new wine into olde vessels: for then the newe wine will breake the vessels, and it will runne out, and the vessels will perishe.

38 But newe wine must be putted into new vessels: so both are renewed.

39 Also no man that drinketh olde wine, straightway desireth new: for he saith, The olde is better.

which came to heare him, and to be healed

49 But he that heareth and doeth not, is like a man that built an house vpon the earth without foundation, against which the flood did beate, and it fell by & by: and the fall of that house was great.

CHAP. VII.

2 He healeth the captaines seruants. 11 He rayseth vp the widowes sonne fro death to life. 19 He answereth the disciples whom John Baptist sent vnto him. 24 He commendeth John. 31 And reproacheth the Iewes for their vnfaithfulness. 36 He exareth with the Pharisee. 37 The woman washeth his feete with her teares, and he forgiveth her finnes.

When he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entred into Capernaum.

2 And a certaine Centurions seruant was sicke and ready to dye, which was deare vnto him.

3 And when he heard of Iesus, he sent vnto him the Elders of the Iewes, beseeching him that hee would come and heale his seruant.

4 So they came to Iesus, and besought him instantly, saying that hee was worthe that he should doe this for him.

5 For he loueth, layde they, our nation, and he hath built vs a Synagogue.

6 Then Iesus went with them: but when he was now not far from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying vnto him, Lord, trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthe that thou shouldest enter vnder my rooffe.

7 Wherefore, I thought not my selfe worthe to come vnto thee: but I lay the worde, and my seruant shall be whole.

8 For I likewise am a man set vnder authoritie, & haue vnder me souldiers, and I say vnto one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

9 When Iesus heard these things, he marvelled at him, and turned him, and said to the people that followed him, I say vnto you, I haue not founde so great faith, no nor in Israel.

10 And when they that were sent, turned backe to the house, they founde the seruant that was sicke, whole.

11 And it came to passe the day after, that he went into a cite called Iam, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.

12 Now when he came neere to the gate of the cite, beholde, there was a dead man layed out, who was the onely begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widowe, and much people of the cite was with her.

13 And when the Lord sawe her, he had compassion on her, and saide vnto her, Woepe not.

14 And he went and touched the coffin, (and they that bare him, stood still) and he said, & Dying man, I say vnto thee, Arise.

15 And he that was dead, late vp, and beganne to speake, and he deliuered him to his mother.

16 Then there came a feare on them all, & they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is raised vp among vs, and God hath visited his people.

17 And this rumour of him went forth throughout all Iudea, and throughout all the region round about.

18 ¶ And the disciples of John shewed him of all these things.

19 So John called vnto him two certaine men of his disciples, and sent them to Iesus, saying, Art thou he that shouldest come, or shall we waite for another?

20 And when the men were come vnto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent vs vnto thee, saying, Art thou he that shouldest come, or shall we waite for another?

21 And at that time he cured many of their sicknesses, and plagues, & of euill spirits, and vnto many blind men hee gaue sight.

22 And Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Goe your wayes and shewe John what thinges ye haue seene and heard: that the blinde see, the deafe heare, the Lepers are cleansed, the dead raise againe, and the poore receiue the Gospell.

23 And blessed is he, that shall not see offended in me.

24 And when the messengers of John were departed, he began to speake vnto the people, of John, what went ye out into the wilderness to see? A reede shaken with the winde?

25 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? behold, they which are gorgeously apparelled, & fine delicately, are in kings houses.

26 But what went yet forth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say to you, and greater than a Prophet.

27 This is hee of whome it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

28 For I say vnto you, there is no greater Prophet then John, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless, he that is the least in the kingdoms of God, is greater then he.

29 Then all the people that heard, & the Publicanes, justified God, being baptized with the Baptisme of John.

30 But the Pharises and the expounders of the Lawe despised the counsell of God against themselves, and were not baptized of him.
 31 * And the Lord said, Whereunto shal I liken the men of this generation? & what thing are they like vnto?
 32 They are like vnto children sitting in the market place, & crying one to another, and saying, We haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced: we haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wept.
 33 For Iohn Baptist came, neither eating bread, nor drinking wine: and ye say, He hath the deuill.
 34 The sonne of man is come, and eateth and drinketh: and ye say, Beholde, a man which is a glutton, & a drinker of wine, a friend of Publicanes and sinners.
 35 But wifedome is iustified of all her children.
 36 * And one of the Pharises desired him that he would eate with him: and hee went into the Pharises house, and sate downe at table.
 37 And beholde, a woman in the citie, which was a sinner, when she knewe that Iesus sate at table in the Pharises house, she brought a bosome of oymment.
 38 * And shee stoode at his feete behinde him weeping, and began to washe his feete with teares, and did wipe them with the haire of her head, and kissed his feete, and anoynted them with the oymment.
 39 Now when the Pharise which hade him, sawe it, he spake within himselfe, saying, If this man were a prophet, he would surely haue knowne who, and what manner of woman this is which toucheth him: for she is a sinner.
 40 And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Simon, I haue somewhat to say vnto thee. And he saide, Water, lay on.
 41 There was a certaine lender which had two debtors: the one ought five hundred pence, and the other fifty.
 42 When they had nothing to pay, hee forgave them both. Which of them therefore, tell me, will loue him most?
 43 Simon answered, and said, I suppose that he, to whome hee forgave most. And he saide vnto him, Thou hast truly iudged.
 44 Then hee turned to the woman, and said vnto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entred into thine house, and thou gauest me no water to my feete: but she hath washed my feete with teares, and wiped them with the haire of her head.
 45 Thou gauest me no kisse: but shee since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kisse my feete.
 46 Mine head with oyle thou diddest not anoynt: but shee hath anoynted my feete with oymment.

47 Wherefore I say vnto thee, Many sinnes are forgiven her: for shee * loueth much. To whome a little is forgiven, hee doeth loue a little.
 48 And hee said vnto her, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

e This great loue is a signe that she felt her selfe much bound vnto Christ, who had forgiven her so many sinnes.

49 And they that sate at table with him, began to say within themselves, Why is this that euen forgiveth sinnes?
 50 And he said to the woman, Thy faith hath laued thee: go in * peace.

x The peace of conscience cometh onely of faith.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, wee perish. And he arose, and rebuked the winde, and the waues of water: and they ceased, and it was calme.

25 Then hee sayde vnto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, and wondered among themselves, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the windes and water, and they obey him?

26 ¶ So they sailed vnto the region of the Gadarenes, which is ouer against Gala-

29 For hee commanded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for * oft times hee had caught him: therefore hee was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but hee brake the bandes, and was * carped of the deuill into wildernesses.)

30 ¶ Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? And hee sayde, * Legion, because many deuils were entered into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to go out into the * deepe.

32 And there was there by, an heard of many swine, feeding on an hill, and the deuils besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into them. So hee suffered them.

33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entered into the swine: & the herbe was caried with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choked.

34 ¶ When the herdsmen sawe what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they tolde it in the citie and in the countrey.

35 ¶ Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and founde the man, out of whome the deuils were departed, sitting at the feete of Iesus, clothed, and in his right minde: and they were a trayde.

36 ¶ They also which sawe it, tolde them by what meanes hee that was possessed with the deuill, was healed.

37 ¶ Then the whole multitude of the countrey aboue the Gadarenes, besought him, that hee would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare: and he went into the ship, and returned.

38 ¶ Then the man, out of whome the deuils were departed, besought him that hee might be with him: but Iesus sent him away, saying,

39 ¶ Returne into thine owne house, and shew what great things God hath done to thee. So hee went his way, and preached throughout all the * citie, what great things Iesus had done vnto him.

40 ¶ And it came to passe when Iesus was come againe, that the people receiued him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ And beholde, there came a man named Iairus, and he was the ruler of the * Synagogue, who fell downe at Iesus feete, and besought him that he would come into his house.

42 For hee had but a daughter onely, a- bout twelue yeeres of age, and she lay a dying. (And as he went, the people thronged him.)

43 And a woman hauing an issue of blood, twelue yeeres long, which had spent all her substance vpon physicians, and could not be healed of any:

44 ¶ When she came behind him, she touched the * hemme of his garment, and immediatly her issue of blood staid.

45 ¶ Then Iesus staid, & who is it that hath touched mee? ¶ When euery man denied, Peter sayd and they that were with him, Master, the multitude thrust thee, and treade on thee, and layeth thou, Who hath touched me?

46 And Iesus sayd, Some one hath touched me: for I perceiue that vertue is gone out of me.

47 ¶ When the woman sawe that she was not hidde, she came trembling, and fell downe before him, and tolde him before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and howe she was healed immediatly.

48 And he sayd vnto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy * faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace.)

50 When Iesus heard it, hee answered him, saying, Feare not: beleeue onely, and she shall be made whole.

51 And when he went into the house, he suffered no man to go in with him, save Peter, and James, and John, and the father and mother of the maid.

52 And all wept, and sorrowed for her: but he said, Weepe not: for she is not dead, but sleepeth.

53 And they laugh't him to scorne, knowing that she was dead.

54 So he thrust them all out, & tooke her by the hand, and cryed, saying, Dauter, arise.

55 And her spirit came againe, & the rose straightway: and he commaunded to giue her meat.

56 Then her parents were astonied: but he commaunded them that they should tell no man what was done.

CHAP. IX.

2 He fendeth out the twelve Apostles to preach.

7 Herode beareth tell of him. 12 He feedeth five thousand men with five loaves, and two fishes.

19 Divers opinions of Christ. 28 He transfigureth himselfe upon the mount. 42 He deliuereth the possessed, and teacheth his disciples to be lowly.

54 They desire vengeance, but he reproveth them.

Then ^The called he the twelve disciples together, and gaue them power & authoritie ouer all devils, and to heale diseases.

2 * And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to cure the sicke.

3 And he sayd to them, Take nothing to your iourney, neither staves, nor scrip, neither bread, nor shooe, neither haue two coats.

4 And whatsoeuer house yee enter into, there abide, and thence depart.

5 And whosoever will not receiue you, when ye go out of that cite, shake off the very dust from your feete for a testimonie against them.

6 And they went out, and went through euery towne preaching the Gospell, and healing euery where.

7 ¶ Now Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and he doubted, because that it was said of Iohn, that Iohn was risen againe from the dead.

8 And of some, that Elias had appeared: and of some, that one of the olde Prophets was risen againe.

9 Then Herode sayde, Iohn haue I beheaded: who then is this of whom I heare such things? and he desired to see him.

10 ¶ And when the Apostles returned, they told him what great things they had done. * Then he tooke them, and went aside into a solitary place, neere to the cite called Bethsaida.

11 But when the people knewent, they followed him: and hee perceiued them, and brake vnto them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had neede to be healed.

12 * And when the day began to wane away, the twelve came, and said vnto him,

Send the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and ledge, and get meate: for wee are here in a desert place.

13 But hee sayde vnto them, ¶ Giue yee them to eate. And they sayde, Wee haue no more but five loaves and two fishes, except wee should goe, and buy meate for all this people.

14 For they were about five thousand men. Then he sayde to the disciples, Canne they to sit downe by fittes in a companie.

15 And they did so, and caused all to sit downe.

16 Then he tooke the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and blessed them, and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to set before the people.

17 So they did all eate, and were satisfied: and there was taken vp of that remained to them, twelue baskets full of broken meate.

18 ¶ And it came to passe as he was alone praying, his disciples were with him, and he asked them, saying, ¶ At home say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and sayde, Iohn Baptist: and others say, Elias: and some say, that one of the olde Prophets is risen againe.

20 And he sayd vnto them, But whome say ye that I am? Peter answered, & sayd, The Christ of God.

21 And he warned, & commaunded them, that they should tell that to no man.

22 Saying, * The Sonne of man must suffer many things, and be reprobued of the elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and be slain, and the third day rise againe.

23 ¶ And he sayd to them all, If any man will come after me, let him denie himselfe, and take vp his crosse a dayly, and followe me.

24 For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it.

25 For what aduantage it a man, if he winne the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?

26 * For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my wordes, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed when he shall come in his glory, and in the glory of the father, and of the holy Angels.

27 ¶ And I tell you of a veritie, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the kingdom of God.

28 * And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those wordes, that he tooke Peter and Iohn, and James, and went vp into a mountain to pray.

29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, & his garment was white and glittered.

40 Now I haue besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Iesus answered, and said, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long now shall I bee with you, and suffer you! bring thy sonne hither.

42 And while hee was yet comming, the deuill rent him, and tare him: and Iesus rebuked the vnclane spirit, and healed the childe, and deliuered him to his father.

43 And they were all amazed at the mightie power of God: and while they all wondered at all things, which Iesus did, he sayd vnto his disciples, 44 Marke these wordes diligently: for it shall come to passe, that the sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men.

45 But they understood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceiue it, and they feared to aske him of that word.

46 And when there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest.

47 When Iesus saue the thoughtes of their hearts, he tooke a little childe, & set him be him.

48 And said vnto them, Whosoener receiveth this little childe in my Name, receiveth me: and whosoever shall receiue mee, receiveth him that sent me: for he that is least among you all, he shall be great.

49 And Iohn answered and saide, Master, we saue one casting out devils in thy Name, and we forbid him, because he followeth thee not with vs.

50 Then Iesus saide vnto him, Forbidde him not: for he that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that he should be receiued vp, he seled himselfe fully to go to Ierusalem.

52 And sent messengers before him: and they went and entred into a towne of the Samaritanes, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they would not receiue him, because his behaviour was, as though hee would goe to Ierusalem.

54 And when his disciples, James and Iohn: were it, they saide, Lord, wilt thou that we commaunde, that fire come downe from heauen, and consume them, euen as * Elias did?

55 But Iesus turned about, and rebuked them, and saide, Ye knowe not of what spirit ye are.

56 For the sonne of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. Then they went to another towne.

57 And it came to passe that as they went in the way, a certaine man said vnto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whithersoever thou goest.

58 And Iesus saide vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen haue nests, but the Sonne of man hath not whereton to lay his head.

59 But he layd vnto another, Followe me. And the same sayd, Lord, suffer me first to goe and bury my father.

60 And Iesus sayde vnto him, Let the dead bury their dead: but goe thou & preach the kingdome of God.

61 Then another said, I will follow thee, Lord: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at mine house.

62 And Iesus sayd vnto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh backe, is apt to the kingdome of God.

By dead, hee meaneth those that are vnprofitable to serue God.

11 Euen the very dust, which cleauech on notwithstanding knowe this, y^e the kingdome of God was come neere vnto you,

12 For I say to you, that it shall be easier in that day for them of Sodom, then for that cite.

13 * Woe be to thee, Chorazin: woe bee to thee, Bethsaida: for if the miracles had bene done in Tyus and Sidon, which haue bene done in you, they had a great while agone repented, sitting in sackecloth and ashes.

14 Therefore it shall be easier for Tyus, and Sidon at the iudgement, then for you.

15 And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted to heauen, shalt bee thrust downe to hell.

16 ¶ * Ye that heareth you, heareth me:
and he that despiseth you, despiseth me: and he that despiseth mee, despiseth him that lent me.

17 ¶ And y^e leuentie turned againe with loy, laying, Lord, euen the devils are subdued to vs through thy name.

18 And he said vnto them, I saw = Satan, like lightning, fall downe from heauen.

19 Beholde, I giue vnto you power to tread on serpents, and scorpions, and ouer all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurt you.

20 Remember these, in this reioyce not, that the spirits are subdued vnto you: but rather reioyce, because your names are written in heauen.

21 ¶ That same houre reioyced Iesus in the spirit, and said, I confesse vnto thee, Father, Lord of heauen and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the * wise and learned, and hast reueiled them to babes: euen so, Father, because it is pleased thee.

22 Then he turned to his disciples, and saide, All things are * giuen me of my Father: & no man knoweth who the Sonne is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, saue the Sonne, and he to whome the Sonne will reueile him.

23 ¶ And he returned to his disciples, & saide secretly, * Blessed are the eyes, which see that ye see.

24 For I tell you that many Prophets and kings haue desired to see those things which yee see, and haue not seene them: and to heare those things which yee heare, and haue not heard them.

25 ¶ * Then beholde, a certaine expounder of the Law stood vp, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I doe, to inherit eternal life?

26 And he said vnto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?

27 And he answered, & said, * Thou shalt loue thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strenght, and with all thy thought, * and thy neighbour as thy selfe.

28 Then he said vnto him, Thou hast answered right: this doe, and thou shalt liue.

29 But hee willing to iustifie himselfe, said vnto Iesus, Who is then my neighbour?

30 And Iesus answered, and said, A certaine man went downe from Ierusalem to Jericho, and fell among thornes, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leauing him halfe dead.

31 And by chance there came downe a certaine * Priest that same way, and when he sawe him, hee passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Leuite, when hee was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 Then a certaine * Samaritan, as he ioyned, came neere vnto him, and when he sawe him, he had compassion on him,

34 And went to him, and bounde by his woundes, and powred in oyle and wine, and put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made prouision for him.

35 And on the morowe when hee depa-ted, hee tooke out * two pence, and gaue them to the host, and sayde vnto him, Take care of him, and whatsoeuer thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the thornes?

37 And he sayde, He that shewed mercie on him. Then sayde Iesus vnto him, Goe, and doe thou likewise.

38 ¶ Now it came to passe as they went, that he entered into a certaine towne, and a certaine woman named Martha, receiued him into her house.

39 And shee had a sister called Marie, which also sat at Iesus seete, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was troubled about much seruing, and came to him, and sayde, Master, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serue alone? bid her therefore, that she helpe me.

41 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needefull, Marie hath chosin the good part, * which shall not be taken away from her.

CHAP. XI.

2 He teacheth his disciples to pray. 14 He driueth out a deuill, 15 and rebuketh the blasphemous Pharisee. 28 He preferreth the spirituall cousin-age. 29 They require signes and tokens. 37 He teacheth with the Pharisee, and reprooueth the hypocrite of the Pharisee, Scribes, and hypocrites.

And so it was, that as hee was praying in a certaine place, when hee ceased, one of his Disciples sayde vnto him, Master, teach vs to pray, as John also taught his disciples.

Matth. 6. 9.

2 * And he sayde vnto them, When yee pray, say, Our Father, which art in heauen, hallowed bee thy Name: Thy kingdome come: Let thy will be done euen in earth, as it is in heauen:

3 Our daily bread giue vs: for the day:

4 And I forgive vs our finnes: for euen twice forgine euery man that is indebted to vs: And lead vs not into temptation: but deliuer vs from euill.

5 ¶ Whosoever he said vnto the, Which of you shall haue a friend, and shall goe to him at midnight, and say vnto him, Friend, lend me three loaves:

6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to mee, and I haue nothing to let before him:

7 And hee within should answer, & say, Trouble me not: the doore is now shut, and my children are with mee in bed: I cannot rise and giue thee these.

8 I say vnto you, Though he would not rise and giue him, because he is his friend, yet doubtlesse because of his importunitie, he would rise, and giue him as many as hee needed.

9 * And I say vnto you, Atke, and it shal be giuen you, seeke, and ye shall find: knocke, and it shalbe opened vnto you.

10 For euery one that asketh, receiuerh:
and he that seeketh, findeth: & to him that knocketh, it shalbe opened.

11 * If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will hee giue him a stone? or if he aske a fish, will hee for a fish giue him a serpent?

12 Or if he aske an egge, will hee giue him a scorpion?

13 If yee then which are euill, can giue good giftes vnto your children, howe much more shall your heavenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them, that desire him?

14 ¶ Then he cast out a deuill which was dumme: and when the deuill was gone out, the dumme spake, and the people wondered.

15 But some of them sayde, Wee casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of the deuils.

16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a signe from heauen.

17 But hee knewe their thoughts, and said vnto them, * Euery kingdome deuided against it selfe, shall be desolate, and an house deuied against an house, shall fall.

18 So if Satan alio bee deuied against himselfe, howe shall his kingdome stand, because yee say that I cast out deuils through Beelzebub?

a Or, euery day,

22 But when a stronger then hee commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: he taketh from him all his armour wherewith he trusted, and deuendeth his spoiles.

23 Wee that is not with mee, is against mee: and hee that gathereth not with mee, scattereth.

24 ¶ When the vnclane spirit is gone out of a man, hee walketh through dry places, seeking rest: and when hee findeth none, hee saith, I will returne vnto mine house whence I came out.

25 And when he cometh, he findeth it swept, and garnished.

26 Then * goeth hee, and taketh to him seuen other spirits, worse then himselfe: and they enter in, and dwell there, * so the last state of that man is worse then the first.

these things, a certaine woman of the company lifted vp her voyce, and said vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the pappes which thou hast sucked.

28 But hee sayd, * Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the worde of God, and keepe it.

29 ¶ And when the people were gathered thither together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seeke a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen them, but the signe of * Jonas the Prophet.

30 For as Jonas was a signe to the Ninuites, so shall also the Sonne of man be to this generation.

31 ¶ The Queene of the South shall rise which is without, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore ¶ giue almes of || those things which are within, and behold, all things shalbe cleane to you.

42 But woe be to you, Pharises: for ye tithe the mint and the reue, and all maner herbes, and passe ouer || iudgement and the loue of God: these ought ye to haue done, and y not to haue left the other undone.

43 * Woe be to you, Pharises: for ye lone the hyppermost seates in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 Woe be to you, Scribes and Phari-ses, hypocrites: for ye are as graues which appaere not, and the men that walke ouer them, perceiue not.

45 ¶ Then answered one of the expounders of the Lawe, & said vnto him, Master, thus saying thou puttest vs to rebuke also.

46 And he saide, Woe be to you also, ye interpreters of the Lawe: for ye * lade men with burdens grieuous to be borne, and ye your selues touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 Woe be to you: for ye * builde the se-pulchres of the Prophets, and your fathers killed them.

48 ¶ Truly ye beare witness, and allowe
 the deedes of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye * build their sepulchres.

49 Therefore layd the wisdome of God,
 ¶ I will send them Prophets and Apostles,
 and of them they shall slay and || persecute.

50 ¶ That the blood of all the Prophets, shed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation.

51 ¶ From the blood of * Abel vnto the blood of * Zacharias, which was slaine be-twene the altar and the Temple: verely I say vnto you, it shall bee required of * this generation.

52 Woe be to you, ye interpreters of the Lawe: for ye haue ¶ taken away the key of knowledge: ye eentre not in your selues, and therein that came in, ye forbade.

53 And as hee layde these things vnto them, the Scribes and Pharises began to wge him sore, and to prouoke him to speake of many things,

54 Laying waite for him, and seeking to catch some thing of his mouth, whereby they might accuse him.

Name. 10. Blasphemy against the Spirit. 14 Not to passe our vocation. 15 Not to giue our selues to co-uetous care of this life, 32. Bus to righteousness, almes, watching, patience, wisdom, and concord.
 ¶ The meane time, there gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, so that they trode one another: and he began to say vnto his disciples first, Take heede to your selues of the leauen of the Pharises, which is hypocrisie.

2 * For there is nothing covered, that shall not bee reueiled: neither hid, that shall not be knowne.

3 Wherefore whatsoeuer ye haue spoken in darkenesse, it shall bee heard in the light:
 and that which ye haue spoken in the eare, in secret places, shall bee preached on the houles.

4 * And I say vnto you, my friends, Be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that are not able to doe any more.

5 But I will forwarne you, whom ye shall feare: feare him which after hee hath killed, hath power to cast into hell: yea, I say vnto you, him feare.

6 Are not five sparrowes bought for two farthings, and yet not one of them is forgotten before God?

7 Yea, and all the haire of your head are numbered: feare not therefore: ye are more in value then many sparrowes.

8 * Also I say vnto you, Whosoever shall confesse mee before men, him shall the sonne of man confesse also before the Angels of God.

9 But he that shal denie me before men,
 shalbe denied before the Angels of God.

10 And whosoever shall speake a worde against the Sonne of man, it shalbe forgiven him: but vnto him, that ¶ shall blaspheme the holy Ghost, it shall not bee forgiuen.

11 * And when they shall bring you vnto the Synagogues, & vnto the rulers & princes, take no thought howe, or what thing ye shall answer, or what ye shall speake.

12 ¶ For the holy Ghost shall teach you in the same || howe, what ye eught to say.

13 And one of the company layde vnto him, Master, bid my brother diuide the inheritance with me.

14 And hee layde vnto him, Man, who made me a iudge, or a diuider ouer you?

15 Wherefore he layd vnto them, Take heed, and beware of couetousnesse: ¶ for though a man haue abundance, yet his life standeth not in his riches.

16 And hee put forth a parable vnto them, saying, The || ground of a certaine rich man brought forth fruites plentifully.

17 Therefore he thought vnto himselfe, saying, What shall I doe, because I haue
 no roume, where I may lay by my fruites?

18 And hee sayd, ¶ This wil I doe, I wil pull downe my barnes, and builde greater, and therein wil I gather all my fruites, and my goods.

19 And I wil say to my soule, Soule, ¶ thou hast much goods layde by for many yeeres: linc at ease, eat, drinke, and take thy pastime.

 Eccles. 1. 1, 9.

20 But God sayde vnto him, O foole, this night will they fetch away thy soule from thee: then whose shall those things be which thou hast prouided?

21 So is he that gathereth riches to him selfe, and is not rich in God.

22 And hee spake vnto his disciples, Therefore I say vnto you, * Take no thought for your life, what yee shall eat: neither for your body, what yee shall put on.

23 The life is more then meate: and the body more then the raiment.

24 * Consider the rauen: for they neither sowe nor reape: which neither haue storehouse nor barnie, and yet God feedeth them: howe much more are ye better then foules?

25 And which of you by taking thought, can adde to his stature one cubite?

26 If ye then be not able to doe the least thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?

27 * Consider the lilies how they grow: they labour not, neyther spinne they: yet I say vnto you, that Solomon him selfe in all his royaltie was not clothed like one of these.

28 If then God do clothe the grasse which is to day in the field, and to morrow is cast into the ouen, howe much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

29 Therefore alke not what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drinke, neither stand in doubt.

30 For all such things the people of the world seeke for: and your father knoweth that ye haue neede of these things.

31 But rather seeke yee after the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be ministred vnto you.

32 Feare not, little flocke: for it is your fathers pleasure, to giue you the kingdom.

33 * Sell that ye haue, and giue almes: make you bagges, which waxe not olde, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no thiefe commeth, neyther mothe corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also.

35 * Let your loynes be girded about, and your lightes burning,

36 And yee your selues like vnto men that waite for their maister, when hee will returne from the wedding, that when hee commeth and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediatly.

37 Blessed are those seruants, whom the Lord when he commeth, shall finde waking: verely I say vnto you, hee will gird himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come forth, and serue them.

38 And if he come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall finde them so, blessed are those seruants.

39 Now understand this, that if the good man of the house had known at what houre the thiefe would haue come, hee would haue watched, and would not haue turned his house to be digged through.

40 Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when ye thinke not.

41 Then Peter said vnto him, Master, tellect thou this parable vnto vs, or euen to all?

42 And the Lord said, Who is a faithfull steward, and wise, whom the master shall make ruler ouer his household, to giue them their portion of meate in season?

43 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when hee commeth, shall finde so doing.

44 Of a truely I say vnto you, that hee will make him ruler ouer all that he hath.

45 But if that seruant say in his heart, My master doeth deferre his comming, and shall begin to smite the seruants, and maydens, to eat and drinke, & to bee drunken,

46 The master of that seruant will come in a day when hee thinkeeth not, and at an houre when he is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the vnbelievers.

47 I And that seruant that knewe his masters will, and prepared not himselfe, neither did according to his wil, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 But he that knew it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with fewe stripes: for vnto whomsoever much is giuen, of him shall bee much required, and to whom men much commit, the more of him will they aske.

49 I Am come to put a fire on y^e earth, and what is my desire, if it bee already kindled?

50 Notwithstanding I must be baptized with a baptism, and how am I grieved till it be ended?

51 * Thinke yee that I am come to giue peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from henceforth there shall be fire in one house diuided, three against two, and two against three.

53 The father shall be diuided against the sonne, and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in lawe against her daughter in lawe, and the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe.

54 * Then said he to the people, When ye see a cloud rise out of the West, straightway yee say, A thowder commeth: and so it is.

55 And when yee see the South winde blowe, yee say, that it will bee hot: and it commeth to passe.

56 Hypocrites, yee can discern the face of the earth, and of the heaue: but why discern ye not this time?

57 Yea, and why iudge ye not of your selues what is right?

58 * While thou goest with thine aduersary to the ruler, as thou art in the way, giue diligence in the way, that thou mayest be deliuered from him, least he bring thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the tapler, and the tapler cast thee into prison.

59 I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast payed the very last mite.

1 The crueltie of Pilate. 2 We ought not to condemne all to bee wicked men which suffer. 3 Christ exhorteth to repentance. 11 He beareth the crooked woman. 15 Answereth to the master of the Synagogue. 18 By diuers similitudes he declarerh what the kingdome of God is. 23 Also that the number of them which shall bee saved, is small. 33 Finally, he shewerh that no worldly policie or force can les the work and counsell of God.

a He murdered them as they were sacrificing: and so their blood was mingled with the blood of the beasts which were sacrificed. b For the Jewes tooke occasion hereby to condemne them, as most wicked men. c He warneth them, rather to consider their owne state, then to reprove other mens. d Which towre flood by the river Siloe or fish poole in Ierusalem.

|| Or, debtors.

e By this similitude is declared the great paciēce that God vseth towards sinners in looking for their amendment: but this delay auayleth them nothing, when they still remaine in their corruption.

f We see our state, if we bring not forth fruit, g For both it is vnfruitfull if selfe, and doth hurt to the ground where it groweth.

h Whome Satan had stricken with a disease, as the spirit of couetousnesse is that spirit, that maketh a man couetous.

i As they are, whose synwes are thronkes. || Or, sit at liberty out of Satans bands.

There were certaine men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their owne sacrifices.

2 And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Suppose yee that these Galileans were greater sinners then all the other Galileans, because they haue suffered such things?

3 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Or thinke you that those eightene, vpon whom the towne in Siloam fell, and slewe them, were sinners aboue all men that dwell in Ierusalem?

5 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

6 I bespake also this parable. A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vineyard: and hee came and sought fruite therein, and found none.

7 Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Beholde, this thre yeeres haue I come and sought fruite of this figge tree, and finde none: cut it downe: why keepeth it also the ground barren?

8 And he answered, and sayde vnto him, Lorde, let it alone this yeere also, till I dig round about it, and doing it.

9 And if it beare fruite, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it downe.

10 And he taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And beholde, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmities eightene yeeres, and was bowed together, and could not lift up her selfe in any wise.

12 When Iesus saw her, he called her to him, and saide to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thy disease.

13 And hee laid his hands on her, and immediately she was made straight againe, and glorified God.

14 And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus had healed on the Sabbath day, a laide vnto the people, These are sixe dayes in which men ought to worke: in them therefore come and bee healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lorde, and saide, Hypocrite, doest not eue one of you on the Sabbath day looke his ore or his asse from the stall, and leade him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whome Satan had bounde, loe, eightene yeeres, bee loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when he said these things, all his aduersaries were ashamed: but all the people reioiced at all the excellent things, that were done by him.

18 ¶ Then said he, What is the kingdome of God like? or whereof shall I compare it?

19 It is like a graine of mustard seede, which a man tooke and sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree, and the fowles of the heauen made nestes in the branches thereof.

20 ¶ And againe hee saide, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdome of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman tooke, and hid in three peckes of flour, till all was leavened.

22 ¶ And hee went thorow all cities and towines, teaching, and iourneying towards Ierusalem.

23 Then said one vnto him, Lorde, are there fewe that shall bee saved? And he saide vnto them, 24 ¶ Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say vnto you, will seeke to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the doore, and yee begin to stand without, and to knocke at the doore, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs, and hee shall answer and say vnto you, I knowe you not whence ye are,

26 ¶ Then shall ye begin to say, We haue eaten and drunke in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets.

27 But he shall say, I tell you, I knowe you not whence ye are: depart from me, all ye workers of iniquitie.

28 There shal be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham & Isaac and Jacob, & all the Prophets in the kingdome of God, and your selues thrust out at doores.

29 Then shal come many from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at table in the kingdome of God.

30 ¶ And beholde, there are last, which shall be first, and there are first, which shall be last.

31 The same day there came certaine Pharisees, and sayd vnto him, Depart, and go hence: for Herodee will kill thee.

32 Then said he vnto them, Doe ye & tell that foze, Beholde, I cast out devils, and will heale still 9 to day, and to morrow, and the third day: I shall bee perfected.

33 Neuertheless I must walke to day, and to morrow, and the day following: for it cannot be, that a Prophet should perish out of Ierusalem.

34 ¶ O Ierusalem, Ierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that are sent to thee, howe often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the hen gathereth her brood vnder her wings, and ye would not?

35 Behold, your house is left vnto you all moanes sought his death more then did the tyrant of whom they willed him to beware. Math. 23.37. & Christ forewarneth them of the destruction of the Temple, and of their whole policie.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iesus eateth with the Pharise, 4 Healeth the droppie upon the Sabbath, 8 Teacheth to be lowly, and to bid the poore to our table. 15 He releeth of the great Supper. 28 Hee warneth them that will follow him, so lay their accounts before, what is will cost them. 34 The salt of the earth.

And it came to passe that when he was entred into the house of one of the chief Pharises on the Sabbath day, to l eate bread, they watched him.

2 And behold, there was a certaine man before him, which had the droppie.

3 Then Iesus answering, spake vnto the expounders of the Lawe, and Pharises, saying, Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath day?

4 And they helde their peace. Then he tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe.

5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall haue an asse, or an ore fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day?

6 And they coulde not answer him againe to those things.

7 ¶ He spake also a parable to the guests, when hee marked howe they chose out the chiefe roomes, and said vnto them,

8 ¶ When thou shalt bee bidden of any man to a wedding, set not thy selfe downe in the chiefe place, least a more honourable man then thou be bidden of him,

9 And hee that bade both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Come this man roomie, and then thou begin with shame to take the lowest roomie.

10 ¶ But when thou art bidden, goe and sit downe in the lowest roomie, that when hee that bade thee, commeth, he may say vnto thee, Friend, sit vp higher: then shalt thou haue worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 ¶ For whosoever exalteth himselfe, shalbe brought lowe, and hee that humbleth himselfe, shalbe exalted.

12 ¶ Then ¶ said he also to him that had bidden him, ¶ When thou makest a dinner, or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor the rich neighbours, lest they also bid thee againe, and a recompence be made thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poore, the maimed, the lame, and the blinde,

14 And thou shalt bee blessed, because they cannot recompence thee: for thou shalt bee recompensed at the resurrection of the iust.

15 ¶ Nowe when one of them that sate at table, heard these things, hee sayde vnto him, Blessed is hee that eateth bread in the kingdom of God.

16 Then said he to him, ¶ A certaine man made a great supper, and bade many,

17 And sent his seruant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are nowe readye.

18 But they all with one minde began to make excuse: The first saide vnto him, I haue bought a farme, and I must needs goe out and see it: I pray thee haue me excused.

19 And another said, I haue bought five yoke of oxen, and I goe to pzooue them: I pray thee haue me excused.

20 And another sayde, I haue married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that seruant returned, and shewed his master these things. Then was the good man of the house angrie, and said to his seruant, ¶ Goe out quickly into the places and streetes of the citie, and bring in hither the poore, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blinde.

22 And the seruant sayd, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is roomie.

23 Then the master said to the seruant, Goe out into the high wayes, and hedges, and compell them to come in, that mine house may be filled.

24 For I say vnto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper.

25 Nowe there went great multitudes with him, and hee turned and sayde vnto them,

26 ¶ If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters: yea, and his owne life also, hee cannot bee my disciple.

27 ¶ And whosoever beareth not his crosse, and commeth after me, cannot bee my disciple.

28 For which of you minding to builde a towre, sitteth not downe before, and counteth the cost, whether hee haue sufficient to perfourme it,

29 Lest that after he hath laid the foundation, and is not able to perfourme it, all that behold it, begin to mocke him,

30 Saying, This man began to builde, and was not able to make an end?

31 ¶ What king going to make warre against another king, sitteth not downe first and taketh counsell, whether he be able with tenne thousande, to mocke him that commeth against him with twentie thousande?

32 ¶ Heis while hee is yet a great way off, hee sendeth an ambassage, and desireth conditions of peace.

33 So likewise, whosoever he be of you, that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple.

34 ¶ Salt is good: but if salt haue lost his sauour, where with shall it be salted?

2 Therefore the Pharisees and Scribes murmured, saying, Wee receiue sinners, and eatech with them.

3 Then spake hee this parable to them, saying,

4 What man of you hauing an hundred sheepe, if he lose one of them, doth not leave ninetie and nine in the wilderness, and goe after that which is lost, until hee finde it?

5 And when he hath found it, hee layeth it on his shoulders with ioy.

6 And when hee cometh home, hee callet together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Reioyce with mee: for I haue found my sheepe, which was lost.

7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shall be in heauen for one sinner that conuerteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which neede no amendment of life.

8 Either what woman hauing tenne pieres of silver, if shee lose one peece, doth not light a candle, and sweep the house, and seekke diligently till she finde it?

9 And when shee hath found it, shee cal-let her friendes, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with mee: for I haue founde the peece which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth.

11 He said moreover, A certaine man had two sonnes.

12 And the yonger of them sayde to his father, Father, giue me the portion of the goods that falleth to mee. So hee deuicid vnto them his substance.

13 So not long after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all together, hee tooke his iourney into a farre countrey, and there hee wasted his goods with riotous living.

14 Nowe when hee had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and he began to be in necessitie.

15 Then he went and claue to a citizen of that countrey, and he sent him to his farme, to feede swine.

16 And hee woulde faine haue filled his belly with the huskes, that the swine ate:
but no man gaue them him.

17 Then hee came to himselfe, and sayd, Howe many hired seruantes at my fathers house haue bread enough, and I die for hunger?

18 I will rise, and goe to my father, and say vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee,

19 And am no more worthy to be called thy sonne: make me as one of thy hired ser-uants.

20 So hee arose, and came to his father, and when hee was yet a great way off, his father lawe him, and had compassion, and ranne and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 And the sonne sayde vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, I am no more worthy to be called thy sonne.

22 Then the father said to his seruantes,
Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feete,

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let vs eate, and be mery.

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is aliue againe: and hee was lost, but hee is found. And they began to be mery.

25 Nowe the elder brother was in the field, and when hee came and drew neere to the house, he heard melodie, and dauncing,

26 And called one of his seruantes, and asked what those things meant.

27 And hee said vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fatted calfe, because hee hath receiued him safe and sound.

28 Then hee was angrie, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out and intreated him.

29 But hee answered and said to his father, Lo, these many yeeres haue I done thee seruice, neither waike I at any time thy commaundement, and yet thou neuer gauest mee a kid, that I might make merie with my friends.

30 But when this thy sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy goods with har-lots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat calfe.

31 And hee said vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with mee, and all that I haue, is thine. It was meete that wee should make merie, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and hee was lost, but hee is found.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Christ exhorteth his to wisdom and liberality by the example of the steward. 13 None can serue two masters. 14 He reprobeth the couetousness and hypocrisis of the Pharisees. 16 Of the end and force of the Law. 18 Of the holy state of marriage.
19 Of the rich man, and Lazarus.

And hee sayde also vnto his disciples,
There was a certaine rich man, which had a steward, and hee was accused vnto him, that hee wasted his goods.

2 And hee called him, and saide vnto him, Howe is it that I heare this of thee? One an accounts of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward sayde within himselfe, What shall I doe: for my master will take away from mee the stewardship: I cannot dig, and to beg I am ashamed.

4 I knowe what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue me into their houses.

5 Then called hee every one of his masters debtors, and said vnto the first, Howe much owest thou vnto my master?

6 And he sayde, An hundred measures of oyle. And he sayd to him, Take thy writ-ting, and sitte downe quickly, and write fiftie.

7 Then said he to another, Howe much owest thou? And he sayde, An hundred measures of wheate. Then hee sayde to him, Take thy writing, and write foure score.

8 And the Lord commended b the vniust steward, because hee had done wisely. Therefore the children of this world are in their generation wiser then the children of light.

9 And I say vnto you, Make you friends with the riches of iniquitie, that when ye shall want, they may receiue you into euermlasting habitations.

10 He that is faithfull in the least, he is also faithfull in much: and hee that is vniust in the least, is vniust also in much.

11 If then ye haue not bene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will trust you in the true treasure?

12 And if ye haue not bene faithfull in another mans goods, who shall giue you that which is y^e yours?

13 No seruant can serue two masters: for either hee shall hate the one, and loue the other: or els hee shall leaue to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharisees also which were couetous, and they mocked him.

15 Then he sayd vnto them, Ye are they, which b iustifie your selues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 The Law and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and since that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man i preacheth it.

17 Now it is more easie that heauen & earth should passe away, then that one ricle of the lawe should fall.

18 Who neuer putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

19 There was a certaine rich man, which was clothed in purple, and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately every day.

20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layd at his gate full of sores,

21 And desired to bee refreshed with the crummes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the begger died, & was carried by the Angelles into Abrahams bosome. The riche man also died and was buried.

23 And being in hell in tormentes, he lift vp his eyes, and sawe Abraham afarre off, and Lazarus in his bosome.

24 Then he cryed, & sayd, Father Abraham, haue mercy on me, and lend Lazarus, that hee may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham sayd, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuest thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus y^e paines: now therefore is hee comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, betweene you and vs there is a great gulfe set, so that they which woulde goe from hence to you, can not, neither can they come from thence to vs.

27 Then he sayde, I pray thee therefore father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house, 28 (For I haue fine brethren) that hee may testifie vnto them, least they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham said vnto him, They haue Moyses and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he sayd, Nay, father Abraham: but if one came vnto them from the dead, they will anend their lues.

31 Then he sayd vnto him, If they heare not Moyses and the Prophets, neither will they bee perswaded, though one ricle from the dead againe.

q Which declareth that it is too late to be instructed by the dead, if in their life time they cannot profit by the liuely worde of God. r As faith cometh by Gods word, so is it maintained by the same. So that we neither ought to looke for Angels from heauen, or the dead to confirme vs therein, but onely the worde of God is sufficient to life euermlasting.

CHAP. XVII.

a Christ teacheth his disciples to auoide occasions of offence, 3 One to forgive another, 5 We ought to pray for the increase of faith. 6 He magnifieth the vertue of faith, 10 And sheweth the vabulitiss of man, 11 Healeth tenn lepers, 20 Speakech of the latter dayes, and of the ende of the worlde.

Then sayde hee to the disciples, * If it can Math. 18. 7. not be auoyded, but that offences will mar. 9. 42. come, but woe bee to him by whome they come.

2 It were better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his necke, and that hee were cast into the sea, then that he should offend one of these liue ones.

3 C Calle heede to your selues: if thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgive him.

4 And though he sinne against thee seven times in a day, and seuen times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, I repent: thou shalt forgive him.

5 ¶ And the Apostles sayd vnto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord sayd, * If ye haue faith, as much as is a graine of mustard seede, and shoulde say vnto this Mulberie tree, I plucke thy selfe up by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it shoulde obey you,

a Christ describeth spirituall things by such manner of speech, as is most proper to our vnderstanding: for our soules haue neither fingers nor eyes, neither are they thirsty, or speake: but the Lord, as it were in a table painteth forth the state of the life to come, as our capacite is able to comprehend it. p In calling him sonne, hee taunteth his vaine boasting, who in his life vaunted himselfe to be the sonne of Abraham: warning vs also hereby how little glorious titles auale. || Or, good things. || Or, euill things. || Or, swallowing pit.

a That is, to turne him backe from the knowledge of God, & his saluation. Math. 18. 21. b That is, many times: for by a certaine number he meaneth an vncertaine. Math. 17. 20. c That is, if they had neuer so little of pure and perfect faith, they shoulde doe wonderful and incredible things.

e Hereby is declared that it is not ynough to doe a piece of our duty for a time, but also we must continue to the ende,

8 And woulde not rather say to him, * Dresse thyselfe, and serue mee, till I haue eaten, and drunken, and afterward eate thou, and drinke thou?
9 Doth he thanke that seruant, because he did that which was commaunded vnto him? I crow not.
10 So likewise ye, when ye haue done al those things, which are commaunded you, say, Allee are vnto vs: unprofitable seruants: we haue done that which was our duty to do.
11 ¶ And so it was when he went to Ierusalem, that he passed through the middes of Samaria and Galilee.
12 And as hee entered into a certaine towne, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stoode asafare off.
13 And they lift vp their voyces & sayde, Iesus Hatter, haue mercy on vs.
14 And when he sawe them, he layd vnto them, * Goe, shew yor selues vnto the Priests. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were cleauned.
15 ¶ Then one of them, when he saw that hee was healed, turned backe, and with a loude voyce praised God, 16 And fel down on his face at his feete, and gaue him thanks: and hee was a Samaritan.
17 And Iesus answered, & said, Are there not ten cleauned? but where are the nine?
18 ¶ There are none found that returned to giue God payle, saue this stranger.
19 And he layd vnto him, Arise, Doe thy way, thy faith hath made thee whole.
20 ¶ And when he was demaunded of the Pharisees, when the kingdome of God should come, he answered them, and sayde, The kingdome of God commeth not with obseruation.
21 ¶ Neither shall men say, Lo here, or loe there: for behold, the kingdome of God is within you.
22 And he layd vnto the Disciples, ¶ The dayes will come, when ye shall desire to see one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it.
23 * ¶ Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but goe not thither, neither follow them.
24 For as the lightening that lighteneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day.
25 But first must hee suffer many things, and be reposed of this generation.
26 * And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man.
27 They ate, they dranke, they married, wined, and gaue in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.
28 * Likewise also, as it was in the dayes of Lot: they ate, they dranke, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodome, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.
30 After these examples shall it be in the day when the Sonne of man shall bee reuelled.
31 At that day, he that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in the house, let him not come downe to take it out: and hee that is in the fildes likewise, let him not turne backe to that he left behinde.
32 * Remember Lots wife.
33 * Whosoever will seeke to saue his soule, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose it, I shall geue it life.
34 * I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be left.
35 Two women shall be grinding together: the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left.
36 Two shall be in the fildes: one shall be receiued, and another shall be left.
37 And they answered, and sayd to him, Where, Lord? And hee sayde vnto them, * Wheresoeuer the body is, thither will also the Eagles reioy.

4 And he would not for a time: but afterward hee sayd with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man,
5 Yet because this widowe troubleth me, I will doe her right, least at the last she come and make me wearie.
6 And the Lord sayde, Heare what the vnrighteous Iudge sayeth.
7 Howe shall not God auenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him, yea, though hee suffer long for them?
8 I tel you he will auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, shall hee finde faith on the earth?

10 ¶ Two men went vp into the Temple to pray: the one a Pharisee, and the other a Publicane.
11 ¶ The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himselfe, O God, I thanke thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, vnjust, adulterers, or euen as this Publicane.

euery man that exalteth himselfe, shall be 16 But Iesus called them vnto him, and sayde, Suffer the babes to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

17 Verely I say vnto you, whosoener receiueth not the kingdome of God, as a babe, he shall not enter therein.

18 ¶ Then a certaine ruler asked him, saying, Good master, what ought I to doe, to inherite eternall life?

19 And Iesus layd vnto him, Why cal-lest thou me good? none is good, save one, euen God.

20 Thou knowest the commandements, ¶ Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness: Honour thy father and thy mother.

21 And he sayde, All these haue I kept from my youth.

22 Nowe when Iesus heard that, hee layd vnto him, Yet lackest thou one thing.
Sell all that euer thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, followe me.

23 But when he heard those things, hee was very heauy: for hee was maruelous rich.

24 And when Iesus sawe him sorow-full, he sayde, ¶ What difficultie shall they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God?

25 Surely it is easier for a camell to go through a needles eye, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 Then sayde they that heard it, And who then can be saved?

27 And he sayde, The things which are impossible with men, are possible with God.

28 ¶ Then Peter sayd, Lo, we haue left all, and haue followed thee.

29 And he sayd vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdome of Gods sake,

30 Which shall not receiue much more in this world, and in the world to come life euertlasting.

31 ¶ Then Iesus tooke vnto him the twelue, and sayde vnto them, Beholde, wee goe vp to Ierusalem, and all things shall be fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are written by the Prophets.

32 For hee shall bee deliuered vnto the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and shall be spitefully intreated, and shall be spitred on.

33 And when they haue scourged him, they will put him to death: but the thirde day he shall rise againe.

34 But they understoode none of these things, as this saying was hid from them, neither perceived they the things, which were spoken.

35 ¶ And it came to passe, that as hee was come neere vnto Iericho, a certaine blinde man sat by the way side begging.

36 And when he heard the people passe by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they layde vnto him, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by.

38 Then hee cryed, saying, Iesus the sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

39 And they which went before, rebuked him, that hee should hold his peace, but he cryed much more, ¶ Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

40 And Iesus stoode still, and commanded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come neere, he asked him,

41 Saying, What wilt thou that I do vnto thee? And he sayde, Lord, that I may receiue my sight.

42 And Iesus layd vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saued thee.

43 Then immediately hee receiued his sight, and followed him, praying God:
and all the people when they saw this, gaue praise to God.

cause he was of a lowe stature.

4 Wherefore he ran before, and climed vp into a wild figge tree, that he might seee him, for he should come that way.

5 And when Iesus came to the place, hee looked vp, and sawe him, and sayd vnto him, Zaccheus, come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thine house.

6 Then he came downe hastily, and re-ceiued him ioyfully.

7 And when all they sawe it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone in to lodge with a sinner.

8 And Zaccheus stoode forth, and sayde vnto the Lowe, Beholde, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by force or causation, I restore him foure fold.

9 Then Iesus sayd to him, This day is braham.

 mar. 11. 11.

11 And whiles they heard these things, hee continued and spake a parable, because hee was neere to Ierusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdome of God should shortly appeare.

12 He saide therefore, * A certaine noble man went into a farre countrey, to receiue for himselfe a kingdome, and so to come againe.

13 And he called his tenn seruants, and deliuered them ten ^d pieces of money, and said vnto them, * Occupee till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassage after him, saying, We wil not haue this man to raigie ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe, when hee was come againe, and had receiued his kingdome, that hee commanded the seruants to be called to him, to whome hee gaue his money, that he might knowe what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he said vnto him, Wel, good seruant: because thou hast bene faithfull in a very litle thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased fise pieces.

19 And to the same he said, We thou also ruler ouer fise cities.

20 So the other came and said, Lord, behold thy piece, which I haue laide vp in a napkin.

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a strait man: thou takest vp, that thou laydest not downe, and reapest that thou diddest not sowe.

22 Then hee saide vnto him, Of thine owne mouth wilt I iudge thee, O euill seruant. Thou knowest that I am a strait man, taking vp that I laid not downe, and reaping that I did not sowe.

23 Therefore then gauest not thou my money into the bank, that at my conuining I might haue required it with vantage?

24 And hee layde to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they layde vnto him, Lord, hee hath ten pieces.)

26 * For I say vnto you, that vnto all them that haue, it shall be giuen: and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Moreover, those mine enemies, which woulde not that I shoulde reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before mee.

28 (And when he had thus spoken, hee went forth: before, ascending up to Ierusalem.

29 * And it came to passe, when he was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Olives, hee sent two of his disciples,

30 Saying, Goe ye to the towne which is before you, wherein, assoon as ye are come, ye shall finde a colt tied, whereon neuer man late: looke him, & bring him hither.

31 * And if any man aske you, why see looke him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath neede of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had sayd vnto them.

33 And as they were looking the colt, the owners thereof layde vnto them, Why looke ye the colt?

34 And they sayd, The Lord hath neede of him.

35 * So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spred their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was now come neere to the going downe of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to reioyce, and to praise God with a loude voice, for all the great workes that they had seene.

38 Saying, Blessed bee the King that cometh in the name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glory in the best places.

39 Then some of the Pharisees of the company layde vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered and sayd vnto them, I tell you, that if these shoulde holde their peace, the stones would cry.

41 * And when he was come neere, he beheld the cite, and wept for it,

42 Saying, * O if thou haddest euen known at the least in this thy day: those things, which belong vnto thy peace! but now are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes shall come vpon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee rounde, and keepe thee in on euery side, 44 And shall make thee euen with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leaue in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou knowest not the time of thy visitation.

45 * Wee went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought,

46 Saying vnto them, It is written, * Mine house is the house of prayer, * but ye haue made it a denne of theues.

47 And he taught daily in the Temple. And the high Priests and the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people sought to destroy him.

48 But they coulde not finde what they might doe to him: for all the people hangd vpon him when they heard him.

what authoritie thou doest these things, or who is hee that hath giuen thee this authoritie?

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, I also will aske you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptisme of John, was it from heaven, or of men?

5 And they reasoned within themselves, saying, If wee shall say, From heaven, hee will say, Why then believed yee him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they be perswaded that John was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Iesus saide vnto them, ^b Neither tell I you, by what authoritie I doe these things.

9 ¶ Then began he to speake to the people this parable. * A certaine man planted a vineyard, and ^c let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange countrey, for a great season.

10 And at a time hee sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruite of the vineyard, but the husbandmen did beate him, and sent him away empty.

11 Again hee sent yet another seruant: and they did beate him, and foule intreated him, and sent him away empty.

12 Moreover, he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then saide the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I doe? I will send my beloued Sonne: it may bee that they will doe reuerence, when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with them selues, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore doe vnto them?

16 We will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will giue out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, and said, What meaneth this then that is written, * The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoever shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grinde him to powder.

19 Then the chief Priests & the Scribes the same houre went about to lay hands on him: (but they feared the people) for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.

20 ¶ And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should faine themselves iust men, to take him in his talk, and to deliuer him vnto the power and authoritie of the gouernour.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest, & teachest right, neither dost thou accept mans person, but fearest the way of God truly, 22 Is it lawful for vs to giue Cesar tribute, or no?

23 But he perceived their craftines, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shew me a penie. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered and said, Cæsars.

25 Then he said vnto them, * Giue then vnto Cesar the things which are Cæsars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reprove his saying before the people: but they marvelled at his answer, and held their peace.

27 ¶ Then came to him certaine of the Sadducees, (which deny that there is any resurrection) and they asked him,

28 Saying, Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and hee die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

29 Now there were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and hee died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childlesse.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so like wise the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all, the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, The children of this world marrie wives, and are married.

35 But they which shall be counted worthy to enioy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wives, neither are married.

36 ¶ For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal vnto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God. * Hence they are the children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, euen * Moses shewed it besides the bush, when he said, The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

38 For hee is not the God of the dead, but of them which liue: for all liue vnto him.

39 Then certaine of the Pharisees answered, & said, Master, thou hast well said.

40 And after that, he vnto them, not at ke him any thing at all.

41 ¶ Then said he vnto them, Now say they that Christ is Dauid sonne?

42 And Dauid himselfe saith in the booke of the Psalmes, * The Lord saide vnto my Lord, sit at my right hand, 43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy footstool.

44 Seeing Dauid calleth him Lord, how is he then his sonne?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people, he said vnto his disciples,

46 ¶ Beware of the Scribes, which desire to goe in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, and the highest seates in the Synagogues, and the chiefe roomes at feastes:
